GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government [illegible] hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 65 Cecil street, Toronto D-6 in J4

The Greek Stadium.

Stadium is from the Greek word meaning standard of length. It was the name given to the race course within which other athletic contests also took place. The length of the course was always 600 Greek feet straightaway. Though the length of the foot varied in different localities you may say that about nine of the course's lengths equalled one mile.

PARENTS' STRANGE IDEAS.

Goose Grease Used for Lung Trouble—Beads to Prevent Colds.

Four years' medical examination of some thousands of children attending the Acton Council schools by Dr. D. J. Thomas and Dr. Lilian E. Wilson has brought to light an astonishing number of curious beliefs on the part of mothers. The medical officers, in their annual report, just issued, say there are still parents who hold that whooping cough may be cured by taking a child near gasworks or through a railroad tunnel. For lung complaints there would appear to be a special value in goose grease, "which is considered far superior to other oils and medical remedies." Possibly, it is pointed out, the efficacy of the goose grease is due to the energy and faith with which it is applied.

A squint is often considered a hereditary distinction, and "sties" are sometimes treated by friction applied with a wedding ring, which must be of gold.

Bead neckties are exceedingly common among young children, and in the case of boys an amulet is often worn. This is partly for ornament and partly as a prophylactic against disease, the mothers thinking that blue beads have a special merit in "keeping away colds or quinsy." Coral brings luck. Both are probably a relic of the times when people feared the evil eye. Even now these beads are worn next to the skin and are never removed by night or day lest some dire illness should result.

About discharges of the ear there is great ignorance among these people. A popular remedy difficult to understand is the insertion in the ear of a plug of tobacco.

Perhaps the most deep-seated of all superstitions centres about the mystic age of seven. Numbers of parents of a fairly-educated type have explained a delay in obtaining treatment of some childish ailment, saying, "He will grow out of it when he is seven." At that age enlarged tonsils and adenoids are supposed miraculously to vanish, and ear discharges or squints are thought certain to become things of the past.

Children burdened with an excess of clothing were very common. It was not unusual to find seven thick layers of clothing, three or four of them consisting of heavy cloth or flannel tightly wrapped over the child's chest, while the innermost layer of brown soaked in goose grease.

Pepys and the Cook Maid.

There was a servant problem in the seventeenth century, but it was solved in a rough and ready fashion. Pepys records on April 11, 1667, that he came home, "saw my door and hatch open, left so by Luce, our cook maid, which so vexed me that I did give her a kick in our entry and offered a blow at her."

Two days afterward (Lord's day) Pepys writes this: "Took out my wife and the two Mercers and two of our maids, Barker and Jane, and over the water to the Jamaica house, where I never was before, and there the girls did run for wagers over the bowling green, and there with much pleasure spent little and so home." Luce was not there, but the other maids were treated as members of the family.

Momus, the God of Mockery.

Momus in Greek fable was the god of mockery and censure, who delighted in finding fault with gods and men. He was chosen to act as judge when there was a strife between Neptune, Minerva and Vulcan for supremacy in artistic power. Neptune made a bull, Minerva a house and Vulcan a man. Momus declared that Neptune should have set his bull's horns farther forward for fighting purposes. He said that Minerva should have so constructed her house that it could be moved away from troublesome neighbors and that Vulcan should have made a window in the man's breast through which his thoughts could be seen. All were so annoyed at his criticisms that they turned him out of heaven, and soon after this he died of vexation because he could find no fault in Venus, the goddess of love and beauty.

Heroic Breakfasts.

In the Elizabethan era heroic breakfasts were the order of the day. An early sixteenth century manuscript at Alnwick Castle gives the breakfast menus of the Percy family: "For my lord and lady during Lent, a loaf of bread in trenchers, two manchets, a quart of beer, a quart of wine, two pieces of salt fish, six bacon'd herring, four white herring or a dish of sprats. * * * Breakfast for the nursery, for my Lady Margaret and Master Ingeram Percy, a manchet, a quart of beer, a dish of sprats and three white herring." At ordinary times my lord and lady breakfasted at 7 a.m. on half a chine of mutton or a chine of boiled beef, with the same amount of bread and liquids as in Lent; and the nursery consummed a manchet, a quart of beer and three mutton bones boiled.—London Standard.

Scotty and English Jokes.

Dean Swift said that it required a surgical operation upon a Scotsman to see the point of a joke. No doubt the celebrated wit referred to an English joke. A young Englishman at a party mostly composed of Scotsmen made several attempts to crack a joke, and, failing to evoke a smile from his companions, he became angry and exclaimed, "Why, it would take a a gimlet to put a joke into the heads of you Scotchmen!"

One of them replied, "Aye, but the gimlet wud need tae be mair pointed than thae jokes."

When Kipling Was Hungry.

Had Mr. Kipling turned his attention to commerce instead of literature perhaps he might now be retained by some merchant millionaire as a writer of advertisements, at a colossal salary. After the siege of Kimberley he was staying with Mr. Rhodes at a charming little fruit farm near that town. One morning it occurred to Mr. Rhodes to take a stroll round the orchards for a little while before breakfast. As Mr. Kipling did not feel like walking he stayed behind. Time went on and the idea came to the author that breakfast would be desirable. But there was no sign of his host. As a matter of fact, Mr. Rhodes, as was usual with him, had become so interested in the matter in hand that he had quite forgotten the passing hours, and it was nearly ten o'clock before he remembered his starving guest, and hurried homewards.

"What's this, sir?" said the manager, suddenly pausing before a tree. Upon it was pinned a sheet of paper, bearing in large black letters: "Famine!" The next tree was also decorated: "We are starving; feed us." Nearer the house they came upon a large sheet with these words in huge type: "For the human race. Breakfast. Purifies the mind; invigorates the system. It has sustained thousands; it will sustain you. See that you get it." Finally upon the front door was an enormous placard: "Why die when a little breakfast prolongs life?"

Dogcarts in Belgium.

Dogs have been trained in Belgium for centuries to be beasts of burden. Throughout the country thousands of dogs constantly work, singly or in teams, before small carts, giving perfect satisfaction. Hundreds of small wagons, as well as other light vehicles, are drawn by dogs throughout the country.

More Terrible Than Lions.

Miss Tacanescu, a lady lion tamer of Jassy, in Roumania, fainted in the cage at a moment when the animals were perfectly quiet. She was removed before they did more than show signs of restlessness and on recovering consciousness exclaimed:

"Until the beetle crawling on one of the bars is taken off I am not going in again!"

Aluminium Powder.

To make aluminium powder very thin foil is first cut up into small spangles. These are ground in a mill, and the powder is then sifted through bolting cloth. The powder is used as a basis for metallic paint and is especially valuable for metallic surfaces that are exposed a great deal. The powder is very soft and adhesive, like graphite.

Placing His Kick.

On one occasion the professors at a Scotch theological college were made to feel the bitter irony and reckless sarcasm of one of their students. The students residing within the college dined together in the common hall. The fare was mean, consisting generally of rabbits. The students had often grumbled, but as a professor presided at the table none ventured openly to complain. Each student asked the blessing by turns. One rose reverently and said:

For rabbits young and for rabbits old,
For rabbits hot and for rabbits cold,
For rabbits tender and for rabbits tough,
Our thanks we render, for we've had enough!

Unreasonable.

"What is your objection to Dr. Feedlam?"

"His unreasonableness. He told me I should have to take more nourishment and then charged me so much that I couldn't afford to take any."—Satire.

THE FORUM

"Down with the street poles." Nay, nay; take them up—they've been down too long now.

Sir Wilfrid will have to be busier than flies when the sugar market is going over the wire if he gains any additional sympathy for Reciprocity in the West this year.

Now that the baseball season in closing Americans will begin to consult the king, queen and jack dope on that other national pastime.

Between the "Bumper harvest" and "Ruined crops" reports, one gets an impression that there's something doing out west even if Sir Wilfrid isn't there yet.

It seems strange that about the first thing British statesmen do when they come to Canada is to offer panaceas for the Dominion's ills. Do we look so sick as that?

Edmonton has gained the reputation of being the heaviest liquor drinking town in proportion to population in the Dominion. And they've lured the Duke out there, too.

Toronto is to have a new Union Station. Here's hoping it won't necessitate the crossing of several tracks or the climbing of three flights of stairs coming or going to and from trains, as at present.

A Peterborough wag returned from the Toronto exhibition Saturday night with his coat ripped and hat battered from a collision with an auto. Asked what kind of a time he had he appropriately answered, "a wag time."

THE GERMAN WAR CLOUD.

For months the threat of German war has hung like a black cloud over the British Empire. Its blackness has sent statesmen scurrying into hurried and anxious Council. The press has been filled with all manner of ominous predictions of the thunder and lightning of war. The people have gone about their daily tasks, looking askance at the eastern horizon, and not knowing clearly what was about to happen.

But at last is caught a glimpse of a real silver lining to the war cloud. Last week there landed in Quebec a representative of German capitalists, with the intention of investing some 33,000,000 German thalers in Canadian industries and enterprises. With him was the President of the Hamburg-American line, which comes to the country with the purpose of establishing a direct steamship line between Germany and Canada.

It looks as though the thaler were going to discount the threat. If Germany is to take a legitimate financial interest and stake in this part of the Empire, it becomes increasingly unlikely that in future she will go to war against what she owns in part herself. It is but another illustration of the international bonds of industrial enterprise, which are fast binding the world into one. It is wise to study the promise and the possibility of war, but it is equally wise, surely, to take into consideration the growing likelihood of the impossibility of war. That the arrival of the German financiers at this time should be considered as an argument for the latter must go without saying.

GERMANY'S IMPORTS ON FOOD STUFFS.

That another strong agitation against high prices of food should have broken out in Germany need surprise no one. For a quarter of a century or more Germany's domestic products have not sufficed to feed her population. But the duties on food stuffs, notably on wheat, have been persistently maintained in the interests of the German landed proprietors, who form the backbone of the Conservative party in Germany. The struggle between the latter and the Social-Democrats, who represent chiefly the larger industrial population of the towns, which latter are grossly under-represented in the Reichstag, has many times in recent years become acute. Indeed since 1894, at any rate, the question whether or not the duties on food stuffs should be reduced or abolished has taken a leading place in German politics.

Canada is not uninterested in this struggle between German democracy and privilege. Germany imports in spite of the duty which ranges from ranges from 23 cents to 32 cents a bushel, large quantities of wheat, though it is chiefly an inferior quality to our own hard wheat. Thus in 1910 Germany imported wheat to the value of some $90,000,000, though next to none of it came from Canada. If the German duty on wheat is removed, through pressure of the German democracy it may be possible for western Canada to sell some of its surplus in the German market.

It may be recalled that Premier Scott, during the course of the recent election, announced that his government intended to take steps to advertise Saskatchewan hard wheat in Germany.

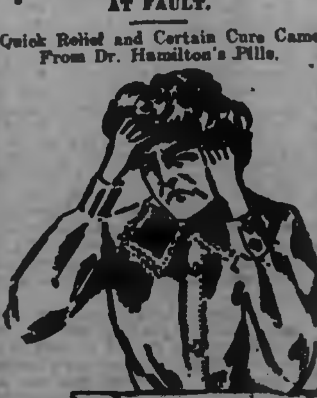
Quick Relief and Certain Cure Came From Dr. Hamilton's Pills.



"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes, and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleansing remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. LICENSES FOR ROLLER RINK nell here contended that the rink is a well conducted institution and suggested that the license be fixed at $25 a year, payable in two installments—one in the spring and one in the fall.

Ald. Gordon replied that the proposed fee could hardly be conserved as a discrimination as the roller rink is a monopoly. He has been informed that police protection is required at the roller rink—sometimes one, sometimes two, sometimes three men in its vicinity is by reason of the crowds resorting thereat. Then for seven years it paid no taxes, and for some time—at least a year—was operated in total disregard for the rights of citizens living adjacent thereto, with doors and windows open and a machine organ grinding away until the neighbors were nearly driven frantic. "Still perhaps that has no bearing on the question just now, and I am in favor of adopting a reasonable course, and suggest that Ald. Buller, Duffus and myself be committee to take the matter up with Mr. O'Connell, arrive at an estimate of the earnings at the rink, and report at the next meeting of council. Subsequently, however, Ald. Duncan and Buller moved that the license fee for roller skating rinks be $50 a year straight, which was carried.

This means that the roller rink management will pay a yearly fee of $50 for the roller end of the game, ice skating being thrown in free.

A by-law in this direction passed its several readings.

The by-law to provide an increase in the license fee for moving picture shows from $40 to $75 was amended as follows:

$50 For Moving Pictures

On motion of Ald. Gordon, seconded by his Worship, the by-law governing moving picture shows was amended to provide for a straight yearly license fee of $50, no broken period to be considered.

It was originally intended to impose a fee of $75 a year, providing for quarterly periods at pro rata rates, should a show open up any time between the months covered by the by-law's year.

The Traffic By-Law.

This measure is now in force and copies of it will be printed on cards and posted in convenient places. It provides that the speed of autos and other vehicles within the business section of the city shall not be more than ten miles an hour. Rigs must keep to the right and turn corners on the right. Overtaking one another they must pass on the left; a vehicle meeting another must pass on the right. No vehicle must stand opposite any premises longer than absolutely necessary for the owner to transact his or her business, and in standing at any place must do so within eight inches of the curb. Pedestrians are to have the right of way in all cases, and autos must come to a standstill when street cars are loading or discharging passengers. The full tenets of this measure will be posted up for public guidance and the police are to strictly enforce the by-law, commencing with to-day, it having passed its several readings last night.

Ald. Gordon wanted a time-limit of 30 minutes fixed for vehicles standing in front of any premises.

Ald. Duffus—"That would mean a hardship; real estate men, for instance, find it necessary to keep their autos outside their office pending business calls."

Ald. Gordon—"Yes, the street opposite some real estate men's places of business gives the appearance of a barn yard."

Ald. Johnston opposed a time limit. "If I go into a store, and my business detains me an hour I'm not going to chase around for a place in which to put my rig up."

Ald. Gordon—"The streets are public highways and not barn-yards for the benefit of any citizen. A rig standing on a busy street, especially where there are car tracks is a menace to public safety."

Ald. Graham agreed with Ald. Gordon, and respectfully offered that 30 minutes is long enough for a vehicle outside any premises. "By all means let there be a time limit, even an hour if such is the wish of council; otherwise the by-law will not be workable in this connection."

Chief of Police Thompson—"the main difficulty lies in country people leaving their rigs in the streets all day instead of paying for accommodation."

Ald. Duffus—"I object to a man tying his rig up in front of other people's premises while he transacts his business elsewhere, and I also object to a man being prohibited from keeping his vehicle outside his own place of business."

Alderman Gordon moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, that no horse, automobile or other vehicle be allowed to stand more than 30 minutes on the street within an area bounded by Brock, Charlotte, Aylmer and Water streets, except the public market.

This motion was lost and the clause stands as originally drawn. The chief of police, however, is to exercise his judgment as to whether rigs are kept standing outside any premises for an unreasonable time or not.

Any infringement of the by-law will be punishable by a fine up to $50.

SAFETY OF PANAMA CANAL

London, Sept. 9.—British shipowners, according to the Times, are confronted by several problems in their consideration of plans for dealing with the new situation that the opening of the Panama canal will create. First among these problems is the question, "Is the canal safe?" "Of course," it is said; "it is recognized that so far as human skill can guarantee its safety, the canal will be safe, the first of its kind, and earthquakes are not unknown in Central America. Were the mechanism of the locks one day put out of gear by a seismic disturbance, a 12,000 ton liner might find itself in an exceedingly uncomfortable position.

"This question of safety will certainly have to be considered very carefully indeed by ship owners, and it will be further considered when the rates for insurance come to be discussed. The underwriters will have to take a new factor into consideration, one that has never arisen in connection with the Suez canal." After this startling exordium, the rest of the article is somewhat tame. It goes to show that nothing has yet been definitely determined in the matter of actual development by British shipping companies.

Up to Date.

"They're very up to date."

"That so?"

"Yes. Her daughter is to be married soon, and she has sent out invitations that read this way: 'Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wattersby Brown request your presence at the first wedding of their daughter Jane.'"—Detroit Free Press

Good Advice.

Never suffer your courage to expend itself in fierceness, your resolution in obstinacy, your wisdom in cunning, nor your patience in sullenness and despair.

THE FLIRTING PRINCESS

A Large Audience Greeted This Merry Musical Comedy Last Night.

"The Flirting Princess" is a musical attraction that was thoroughly enjoyed by a large and fashionable audience at the Grand Opera House last night. The comedy is a right merry one from the rise to the fall of the curtain, replete with sentimental and humorous songs, together with numerous fancy and eccentric dance numbers, including quite a pretty creation styled on the programme the "Oogie dance," evidently a version of the much heralded apache dance, which seemed to catch the audience's fancy.

The production pretends to little, if any plot, and is a musical offering, pure and simple, with irresistably funny situations. Of song hits, which are many, "Go back to the town where you were born," and "What us poor girls go through," sung by the inimitable Bulger as only Bulger can; "Cairo," by Helen Darling; "Never judge a girl from her photograph," by Dale Fuller; and "The joys and glooms," by Eileen Sherridan, stood out prominently.

The star of the company, Harry Bulger, as Sport Bangs, is a mirth-provoker of exceptional merit, and won oft repeated and enthusiastic applause from the large and demonstrative audience, to whom he played last night. The charms are admirably trained in their figure dancing, and possess very acceptable vocal qualities; the Crescent City Four interpolation in the last act was exceptionally good. Miss Eileen Sherridan in pianologue and Italian impersonations is delightfully clever and evoked frequent and marked commendation. The Property Camel is rearly amusing and created a full measure of merriment.

Altogether, "The Flirting Princess" is one of the merriest of merry musical comedies, playing to well-deserved good business.

CHILD COVERED WITH ECZEMA.

Zam-Buk Worked Complete Cure.

Mrs. A. J. Cameron, of Melita, Man., writes: "When my little boy was six weeks old he had eczema. The sores simply covered his face and head, and I had to tie his hands to keep him from scratching and making them bleed. The doctor gave me several kinds of ointments, but they did no good. I then tried fourteen boxes of an advertised remedy. Still there was no improvement! I tried another ointment, and several medicinal soaps but the poor little fellow still continued to suffer, and I began to fear nothing would do him any good. He suffered in this way for over a year when one day a friend said, 'Why not try Zam-Buk.'

"I began with this balm, and a week's treatment made a great difference. I persevered, and within a month every sore was healed. I feared 'that the sores had been so bad on his head his hair would not grow, but thanks to Zam-Buk his scalp is perfectly healthy; and he has long curls now."

For all skin diseases, cuts, burns, and blood poisoning use Zam-Buk Soap. All dealers and stores, and the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

THE RIGHT WORD IN ITS PLACE

You Can Acquire the Knack of Using Language,

Have you the magic of the necessary word?

If not, why not?

The Times is at present offering to you the opportunity of obtaining to what degree you will the faculty of free expression of thought through the use of an extensive vocabulary, which has brought fame and fortune to many noted men.

Many fortunes have been made and may be made from words. The Times in offering to you Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary is supplying you with the mine which, when operated by you, will certainly better your fortune through increasing your ability of expression, add much to your enjoyment of life, and perhaps bring you the success which you covet.

Theodore Roosevelt recently received $2 a word for a series of articles. Rudyard Kipling has acquired a fund of words that gives him invariably the right words in the right place; Conan Doyle's powerful descriptive style is merely a structure of words rightly understood and rightly applied, and each of these Englishmen receive from 50 cents to $1 a word every time he sells an article.

Rufus Choate, the most successful jury advocate of his time, refused to enter the courtroom until he had found a new word for use in that day's speech. You will find many new words between the covers of the book offered you. Senator Ingalls, the most powerful orator of the Fiftieth Congress, when asked how he acquired his wonderful command of language replied:

Your Opportunity as Good as Others

"For many years I have made a practice of searching the dictionary for words that are new to me, and then using them in conversation and public speaking."

The opportunity of which these men have taken advantage is open to you. Compare you limited success with you limited vocabulary and you may see failures in a new light, and realize why you do not have the same chance as the man with the more fluent speech and apt way of expressing his thoughts.

Many a man is fettered by the limitations of scanty vocabulary, who might otherwise have been successful. Great ideas and great schemes avail nothing if they remain locked within a brain through the inability of their author to correctly express them.

If you are hampered by a limited library, get busy and clip coupons for the Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary. Keep it at your elbow in your office or in your home and use it constantly. Do not pass a word you do not understand when you are reading or listening to a sermon or lecture—look it up in the dictionary and you will find that your fund of general information and your vocabulary will grow apace and will be worth more to yourself, to your employer and to your friends.

The distribution of dictionaries has proved such a popular idea that the clerks in the Dictionary Department are being kept busy all day long showing the books to those who are anxious to see what they are going to get as soon as they have collected six consecutive coupons. Not one book will be given out until the six days expire. It is expected that sets of coupons will begin to arrive with a rush then.

For increasing the vocabulary the books would be hard to beat, for their convenient size and compactness renders all of them ready for reference. No. 1 is a beautiful book bound in limp leather like a Bible. No. 2 is half leather binding. No. 3 is bound in plain cloth. There are 11,000 synonyms and antonyms in the dictionary.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER?

(Editor Morning Times.)

Sir,—Some time ago a very largely signed petition was handed to the Council containing names of people in nearly every sphere of employment and business in the city. The petition referred to was to enable an unfortunate cripple the privilege of building a small temporary building where he could sit and carry on his little business in disagreeable weather as well as in nice weather. As at present he is sitting in an alley in rear of Le Brun & Co.'s clothing shop, and the weather is very disagreeable at times. The Council do not seem to act in respect to individual promises made outside of their chamber, that of a hasty reply to the petition.

Here is a man that does not ask a grant of money—just a privilege that is given the poor unfortunates in other cities.

Did the merchants, carpenters, agents, ministers and others that signed this [illegible]? they were sincere, and if they were approached with such an accusation they would defend their sincerity.

Instead of containing hundreds it could have had thousands of signatures.

Then what is the matter? This is the question that many are asking. Will the proper authority kindly reply.

—M. E. Ketcheson.

THE MARKETS

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 7.—The market opened at ½d to ¼d decline, being influenced by the weakness in Winnipeg, and forecast of larger world's shipments. Following the opening, there was further pressure, with an additional decline of ¼d on the cool weather in the United Kingdom and weakness in Buenos Ayres. Toward the close the market recovered part of the decline, with some covering, and an improved demand for American parcels and a better spot trade. At the close the market was steady, ¼d to ⅜d lower than yesterday. Corn opened unchanged and held steady during the session. The pressure of Plate offers, small enquiry for forward shipment, was offset here by the strong Argentine freight situation and the decreasing local stocks here.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—Wheat today barely escaped going into the 80's. December delivery sold as low as 90c to 90⅛c, the third day in succession that the low price record for the season has been broken. The market gave way beneath the shadow of the on-coming crop, and closed weak ⅛c to ⅜c under last night. Corn finished ⅛c to ⅜c up oats unchanged to ⅛c higher and provisions varying from 12½c decline to 7½c advance.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—There was an increased demand from foreign buyers for new crop Manitoba spring wheat, but as cables were weaker at a further decline of ½d to 3d per quarter, the prices bid in most cases were out of line and little business was done. The demand for oats is still good and as the prices bid show exporters good profits considerable business is doing. The stock of oats in store shows an increase of [illegible] bushels, as compared with last week, but this is accounted for by the fact that a lot of American oats are coming forward here for export account. WE WOULDN'T EAT THEM.

Queer Dishes Popular With Folks In Other Parts of the World.

What won't human beings eat? Frogs, for instance, served up whole and fried in bread crumbs, are consumed with a relish in Cambridgeshire and Norfolk, Eng. Doesn't sound especially tempting, does it? And yet why should only the legs of this hoarse-voiced denizen of ponds and swamps prove edible? Many of us are fond of oysters, clams, crabs, lobsters and yet will not endure the thought of a snail, although the daily consumption by polite Parisians of snails, fed on green stuffs, and on bran soak in wine, sometimes reaches 50 tons. Truly this is a little world of great wonders!

In Central Africa they do not shout "Swat the fly!" They eat the fly. They pound the insects together in a mortar and bake them in little cakes, which probably resemble our currant and fruit cake.

Captain Amundsen, the explorer, found dog flesh palatable, though rather tough, and seal flesh as good as first-class beef. Epicures during the siege of Paris did not object to well-nourished sewer rats. If we were only less squeamish, the problem of flies and rats would find a pleasant solution which would lesson household expenses. And yet such is American shrewdness—there would soon be rat barons and a fly trust—and again prices would soar skyward.

A traveler states that the Cape bushmen eat spiders, grasshoppers, white ants, moths and grubs; that anteaters are found in various parts of the world, while Australian natives relish snakes. Some one, anxious that the world should go better and men and women be happier living the natural life, wrote a book entitled "Why Not Eat Insects." According to his testimony caterpillars taste like almonds, spiders like nuts and ants with butter and sugar are an exquisite sweetmeat. Anton Fils, an esteemed virtuoso on violoncello at the Court of Mannheim, died from immoderate indulgence in spiders, which he ate with a passionate zest because they tasted to him like luscious strawberries.

Burning of the Vanities.

Savonarola once marked his strong condemnation of luxury by collecting a large number of articles which he regarded as vanities during the carnival to be burnt in the Piazza della Signoria, Florence, on Shrove Tuesday, 1497. In this "burning of the vanities" were included fancy costumes, carnival masks, false hair and rouge pots, cards and dice boxes, books and pictures, together with casts and valuable sculptures of questionable character. Built up into a pyramid of seven stages — signifying the seven deadly sins—the pile was burnt by lighting fagots placed in the centre, while children standing round sang hymns before the assembled crowds.

First Encyclopedia.

The most ancient known attempt at what is called in these days an "encyclopedia" was Pliny's "Natural History." This old work, a very high authority throughout the middle ages, is really a remarkable production and well deserves the fame that for so many ages belong to it. Pliny, who died in 79 A.D., was not a naturalist, a physician or an artist and did not pretend to be the wisest man of his time, yet such was his interest in knowledge that he devoted the leisure hours of a busy public life to compiling the work which did a vast amount of good in the world and paved the way for the comprehensive encyclopedias of the present time.

Diminutive Aztecs.

The feminine direct descendants of the famous Aztecs are tiny creatures, exquisitely formed and refined in feature. They carry the head with the upbearing grace of the full-blooded Indian; their skins are not red, but a clear, smooth copper color that shines like gold in the sun; their hair is coarse and black as ebony, and they are decorated with bright feathers and gay ornaments. These women make the most wonderful pottery that comes to us from Mexico, for they have kept the old Aztec forms and decorations in their art, and they also weave wonderful baskets and do exquisite embroidery.

The Island of Rhodes.

Rhodes was the centre of the culture and commerce of the Aegean in the days when the Aegean meant the heart of civilization and the island was the battleground of mighty armadas and formidable legions from the days of Alexander the Great to Mohammed. The island is the most easterly of the Aegean group. It is about forty-five miles long by about twenty-two wide. The island has been famous for its beautiful climate from the earliest ages.

Metaphorically Speaking.

"Let us nip this monster in the bud before it overwhelms us as an encoming tidal wave!" shouted the young politician.

"Perhaps," said an experienced campaigner in the back of the hall, "it would be better to smoke it out of its lair before it becomes a festering canker."

A NEW PRINCIPLE IN COMPLEXION TREATMENT

(From Society World)

Most creams are injurious when used habitually. They clog the pores and eventually form a permanent, soggy, stifling film which interferes with eliminative action and makes the skin sickly and pasty. There is an application, mercolised wax, which acts upon an entirely different principle. While perfectly harmless it contains active ingredients which remove by absorption the dead and half dead particles of scarf skin, as well as unhealthy matter in the pores. Thus it takes away from instead of adding to the complexion, differing in this respect from cosmetics. The result is a perfectly natural and healthy young complexion. Mercolised wax (procurable at any drug store, (one ounce is sufficient) is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. The correct principle in the treatment of wrinkles is to tighten the skin which naturally irons out the lines. A face bath, remarkably effective in this direction, may be made by dissolving powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel.

Children's Books In Olden Times.

The earliest books for children were schoolbooks pure and simple. The titles of some of them suggest entertainment and refreshment, but the arid pages belie the promise. For instance, an old Latin grammar, published in 1570, had for sub-title, "A delysious Syrupe newly Clarified for Yonge Scholars yt thurste for the Swete Lycore of Latin Speche," but the "Lycore" is a very turgid, confused flow of pedantry. A different style is suggested by the name of another schoolbook written by one Elisha Coles in 1675, "Nolens Volens, or you shall learn Latin whether you will or no," a title which suggest a vigorous application of the birch.

The Wedding Cake.

The custom of having a special cake at weddings was introduced into England by the Romans. This cake, or, rather, biscuit, signified fruitfulness, hospitality and prosperity. The rice that was showered upon a bride had a similar meaning. For many centuries after the Romans left the custom was to break the biscuit over the bride's head, and then the fragments were picked up and piled before her for distribution to her friends. At the restoration Charles II returned with a small army of French cooks, who speedily converted the ancient biscuit into a delicious piece of confectionery, iced it with sugar and gradually adorned it with emblematical devices till it towered into the amazing structure which the luxury of later times has developed.—London Chronicle.

THE AGILE TIGER.

He Is "Shod With Silence" and Is as Quick as Lightning.

Most wild animals are specialists—that is to say, they are highly developed in one particular direction. The tiger is great as a stalker. His feet seem to be "shod with silence." R. H. Elliott, for many years a resident of India, cited an experience of one of his neighbors illustrative of this point.

He had been much annoyed by tigers and at last tied a bullock out in a clearing and took up his own position in a tree to wait till the tiger should come after the bait. The ground was covered with dried leaves, which in hot weather are so brittle that even the walking of a bird over them can be heard for a good distance.

In no very long time a large tiger slipped out of the forest and slowly edged toward the bullock. His method was so elaborate and careful that the man who saw it used to declare that it would have been worth 1,000 rupees to any young sportsman to have witnessed it.

So carefully did he put down each paw and so gradually did he crush the leaves under it that not a sound was to be heard. Between him and the bullock was a stump about four feet high, with long projecting surface roots. This, plainly, the tiger looked upon as a godsend.

He got upon one of the roots, balanced himself carefully and so was able to walk quickly and silently as far as the stump. He approached so gradually and noiselessly and his color against the brown leaves was so invisible that he was close upon the bullock before he was perceived.

Then instantly the bullock charged. The tiger eluded him and in a moment more had his paws on the bullock's neck ready to drag him down. Then, like a flash, he caught sight of the rope by which the bullock was tied and turned and sprang into the forest, all so quickly that the man in the tree had no opportunity to fire.

Sartorial Discord.

Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood was greatly attached to a regiment of highlanders when the latter were stationed at Portsmouth. Sir Evelyn, then a captain, one day returned from London and with great hurry proceeded to array himself for parade. When he at last emerged he observed that his men were evidently at great pains to conceal their laughter, and he quietly questioned his subalterns as to the probable reason. "Well, sir," replied the latter, "you are dressed correctly as to kilt, sporran and all the rest of it, but you have forgotten to remove your tall hat!"

Almost Perfect.

"How are you getting along with your stenography, Bella?"

"Splendidly. I've been at it only six weeks and I can write 150 words a minute with perfect ease."

"Then you are ready to look for a job?"

"Er—yes, or I will be just as soon as I've learned to read my notes."—Chicago Tribune.

A Tip to Tired Wives.

"Mrs. Brown never sits up to wait for her husband."

"No?"

"No. When she expects him to be out late she retires early, sets the alarm clock at 3 o'clock, and when it goes off she gets up and dresses and is ready, refreshed and reproachful."

Couldn't Do It.

The pianist engaged to play at a "smoker" which was held recently played by ear and was famed for his accompaniments to songs of all kinds. He maintained his reputation until a young fellow was called upon to favor the company with a comic song. The would-be comedian had a very tuneless voice and, being nervous, forgot some of the words.

The result was he gave the first verse in three different keys, and when he broke down at the chorus he had the cheek to blame the pianist, saying: "You're putting me off. If you can't play better than that I'll sing without the piano."

"You'll have to," replied the pianist sarcastically. "I can't accompany a stump speech."

QUACKING DUCKS AND HENS THAT CROW; BY PARCEL POST TO HOMES WILL GO!

The Problem of the High Cost of Living May Be Solved When the U. S. Starts to Deliver Poultry and Produce Direct From Producer to Consumer By Mail Next Year!

"If you hear any ducks quacking, Mary, go to the door at once; it will be the parcels post mail carrier. I ordered two ducks by parcels post and a dozen eggs. Dear me, I do hope the mail man doesn't trade those new laid eggs for store eggs on his way here. He could make a nickel that way, you know."

This is a sample of the conversation that may be overheard Jan. 2, 1913, in Tonawanda, N.Y., or Pittsburg, Pa., when the "noisy mail" service, otherwise the parcels post delivery, begins in the United States. Live chickens, rabbits, storks, (with or without) will be transported through the U. S. mails commencing the first day of the year in this century that carries the lucky

This 1913 year is destined to mark the beginning of the end of the "high cost of living." That is, if parcels post will solve the question. The following dispatch from Washington is the authority:

Washington, Sept. 7.—Urban users of the parcels post system to be started Jan. 1 are likely to get noisy mail when the delivery begins of live chickens and other country products by mail. Fresh eggs and country butter will also be handled through the parcels post.

Live Chickens by Mail

This is no dream of cheaper cost of living, but will be a reality under the new law, which is designed to put the producer into direct communication with the consumer.

General farm and garden produce comes under the law; the Government will not only carry these things, but an indemnity will be provided for their loss or damage in transit. A C.O.D. system will be a novel feature of the parcels post, which will be a great convenience to farmers and merchants.

Poultry dealers are especially interested in the parcels post and have flooded the department with statistics showing how eggs and chickens may be handled and carried.

USE FIREWORKS TO OUST BLACKBIRDS

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 10.—The City of Topeka has purchased a ton of Roman candles to drive the blackbirds out of the trees. Thousands of the blackbirds, some say millions, infest the big elm trees late in the summer and make streets dangerous and unsightly. Early each evening they fly into the trees in the parks and about the residences, and especially in the twenty acres of forest in Bethany College grounds, in the centre of the city.

Prof. L. L. Dyche, State Fish and Game Warden, told the city officials that the Roman candles would drive them out. The city bought a supply and is trying them.

The Cabinet.

Technically the Cabinet as a Cabinet can do nothing. It cannot even write a letter or issue a signed order. It has not, indeed, the means of doing so, for it does not keep a clerk or a typewriter, it has no office, nor has it any money wherewith to buy a sheet of notepaper. The most powerful and important committee in the world is without a staff, a secretary, a seal, a minute book, or a fixed location. When it assembles it has to depend on the hospitality of the Treasury or the Foreign Office, or it may meet at the private residence of one of the members. Mr. Gladstone occasionally held his Cabinets in the suburban mansions near London lent to him by his friends during the Parliamentary session. When a Cabinet Council sits it has no agenda before it, nor has it any record of what was done at the last meeting. No one keeps the minutes; and it is still deemed a little contrary to etiquette for any Minister to take a note of the proceedings, or, indeed, to write anything at the meetings at all.

To the Manor Born.

Lord Charles Beresford and the Duke of Argyll were traveling together on the Great Western Railway, in England. The only other occupant of their compartment was a prosperous drummer, whose success had been due to natural talent for business rather than to sound education. The noblemen found their companion entertaining, so they listened to his talk until a small station in Gloucestershire was reached. Here Lord Charles Beresford alighted, and was met by a servant of the people with whom he was going to stay. The drummer leaned out of the window, open-mouthed and wide-eyed. He saw his lordship bowed into a splendid carriage and driven off down a country lane. Drawing his head within the carriage again he turned to the duke, and said:

"Oos 'im?"

"He is Lord Charles Beresford," the duke replied.

"Well, now!" said the drummer. "Fancy the likes of 'im 'obnobbin' with two cads like you and me!"

Puns on People's Names.

Some years ago a popular form of social amusement was found in punning on people's names: "Why did So-and-so?" "Because Such-and-such." The originator of the fashion was no less notable a person than the Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. On a lecturer named Mary Grew, visiting Boston in 1871, Whittier wrote a poem, "Mary Grew," each stanza ending on a variation of the pun—

The world were safe if but a few
Could grow in grace as Mary Grew.

FLAX WEAVING IS ANCIENT.

And the Process Has Improved but Little in Forty Centuries.

Flax weaving, according to a recent authority, is 4,000 years old as an industry. Egypt was the first country to raise flax. All fine table linen is made from water spun flax, as water is essential to its manufacture. Vapor has been tried, but unsuccessfully. The process of manufacture has improved but little in 4,000 years, the linen made by the Egyptians being often found in an excellent state of preservation, wrapped about the bodies of mummies.

There is no grass bleached linen today, as grass bleaching is too slow a process. Chemicals are used to shorten the work.

Very little flax is raised in the United States because the air contains too little moisture. The finest lawns and handkerchiefs are made in Ireland, and the Scotch linens wear perhaps better than any. Straight line patterns do not wear as well as figures with rounded edges.

In single thread damask the same number of threads run each way. In double thread damask there is double the number of threads in the weft, which doubles the wear.—New York Post.

Dining in Luxembourg.

Though "town patriotism" exists all over the world, nowhere, perhaps, is it fiercer than in the little grand duchy of Luxembourg. The tourist can turn it to excellent advantage. When he arrives at the inn of any little town he should get into conversation with the master or, better still, with the mistress of the house and mention that at the last town at which he stayed the best and cheapest meals he ever had in his life were served. Madame will depart to the kitchen determined to demonstrate to the tourist that he has never before really had a decently cooked meal. And by the time for coffee and cigars he will come near to believing it. The finest cooks in Europe are women of Luxembourg.

Children's Books In Olden Times.

The earliest books for children were schoolbooks pure and simple. The titles of some of them suggest entertainment and refreshment, but the arid pages belie the promise. For instance, an old Latin grammar, published in 1570, had for sub-title, "A delycious Syrupe newly Clarified for Yonge Scholars yt thurste for the Swete Lycore of Latin Speche," but the "Lycore" is a very turgid, confused flow of pedantry. A different style is suggested by the name of another schoolbook written by one Elisha Coles in 1675, "Nolens Volens, or you shall learn Latin whether you will or no." [illegible]

BIRTH OF A WING.

Evolution of the Dragon Fly From Its Ugly Aquatic Pupa.

A wonderful spectacle is presented by the sudden apparition of an insect's wing at the completion of its metamorphosis. The transformation of the grub into the butterfly, though familiar, is none the less amazing, but the evolution of the active and gossamer winged dragon fly from its ugly and sluggish aquatic pupa is still more impressive.

Early on a May morning the pupa emerges from its cocoon at the bottom of a ditch, swims on its back by paddling with its long haired paws to the stem of an aquatic plant and climbs up out of the water. Then, after a momentary pause, the skin suddenly bursts open, and the perfect insect appears with closely folded wings, which soon unfold and assume their final form.

The older naturalists believed that the insect "swallowed air," with which the wings were inflated. In reality the air is absorbed in the digestive organs, causing an increased blood pressure, which mechanically expands the wings. The presence of dew is also necessary; hence the first flight is always made at dawn.

This spectacle of the birth of a wing may be observed in dragon flies reared in an aquarium, the atmosphere of which should be moistened with an atomizer when the pupa rises to the surface.—Scientific American.

Fishes and Memory.

The fact that fishes will return time after time to bite at the hook by which they have been caught is often cited as proof that fish have no memories. But Yves Delage, the great French biologist, has been making some experiments which seem to prove the contrary. He says that fish return to the hook because their greediness is greater than the influence of their memory. If you place a bright red disk upon a hook the fishes will cease to take it after being caught seven or eight times. If you change the color of the disk the fish will return indefinitely. The red disk made an impression on the fish's memory—slowly, it is true—and when it recognized the danger signal it avoided it.—New York World.

Repartee.

At a dinner party at which several distinguished medical men, including Sir William Gull, were present the conversation happened to turn upon the subject of quackery, and Sir William expressed his conviction that a certain amount of it was essential to success in practice, adding, "It is an example of the old saying, 'Populus vult decipi'—'people like to be deceived.'" "Quite so," said the host. "Now, can any one present give an English equivalent to that?" "Nothing easier," remarked a well known Manchester physician. "The public likes to be gulled."—London Mail.

A Dry District.

The Wedding Cake.

The custom of having a special cake at weddings was introduced into England by the Romans. This cake, or, rather, biscuit, signified fruitfulness, hospitality and prosperity. The rice that was showered upon a bride had a similar meaning. For many centuries after the Romans left the custom was to break the biscuit over the bride's head, and then the fragments were picked up and piled before her for distribution to her friends. At the restoration Charles II. returned with a small army of French cooks, who speedily converted the ancient biscuit into a delicious piece of confectionery, iced it with sugar and gradually adorned it with emblematical devices till it towered into the amazing structure which the luxury of later times has developed.—London Chronicle.

TALK IN CONGRESS

Where Freedom of Speech Is a Right Jealously Guarded.

MIGHT OF THE LOWER HOUSE

The Enormous Power It Wields by Reason of Its Grip Upon the Purse of the Nation—Absolute Democracy of the Committee of the Whole.

The house of representatives of the people of the United States, the great demos, the source of all power, the basis upon which the great superstructure of the government rests, dates back to the Magna Charta, and its immediate ancestor was the first parliament of Henry IV., in the fifteenth century. In Henry's parliament the representatives of the people established finally and forever that all revenue bills must originate in the lower house, which should hold the purse of the people and without which not a wheel in the legislative, the executive or the judicial branch of the government could turn.

It is because of this parliament that there is no ways and means committee in the senate and that when any treaty or commercial arrangement or anything involving the payment of money is introduced, any appointment or legislation is proposed, the house of representatives raises its mighty hand and settles the matter according to the will of the people through their representatives, for it can defeat any measure or any person by merely declining to appropriate the money necessary to pay for that measure or person.

When this great committee on ways and means presents its business to the house of representatives and the house goes into committee of the whole house on the state of the Union the assemblage at once resolves itself into a body as absolutely democratic as the Saxon Witenagemot or the New England town meeting. Every symbol of a popular assemblage is religiously observed. The speaker leaves the chair, and a chairman is elected who is not the speaker. Not even so much as the prestige of the regular presiding officer is allowed to hamper the freedom of debate. The speaker goes down to the floor and has no more privileges than the most obscure member of the house.

The mace, the emblem of authority, is put under the speaker's table to show that the house deliberates without interference from anybody. The mace is really a weapon, a stout wooden stick with a metal head, and used to be the favorite weapon of fighting priests of the middle ages. They were forbidden by ecclesiastical law to use swords, but got around the law by using the mace, a terrible weapon, against the armored men of the time. In the choice of the mace as the type of authority the idea of democracy was rigidly carried out. In the early days only a few men out of the whole were authorized to wear swords, but any and all of the people could use a good stout stick, and so the weapon of their majesties the people was chosen. When the speaker presides and any members show signs of indulging in fisticuffs and will not obey the speaker's gavel the sergeant-at-arms or his deputy is directed to "show the mace." That functionary seizes the mace and marches up to the offending members, who are supposed to be awed into good behavior at sight of this big stick.

Not long ago, when two members got into a row and it seemed as if blows were about to be exchanged, the speaker promptly ordered the sergeant-at-arms to show them the mace. The sergeant took the mace, marched up to the two belligerents and stood, mace in hand, majestically, before them. This, however, had not the slightest effect, and the sergeant-at-arms anxiously inquired of a member sitting next, "What am I to do with the mace now?"

To which the member responded in a stage whisper, "Peck 'em on the head with it!"

This suggestion brought down the house, and a roar of laughter and applause followed, in which even the belligerents were obliged to join.

In general, however, before the mace can be shown, the members rush in and separate men whose tempers have got the better of them, who have exchanged the lie or the blow that always follows. Members engaging in these rows are always called before the bar of the house and sternly reprimanded by the speaker, who talks like a Dutch uncle to them and calls them by name. This "naming" is the only time a member's name is used in debate. He is at other times "the member from So-and-so" or "the gentleman from So-and-so."

These collisions rarely, if ever, occur between members anywhere except on the floor of the house. Everything is permitted in the freedom of debate, nor is a member held accountable outside for anything he may say on the floor. Through this freedom of speech members say things they would not dare to utter elsewhere. In the old days duels followed the exchange of the lie, and the Graves-Cilley duel, the John Randolph and Henry Clay duel and many historical encounters took place. But in the evolution of government the principle became firmly fixed that there must be absolute freedom of debate and that no man could be held responsible outside for anything said on the floor of either house. And so the dueling practice was dropped in congress long before public sentiment abolished it elsewhere. No libel suit holds for anything said in open debate, and in every way the freedom of speech is jealously guarded and maintained.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Up to Date.

"They're very up to date."

"That so?"

"Yes. Her daughter is to be married soon, and she has sent out invitations that read this way: 'Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wattersby Brown request your presence at the first wedding of their daughter Jane.'"—Detroit Free Press.

Natural Cure for Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

It Has Superseded the Old-Fashioned Stomach-dosing Remedies, and Invariably Cures Quickly.

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time.

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wassan,
Blair P. O., Queen's Co., N.B.

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right; no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial and chest colds. Get the large size, last two months, is sure to cure you, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample or trial size, 25c. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y. and Kingston, Ont.

BIG COLONIZATION SCHEME.

Billion and a Quarter Company is Formed at Toronto

Toronto, Sept. 9.—A billion and a quarter company has been organized to carry on colonization work in northern Ontario. The company has been incorporated through a Toronto firm of solicitors, but it is understood that C. W. Jackson, of Toronto, and other well known capitalists are behind the scheme. Mr. Jackson a time ago secured from the Ontario government two townships north of the Transcontinental line in Temiskaming and already has a large gang of men in the district laying out roads and erecting temporary buildings.

FRANCIS WILSON'S FAMOUS PLAY COMING TO THE GRAND

Those who desire to enjoy a hearty laugh are promised an opportunity to indulge therein by witnessing the presentation at the Grand Opera House on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, September 13 and 14, of Francis Wilson's New York comedy success, "The Bachelor's Baby," wherein Etienne Girardot and a cast of English players will enact the several roles. The piece is said to contain an exceedingly humane story in which the comedy element predominates, but little sharp tugs at the heart every now and then bring forth the humane interest. The story of the play tells of a child hating bachelor, being suddenly made the guardian of an orphan youngster, and furthermore tells of how that little one twines itself around this child-hating bachelor's heart and eventually through artlessness brings together a loving couple. The staging promises to be on a most elaborate scale and the various satorial appointments of the several ladies and gentlemen in the company will be elaborate.

London's Nobody's Club.

William Stevens, a wealthy city merchant, who published some theological essays under the pseudonym of "Nobody," was the founder of Nobody's Club. To this day the club keeps the memory of Stevens green by drinking as the first toast at each of its dinners to "the immortal memory of 'Nobody,' the founder of this club." Like the Atheneum, Nobody's Club has a rule that when a bishop or a judge is a candidate for election he shall be balloted for at once and if elected considered an honorary member. Most of its lay members are lawyers, and for eighty years in succession the club was presided over by a judge.—London Chronicle.

DEATH OF BABES MAY CAUSE ICE CREAM PROBE IN TORONTO

Dysentery Epidemic in Queen City Takes Fourteen Little Ones of Which is Traced Direct to Bad Milk

Toronto, Sept. 10. — Ice cream vendors may be the next persons to be attacked by Dr. Hastings in his crusade for public health. A considerable number of cases of acute dysentery occurred in the East End last month, and the Health Department is not at all satisfied that cream and ice cream may not have been responsible for some of the cases. Dr. Nasmith, director of Laboratories, in his report for August, says that a few samples of cream and ice cream have been examined with the idea of obtaining specific data as to the composition and bacteria count. If the tests are not satisfactory steps will be taken to have all the cream used for ice cream pasteurized before it is used.

Two specific cases of the outbreak of dysentery are given, one on Blake, Poucher and Galt streets, and one on Logan, Carlaw and Empire streets. The fatal nature of the disease in children under two years of age, can be judged from the fact that no child of that age who took ill, recovered. In all, 35 individuals were sick, 14 died, and of these 13 were children, two years of age or less.

Dr. Adams, epidemiologist, points out that these outbreaks indicate the need for efficient sanitary inspectian, instruction as to the disinfection and care in looking after patients.

An isolated case (fatal) in a child of five, at the extreme eastern end of the city and outside the epidemic districts, was looked into. This case was clearly due to bad milk.

TWO SECTIONS OF STREET PAVING WILL SOON BE UNDER WAY

Concrete To Be Used—Hope For Early Removal of Poles From off George Street—Up-keep of Boundary Roads

The city Board of Works met last night, chairman Ald. Buller presiding. There were also present Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Graham and Duffus.

Sidewalks and Crossings.

Miss Griffith petitioned for a cement sidewalk on south side of Antrim street, going up the hill. This work will be advertised in the usual way.

Ratepayers asked that the crossing on Hunter street to Long's Hotel be replaced. This request will be granted, subject to the engineer's decision as to the crossing's exact locality.

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus, that a crossing be laid across Dublin street to Union street —Carried.

Sewer For New School.

The Board of Education, through their architect, Mr. Bartlett, asked for 150 feet sewer extension to connect with the new East Ward school. This would entail assessing the property owners each side.

His worship thought the school Board should pay for this extension. "All that we should have to do is to connect with the building." The city engineer was instructed to investigate the proposed work and report.

The connection with west city's new school has already been arranged for.

More Poles Wanted.

The Bell Telephone Co. asked permission to erect ten poles on Rogers street, three at Cricket Place, two on Hunter street east, two on Douro street and two on Downie street, north of Brock. This request was granted.

The Board approved of the cinder filling outside the street railway tracks corner of George and Charlotte streets.

An Offer of Pipe.

The Grand Trunk's offer to sell to the city a quantity of corrugated pipe they have on hand was referred to, the city engineer for enquiry as to utility and price.

Request For Curb Granted

Mr. Walkers' request that he be permitted to build a cement curb opposite his premises, 774 George street, subject to the engineer's levels was granted.

Up-Keep of Boundary Roads.

The Board was notified of the bad condition of Wolesley street, on the boundary of Smith township. The chairman's suggestion that a joint meeting of all adjacent township councils and the city's Board of Works, to arrange for a satisfactory up-keep of all boundary roads, the city to pay half the cost of same, was adopted.

The clerk was instructed to write clerks of the townships interested, inviting their councils to meet our Board of Works at the council chamber two weeks from next Saturday, at two o'clock in the afternoon regarding up-keep of the boundary roads.

To Grade Roads.

The engineer was given power to act in regard to the Salvation Army captain's request that the road in front of the Temple be graded to relieve some of surface water; also that the two trees in front of the temple be removed.

Will Start Street Paving.

Messrs. W. G. Dunlop and Van Scoyoc, of the Canada Cement Co., Montreal, gave the Board some interesting information as to concrete street paving, which Mr. Van Scoyoc offered could be laid in Peterborough at 92½ cents a square yard, for a six inch concrete road, excavating and grading to cost extra. The Board was assured that taking the life of concrete into consideration, such work certainly comes much cheaper than macadam roads. Concrete pavement is not at all slippery. Wayne County has already 35 miles of concrete roads and are issuing debentures for 40 miles more. One street in Detroit has been paved with concrete fourteen years, and has not cost a cent for up-keep.

Mr. Van Scoyoc advised the Board that it would not be wise to pave the main streets until all the poles thereon are removed, and the streets thoroughly drained. This concrete pavement can be laid by city labor, when once started and instructed by the pavement company's expert roadmaker, Mr. Van Scoyoc.

Later in the evening it was decided that a by-law be prepared to provide for paving Chambers street and that portion of Hunter petitioned for, with the Canada Cement Company's concrete pavement. Such by-law to be submitted to the council next Wednesday evening.

Laying of Gas Mains.

The Peterborough Light and Power Company's request to excavate on certain streets for laying gas mains was discussed in the presence of the company's manager, Mr. Munro. Last spring the city notified that mains must be laid on streets before permanent work was done thereon, and the Board informed Mr. Munro last night that they would strictly enforce that condition.

Mr. Munro replied that it was only three weeks ago that the mains on the streets in his request were found necessary. This is the time of year when the company is in a position to determine what new mains are needed to serve increasing business.

His Worship said no objection would be made in regard to excavating on the streets upon which road work has not been done this year, but he could not promise to agree to the company tearing up those roadways permanently improved this season.

This matter was referred to the city engineer and the Board's chairman, with power to act. The company will be dealt with as fairly as possible.

Dr. King's Claim.

Dr. King is asking $6 damages for injury done his buggy dashboard and traces when his horse shied at the cement mixer and sidewalk material on Charlotte street. The horse also sustained injury to one of his legs, for which he will also sue for damages unless the $6 claim is paid.

Street Commissioner Evans said the mixer was not working on Charlotte street, nor was there any material to frighten a horse on the road at the point in question. Then, no man on the city's work saw Dr. King's horse run away, which incident must have occurred after the rig was out of his men's sight.

This matter is already in the city solicitor's hands, and council is awaiting his advise thereon.

Removal of Poles.

His Worship advised the Board that Mr. Marshall, of the C. P. R. Co., had assured him that there would be no trouble in arranging for the removal of his company's three poles from off the corner of George and Charlotte streets as soon as the G.N.W.'s eleven poles are taken away.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, chairman Ald. Buller was instructed to arrange with Mr. Duckworth for the immediate removal of the G.N.W.'s poles from off George street, between Brock and Charlotte streets.

HEBREW NEW YEAR COMMENCES TO-NIGHT

The celebration of the Hebrew New Year, anno mundi 5673, begins this evening. Peterborough Hebrews will hold religious ceremonies in connection with the festival at their institution on Simcoe street, where Mr. Peters, of Toronto, will assist local members in carrying out the sacred observances of the Faith.

On the occasion of this annual and ancient celebration the letter, as well as the spirit, of forgiveness is manifested. If harsh feelings exist they are mollified and extinguished and the New Year commenced with all animosities wiped out and each member of the Faith determined to try with a greater effort and zeal to live in harmony with those they meet and in accord with religious teachings of the Hebrew Church.

COME FROM FAR AWAY TO SEEK AID.

SISTER SAINT JEAN-BAPTISTE, (FRENCH) SISTER SAINT FRANCOIS XAVIER (AMERICAN)

From the picturesque little town of Mentone, at the base of the Maritime Alps, almost on the border line between France and Italy, on the Mediterranean Sea, two sisters of the order of Les Pauvres Clarisses have come to this country to seek aid for the Convent of Reparation, at Mentone. In the community of the sisters of St. Clare there are twenty-seven nuns, fourteen of whom are American women, who have taken the veil.

The two nuns who came here are Sister Saint Francois Xavier, an American woman, and Sister Jean Baptiste, who is French.

GET 250,000 CANS OF FOOD

Maryland Packers Have This Amount of Products for Market

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 10.—Maryland's canning season is at its height. While the 1912 output will be greatly below the average, owing to backward crops in certain sections, relied upon for vegetables and fruits, the figures are stupendous, according to a statement made to-day by one of the largest packers in Baltimore.

"Not fewer than ten million cases of vegetables will be put in the Maryland canneries this season," said this packer. "Maryland produces an average of four million cases of tomatoes alone. It is said that this year's pack will be something like eighty per cent of the average, or about four million means that Maryland will furnish the cases of two dozen cans each. That country with one hundred million quart cans of tomatoes.

"Of corn, beans and other vegetables and fruits the State sends forth each year in excess of 6,000,000 cases. Therefore, the Maryland output of canned vegetables is something like 250,000,000 cans. This output goes largely toward supplying the entire world with this class of food.

MR. J. ALLAN'S ORGAN RECITAL

St. Paul's Church The Scene of Splendid Musical Event Last Night

The organ and vocal recital given last night in St. Paul's Church by Mr. John Allan, assisted by Miss Dorothy Allen, was thoroughly enjoyed by the large and appreciative audience present. Mr. Allan needs no eulogy from us. Those who heard him on a former occasion were in evidence last night, and brought their friends along to enjoy the splendid programme provided. The following was the programme:

Coronation Anthem—"Zadock the Priest, Handel.

"Serenade, Widor.

Vocal—a. "When the Heart is Young," Dudley Buck; b. "Down in the Forest" (Cycle of Life), Landon Ronald.

"Insanae et Curae," Haydn.

"Gavotte de Mignon," Ambroise Thomas.

Vocal—a. "Like as the Heart Desireth the Waterbrooks, Frances Allitsen; b. "Now the Day is Over," Christopher Marks.

"Grand Choeur" en Re majeur, Guilmant.

"Meditation," E. d'Evry.

Vocal—a. "Good Bye," Paolo Tosti; b. "Happy Song," Teresa Del Riego.

"Marche Triumphale," John Allan.

"God Save the King."

The singing of Miss Dorothy Allan was a revelation, her voice being sweet and exceedingly well cultured. At the conclusion of her first number she was recalled receiving warm and prolonged applause. Her subsequent numbers were also most heartily applauded, capturing the sympathy of the audience literally by storm She sings without apparent effort and with great expression, taking the high notes with ease and feeling.

During the recital a beautiful bouquet of flowers was presented to Miss Allan by local admirers of her distinguished talents.

Mr. Allan's ability as a musician was thoroughly demonstrated last night, and St. Paul's Church is to be congratulated in securing his services as choirmaster and organist, while his charming and clever daughter will also add great strength and dignity to the musical talent of Peterborough.

PAYS RESPECT TO LAURIER

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Requests Deference For Liberals

Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., in keeping with his usual thoughtfulness and broadminded spirit, publicly requests that Federal Government employees in West Peterborough show all possible attention and consideration to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Hon. G. P. Graham and the W. R. Liberal Association on the occasion of the coming visit of Sir Wilfrid to this city.

Mr. Burnham also takes this occasion to let it be known that government employees need not fear charges of offensive partizanship if they attend political meetings. In any way they choose to enjoy the freedom of citizenship they may fear no undue interference.

There are invariably timid persons among government employees and this open expression of the government's attitude will serve to allay any apprehensions possible in all branches of the service.

LABOR UNIONS DO VALUABLE SERVICE, SAYS HON. CROTHERS

Appeal Before Guelph Congress is Made For Pension For Widows Who Are Left With Children

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 10.—An unexpected turn in the proceedings of the labor congress occurred to-day when Mrs. Henderson, probationary officer of the Juvenile Court of Montreal, entered a plea for a mothers' and widows' pension act for the benefit of women who are left with little children to fight poverty alone.

"The cheapest labor in the world is child labor," said Mrs. Henderson "We get reports on cattle growing, poultry breeding and the like, but we do not hear of any examinations on mankind. Children from 10 to 16 years of age are compelled to work in factories and shops where long hours are the rules. What kind of human life will they develop."

Mrs. Henderson laid a number of cases of suffering which she had encountered in Montreal, before the convention and appealed to the delegates to start the ball rolling for reforms for the weaker sex. President Watters assured the speaker that the policy of the congress was always to relieve suffering and that her plea would surely receive consideration.

"There will be a need for a labor organization just as long as there is room for improvement in industrial conditions," declared Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, before the labor congress to-day. "But I do not believe that there is any section of the workers who enjoy better conditions than you men of Canada. I do not say that to provide an excuse for not doing our best at all times. We can still improve, as everybody knows. Some people denounce the workers for combining into unions, continued Mr. Crothers, but they forget that the legal profession, the physicians, the manufacturers, the retailers combine to better their own conditions. Even the ministers of the gospel are establishing a minimum wage scale. Why should not the man who toils with his hands be allowed to protect himself. It strikes me that the workman who has 10,000 or 20,000 other workers behind him will get a greater show from his employer than if he were alone. I would like the manufacturers to hear what I am saying. I say that the captain of industry will surely reap the penalty if he grants starvation wages. Again what good does it do for a man to listen to a minister of the gospel when he is starving. Let the preachers tackle the real problem in the correct way."

The two hundred and fifty delegates to the annual convention of the Dominion Trades Congress were called to order early to-day to hear the official report of the executive committee of the Congress. This declaration dealt with all the main labor issues of the day and was well received by the convention. An announcement which brought forth ringing cheers from the assembled delegates was that the labor congress of Great Britain and Ireland had just appointed Mr. William Thorne, British member of Parliament, to carry fraternal greetings from the Old Country body to the 1912 convention of the Dominion congress. This will be the first time that the British body will be represented at the Canadian assembly.

WORTH MILLIONS STILL IN DEBT

Trustee of Many Estates Found to Owe More Than $100,000

New York, Sept. 10.—Although reputed to be worth $1,000,000, a report filed last week with Surrogate Shoental, of Nawork, by Mrs. Bertha Seick, showed that her husband, Charles H. Seick, was in debt $107,509.96 at the time of his death. Mr. Seick was killed in an automobile accident on September 30, 1911.

Mr. Seick, who was a widely known attorney, handled the estates and investments for many widows and orphans, and there are now three hundred claims against his estate. Mrs. Seick sets his assets at $808,997.78 and his liabilities at $916,507.74.

Two banks with large claims are protected by collateral security, but two building and loan societies, whose claims aggregate $34,000, are unprotected.

As Seick did all the banking of funds he handled in his own name, it is impossible to learn how the individual accounts stand.

JAIL BUILDINGS COST $70,000

Toronto, Sept. 11.—Toronto's Jail Farm buildings will probably cost, with equipment, about $70,000, this amount being thought sufficient to provide accommodation for over 100 inmates. They will take the form of a central kitchen with three dining rooms off it, and a sleeping building with dormitories at each end. There will also be a storehouse and heating plant. The buildings will be one storey high with basement.

There are the conclusions reached by the deputation which has just returned from Long Island, where a home for feeble-minded, constructed on the above lines was inspected.

RELATIVES SOUGHT FOR

Toronto, Sept. 11.—Henry Clover, for whose relatives the police and hospital authorities are searching, is lying in St. Michael's Hospital in a critical condition with his skull fractured.

Last Thursday night Clover was found lying on the sidewalk by P.C. Elliott, who took him to the Agnes Street Station. He was released in the morning, apparently in the best of health.

Later he went to the house of a friend at 65 Richmond street west, where he was taken ill. Early yesterday morning he became unconscious, and was removed to the hospital. Slight hopes are held out for his recovery. The man is said to have a married sister living in North Toronto.

ROLLED IN EGGS AND LARD STEW

Spoiler of a Flirtation is Likeness of Rare Omelet

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—An animated egg omelet was offered as evidence in the Central Police Station when Frank Fitzgerald, of No. 512 South Hancock street, was arraigned for assault and battery and malicious mischief.

The omelet was in the person of Henry Spencer, a dishwasher in the restaurant of Isadore Plumer, Second and South streets. Spencer was covered from head to foot with a thick coating of eggs, lard, flour and cracker dust which he said was applied by Fitzgerald. He said he needed only a little frying to be converted into either an omelet or cutlet.

Fitzgerald and another man entered the restaurant soon after two o'clock in the morning. They saw the cook, whose looks pleased them, and went to the kitchen to introduce themselves to her.

The cook frowned upon their attentions, but they made themselves at home by picking fish from the pots. The cook favored them with a freezing stare and then summoned Plumer. He told them customers would be served in the dining hall, whereupon the intruders went into action. With one mighty sweep of the arm they brushed stews and roasts from stove to floor, Then while one was engaged in driving the proprietor out of the place, with a volley of mustard and pickle jars, the other seized Spencer, the dishwasher, and jammed an inverted tub of lard over his head. A crate of eggs was then spilled on the floor, and unfortunate dishwasher was rolled in the yolks. As he endeavoured to get up a barrel of flour was overturned and most of it attached itself to his lard and egg coated surface, giving him a ghostly appearance. A dish o. cracker crumbs was then dashed over him.

Nicholas Conjek, a diner, was about to go to the aid of Plumer when a shovel, which he said was in the hands of Fitzgerald, descended on his head. He was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where his scalp was dressed.

Policeman Downs, of the Fourth and Delancey streets station came upon the scene and saw the disturbers climbing the stairs to the roof. He gave chase and caught Fitzgerald on a housetop a half block from the scene of the escapade. The other man escaped.

The cook, the innocent cause of the trouble, was unable to appear. She had an attack of hysteria. Plumer, Conjek and Spencer were mute signs of the early morning encounter, and their liberally bespattered clothing and features were sufficient evidence to convince Magistrate Coward that there had been a disturbance.

Sergeant Van Horn, of the Delancey street staion, contradicted Fitzgerald's plea of a first offence, with a record of almost six months spent in the county prison for highway robbery and other offences.

Fitzgerald was held in $1,100 bail for court.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 65 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 45 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 7c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., [illegible] George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

Statue With Umbrella.

Some poor art is to be seen in this country in the shape of statues dedicated to the memory of great men, but no American enormity in this line quite equals that which was perpetrated by an English sculptor for the town of Reading. When the fellow townsmen of a certain George Palmer of that place decided to honor his memory they determined upon a bronze statue of Palmer, which should be not merely a portrait as to features, but a correct presentment of him as he appeared among them every day. Accordingly, the stranger in Reading is startled by the most unconventional of statues, with every crease and wrinkle of the homely attire of the original reproduced. To complete the effect the statue is bareheaded, with silk hat and umbrella in hand. It is thought that this is the only instance in which the necessary but not entirely beautiful umbrella has been reproduced in bronze.—New York Sun.

He Fooled Her.

"If you were asked to get ready to start next Thursday on a long journey do you think you could do so?" asked her rich employer, who was a widower.

"Oh, I—much would depend upon the kind of journey it was to be," she replied.

"I mean a pleasant journey—a journey that would last for a month or more."

"And should I have company on the journey?"

"Well, I hadn't thought of that. No, I don't believe you would. I should expect you to go alone."

"Then I don't believe I could get ready," she said turning to her typewriter and making four mistakes in the first line of the letter she had begun.—Chicago Record-Herald.

ROUSED THE AUDIENCE.

A Mining Camp Melodrama With an Unexpected Climax.

Joseph Jefferson used to say that his career came very near being nipped in the bud in a small western town. He at that time was a member of a small pioneer company which progressed by means of three "bull teams" from one mining camp to another. They were always heartily received by the miners and cowboys, who readily paid the $3 in gold required to witness their performance. Mr. Jefferson was the traditional melodramatic villain and in the third act was supposed to kidnap "the child." The supposed mother, hearing its cries, rushes upon the scene just as he is about to escape and fires a fruitless shot from a revolver.

Upon this particular occasion all had gone well until this scene was reached, and the audience, many of whom had never before seen any kind of theatrical performance, sat as if spellbound. At the crack of the mother's revolver, however, the spell was rudely broken.

"By heaven she missed him!" a red shirted miner in the front row shouted, drawing his own six shooter and leaping to his feet. "Round to the back door and head him off 'fore he can git a hoss, boys!" he yelled, and, following him, half the audience stampeded for the exit.

The excitement was finally allayed by the "mother" and the villain appearing hand in hand before the curtain and the manager's explanation of the situation. When the performance had been concluded the audience insisted on paying another admission price and having an immediate repetition from beginning to end.

A Fortunate Chance.

"What I don't ketch on to," said Mose Willerby, "is how ye managed to make that ottermobile feller pay ye thutty dollars fer spillin' a waggin load o' bad eggs. Ye can't spile a bad egg, kin ye?"

"Waal, ye see," said Uncle Jabez, "it come about this way. When the smashup come th' air got so full o' that pesky gasoline that the condition o' them there eggs warn't hardly purrceptible."—Harper's.

The Dangerous Germans.

One can never resist a good schoolboy "howler." Here is the latest.

The teacher had been giving a lesson on elementary hygiene, explaining about cleanliness and germs, and so on, and the scholars were asked to write an essay on the subject.

Said one youth: "Dust is a thing that should always be carefully got rid of, as it nearly always contains Germans, which do a lot of harm."—London Answers.

Vice Versa.

Parson—So your husband is sick. Maybe he has been throwing himself too heavily into his work. Mrs. Casey—Not on yure loife! He's been throwing his wu-ark too hivily into him. That's what's the trouble wid him. He's a bartender.—Judge.

QUICKSILVER MINING.

An Occupation That Quickly Dooms the Workers.

The chief quicksilver mines in Europe are in the Spanish town of Almaden, which is an Arabic word, meaning "the mine of quicksilver." These mines were formerly worked by the Iberians and after them by the ancient Romans. Between 1645 and 1648 the Spanish government employed galley slaves in them, an occupation that soon ended in death. The fumes of the mercury produce constant salivation, and the system becomes permeated with the metal.

At first the victim is seized with tremblings, and then the teeth drop out; pains in the bones follow and then death. The annual yield of mercury is 1,500,000 pounds, to produce which 4,000 men are engaged in this unhealthy employment.

After Almaden so far as yield of quicksilver is concerned comes Idria, an Austrian town, twenty-eight miles from Triest. These mines also were once worked by criminals, who, owing to the terrible qualities of the mineral, expired after about two years' service.

There are now nearly 500 miners engaged in the work at Idria. They are induced to enter the mines by high pay. A pension is allowed when they are disabled, and provision is made for their widows and children.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Wager Won.

The following story is told of J. P. Morgan—and possibly of other successful business men as well. For three consecutive days the great financier carried an empty birdcage in his hand to and from his office. On the third day one of his managers ventured to ask why he carried that apparently useless article.

"To see," replied Pierpont Morgan, "if any one would have the impudence to ask me why I did so."

"I beg your pardon," began the inquirer. "I"—

"You needn't do that," said the chief, smiling grimly. "I had a bet with a man that I had at least one employee with some curiosity. I've won the money; but in future don't ask questions about things that don't concern you!"

Rook and Crook.

The rook appears to have become the bird whose name stands for swindlers in a distinctly unfair way. At first "rook" meant a dupe, then the verb "to rook" came to mean to cheat, and out of this was evolved "rook," a cheater—a complete topsy turvy process. It is curious that the same thing has not happened to "gull." Here also the verb came from the substantive meaning a dupe, and as the gull strikes one as rather a knowing bird one might have expected the same evolution as in the case of the rook. It should be observed, however, that "gull," a dupe, did not refer specially to the sea gull, the word having formerly meant a young bird of any kind. In Elizabethan English it signified a callow youngster who wished to be thought smart.—London Chronicle.

FLOATING A TOWN AWAY.

Story of the Origin of Commercial Street in Provincetown.

Commercial street in Provincetown had an origin in keeping with its present nautical air and appeal to the imagination. The town originally stood on the spit of sand far out across the harbor, where the lighthouse now is. Many years ago the government bought Provincetown, houses and all, in order to protect the harbor from the threatening sea. The Provincetownians went to the government people and asked what they were going to do with the houses.

"Pull 'em down, of course," said the government.

"Can't we have 'em?" inquired the late owners.

"Sure," replied the government, "if you'll take 'em away."

"Sure!" echoed the Provincetownians.

Old wreckers that they were, they applied their technic to the problems of house moving. They bulkheaded their dwellings up, necklaced empty casks about them in the way of life preservers, and one sunny morning the village of Provincetown, true to its maritime traditions, set sail, schoolhouse and all, and came floating gayly across the harbor to where it now stands. Near the railway track today they point out a certain store as the original seafaring schoolhouse.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Sunny People.

The world delights in sunny people. The old are hungering for love more than for bread. The air of joy is very cheap, and if you can help the poor on with a garment of praise it will be better for them than blankets.—Henry Drummond.

A man of integrity will never listen to any plea against conscience.—Towne.

THE CURIOUS SNAIL.

This Creature Can Live Without Air, Water or Nourishment.

While the snail has lungs, heart and a general circulation and is in every respect an air breathing creature, it can nevertheless exist indefinitely without inhaling the least breath of air, the element that is usually considered the essential to existence in all creatures supplied with lungs.

"To all organized creatures," said Leppert, "the removal of oxygen, water, nourishment and heat causes death to ensue." When that statement was made Leppert did not appear to consider the snail as one among the great host of "organized beings," for experiments by Spallanzani have proved that any or all the usual life conditions can be removed in the case of the snail without terminating its existence or in any way impairing its functions.

The common snail retreats into his shell on the approach of frosty weather, and the opening or mouth of its shell is hermetically sealed by a secretion which is of a silky texture and absolutely impervious to air and water. In this condition it is plain that it is deprived of three of the four elements of life mentioned above—air, water and nourishment.—Harper's Weekly.

Justice to Come.

Lord Cockburn, though a successful defender of prisoners, failed on one occasion to get an acquittal for a murderer. "The culprit," Mr. Croak James tells us in his "Curiosities of Law and Lawyers," "after the sentence fixing his execution for the 20th day of the month had been removed from the dock when his counsel passed him and was then seized by the gown. The prisoner said, 'I have not got justice, Mr. Cockburn,' to which the counsel gravely replied, 'Perhaps not, but you'll get it on the 20th'."

THE FORUM

A report says the best hotels in New York have been selling bad milk. Pshaw; that doesn't worry us. When we visit New York we don't go to drink milk.

"Run down by an auto driven by a lady," says a Toronto paper headline. We think the victim would justly term her a loidy in that case.

News item: London is filling up again. Every time London gets full, or filled up, as reported, Canada gets another batch of harvest hands who prefer the city.

Although the Taft and Bull Moose elements of the Republican party are presenting an ostensibly united front, conservative leaders in both parties admit belief of a democratic victory all around.

Those who have started the "Lobster Palace" life with the beginning of the oyster season might do well to put in an extra grain of salt. It's reported that a turtle dinner proved fatal to a pet snake in New York.

A Toronto Judge sentenced a poor woman to ten days in jail for theft. Immediately after he sentenced a wealthy woman to fifteen days for a similar offence. If the Courts in general take up this practise of impartiality newspapers will have to remove that standing head, "There is no justice."

Our Schools and Pupils.

Thoroughly refreshed and invigorated the army of school children in this and other cities have again become accustomed to the sound of the teach?rs' pointer. To most of them the vacation likely seemed short, but as interest is renewed in the courses of study, and as nut gathering time and Hallowe'en approach the regret over the vanished holidays will be swallowed up in looking forward to still better days in class room emulation and all the varied details of school life.

Many cities and districts in Ontario face the old problem of inadequate accommodations. Many pupils will not get their full share of tutelage, either because of lack of accommodation or lack of teachers, and thus, at the very threshold of their careers, be severely handicapped. Of course it has been difficult to keep pace with the growth of school population. In this respect Peterborough has much to be thankful for A progressive Board of Trade is doing nobly in this city, and it is to be hoped the time will come when all pupils in the land can be taken care of without resort to makeshifts to supply teachers and provide for the children.

THE PRICE OF A SMOKE.

Even more amazing than the reports that Chicago women smokers have abandoned the dainty cigarette for the fat cigar is the statement that they are smoking "two-for-a-quarter" and even better brands. We are to believe that these raw recruits to the ranks of cigar smokers already have developed a nice discrimination, a really educated taste.

· they may outdo Ottawa Society, as the Free Press tried to paint it once:

Yet where is the man who has not groaned in spirit at the sight of birthday and Christmas cigars from wife, sister or sweetheart? Even the artless little rhapsodies of the giver over the beauty of her gift could not dispel the gloom. Assurances such as, "I know you'll like the design inside the box lid." or "Oh George the bands are just too sweet for anything!" could not remove the curse of the bargain counter tag "Only 71 cents for 50, marked down from 86." and who could be cruel enough to explain the true inwardness of the "Pride of Barren Island" and the "Hackdrivers' Regalia" to a loving and loved donor? Perish the thought! Better, far better, to bury them somewhere at dead of night, or even give them to an enemy.

But with this new sophistication all will be changed. The woman who puffs the fragrant perfecto of Cuban antecedents no longer can expect immunity from criticism if she attempts to pass out as gifts in the home circle the old malodorous compounds of oakum, tarred rope and scrap rubber that once were current.

DRINK MILK TO CUT EXPENSES

Advice of Food and Drug Commissioner of Missouri.

Columbia, Mo., Sept. 10.—The high cost of living is due in a great degree to style in dressing and eating, according to Dr. William P. Cutler, State Dairy, Food and Drug Commissioner, of Missouri.

Dr. Cutter, according to the St. Louis Republic, says that he does not pose as an expert on style in dressing but he says that the average person can save a large part of his grocery bills by eating foods which are cheaper but equally nourishing.

"I wonder that people do not investigate milk, for instance, as an economical food," said Dr. Cutler. "It's a well known fact that a quart of milk rarely costs more than eight cents, is equaly in value to eight eggs, costing twenty cents in winter, and but little less in summer, or to fourteen ounces of the average beefsteak which costs from twenty to twenty-five cents. Milk is the most nourishing of foods.

"Bread and milk together constitute what is called a balanced ration—that is, the two together furnish all the elements necessary to nourish the body. A man working at hard farm labor can live and be well nourished on only bread and milk.

"If this is true, how much more true it is of a person of sedentary habits! The beauty of this kind of diet is that it is so easily digested and requires so little energy for digestion, while if a man eats meat, a large amount of energy is required for digesting it.

"One of the best fat reducing diets in the world is to live on two quarts of milk a day. I personally have tried this experiment, reducing in two weeks at least ten pounds and doing it safely. Two quarts of milk daily furnish all the waste building material needed without adding unduly to the production of it.

"Bread is fat producing and if one drinks milk and does not eat bread, nature calls on the fat stored away in the tissues to furnish heat and energy. This results in the loss of fat."

Dr. Cutler is not an advocate of a strictly vegetarian diet, but he says that a person should not eat too much of any food. A food manufactures its own toxins, he says, and too large an amount of even the most wholesome food produces poisons in the body.

OUTWITTED A LION.

Clever Tactics of a Plucky and Ingenious African.

The little bushman of South Africa is not only small in size, but feeble in mind. Yet there is on record an encounter between a bushman and a lion which shows the man as cool in danger and fertile in resource.

This bushman, while a long way from his home, was met by a lion. The animal, assured that he had his victim completely in his power, began to sport and dally with him with a feline jocosity which the poor little bushman failed to appreciate. The lion would appear at a point in the road and leap back again into the jungle, to reappear a little farther on.

The bushman, however, did not lose his presence of mind and presently hit upon a device whereby he might outwit his foe. This plan was suggested by the lion's own conduct.

Aware that the beast was ahead of him, the bushman dodged to the right, and, feeling pretty sure of the lion's whereabouts, resorted to the course of quietly watching his movements.

When the lion discovered that the man had suddenly disappeared from the path he was a good deal perplexed. He roared with mortification. Then he espied the bushman peeping at him over the grass.

The bushman at once changed his position, while the lion stood irresolute in the path, following with his eye the shifting black man. In another moment the little man rustled the reeds, vanished and showed himself at another point.

The great brute was first confused and then alarmed. It evidently began to dawn upon him that he had mistaken the position of matters and that he was the hunted party.

To Boom Bath.

Sir William Ramsay's discovery of niton, or radium, emanations in the water of Bath has raised hopes that the famous city may again become a centre of healing and fashion. A great scheme for developing, involving the expenditure of $1,250,000 is afoot. It is expected to begin work soon at the baths.

The committee of the corporation decided recently to recommend to the city council to accept the offers of Sir William's radium development. The syndicate's project includes leasing the bathing establishment, pump room, antiquities and other properties to the syndicate. Already, since the publication of Sir William's discoveries, there has been a revival of popularity, and the demand for certain forms of treatment is greater than the present resources to meet it.

Evidence of what may be expected led the committee to recommend to the council to accept the offer of the syndicate, which purposes to install electrical appliances to increase the absorption by the skin of the properties of the waters.

The Ghosts of Dogs.

Probably the last piece of writing from Mr. Andrew Lang's pen is a review in The Manchester Guardian of "The Golden Bough." It was dated by Mr. Lang "Banchory, July 20." Here is an interesting quotation from it: "Knowing cases in which phantasms of dogs have been seen and heard collectively by several persons simultaneously, I tend to agree with the tribes of Northwest Central Queensland that dogs, like men, have khoi, have spirits; and a Chinese case suggests the same idea about monkeys, though not decisively. Mr. Dennis mentions a Chinese case in which the death of an ill-used ape was followed by a Poltergeist, invisible but active. It is, however, but a doubtsome inference that the Poltergeist was the spirit of the late monkey. I do not come under Mr. Fraser's scorn of those who believe in human but deny animal immortality."

THE PECTORAL FINS.

Without Them a Fish Would Stand Upon Its Head.

The pectoral fins of a fish are the two fins, one on each side, just back of the head. These fins aid the fish to some extent in swimming. They are small oars which the fish feathers very beautifully and are of value chiefly to preserve its equilibrium. It is with these fins that the fish maintains its horizontal position in the water when not swimming. Without them the fish would stand on its head. Sometimes a fish loses one or both of its pectoral fins by disease or by accident. A fish without pectoral fins is in a bad way.

While most fishes keep a horizontal position in the water when not swimming, there are fishes that do not. One of these fishes is the filefish, which when motionless suspends itself in the water, head downward, at an angle of forty-five degrees or even nearer the perpendicular. A filefish kept in an aquarium which had lost both its pectoral fins [illegible] backward near about the same angle that it would have kept in the other direction if its pectoral fins had been intact, so that when not in motion it seemed to be lying at an angle on its back.

In the same aquarium there was a striped bass weighing about a pound and a half, one of whose pectoral fins was attacked at the tip by fungus, which gradually encroached upon it. Finally the diseased portions of the fin were cut off with a pair of sharp shears, the cut being made within the sound part of the fin. At first the fish was like a man in a boat pulling one long oar and one short one—it couldn't hold a course. But it soon accustomed itself to its new condition, and thereafter it got along very comfortably.

Chair of the Giant Idris.

One of the mountain peaks of north Wales is known as the Chair of Idris, or Cader Idris, as the Welsh people call it, because its top is hollowed out like an immense couch. According to local tradition, whoever spends a night in the Chair of Idris will on the following morning be dead, raving mad or endowed with the loftiest poetical inspiration. No one seems to know exactly who Idris was or when he lived, but he must have been a giant if his body was in proportion with his celebrated "chair." Mrs. Hemans has a fine poem with the Chair of Idris as the theme, and Tennyson also mentions it in "Enid."

Tart!

In the days when Mrs. George Cornwallis West was Lady Randolph Churchill she mixed considerably among politicians and political affairs, and one story told of her shows how she scored off Mr. Joseph Chamberlain and the late Sir William Harcourt. They were chaffing her about some paintings she had done.

"But why not paint us?" one of them asked. "Where can you find more attractive models?"

"Impossible!" Lady Randolph exclaimed. "I could never paint you black enough!"—London Tit-Bits.

Fifth Monarchy Men.

The fifth monarchy men formed a religious sect that sprang up in the days of Charles I. of England. They were so called from the fact that they asserted that in the last days the four ancient monarchies, the Assyrian, the Persian, the Babylonian and the Roman, would be restored, and to them would be added a Christian monarchy, or fifth monarchy, of which Christ would be the king.

TURPIN'S PISTOL.

Finding of Relic Recalls Story of Highwayman Here.

A despatch from London the other day conveyed the information that Dick Turpin's pistol had been found—the same presumably with which the famous highwayman shot his friend, that equally notorious highwayman, Tom King. It is a double flintlock horse "stick," and it bears the inscription:

"Presented to Dick Turpin at the White Bear Inn, Drury Lane, February 7, 1735."

In common with many another robber Turpin was something of a hero in his day. The highwaymen of the time appealed to the popular imagination.

Among the accounts of Turpin's activities none is better known than that found in Harrison Ainsworth's "Rookwood." It is partly true and partly legendary. It mentions many of the famous gentry of the road by name, and one can imagine Dick Turpin and Tom King roaring out alternate verses at the Whate Bear Inn or that hostelry in Kilburn which the gang affected—singing it, perhaps, on the very night on which Turpin killed King and started off on his wild gallop of a hundred miles from London to York. "High toby" is the name by which the game of stand and deliver was familiarly known to its steady practitioners, and here are a few stanzas of the "Chapter of Highwaymen":

Of every rascal of every kind
The most notorious to my mind
Was the cavalier captain, gay Jemmy Hind!
Which nobody can deny.

James Hind, known as the "prince of prigs," was a royalist captain of some distinction who was hanged, drawn and quartered in 1652. It was said that Oliver Cromwell was among the many whom he had robbed.

But the pleasantest coxcomb among them all
For lute, corranto and madrigal
Was the galliard Frenchman Claude Du Val!
Which nobody can deny.

Du Val was a gentleman highway man who made life miserable for travelers going to and from London.

And Tobygloak never a coach could rob,
Could lighten a pocket or empty a fob
With a neater hand than Old Mob, Old Mob!
Which nobody can deny.

"Old Mob" was Thomas Simpson, who was not particularly scrupulous as to his method of appropriation. He told a widow whom he robbed that "the end of a woman's husband begins in tears, but the end of her tears is another husband."

Diverse Types In India.

The people of India who inhabit the immense plains of Ganges and Indus, from Calcutta to Peshawur, are of Aryan origin, but display many diversities of type, due partly to environment and partly to the widely differing periods of their residence in the country. The acute but timid Bengali of to-day resembles little the warlike Sikh of the Punjab, or the fierce Afghan of Rochilcund; and the patient weaver of Dacca is wholly unlike the high-spirited Rajput of central India.

Differences in the stature of the various tribes may be accounted for similarly. Equally courageous and fierce in battle, the short sturdy Goorka from the mountains of Nepal lacks many inches of the stalwart Sikh of the plains.

Last year England undertook the great task of taking a census of the 300,000,000 inhabitants of India, and the 1,250,000 enumerators disclosed many interesting particulars about this remarkable people, not the least significant of which was the unsuspected extent of illiteracy. The types shown do not give an impression of unintelligence and the fault must necessarily lie with the educational system. At the present time not more than two per cent. of the total population are under instruction, notwithstanding that over 25 per cent. are between the ages of 5 and 15. A general movement is afoot, however, for the establishment of a system of free primary education throughout this vast empire.

The Missing Brogue.

In his book of reminiscences George Chirgwin, the English comedian, tells a story that illustrates two of his strong points on the stage—his quickness of repartee and his trick of entering into confidential relations with his audience.

He was singing an Irish song in an Irish town once, but he had some difficulty with the brogue.

A typical Pat in the audience stood up and called out indignantly, "Och, ye spalpeen, an' where's yer brogue intoirely?"

Chirgwin grinned cheerfully.

"You've got it," he said, and the audience screamed themselves hoarse with delight.

THE GAEKWAR'S HUNT.

His Highness of Baroda Does It on a Big Scale.

His Highness the Gaekwar of Baroda is known abroad as a ruler with advanced ideas, and when we are given a glimpse of how he does things at home we are convinced that he is a very unusual person. The pomp and splendor of his court make it one of the wonders of the East, and his private sports and amusements are in due keeping with the rest of his customs.

A tiger hunt of the Maharaja Gaekwar, the Maharani and the Maharaja of Rewah, is described by Rev. Edward St. Clair Weeden, an Englishman who stayed in the royal palace of His Highness for some time, in his book, "A Year with the Gaekwar of Baroda," says Mr. Weeden.

This particular shoot had been arranged for the Gaekwar by the Maharaja of Rewah, a Rajput chief of the old school who had evidently determined to do the thing really well; and Her Highness who, as I have already told you, is one of the best shots among the Indian ladies, and as keen on sport as any man, English or Indian, was specially invited to take part in it. It had long been her ambition to shoot a tiger, and she was now looking forward with the keenest enjoyment to the opportunity of doing so.

After spending a few days in Bombay, we set out on the long railway journey, His Highness being accompanied by his private secretary Nimbalker, and another officer, who is one of the best shots in the Baroda army; Dr. Jadhav Turnbull, who had given Shivajirao a holiday for the occasion, and myself. Two chauffeurs in charge of their cars, a couple of clerks, and our personal servants completed the party, with, of course, the women in attendance on Her Highness.

We arrived on the evening of the second day at a station about fifty miles from Rewah, where we spent the night in bungalows which had been specially prepared, and set off early the next morning in motor-cars to our first halting place, where breakfast was ready, after which we went on to the first camp, about thirty miles farther on.

The road lay principally through rocky jungle, over high ranges of hills, which were so steep that in some places the cars could not climb them. What do you think they did. They had elephants waiting, which were harnessed with strong ropes to the cars and hauled them over. It was an extraordinary sight, and I wish I had been able to get a snap-shot of it. Throughout our visit, cars were sent in daily from the camp to the town to bring in ice and fresh meat, fish and vegetables; and two hundred coolies were kept night and day at the steep places to pull the cars over with long ropes.

We found the Maharaja of Rewah waiting to receive us at the camp, a fine-looking man, with his black, bushy beard parted in the middle and brushed up on either side, making him look very fierce. He is very strict in his observance of Hindu customs and has three wives, whom, of course, we did not see. One of them is said to be very young indeed, and is called "the Toy." Everything in his state is very primitive and old-fashioned, and there is always a crowd of people with petitions hanging about.

In the camp all had been prepared on the most lavish scale. A few weeks before it had been jungle, with tigers roaming through it; now two bungalows had been built for Their Highnesses, surrounded by small gardens, gaily planted with flowers, and magnificent tents, one of which I shared with Turnbull, put up for the rest of the party. Sumptuous dinners were prepared by special cooks, and unlimited champagne of the best brands flowed freely for those who wanted it.

We stayed for three days in the first camp, and then moved on to another equally well appointed, where we remained for a week. The days were all very much alike, and it is hard to remember details; so I will give you a general idea. Except for the great heat which was alleviated in every possible way, we suffered no hardships at all; it was, in fact, tiger shooting made easy.

All the morning we stayed in the camp, for even on this expedition for pleasure and sport the Gaekwar had his work to do, and did it with his accustomed thoroughness, rising at daybreak to read his correspondence and dictate letters on affairs of state to his secretary, and then reading solidly for two or three hours with me or Turnbull.

At noon we had breakfast and started at about three o'clock for a fifteen miles' drive by motor car into the jungle. We had ten cars together, and a hundred miles of new road had been made for them, so as to avoid the tiring journey on elephants or in carts over the rough country roads. However, within a mile or two of our destination the cars were stopped, for fear of startling the tigers, and we mounted elephants, which took us to the machans—platforms built on trees, ten or fifteen feet above the ground. These were placed fifty yards away from one another, their Highnesses and the Maharaja of Rewah occupying the three central ones. The tigers were driven toward the machans by a large army of beaters, and would sometimes come within a few yards of them.

When the beat began a bugle sounded, and a tiger would generally make his appearance every half hour or so. Occasionally a tiger would be wounded and escape, causing much excitement among the men. The beaters warned by the bugle would rush to the trees, while the "guns" would mount elephants and would follow him up until he was found and killed.

It is a fairly common thing to find in coal in the English mines the trunks of trees still standing upright.

An Embarrassing Moment.

A lady was invited out to lunch and, being very fond of hot rolls, was asked to have another. "Really, I cannot," she modestly replied. "I don't know how many I've eaten already."

"I do," unexpectedly exclaimed a young hopeful, whose mother allowed him a seat at the table. "You've eaten eight. I've been countin'!"

A FAMOUS TELEGRAM.

The Message That Caught Tawell Is Celebrated In "Ticker" Annals.

In describing early telegraphy upon the Great Western Railway of England a writer recalls the first case of a criminal being brought to justice by means of the electric telegraph. This event took place a few months after the extension of the system to Slough in 1844. A murder had been committed at Salt Hill, and upon hearing of the occurrence the vicar of Upton-cum-Chalvey, Rev. E. T. Champnes, was informed that the last person seen to leave the house was a man wearing the dress of a Quaker. Mr. Champnes at once conceived the idea that the suspected person had probably fled to London, and acting upon his suspicions hastened to Slough Station, where a man answering to the description was seen by the vicar to pass through the booking office. Communicating his suspicions to Mr. Howell, the station superintendent, the latter caused a telegram to be sent off.

This is the telegram which raced (and beat) the train to Paddington: "A murder has been committed at Salt Hill, and the suspected murderer was seen to take a first-class ticket for London by the train which left Slough at 7 h. 42 m. p.m. He is in the garb of a Quaker, with a brown great coat, which reaches nearly down to his feet; he is in the last compartment of the second first-class carriage." The following reply was received from Paddington: "The up train has arrived, and a person answering in every respect the description given by telegraph came out of the compartment mentioned. I pointed the man out to Sergt. Williams. The man got into a New road omnibus, and Sergt. Williams into the same." The New road referred to is the present Euston road. It is but fair to add that the miscreant, who proved to be a forger, returned from a twenty-one years' transportation, had already been discarded by the Society of Friends. The prisoner, Tawell by name, and once a well-known city man, was committed to jail at Aylesbury, and finally suffered the extreme penalty of the law.

It is said that at that time a signal for the letter "Q" had not been provided, and the Slough telegraphist forwarded "Quaker" as "Kwaker." His colleague at the Paddington end three times queried the un-English-looking word which began "Kw," but fortunately grasped its meaning when somewhat unwillingly he permitted the whole word to be finished. That first wire between Slough and Paddington, by the way, was worked at the inventor's expense, and the Great Western Railway authorities had actually given him notice to remove what they considered a useless apparatus when the capture of the Slough murderer by its means brought into existence the Electric Telegraph Co., which purchased Cooke's patents for $600,000 and later disposed of them to the Government for $50,000,000.

The Salamander.

In Andrews' "Anecdotes Ancient and Modern" (1789) one reads, "Should a glass house fire be kept up without extinction for a longer term than seven years there is no doubt but that a salamander would be generated in the cinders." This probably accounts for the popular idea that a salamander lives in the fire, a fallacy so far removed from the truth that the curious lizardlike beast so called cannot endure even the heat of the sun, but skulks away under stones to avoid it. It will never lose its reputation for fire eating, though, which lingers still in the heating utensil that is named after it.

The Proud Duke.

An English importer told a story illustrative of the pride of the late Duke of Fife.

"A very rich woman in Grosvenor Square," he said, "once asked the duke to dinner in terms like these:

"'Mrs. Parvenu's social secretary is desired to invite the Duke of Fife to dinner on the 7th instant at 8 o'clock.'

"To this invitation came back the answer:

"'The Duke of Fife's piper is desired to inform Mrs. Parvenu's social secretary that the Duke of Fife declines her invitation.'"

NO PIER ADORNS NARRAGANSETT

Still Name Sticks — How Names of 400 Appear —People There

Narragansett Pier, Rhode Island, is filled with people who have almost arrived socially, and who never will arrive. It is just half an hour across the water from Newport, an hour and a quarter by trolley and ferry, but it might better be separated by a continent; the chasm would be no wider and more apparent, therefore less painful to those destined constantly to survey it.

The resort is called "Narragansett Pier," and so has been known for two generations. But there is no pier, and never has been one. There is a rocky cape, in the shape of a scimitar, inclosing a bit of wondrous blue sea. Perhaps that is where the "pier" ought to be, but any ship that tried to tie up there would instantly founder, and even walking has its severe hardships.

The "pier" symbolizes Narragansett. The place is a rocky and uncharted beacon for the socially aspiring. Fatigue, delays, shipwreck, disaster, stare in the face every social bark which anchors there. Yet the uninitiated seldom find it out until it is too late. Then all there is left for consolation is the climate and the surf, both first class.

This situation is all the more inexplicable to many for the reason that one reads constantly in the news from Narragansett the names of those prominent in the social heirarchy, names eminent in the 400, names revered in the 279. How can these people come so often to Narragansett, reason the socially uninformed, if the place is not exclusive?

The answer is obvious. Those residing at Newport, Lenox, and other places sacred to birth, breeding and plutocracy, desire—nay, require—some resort which, while possessing the external appearance of desirability, will yet be so informal—so, let us say, declasse—that it can be enjoyed without the entail of any social obligation. They need the sort of a watering place which European royalty seeks when it travels incognito; a place where social equals are not in a position to demand and to receive the attention that one equal is forced to extend to another.

Narragansett fills this requirement of the American plutocratic resorts. Nearly every day there are luncheon and ted parties, even dinner parties, at the Casino, given not by the residents of the "Pier," but by the distinguished social sojourners from across the water or from inland, who arrive in their yachts and their automobiles, who pause there for a few hours and then journey on without either endangering their social reputations or subjecting them to the rigors of meeting persons who may have some claim on recognition.

Of the social life that makes Newport so fascinating, so diverse, so peculiarly "Newportish"—for there is nothing else like it in the world—Narragansett has practically none.

The original and expensive entertainments, the expensive formal dinners, the elaborate tableaux which fill the six weeks' season at Newport with sublimated aesthetic wonder are not seen in Narragansett. There is little private entertaining, as there is everywhere: but of social life on the grand scale, the nearest one reaches to it, is to observe some of its component units as they wander over—incognito—for a lunch at the Casino, and then wander out again.

SEPARATE SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed, "Tender for Lumber and Timber etc., for Dipper Dredge," and "Tender for White Oak, etc., for Hopper Scows" will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m. on Thursday, September 12, 1912 for the supply of lumber and timber, etc for one 8½ Cubic Yard Dipper Dredge, and for the supply of White Oak, B. C. Fir and White Pine for four 95 Cubic Yard Hopper Scows.

Combined specifications and forms of tender can be seen and obtained at this Department and at the offices of T. H. Schwitzer, Esq., Mech. Superintendent, Birks Building, Ottawa, Ont., J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Toronto Ont., J. L. Michaud Esq., District Engineer, Merchants' Bank building, Montreal, Que.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the contract. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

19 KNIVES IN MAN'S STOMACH

Surgeon Removes Other Hardware, Too---He Will Recover

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 10.—Ninteen jack-knives, thirty screws, five knife blades, seventeen nails and one silver dollar were taken to-day from the stomach of John Martiner, No. 515 Buker street, following an operation at the Cook County Hospital by Dr. Joseph C. Beck.

Scores of other metals and hard materials which the man had swallowed in the last twenty years had passed through his system. Martiner will recover, the physicians say. He came out of the anaesthetic and said he was "feeling fine."

No other person at any of Chicago's hospitals ever had so many diversified articles removed from his stomach, according to Dr. Beck. The patient said he swallowed knives, screws and other articles for the amusement of his friends. Martiner is robust. He is called by his friends "the Hercules of Buker street." He always had a ravenous appetite and for the twenty years had been swallowing jack knives, silver currency and other hard materials.

"I pleased my friends and thought my digestion was aided," said Martiner. A few months ago he began to complain of stomach trouble. He discovered that his appetite was failing and that he had no more desire to swallow jack knives.

Friends advised him to go to the County Hospital. Martiner consulted Dr. Peters, who informed him an operation would be necessary. Dr. Beck, of the North Chicago Hospital, volunteered to perform the operation.

"All the articles were lodged in one corner of the stomach" said Dr Beck. "An ulcer had formed and the man would have died within a month if he had not been operated upon."

Ten of the knives taken from Martiner's stomach had had bone handles, but the bone had been dissolved by the gastric juices.

The wooden handled knives were intact. The silver dollar which Martiner swallowed ten years ago was as bright as if the coin had just come from the mint.

FIND IT EASY TO PROPOSE

Swiss Men Offer Flowers--- If Accepted, They Win

In remote Alpine hamlets and villages, especially in the Bernese Oberland, there still exists ancient and pretty customs of proposing marriage by the language of flowers, says the London Standard.

If a maid accepts a bouquet of edelweiss from a man she at the same time accepts him as her fiance, the idea being that the man has risked his life to obtain the flowers for the woman he loves.

Another method which exists in the Canton of Glarus is for the young man to place a flower pot containing a single rose and a note on the window sill of the girl's room when she is absent from home and wait, perhaps days for a reply.

If the maid takes the rose the young man boldly enters the house to arrange matters with her parents, but if the rose is allowed to fade away the proposal is rejected without a single word having been exchanged between the couple. Sometimes a fickle girl will keep a young man waiting a day or two for an answer, but whatever it may be, it is considered final.

Byles on Bills.

Among the humorous memories connected with English judges is one of Justice Byles and his horse. This eminent jurist was well known in his profession for his work on "Bills," and as this gave a fine opportunity for alliteration his associates were accustomed to bestow the name on the horse, which was but a sorry steed. "There goes Byles on Bills," they took pleasure in saying, and as the judge rode out every afternoon they indulged daily in their little joke. But the truth was that the horse had another name, known only to the master and his man, and when a too curious client inquired as to the judge's whereabouts he was told by the servant, with a clear conscience, that "master was out on Business."

The French Imperial Guard.

The Imperial Guard of France was created by Napoleon I. when he became emperor in 1804. It was formed by a merger of the "guards," the "convention," the "directory" and the "consulate." It consisted at first of 9,775 men, but was afterward considerably enlarged. In the year 1809 it was by the emperor's order divided into the old and young guards. In January, 1814, it numbered 102,706. It was dissolved by the Bourbon Louis XVIII. in 1815, revived by Napoleon III., surrendered with Metz to the Germans and was abolished by the government soon after.

Card Marks.

It is conjectured by some writers on the subject that the marks upon the cards designating the four kinds in a pack were originally symbolical and intended to signify the different classes of society. According to this supposition, the hearts represented the clergy, spades the nobility, some old packs of cards bearing a sword or lance head instead of a spade; clubs the serfs and diamonds the burghers or citizen classes.

Robert Browning.

Of Robert Browning toward the close of his life Frederic Harrison in his memoirs has this to say: "He was all things to all men and all women, always at his best, always bringing light, happiness, generosity and sense into every society he entered. I think him the happiest social spirit whom it has ever been my fortune to meet."

GAY OLD FASHIONS.

Dandies of Past Centuries Would Make Solomon Look Sad.

Compared with the gay apparel worn by the dandies of the past ages the youths of our time in the gayest of gay raiment make but a poor show.

The bishop of Ely in the fourteenth century had a change of raiment for every day in the year. The Earl of Northumberland boasted no less than sixty cloth of gold suits at this time.

In the time of Chaucer the men wore clothes as many colored as Joseph's coat, so that while one leg would be a blaze of crimson, the other would be tricked out in green, blue or yellow without any regard for harmony or contrast.

Even as late as the middle of the eighteenth century, a dandy would dress himself in a vivid green coat, a waistcoat of scarlet, yellow breeches and blue stockings.

And the gentleman of a few years later wore, among other vagaries, a coat of light green, with sleeves too small for the arms and buttons too big for the sleeves; a pair of fine Manchester breeches; clocked silk stockings; a club of hair behind larger than the head which carried it; a hat not larger than a sixpence.

It was a common thing in the early part of the eighteenth century for a man of fashion to spend several hours daily in the hands of his valet. Among the many operations which took up this time was "the starching of the beard and the proper perfuming of the garments, the painting of the face and anointing with oils, tinctures, essences and pomatums.—London Standard.

TRAMPS OF THE SEA.

Their Work In Developing the Ocean Carrying Trade.

There are land tramps and sea tramps, but whereas the former lives by the labor of others, the world's business would be in great straits were the latter to be swept from the face of the ocean. While there have practically always been tramp ships since men have sailed the sea, it remained for the Yankee skippers to develop this phase of ocean carrying to its highest degree. Tramping on the ocean is only another name for trading, and many are the stories extant of Yankee skippers swapping beads, mirrors, calico, knives and other trifles for ivory in Africa, and for commodities equally as valuable in other lands.

The tramp steamship came into existence during the war between the states, and it is to this type of vessel that England primarily owes her supremacy on the sea, she having encouraged the building of tramps more than any other nation. In times of peace they add to her prosperity, and where they enjoy a subsidy, as they do in some instances, they are used as transports and other auxiliaries in times of war.

Next to England comes Norway as a nation which encourages sea tramps, and as her maritime laws are more elastic than those of Great Britain, many British tramps are sold to Norwegian owners, who make them pay after they have outlived their usefulness under the British flag.—Marine Journal.

Two Curious Knives.

When Sheffield first became famous for its cutlery a peculiarly shaped knife, designed for a variety of uses, was made with great care and sent to the agent of the Cutlers' company in London. On one of the blades was engraved the following challenge:

London, for thy life,
Show me such another knife.

The London cutlers, to show that they were equal to their Sheffield brothers, made a knife with a single well tempered blade, the blade having a cavity containing a rye straw two and a half inches in length, wholly surrounded by the steel; yet, notwithstanding the fact that the blade was well tempered, the straw was not burned, singed or charred in the least! It is needless to add that the Sheffield cutlers acknowledged themselves outdone in ingenuity.

Victoria Falls the Greatest of the Mighty Torrents

NIAGARA RANKS ONLY THIRD.

The Falls of the Iguassu River Hold Second Place, and These Three Are in a Class by Themselves—Their Electric Power Possibilities.

At one time waterfalls in large rivers were interesting only because of their scenic beauty, and their very existence was deplored because they obstructed navigation. But man has found a way to harness these mighty power producers and today they are of the greatest value to the commercial world because the millions of water horse power can be changed into electricity and transmitted for hundreds of miles to be used as a reliable substitute for our vanishing coal supply.

When it is remembered that two cubic feet of water, weighing 125 pounds, by falling a distance of only six feet will produce one horse power of energy, it is easy to comprehend that millions and millions of horse power are wasted every minute by the torrents of water tumbling over Niagara, the Victoria falls and the Iguassu river and many lesser falls throughout the world. This falling water is guided by steel and concrete penstocks to powerful water turbines which whirl great electric generators. The current produced in this way is easily transmitted for hundreds of miles over small copper wires to the cities and towns where it is used to haul the railroad trains to drive the great manufacturing plants and to give us light and heat.

Loyal as we all are to our country, we must admit that even the mighty torrent of Niagara ranks only third in size when compared to the waterfalls of the world. The largest of the earth's waterfalls, the Victoria falls of the Zambesi river in Rhodesia, are 398 feet high and more than a mile wide, and were discovered by Livingstone in 1855. The water power of these falls is estimated to be fully 35,000,000 horse power, two and one-half times that of Iguassu and five times that of Niagara.

South America possesses a waterfall which exceeds Niagara both in width and in height and is actually the second largest waterfall in the world. This little known waterfall is that of the Iguassu river, tributary of the Parana, and, like Niagara, is situated at the boundary of two states, each of which owns half of it. The total water power of the Iguassu fall, which is 213 feet high and nearly two miles wide, is estimated as about 14,000,000 horse power. This is approximately equal to the aggregate water power of all Scandinavia, which is rich in waterfalls, or about ten times the total water power of Germany.

There is no other waterfall in the world which is at all comparable in greatness with the Zambesi, Iguassu or the Niagara. Asia, notwithstanding its colossal mountain ranges, is comparatively poor in large waterfalls, which are found most abundantly in Africa and North America. The largest African streams especially are interrupted by many falls of considerable height. The Kongo has several high falls which owing to the great volume of the river, about sixteen times that of the Nile, may be counted among the most important sources of water power on earth. The Stanley falls, in the middle reach of the river, consist of seven successive falls, of a total height of 164 feet and a width of nearly 4,000 feet and offer an exceedingly rich source of power which probably will soon be exploited.

Still more important is the total water power which the Kongo develops in the non-navigable section extending from its mouth to Stanley pool. Here the river, confined in a channel only a few hundred yards wide and with a depth of water of nearly 900 feet, flows with a velocity of forty-eight feet a second, so that at every point of the stream 25,000 to 30,000 cubic meters or about 1,000,000 cubic feet of water are hurled along with irresistible force, while thirty-two rapids and waterfalls lower the level of the stream by 820 feet in a stretch of 170 miles.

The lower Nile, in Egypt, possesses a series of rapids, the celebrated cataracts of the Nile, but no waterfall in the strict sense of the word. True, waterfalls occur on the upper Nile, the most beautiful of them at the point where the stream issues from Lake Victoria Nyanza. This Ripon fall is only a few yards in height, but the volume of water is so great that it presents a magnificent spectacle.

Comparatively few persons know which is the highest waterfall in Europe. The most voluminous of European waterfalls, strictly so called, are the Rhine falls, at Schaffhausen, but the highest are the Rjaken falls of the Mann-Elf river, in the Norwegian province of Telemarken. The principal fall is 800 feet high, and the total height of the two chief falls with the intervening rapids amounts to 1,837 feet, while the average flow of water is fifty cubic meters, or 1,760 cubic feet a second. The Rjaken falls, with their total energy of 250,000 horse power, have been converted to industrial uses.—Electric News.

Melody Becomes Malady.

That persons have very diverse ideas and tastes in music was exemplified in an incident at a pupils' vocal recital lately. A young woman was having quite a struggle with a song and one woman in the audience said to her companion:

"Isn't that a beautiful melody?"

The other looked bored and said:

"It sounds more like a malady to me."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Anaemic Mothers Here is Relief

You can Enrich Your Worn-out Blood and Quickly Renew Your Health With Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are a Real Cure

"I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head was not aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to my head". Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putman P. O., and continuing her interesting statement she says: "Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going upstairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that if that was the cause Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going upstairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as well as any person ought and as for dizziness, which used to frighten me so much before, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways, too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health. Refuse anything offered you instead of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Thirty-Seven Pound Frog.

Mr. John Waugh and a companion returned the other day from a canoe trip through the upper lakes including the river south of Lindsay, where they captured a frog that weighed 37 pounds. This is no fish story, John assures us. It shows that

"The Scugog, with its muddy tides
Big bullfrogs bellow on its marshy sides."

A 37 pound bullfrog beats the record—or John does—you may take your choice.

The Municipal Pot.

The municipal election pot is already showing evidence of a slight simmer. Yesterday The Times was asked to support a new man for the Council of 1912, on the ground that he is a successful business man, and therefore would be likely to make a good alderman. No doubt as the election season approaches interest will increase, and the ratepayers will become more alive to the necessity that exists of selecting capable men to guide the destines of our young city in its future course.

To Protect Crossings

A committee of the city council held a conference with Mr. J. P. Lynch, superintendent of Toronto-Montreal division of the G. T. The plans, which with a few changes to meet the views of the members of the council were approved, and they will be redrawn by thi railway authorities, showing the changes, and again submitted to the council before going before the Dominion Railway Board for approval.

Lindsay Post.

Some months ago when the Industrial Commission was negotiating with the Fitzsimmons adtomobile industry with a view of having it locate in Lindsay they met with strong opposition from Peterboro. The city was quick to recognize the importance of the industry and theew out every possible inducement in order to land it. When it was ascertained that Lindsay's advantages appealed strongly to the members of the firm, they were invited to a conference in the Electric City, and were informed that in case the citizens of the city did not carry a by-law to assist the concern, that certain citizens were prepared to put their money into the industry, as they knew a good thing when they saw it. Last week a Peterborough citizen in talking to a Post reporter that Peterborough would have been delighted had they landed the industry. It was a bonanza for any town and Lindsay was to be congratulated on securing it.

Mr. Justice Trenholme, of the supreme court, Montreal. The wedding ceremony is to take place in St. John's Cathedral, Winnipeg, on September 19. Mrs. Clementina Fessender is an aunt of the prospective bridegroom.

FRANCIS WILSON'S FAMOUS PLAY COMING TO THE GRAND

Those who desire to enjoy a hearty laugh are promised an opportunity to indulge therein by witnessing the presentation at the Grand Opera House on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, September 13 and 14, of Francis Wilson's New York comedy success, "The Bachelor's Baby," wherein Etienne Girardot and a cast of English players will enact the several roles. The piece is said to contain an exceedingly humane story in which the comedy element predominates, but little sharp tugs at the heart every now and then bring forth the humane interest. The story of the play tells of a child hating bachelor, being suddenly made the guardian of an orphan youngster, and furthermore tells of how that little one twines itself around this child-hating bachelor's heart and eventually through artlessness brings together a loving couple. The staging promises to be on a most elaborate scale and the various satorial appointments of the several ladies and gentlemen in the company will be elab-

WEDDING BELLS

HARDING—MALCOLMSON.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth A. Malcolmson, daughter of the late Captain John Malcolmson, to his honor Judge Harding, of Lindsay, took place at St. Paul's Church, Hamilton, on Saturday, Sept. 7. The Rev. W. H. Sedgwick, B. A., officiated.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. A. H. Malcolmson, of Boston, Mass.

Only immediate relatives of the families were present, owing to a recent bereavement in the bride's family.

After the ceremony the bridal party returned to Waveney, the residence of Mr. Harry B. Witton, brother-in-law of the bride, and later in the afternoon left by the T. H. & B. for the east.

Upon their return they will reside in Lindsay, Ont.

Y.W.C.A. PLANS BIG WORK

Peterborough Branch Will Afford New Features —Classes Oct. 1

Glowing prospects are presented in connection with the forthcoming work of the Peterborough Young Women's Christian Association, whose new, or fiscal year, dates from Oct. 1. The prospectus, which will elucidate in all details, the class courses, work and aims of the association will be off the press soon and is expected to supply the needed information regarding the endeavors of the Y.W.C.A. to many whom the members cannot reach personally. It is hoped that all who wish to take advantage of any of the classes will enroll at once, as all work begins October 1.

The new secretaries, Mrs. Jean W. Grey and Miss Annie R. Gray, will be pleased to meet all young women interested in the work of the Association and to advise in the choice of courses.

NEW SYSTEM SAVES STEPS

During this summer the interior of the boarding house has been kalsomined, painted and burlapped, and now presents a fascinating appearance. An electric system of bells has been installed and will save many a weary girl a trip to the top floor to find the needed person. A gas stove has also been installed in the laundry for the use of the boarders. These improvements are a decided acquisition to the home.

The rooms will all be filled upon the arrival of the Normal School students. The dining room serves as good meals or better than formerly and no advance in prices for the majority.

The superintendent, Mrs. W. Read, has returned from an extended trip to the coast and reports that she saw only one larger and better equipped Y.W.C.A. in her travels.

SERVE SABBATH TEA.

Beginning next Sabbath a vesper service will be held in the parlors at five o'clock, lasting one half hour, to which all the young women of Peterborough are cordially invited. At five-thirty tea will be served in the dining room, to any who wish to remain and, in order that all may feel free to do so, a nominal fee of five cents will be charged.

Hamilton Thug slugs Peterboroughm

Isaac Dormer, aged sixty-eight, of this city city, was assaulted and seriously injured Monday afternoon, by a man giving his name as John Brown, in Hamilton. It is alleged that he bit the old man during a fight in Parke alley, knocking him down, his head striking on the paved alley.

Dormer was taken to the city hospital. The exact extent of his injury is not known. It is feared he may have received a fracture at the base of the skull. He was unconscious for some time, and became very weak from loss of blood.

BORDEN WINS HONORED PLACE AMONG BRITISH STATESMEN

Elevates Himself in Old Country's Regard by Thoughtful Utterances At Ottawa—English Press Praise Premier

London, Sept. 11.—"Just the kind of a speech which in the interests of all peoples under the British flag needs to be made much oftener," says a Radical organ, The Daily News, in commenting on Premier Borden's speech at Ottawa. "The people of the Dominions know," continues the Daily News, "little of the British people at home, and therefore they tend to take quite literally the jeremiads of political tacticians. This is a serious error and may lead the Dominions to underrate the worth of their Imperial defence contribution while it lays them open to panicmongers. If the people of the Dominions appreciate truly the strength and virility of these islands they will be proof against appeals to the German peril. Let reason, not ungoverned emotion dictate the manner and degree of their sharing in the common tasks of the Empire."

"High as Mr. Borden has already placed himself among statesmen of the Empire by what he said and did during his recent visit to Britain, he has raised himself yet higher in the Old Country's regard by his speech at Ottawa," declares The Daily Telegraph. "We are far from thinking it strange that the Canadian Premier should receive such a favorable impression of the men of these Isles.

"Even when things have been at their worst we never cast doubt upon the abundance in this people of all the qualities which count for National greatness, but it is unusual for a speaker in Mr. Borden's position, saying this and saying it with so much emphasis to an audience in one of the sister States. It has been one of the things which were thought better left unsaid. There has been some vague suspicion of a tendency on the part of the Motherland to over-value herself upon the score of a greater age and wealth, or maturity of civilization.

"The South African war taught us, however, how readily this attitude could be dropped at the call of stern realities; realities of existing international situation are not less stern and Mr. Borden has not delayed to say the right thing in the cause of closer fellowship."

BECKER TRIAL BEGINS TODAY

New York, Sept. 11.—District Attorney Whitman is ready and determined to bring to trial to-day Police Lieut. Charles Becker, now in the Tombs on charges of having murdered Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, on July 16, by hired gun men in front of the Hotel Metropole. The case comes before Justice Goff, in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court.

Should Becker's lawyers fail to secure a stay, it is said they will try to obtain a change of venue.

LOCAL MAN BUYS TRAINED BEAR WILL TEACH IT ROLLER SKATING

Mr. H. Kendry Has Bruin Measured at George Street Shoe Shop For Boots and Has Roller Skates Ready to Try Out The Animal

Mr. H. Kendry has purchased the nucleus of a miniature museum. This local citizen bought from Mr. Prosser, who was formerly a school teacher at the Chemong Indian village, a stuffed bear cub and a stuffed lamb. The latter should, if mythology be respected, be called "Janus" as it is two faced, having two heads attached to one body. Mr. Prosser, who resigned his position as pedagogue among the Indians, we understand, is going to Mattawa as a missionary. He was called to this work a few days ago by receipt of a telegram from the Methodist minister at North Bay. Mr. Prosser is disposing of some of his curios and live stock previous to his starting into the missionary field. He still has in his possession the three year old bear that has amused so many of our citizens by its antics and trained tricks.

Bear May Skate.

This ursine contortionist is at present in a box stall of the Windsor Hotel stables. Mr. Kendry yesterday made a tentative bargain for bruin from its owner. The consideration, we understand, is to be $50, but is conditional on the animal adding roller skating to its other accomplishments. During the morning, its owner brought the animal to the shoe shop of Mr. J. W. Carey, 450 George street, leading it by a chain. After putting his pet through some of its "stunts," Mr. Prosser had the bear measured for a pair of skating boots, somewhat after the style of a hockey shoe and made of box calf. The animal was compelled to place its hind foot on a piece of paper when a drawing or outline was taken, Mr. W. Sharpe, a local electrician, acting as nurse to keep bruin in good humor. Last night a Times representative saw one of the finished shoes, which is somewhat fuller in the ankle than that of a man, with a foot of similar length.

Mr. Kendry has purchased a pair of roller skates of proper size, which are now at Mr. Carey's store awaiting the completion of the shoes.

We are told that if the bear shows any adaptability or love for roller skating, its prospective owner will engage a practical animal trainer in New York to come here and complete Bruin's education for circus performances.

WOMEN'S LEGACY TAKEN BY PRIEST

Conscience Smitten, He Seeks to Make Reparation in His Old Age.

Calumet, Mich, Sept. 12. — Marie Gillett, a widow, resident of this city, for forty-three years, will leave Monday for Ronchamp, near Paris, France, in response to a request from an aged priest, who, according to a letter from the Mayor of Ronchamp swindled her out of a 100,000 francs years ago, by making himself instead of her the beneficiary of a will and who, conscience smitten, now asks forgiveness.

Mrs. Gillett says that when she was seven years of age and residing at Ronchamp, her mother was informed by the child's great uncle that he intended to make the child his beneficiary. He called in a priest to make his will, the priest in question having civil as well as religious authority. The priest, however, instead of making the child the beneficiary made the will in his favor The swindle was later discovered by the mother, who dared take no action, and only years later she informed her daughter then in America of the facts. No action was taken by the daughter to recover.

The priest is 88 years of age. Whether Mrs. Gillett will recover any of the money she does not know.

AEROPLANE IN USE AT ELECTION.

London, Sept. 11.—For the Midlothian (Edinburgh) election, won yesterday by the Unionists, one elector came from Ontario to record his vote and another came from Spain. During the day an aeroplane flew over the country distributing Unionist literature.

AMERICA TO HAVE ANOTHER CARDINAL.

Rt Rev Mgr Thos F Kennedy, D.D.

Mgr. Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American College at Rome, is about to rece[illegible] a cardinal, according to private cable messages received in this country by a Papal Count, who is supposed to be in close touch with the doings of the Eternal City at Rome.

Less than a mouth ago the Pope, who previously had [illegible] Mgr. Kennedy to the purple of a bishop and the higher rank of archepi[illegible] further honored him by adding him to the prelates attached to the throne, a distinction never conferred heretofore upon an American citizen.

TURKS WAR ON BULGARIANS

Constantinople, Sept. 11.—Phe Turkish War Office dropped all concealment and began rushing troops toward the Bulgarian frontier to-day. The Government evidently has lost its temper over Bulgaria's badgering concerning Macedonia, which a Cabinet Minister characterized to-day as "impertinent interference with Turkey's internal affairs."

ASK BETTER PAY FOR LETTER CARRIERS

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 11.—Consideration of the Resolution Committee's report furnished lively topics for debate at the Trades and Labor Congress this morning. The first resolution, covering the grievances of the letter carriers, was carried unanimously, after delegate Hopp, of Winnipeg and Christian Swertz of Victoria had painted a pathetic picture of the condition of these civil servants, especially in the west. They asked fifty cents per day increase, pay when sick, an eight hour day, and better uniforms, to be made in local union shops. Delegate Swertz said that the poorest laborer working on the streets of Victoria was better paid to-day than the letter carrier.

PELLETIER TO TALK OF RESIGNATION

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—For some days it has been persistently rumored that Postmaster - General Pelletier, would shortly retire from the Government.

Hon. Mr. Pelletier says he has seen such reports in the press and is a good deal interested in them.

"I am to attend a dinner in the town of Levis on Saturday evening next," said Hon. Mr. Pelletier, "and there I shall give my answer to the question as to what foundation there is to these reports."

While this was all Hon. Mr. Pelletier cared to say on the subject, it is almost certain that on Saturday he will declare his intention of staying with the political game and of remaining in the Government. This is indicated by the fact that Hon. Mr. Pelletier spoke freely of his plans for dealing with the question of further reductions in cable tolls.

GAMBLING CANNOT BE STOPPED, SAYS PASTOR

New York, Sept. 11.—The Rev. W. Morrison, appointed by Mayor Gaynor to the new Board of Inebriety, has decided after investigation of the gambling situation in New York City, that "Gambling can no more be stopped in New York than the sale of liquor." He says that the only solution of the evil is the licensing of a certain number of resorts.

HER VACATION CATCH.

Seek To Dominate

The Catholic Register, the official organ of the Church in Ontario, makes no effort to conceal the fact that the heirarchy seeks to dominate the country. Here is what it says in last week's issue:—

"The Catholic Citizen, of Milwaukee, publishes a picture of a Racine, Wis., family, fourteen in all, father, mother and twelve bright looking and happy sons and daughters. It is noticeable that the parents are youthful looking and evidently quite proud of their big family. Over the picture are the words: "making America Catholic." and let us express the belief that this is the surest and the best way. If our Catholic people will be true to the moral teachings of the Church, fifty years hence will see the country more than half Catholic. Let them imitate the example set by the Province of Quebec and they need not worry about the G. O. L. or the noisy bigots who are talking about "Catholic domination." This is the one way by which the Church can dominate and it will be in accordance with the Lord's promise that the righteous shall possess the land."

MISS PANKHURST IN PARIS

London, Sept. 11.—Christabel Pankaurst, for whome police have been hunting on a charge of complicity in a conspiracy for the encouragement of suffragette militancy, is in Paris, the Women's Social and Political Union announced to-day.

Having been assured that, as a political offender, she cannot be extradited, there is no further reason the Union says for secrecy.

From Paris, Miss Pankhurst will continue directing the suffragette campaign on this side of the channel.

PETERBOROUGH FALL FAIR OPENS TODAY; TO BE BETTER THAN EVER

Entries At Ten O'clock Yesterday Morning Exceeded All Past Records—Directors Travel To Bellevile And Oshawa To Ensure Attendance of Unrivalled Acts For The Midway

There have been carpers and unwise critics who in bygone years have claimed that this city could not make a success of her Fall Fair, or that citizens would not patronize such a class of educational and interesting entertainment. This was sufficiently refuted by last year's results, when the attendance exceeded that of all former seasons. The thousands who attended the local Fair last fall were universally delighted.

This year the Directors have not only followed up last year's precedent, but have improved on it. The sturdy agriculturist will be enabled to-day to see stock of all the best classes, poultry of every breed, the latest cry in improved butter making appliances, in fact everything that the modern farmer delights in, and must be acquainted with to compete successfully with the most intelligent of his competitors.

THE MIDWAY

The jailed city man, let him have travelled where he may and seen the best attractions abroad, will find something to amuse and thrill him on the local Midway. It might be noted, in this respect, that yesterday the two directors of the Exhibition went to Oshawa to investigate conditions and appraise the value from the spectators point of view of the various performers at the Fall Fair in that thriving town, whilst the President journeyed to the City of Belleville on a similar quest. This assures the presence at Peterborough's Midway of 1912, opening to-day, of the pick and choice of the Midways of both Belleville and Oshawa Fairs. The local Midway to-day, and during Friday and Saturday will be what the small boy would call a "corker." This part of the Exhibition, which possibly appeals most to the average townsman, will see some of the best and most thrilling acts now extant.

THE PRIZE LIST.

From the exhibitors' standpoint the Fair this year is especially attractive. With a prize list of $3,500 it is no wonder that by 10 a.m. yesterday Secretary Hall had received more entries for to-day's show than ever recorded at any former local Fair. During the day these were augmented by still more.

THE OPENING.

At two o'clock this afternoon His Worship Mayor Bradburn will formally declare the Fair open. It is a safe prediction that our worthy Chief Magistrate will be greeted by the largest and best pleased crowd that ever assembled at the local grounds For the great success that marks the Fair of this year, all praise is due to the intelligent and strenuous efforts of the officers who are as follows:

Hon. President—F. A. Peck, M.P.P.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—J. H. Burnham, M.P.
President—J. H. Garbutt.
First Vice-Pres.—G. A. Gillespie.
Second Vice-Pres.—Roland Deane.
Secretary—R. F. A. Hall.
Treasurer—J. J. Turner.

Honorary Directors—Mayor Bradburn, Warden W. J. Porter, James Thompson, M.P.P., Ed. M. Elliott, J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., R. R. Hall.

Directors—R. Neill, J. J. Turner, Sr. R. J. Munro, Jas. Baptie, J. A. Storey, C. E. Moore, S. F. Redmond, J. T. C. Lang, S. Deyell, John Brown, W. Cox, S. Milburn, Wm. Collins, W. E. Conway, T. Cruickshanks, R. M. Glover, Frank Wise.

Auditors—Messrs. Robt. Fair and R. M. Elliott.

ENGLISH EXPERT MAY COME TO GIVE OTTAWA POINTERS

London "Truth" Says Sir Geo. Murray Is Engaged To Overhaul Administrative Department Of Canada

London, Sept. 11.—Truth to-day announces that Premier Borden while in London engaged the services of Sir George Murray to overhaul the administrative departments of the Canadian Government. Sir George starts on Sept. 20 for Canada, where he will stay for eight weeks, which will be none too much for the job he has been asked to undertake. Owing to the overlapping of time and work in the different state departments at Ottawa, says the paper, the Dominion Government has thought it advisable to obtain the recommendations of an expert official from the mother country before rearranging the scope of the duties of the departments concerned.

LIBERALS SUFFER LOSS OF SEAT LONG HELD BY GLADSTONE

Unionist Elected By a Majority of 32 In Three-Cornered Contest For Midlothian—The Poll Results

London, Sept. 11.—Major, J. A. Hope, Unionist, to-day was elected member of Parliament for Midlothian, Edinburghshire, in succession to the Master of Elibank, who recently was elevated to the peerage. Hope's majority over his Liberal opponent, Alex. Shaw, was thirty two. The poll resulted as follows:

Major Hope, Unionist, 6, 021.
Alex. Shaw, Liberal, 5,989.
Provost Brown, Labor, 2,413.

The loss of the Midlothian seat to the Government was due to the intervention of the Labor party, which recently announced its intention to nominate a candidate in every constituency where there were a large number of working men, despite any effect it might have on the coalition majority in the House of Commons.

In the last general election when no Labor candidate contested the Midlothian seat, the Master of Elibank won over Major Hope with a majority of 3,157.

MINER BREAKS JAIL TO FEED PET CATS

Walks Forty Miles Across Desert to Home—May Receive Pardon.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 11. —When James Watkins, a miner, was placed in the jail at Searchlight, Nev., recently, charged with having stolen a pair of lace curtains, he asked the jailer to see that his pet cats were fed. The jailer laughed at him, but at nightfall Watkins broke jail and tramped 40 miles across the desert to attend to his pets. The Sheriff followed him next day in a motor car and found Watkins pouring milk for the cats at his cabin.

The charge against Watkins probably will be dismissed, his accuser having been impressed by the miner's affection for his cats.

A FOOD CONVERT.

Good Food the True Road to Health.

The pernicious habit some persons still have of relying on nauseous drugs to relieve stomach trouble, keeps up the patent medicine business and helps keep up the army of dyspeptics.

Indigestion—dyspepsia—is caused by what is put into the stomach in the way of improper food, the kind that so taxes the strength of the digestive organs they are actually crippled.

When this state is reached, to resort to tonics is like whipping a tired horse with a big load. Every additional effort he makes under the lash diminishes his power to move the load.

Try helping the stomach by leaving off heavy, greasy, indigestible food and take on Grape-Nuts—light, easily digested, full of strength for nerves and brain, in every grain of it. There's no waste of time or energy when Grape-Nuts is the food.

"I am an enthusiastic user of Grape-Nuts, and consider it an ideal food," writes a Maine man:

"I had nervous dyspepsia and was all run down, and my food seemed to do me but little good. From reading an advertisement I tried Grape-Nuts food and after a few weeks' steady use of it, felt greatly improved.

"Am much stronger, not nervous now, and can do more work without feeling so tired, and see better every way.

"I relish Grape-Nuts best with cream and use four heaping teaspoonfuls as the cereal part of a meal. I am sure there are thousands of persons with stomach trouble who would be benefited by using Grape-Nuts. Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly! Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 65 Cecil street, Toronto D-4 in J4

FINE TABLE CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 85c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 85c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 366 George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

DEWEY SAW THE POINT.

He Paid Up After His Dog Had Been Kicked Around.

Admiral Dewey had an English bulldog of which he was very proud. So marked was his affection for the dog that an atmosphere of "love me, love my dog" had sprung up around the admiral and the canine. It is further reported that the animal came near causing trouble between the head of the navy and the late "Fighting Bob" Evans.

Admiral Dewey while on a tour of inspection when he was in command of the Pacific squadron took the dog along with him. He lost sight of his pet on Evans' ship, but in a few minutes saw him hurled skyward from the companionway as if shot from a catapult. With blood in his eye Admiral Dewey rushed over to see the reason for the sudden ascent, surmising correctly that some one had kicked the dog. He saw "Fighting Bob" at the foot of the steps.

"Sir," roared the admiral, "what do you mean by kicking my dog?"

"Sir," roared Evans in return, "I'd have kicked that dog if he had been the property of the president of the United States! He chewed the legs off two pairs of fifteen dollar trousers and destroyed an edition de luxe of the navy regulations."

Dewey saw the point and paid for new uniform trousers.—New York World.

POSTOFFICE STORIES.

Mr. Herbert Samuel In a Reminiscent Mood.

There is no member of the House of Commons who appreciates a good story more than Mr. Herbert Samuel, British Postmaster-General, and he rarely makes a speech without including in it one or two anecdotes concerning his duties at St. Martin's le Grand. Last year, for instnace, while talking of cablegrams in the House of Commons, he related the following as an example of episcopal economy. He said there was an archbishop who had a code of his own. He cabled from abroad: "John, Epistle III., 13 and 14." His friends looked up the reference in the Bible, and found the following words:

"I had many things to write, but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee: But I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak face to face. Peace be to thee. Our friends salute thee. Greet the friends by name."

In connection with the postoffice savings bank department, Mr. Samuel tells the following story. There was one depositor who had exhausted his account, but who appealed to the controller to send his account book back because it cheered him, in his poverty to see how much his deposit once had been. Another depositor wrote that, although he was a Welshman and a veteran Radical, he was respectably connected and well known for his integrity.

The best of Mr. Samuel's stories, perhaps, is the following. A woman who had to fill in a claim on behalf of a son was asked to state on a form whether she had a husband living, and her answer was, "Living, but insignificant."

The Postmaster-General, it might be mentioned, likes his little joke, and it was on the occasion of the opening of a new postoffice at Margate that he announced that on that special occasion he himself would serve the first lot of stamps, which would be sold at thirteen for a shilling. A lady at once asked for the increased number, and was served by the Postmaster-General with eleven 1d. and two 1-2d. stamps.

Another good story told by Mr. Samuel concerns an occasion when he arrived during an election campaign at a certain town to address a meeting. He was somewhat late. "I saw a working man whom I knew," says Mr. Samuel, "lounging at the doorway of the hall, while from within came a continuous and earnest bellowing. 'Do you know who's speaking?' I asked my friend. 'Or haven't you been in?' 'Oh, yes, I've been in,' said he. 'Mr. A—— is speaking.' 'What about?' I inquired. My friend sighed and shook his head. 'He didn't say,' he answered."

Paradox.

"Pa, what's a paradox?"

"It is when the impossible happens."

"Then we had a paradox here this evening. Ma said you couldn't possibly be expected home before midnight, because you had an excuse for stayin' downtown."—Pittsburgh Post.

Hatred.

If you hate your enemies you will contract such a vicious habit of mind as by degrees will break out upon those who are your friends or those who are indifferent to you.

IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

What Occurs When Two or More Peers Want to Speak at Once.

There is no rule against a dozen peers, or the entire peerage for that matter, rising and addressing the Lord Chancellor at the same time. The Lord Chancellor has no power to select the peer who shall speak. A Lord Chancellor's leg may be pulled, we imagine, but his eyes can never be caught. For all he can do, two peers wishing to address the House and refusing the give way one to the other could stay on their feet until one of them dropped from exhaustion.

This is no exaggeration. Within living memory two peers engaged in an adventure which at first threatened to develop into a tiring down contest after the manner of Goldsmith's dancers. It happened in 1884 on a warm July day and was very entertaining while it lasted.

The two were Earl Granville and Lord Cairns. Both rose simultaneously to speak. The two peers stood facing each other at the table, and each tried to speak, while their partisans kept shouting "Granville!" and "Cairns!" in an aristocratic manner. Lord Selborne sat on the woolsack helpless. The scene might have lasted until either Earl Granville or Lord Cairns had fallen fainting had not Lord Beauchamp earned immortal fame by creating a precedent in the House of Lords. He moved, in a tone of anger, that Lord Cairns be heard, and Lord Cork, in a similar tone, moved that Lord Granville be heard.

A vote was taken, and Lord Granville won by a majority of one in a House of fifty-three excited peers. So if the Lord Chancellor at any time finds himself confronted by two noble but obstinate orator, there is a precedent to fall back upon which may be found useful.—London News.

MOVING PICTURES.

Why They Sometimes Show Wheels Turning the Wrong Way.

Every one must have noticed that in moving pictures the wheels of carriages or automobiles often seem to be turning backward instead of forward. One puzzled person wrote to the Scientific American asking why, and this is that paper's answer:

In taking a moving picture there are perhaps sixteen exposures made each second. If now the spokes of the wheel of a carriage move with a speed so that the spokes are in the same position at each exposure, that wheel will seem to stand still in the picture.

If the wheel is moving slower, then the spokes will be seen farther backward in the successive views, and the wheel will seem to turn backward, while it will seem to turn forward when the spokes move fast enough to occupy positions farther forward in each exposure.

It is a matter of the interruption for the exposure and the motion of the wheel. If there are sixteen exposures and the wheel turns through the space between two spokes in one-sixteenth of a second the wheel would be in the same position at each successive exposure and so would not seem to move at all.

MEMORY OF SAVAGES.

Wonderful Feats of the Zulus In Conveying Verbal Messages.

The memory in savage or uncultivated peoples is often trained to a degree very surprising to those civilized men and women who have grown used to depending on the written much more than on the remembered word. The transmission of whole epics, like the "Iliad," by word of mouth no longer seems so incredible when you read of the feats of memory of which present day Zulus are capable.

These people, says Mr. Gibson in "The Story of the Zulus," have no writing and are accustomed to transmit messages and record events by memory alone. This they can do because their mental impressions are made especially distinct by reason of their acquired or inherited habit of giving undivided attention to the subject in hand.

Communications between the British authorities and the Zulu kings were almost invariably conducted by means of verbal messages carried by natives. A certain ultimatum addressed by the British to Cetywayo was conveyed to him, not upon paper, but in the brain cells of the messengers whom he had sent eighty miles to receive it from the British commissioners.

Although the document contained some 4,000 words and was accompanied by much comment on the state of things it was desired to remedy, the whole was repeated to Cetywayo with perfect accuracy.

The Route.

"Dashington seems to have finally made a conquest of that Readmore girl. Wonder how it all came about."

"The first time she saw him she gave him her eye; the next time they met she gave him her arm. It wasn't long before he was holding both of her hands. Soon after that he won her heart, and she lost her head and gave herself to him completely."—Judge.

A Funny Misprint.

One of the most ludicrous announcements that ever appeared perhaps was made by a London newspaper in the earlier half of the last century to the effect that Sir Robert Peel "and a party of fiends were shooting peasants in Ireland." The words misprinted, of course, were "friends" and "pheasants."

Cause For Gratitude.

Willie Green—You city kids ought to be thankful that your parents use gas stoves, especially during the hot summer. City Boy—Why? Willie Green—Well, you never heard tell of a boy splitting wood for a gas stove, did you?—Philadelphia Record.

A Reversed Program.

"The stage should depict society as it really exists," said the serious person.

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne, "but it doesn't. On the contrary, society tries to imitate the songs, dances and dialect of the stage."—Washington Star.

Left Handed.

Among the world's left handed geniuses was Leonardo da Vinci, who wrote a treatise on aviation, the handwriting of which travels from the right side of the page to left. Nelson, too, was left handed, but that was from necessity.

J. R. Green records a story of Admiral Nelson's visit to Yarmouth to receive the freedom of the borough. "A storm met him on his landing, but the danger failed to prevent his appearance on the quay. When the freeman's oath was tendered to him the town clerk noticed that the hero placed his left hand on the book. [illegible] impropriety [illegible] right hand [illegible] Nel- [illegible]

THE FORUM

NOT THE BOARD OF "TRADE"

An editorial in yesterday's Times headed "Our Schools and Pupils," reads "The Board of Trade is doing nobly." It should have read, "The Board of Education."

New York is to have a moving sidewalk. Now the policeman's cry will be "move off" instead of "move on."

The salmon catch of 1912 is a new record. That accounts for the recent jump in prices by the can, perhaps. Emulation is a worthy endeavor.

An interesting engagement for politicians not in power might be to gather statistics from the small boy element relative to the number of grandmothers who died during the baseball season.

Judging from the new fall styles in hats some critics are mistaken in their observations that the designers reached the limit last spring. It appears to be an open game with no limit.

As to inland navigation the Trent Canal will take no backwater from the Erie or Welland when once completed. Its economic service will readily justify its existence.

Sir Wilfrid appealed directly to local sympathies of Quebec electors after having pledged himself never to voice appeals to race or religious prejudices. But of course he was merely attacking the Nationalist party.

There's nothing new about Italy's scheme to lend Turkey $12,000,000 and not ask for the return of the principal. Shylocks in this country have found that plan a lucrative one for many years. The interest soon becomes more valuable than the principal if the rate is well calculated.

A Toronto youth who won 100 p. c. in his entrance examinations was allowed only 50 p.c. because he wrote on both sides of the paper. Some grown-up folk may now understand why 100 p. c. of their compositions submitted to newspapers are consigned to the waste basket regardless of the merit of the "story."

MR. BORDEN'S HOMECOMING.

Mr. Borden well deserves the welcome home which Quebec first voiced for the people of Canada, which Three Rivers amplified and emphasized, and which Montreal and Ottawa repeated.

Mr. Borden has faithfully kept his pledge to the Canadian people that he would consult the British Admiralty and the other authorities on Imperial defence before submitting to his colleagues and to Parliament Canada's policy on the navy.

Mr. Borden impressed the public men of Britain, men who are pretty good judges of human nature. He impressed them as being a man of solidity and sincerity, whose words could be taken at their face value. He went to ask the authorities to enlighten him as to whether the Empire is menaced and if so, as to the form in which Canada's aid would be most effective with the minimum of waste and the maximum of relief. Whatever he learned he has kept to himself. When he speaks he will be believed. If he has been shown that there is danger, his words will be accepted as descriptive of the actual conditions. Everyone will hope that there is no real danger. If it exists, we do not believe that the Canadian people will seek to shirk; we do not believe the Canadian people will be mean or niggardly about it; we do not believe the people of Canada will wish to be branded as cowardly or mean if a national crisis really impends. With characteristic consistency, Mr. Borden evidently has stipulated for the preservation of Canada's autonomy and for a dignified recognition of Canada's position within the Empire commensurate with the relief she offers to meet the crisis. For his dignified, statesmanlike stand, Canada is welcoming him. For what he does on the basis of what he declares, there will be a second judgment.

ABOUT MINTED MONEY.

The prospective closing of the United States' mints with the sole exception of that of Philadelphia is another striking evidence of how completely hard money or coin, save only for practical currency, has gone out of use. The gold coinage of the United States mints last year was only $56,176,820.50, as against $233,402,400 in 1904. Last month only $505,000 in gold was struck. Gold coins which formerly circulated in considerable quantities are now seldom used for individual payments except on the Pacific Coast, while the volume of silver dollars outstanding is not increasing.

Indeed, according to the New Orleans Picayune, the silver dollar, once specially prized by the negroes, has become somewhat of a curiosity in the Southern States. It may be some consolation to the colored folk to learn that there are 39,043,622 of these "cart-wheels" piled up in the United States Treasury, and 72,446,049 more still in circulation or in vaults of financial institutions. Gold in the form of ingots, each stamped with its weight and value, is held in the Treasure or the banks and used for settlement between banks or for payment of international balances.

WILL HELP YOU GAIN SUCCESS

Ignorance Is a Handicap.

Seventy-five per cent of the big business men of Peterborough declare that the chief educational need of their employees is a better knowledge of English, including spelling, grammar and punctuation and the use of words in general.

Stenographers crowd to answer an advertisement announcing a position paying $4 a week, because they are not qualified to demand higher wages. Thousands of stenographers and typewriters trained in the art of making "pot-hooks" and tapping the typed keys are eking out an existence on meager wages.

These statements have a direct bearing upon the proposition that The Times is offering you, a Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary free of charge, and give the reason for the popularity of the distribution.

Why?

Because the perusal of the dictionary is acknowledged by educators to be the best, the quickest and the only sure way of acquiring that knowledge which a canvass of the big business houses of Peterborough proves that there is a demand for.

PUSH YOURSELF HIGHER WITH DICTIONARY'S HELP.

Get out of the $4 class.

Or, if you are not so poorly paid as that, at least become busy and take advantage of the opportunity, which is bringing hundreds to the Dictionary Department every day.

Six Coupons clipped from consecutive issues of the Times and the small expense bonus specified in the display advertisement on another page of this issue do the trick, and permit you to turn the tables on what you have regarded as misfortune when it was only your ignorance weighing upon you and the limitations of your vocabulary binding you down.

Good authority for the statement as to need of education is Director Edward Rynearson, of the Pittsburg High Schools. When reorganizing the Commercial department of high schools and inaugurating the night school system, he wrote to the most representative business men in Pittsburg, asking them to co-operate by suggesting as to what subjects of instruction should be given the greatest attention. This is what he reports:

English Most Needed by Applicants for Position.

"Of those replying 75 per cent consider English (including spelling) essential, 55 per cent bookkeeping, 56 per cent penmanship, 28 per cent shorthand," etc., showing that the lamentable lack of English was considered to be deserving of first attention.

Asked what defects they noticed most frequently among their employes the great majority replied that they desired: "Better training in spelling, grammar and punctuation."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN A MAINE TOWN

Killed Wife Wednesday, Waited Until Friday to Take His Own Life.

Portage Lake, Me., Sept. 12, — A double tragedy was revealed here late Friday night when the mayor and other officials forced an entrance to the home of Daniel Emery and found the dead bodies of Emery and his wife in one of the bedrooms.

Mrs. Emery had been strangled to death in the opinion of the town authorities, and Emery's death was due to bullet wounds in the head. Neither Emery nor his wife had been seen since Wednesday and the authorities believe Mrs. Emery was killed Wednesday night, and that Emery shot himself Friday night.

AUSTRALIAN LABOR INFLUENCE SAID TO BE ON THE DECLINE

London, Sept. 12.—Writing to a London journal from Australia, an English correspondent says:

"It can plausibly be argued that labor reached the zenith of its power here in 1910, and that its influence has been declining ever since. It has not strengthened its position in New South Wales, it has lost S. Australia, it has been seriously weakened in Victoria and Queensland, and its victory in West Australia and improved position in Tasmania are very inadequate set-offs. On the other hand the South Australian labor ministry was weak and quarrelsome enough to wreck the strongest party, and the Queensland election were all thrown awry by the disastrous and insane strike at Brisbane, but for which a labor ministry might now have been in office. Labor leaders themselves believe that their majority will be substantially reduced next April, though they do not expect to go out of office. For one thing, the "sympathetic" vote which put them in was given not on the general labor platform but partly as a protest against the mockery of the fusion, and partly for certain specified purposes—the passing of a progressive land tax, the creation of an effective defence force by land and sea, out of revenue, and so on."

COUNTESS AND ELECTRICIAN

Will Disregard Provisions in Uncle's Will That She Marry Nobility

New York, Sept. 12.—Counts are numerous in Italy, and so are Countesses and Barons, but their pride of blood is just as strong, and, so when Baron Federico Montenegro Di Padua died in July, he left his fortune of $250,000 to his favorite niece, Countess Amelia Fiaccarini Novelli, of Brockton, Massachusetts, on condition that she return to Italy within one year, and marry some one in the nobility. But fate snarled the strings. The potential young heiress happens to be in love with one of nature's noblemen, a young electrician of Brockton, Andrew J. Gallo, and hopes to be married to him by Christmas, in spite of family opposition. The countess came to New York to find a lawyer versed in the Italian statutes, in the hope of breaking the obnoxious clause in the Baron's will, although she prefers to lose the $250,000 rather than give up her Andy.

LOOK FOR POISON IN HUSBANDS' BODIES

Special Coroner's Jury Views Remains of Men Alleged to Be Woman's Victims.

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—The body of William Trost, husband of Mrs. Frieda Hartmann Trost, who is in prison here charged with having poisoned him and that of Frederick Hartmann, the woman's first husband, were exhumed today before a special jury empanelled by the coroner. A former autopsy on Trost's body showed that he died from poisoning, but the body was exhumed to determine the quantity of poison in it.

Christian Hartmann, of New York, urged the authorities to exhume the body of his brother, Mrs. Trost's first husband, who died in February, 11 after a short illness. The coroner chemists will make an analysis to determine whether he, too, was poisoned.

THE GREAT QUESTION OF SEWAGE DISPOSAL IN REACH

A Correspondent Sends Particulars of a Septic Tank System

The Times received the following regarding the disposal of the City's sewage, which will not doubt be read with interest by members of the city council, as well as the public in general:

"I should like to suggest a plan for sewage disposal that I know from personal observance and active experience will remedy the evil and solve this great problem of the disposal of sewage. Permit me to say that I have no pecuniary interests in any concern who instal septic tanks for sewage disposal. My only incentive to make the suggestion is the good it will do if adopted generally. My experience was gotten as Secretary of the "Kentucky Confederate Home," at Pewee Valley, Ky., where the septic tank was installed and has been in successful operation for the past seven years. The system is very simple and inexpensive. It consists of a cistern constructed in three compartments of the proper size to hold the sewage for the institution or community who are to be served. The first compartment receive the sewage; the second the sewage in an air-tight compartment for sixteen hours, and any sewage entering the first compartment has the effect of driving out what has been in the tank for sixteen hours. matter, it is that an all-wise and beneficient God has ordained that sewage confined in a dark, air-tight compartment will in sixteen hours generate a bacteria which will in that time reduce all in the compartment to a liquid and completely deodorize it, so that the effluence will flow from compartment three about the color of river water and it will be odorless. This system can be used for private houses, large boarding schools, hotels and villages, and by having several septic tanks in each it will answer for the largest cities; and thus is settled the question that has exercised the scientific men of every civilized country for centuries.

If the plan suggested above will work out as stated, it would obviate the necessity of a trunk sewer and of filtration beds. The system could be installed by degrees, septic tanks being constructed as convenient points and drained into the open drains or creeks now in use to carry off the surface water. As modern conveniences replaced the old method of sanitation sewers sould be laid down and connected up with homes and places of business, and thus by degrees the town could be covered—at least the central and more thickly populated.

It might be well for Lindsay to keep this scheme in mind for consideration when a sewerage system comes within the realm of practical politics.

TRACING A CRIME.

Clever Detective Work by a University Professor.

THE KEEN EYES OF SCIENCE.

They Detected Blood Where There Were No Apparent Traces of It and Found Telltale Finger Marks That Pointed Direct to the Criminal.

Mme. Guian was the wealthy widow of Jean Howard Guian, former president of the Bank of France. Mme. Guian was seventy years old. One night she took a train at Fontainebleau for Paris. She had to herself a first class compartment. When the train arrived in Paris the porters found her compartment unoccupied. The door had been half torn from its hinges, there was a great pool of blood on the floor, and the police picked up from floor a handful of woman's hair, a torn piece of skirt and a first class railroad ticket from Fontainebleau to Paris.

A search along the railroad tracks resulted in the finding of Mme. Guian's body beside the rails just outside Fontainebleau. It was greatly mangled. A little farther on was found the satchel she had carried. There were no rings on her fingers and no money in her pockets.

Mme. Guian's relatives took the ground that she had been seized with a hemorrhage, to which she was subject, had tried to open the door of her compartment to summon aid or to get air; that she had in her paroxysm wrenched the door open and had fallen off the train, killing herself. The police were not satisfied with this explanation, particularly after Professor Reiss, the famous Lausanne university criminologist, had pointed out that the cut on the woman's satchel had been made by a knife and not by a sharp stone, as had been thought. This, however, was very little evidence, and Professor Reiss turned his attention to the compartment which Mme. Guian had occupied. After he had finished his investigation he went to M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, and said to him:

"I am sure that Mme. Guian was murdered, and I am equally sure that her murderer was a soldier. In the train compartment there were a towel and a stationary washstand. There were no stains upon the towel visible to the naked eye. Nevertheless we subjected every square inch to one of the most delicate tests for blood. We at last discovered an area which gave us the positive reaction for human blood.

"Upon this towel the murderer of Mme. Guian wiped his bloody hands. He knew that this would be evidence that the old woman did not meet her death by accident as he wished it believed, and so he washed the towel thoroughly, as he thought, and hung it up to dry.

"The detection then of this microscopic quantity of blood, which can be removed from a fabric only by acids, revealed to us that Mme. Guian met death by the hands of a murderer.

"But I found another piece of evidence. There was, if you remember, a railroad ticket picked up on the floor. On its back was the imprint of a thumb. I compared it with that of Mme. Guian; it was not hers. I threw its image up enormously on a lantern screen. I was then struck by the peculiar indentation of the little ridges on the inner side of the mark. Careful analysis of these marked ridges showed me that this was the thumb of a man who was actually serving as a soldier. The frequent drills with guns result in the pressure upon the ridges of the inner side of the thumb. This causes a peculiar flattening, which is visible under a microscope when enlarged and is true of no other occupation except that of a soldier.

"As I reconstruct this crime this soldier managed to get into Mme. Guian's compartment after the train had left Fontainebleau. He knew that she usually carried a number of jewels and a large sum of money. He tried to rob the old woman, and, meeting with unexpected resistance, fought with her in the compartment, killing her by beating her head against the register and then stripped the body of its jewels. He thoughtlessly wiped his hand upon the towel. He knew that this would be evidence of the presence of some one else in the compartment, so he washes the towel with soap and water, but does not know that we can discover blood even when it is only to the amount of one one-thousandth millimeters.

"He then wrenches the compartment door open and throws out the body. He is pressed for time, rips open the satchel with his knife. Then, taking advantage of the slowing down of the train between Fontainebleau and Paris, he jumps from it and makes his escape."

As a result of Professor Reiss' analysis it was found that two soldiers, Gravy and Michel, had followed Mme. Guian to the train on the night of her murder. They had hidden in her compartment, and when the train had started they murdered her, as Professor Reiss had indicated. The rest of the reconstruction was proved at the trial of these two men. They both confessed, were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Certainly.

PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH.

Descendants of the Germans Who Came to This Country in 1682.

To most Americans the word "Dutch" means German. The Dutch are Hollanders from the Netherlands. New York was first settled by the Dutch from Holland.

The first Germans came to this country in 1682 and settled at Germantown. It is estimated that the Germans and their descendants in Pennsylvania numbered 100,000 at the time of our revolution. The descendants of these are called the Pennsylvania Germans or Dutch. The word Dutch is a corruption of Deutsch, meaning German.

The early Germans were followers of Menno Simons, known as Mennonites. They were persecuted in their own country on account of their religious belief and when Penn offered religious liberty it was gladly accepted by them. The persecuted Germans came largely from the Rhenish palatinate, Wurtemberg from the lower Rhine, Alsace, Saxony and Switzerland.

The southeastern counties of Pennsylvania, such as Lancaster, York, Berks and Lebanon, were chosen for settlement. These settlers spoke a variety of dialects, and, owing to segregation in religious communities, they clung to their mother tongue. English words have since crept in and as a result we have the somewhat picturesque language known as the "Pennsylvania Dutch." Their religious belief and their common interest have preserved this class with singular purity.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Men Who Don't Exercise

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork are the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock.

In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of every getting well. I

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort, and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Blackie and the Magician.

Many years ago Anderson, "the wizard of the north," gave some performances in Edinburgh, and Prof. Blackie was one of the crowd who went to see them. As he was making his way in he felt something at his coattail, and, putting his hand into his pocket, he found an egg. This he took out and most adroitly transferred it to the pocket of a young man just in front of him, a person as unlike himself as can well be imagined. Arrived in the hall, he remarked where this young man placed himself and chose his own seat in a corner as remote as possible. When the time came for 'Wizard' Anderson to "trouble" him for the egg he arose and explained that he had nothing of the sort in his pocket, but that he believed "that gentleman" could produce it, pointing to the astonished young man, whose surprise, however, by no means equalled that of the wizard.

Cromwell House.

Cromwell House, Highgate, England, whose famous staircase is in danger of American acquisition, faces Lauderdale House, which dates from the year of Charles II.'s Restoration. This mansion of "the tyrant deputy of Scotland" appears to have been extensively loaned to Lauderdale's royal master, and abounds with legends of Nell Gwynne, possibly the best of Charles' harem. Lauderdale House now serves as the refreshment pavilion of Waterlow Park. In the wall of that pleasaunce a tablet marks the spot where formerly stood the cottage of Andrew Marvell, the poet, patriot and friend of Milton. It was abolished in the late sixties, when the property came into the possession of Sir Sydney

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

FOUNDLING HOSPITAL.

Famous Institution Is to Make Way For University Buildings.

The announcement that the Senate of the University of London propose to acquire the site in Russell Square on which the Foundling Hospital now stands, for the purpose of erecting new University buildings, calls attention to the extraordinary history of what many people regard as the most famous hospital in England. Romance, pathos, tragedy, art, and music are all features of the remarkable story of the institution which was founded 172 years ago by that philanthropic seaman, Thomas Coram, who ultimately rose to be a merchant captain.

Coram was a kindly, benevolent son of the sea, whose pity was aroused by the sight of the unhappy babies exposed to perish in the streets of the city. He thereupon began an agitation, which lasted seventeen years, for the foundation of a foundling hospital. Ultimately his beneficent work was crowned with success, and in 1740 the first house for foundlings was opened in Hatton Garden.

Career of Gen. Booth

By Sheer Christian Effort He Forced the Whole World to Recognize Him.

First an Anglican—Then a Methodist—Then Established the Salvation Army.

The old Roman motto, "Per ardua ad astra" — through struggle to the stars — was never better illustrated than in the life of William Booth, general of the Salvation Army, a life which has just come to a close.

William Booth was born in Nottingham in 1829. His father was a well-to-do business man, who, later in life, met with reverses and died in reduced circumstances.

Brought up as a child in the Anglican Church, it was almost by accident that he became attached to the Methodist, or Wesleyan, as it was then called. His conversion to Methodism was followed at once by energetic work among the poor of Nottingham, where he was born, and so successful was he that he brought to the chapel a crowd so big and so rough in appearance that he was requested to keep them at the lower end of the building, away from the regular worshippers.

Undiscouraged by this rebuff, he went on with his work, and in a short time decided to enter the Methodist ministry. He went to a doctor to be examined as to his health, and the medical man told him he was totally unfit for the strain of a Methodist ministers' life, and that six months of it would see him in his grave "and send him to the throne of God to receive punishment for suicide."

The future leader's ambition was a lofty one. "I worshipped everything that bore the name of Methodist," he said of himself at this time. "To me there was one God, and John Wesley was his prophet. . . . I cared little for ecclesiastical creeds or forms. What I wanted to see was an organization with the salvation of the world, as its supreme ambition and object, worked upon the simple earnest principles which I had myself embraced, and which, youth as I was, I had already carried into successful practice."

THE LATE GENERAL BOOTH.
In His Robes of an Oxford Doctor of Civil Law.

"TOO MUCH SHROUD."

He went to London in 1849, still continuing his work there. It was not all smooth sailing for him, however, and he was given many discouraging criticisms by older men.

"Young man, there is too much of the shroud in your preaching," one of them told him. Later on, when he decided to offer himself for the ministry, he was bluntly told that "preachers were not wanted by the Connexion." Discouraged for the moment, the young man thought of offering himself as chaplain to a convict ship in order to work his way to Australia, where, he had heard, it was easier to enter the ministry than in England.

The Methodist Church was at this time torn by the Reform movement, and William Booth, secretly in sympathy with many of their ideas, yet having taken no active part in their work, was invited to join them. This he did in 1851, as it was apparent that the leaders of old-line Methodism had no place for him among their preachers. It was while preaching a sermon in a reform chapel that Mr. Booth met Catherine Mumford, whom he afterwards married.

A METHODIST MINISTER.

In 1852 he finally became a regular minister of the reformed branch of the Methodist Church, his salary being fixed at one pound a week. For some time he had difficulty in getting a charge, and was very short of money, but finally was put in charge of the Spalding circuit, where he was very successful in evangelical methods. His attitude was always opposed to stagnation in church affairs, and in two years he returned to London, where his "non-ministerial, unartificial, dramatic" style of preaching brought results that were very gratifying to him. His fame as a revivalist spread, and he was sent to Guernsey to conduct a series of meetings. In 1855 he married Miss Mumford, who played an important part in the subsequent history of the Salvation Army. Together the Booths continued their evangelical work on circuit, counting their converts by scores and hundreds. Ill-health soon prevented his wife from accompanying the young preacher. He was appointed to several different charges about this time. His fame as a preacher grew steadily, and in many places there were dangerous crushes at the different chapels when he spoke. It is interesting to note that at this time Mr. Booth objected strongly to anything which, to his mind, savored too much of the demonstrative among the worshippers, and that he rebuked some women who applauded his words too enthusiastically. Later experience changed his views.

THE LOW WATER MARK.

In 1858 we find Mr. Booth in Gateshead, and the germ of the Salvation Army idea coming to life. The peculiar nomenclature, which has made the Army famous, came into use, as well as the open-air meetings. Of course, there was opposition, gangs of roughs gathering and interrupting the meetings, frequently by singing. In these cases the members of the Army fought the devil with fire, adopting the popular tunes sung by the rowdies, and fitting to them suitable words.

Until 1861 the Booths lived in Gateshead, but in that year there came the ultimate breaking away from the Wesleyan connection. Opposition to the evangelistic idea had grown apace, and William Booth was given a cool reception at the Methodist conference of that year. It led to his resignation and the launching of the new idea, the Salvation Army. A series of brilliant revival services throughout Cornwall followed Mr. Booth's resignation.

Four years passed in strenuous work, and by 1865 the scene had shifted again to London, the East End of London, where the "Christian Revival Association" was formed. Mrs. Booth had, long before this, been accustomed to preach with her husband, and she threw herself into the new work with all her heart. The evangelistic headquarters were in a tent at Hackney, while Mrs. Booth spent a great deal of her time in the fashionable West End of the city. What the workers had to put up in the rough quarters of London cannot be described. The tent, which had served as headquarters, had been blown down and destroyed, and for a time a dance hall was pressed into service at such times, as it was not needed for its strictly secular business, that is to say, on Sundays.

Besides the dance hall, and for use on week days an old wool warehouse in Bethnal Green was secured, and there the infant Army suffered hardships. Speaking of it, General Booth once said: "Unfortunately the windows opened on the street. When crowded, which was ordinarily the case, it became oppressively hot, especially in summer. If we opened the windows the boys threw stones, mud, and fireworks through, and fired trains of gunpowder laid from the door inwards. But our people got used to this shouting 'Hallelujah' when the crackers exploded and the powder flashed. Doubtless a good many were frightened away." If they were, more came and the work prospered.

By 1870 the name of the work had been changed to the "Christian Mission." The best evidence that things were going well was that in this year there was a secession of the Brighton branch of the work.

THE ARMY BORN.

From this time on the work advanced without interruption or serious drawback. Checks there, of course, were—officers were imprisoned for obstructing the streets and there were riots—but these served only as stimulants. Mrs. Booth was a mother as well as a preacher. Her eight children were put into "the service" as soon as they were able to help. From contemptuous toleration the public changed to open admiration in its attitude toward the Army. The Army grew gradually, its great organization being perfected bit by bit. Never for a moment did "the General," as he came to be called, lose touch with the whole of the fabric he was building up. "It was all under one hat and that was my hat," as he afterwards said. There was never any other in supreme command. It was not till 1877 that a military constitution was finally adopted for the Army, and into such a constitution General Booth unconsciously drifted. The name was suggested by General Booth himself during the preparation of his Christmas appeal in 1877. From that beginning there has sprung into being an organization in fifty-three countries that has 18,000 commissioned officers and 700 army corps. The work extends from England into Russia, Canada, India, Sweden, France, Switzerland, Germany, Africa, Tasmania, New Zealand, China, Korea, and the United States.

HIS LITERARY WORK.

General Booth's literary labors were productive of twenty-one volumes. "Darkest England and the Way Out" is the best known, although "The Training of Children" and "Love, Marriage and the Home" have been widely read outside the ranks of the Salvation Army. In addition to the books he was the author of innumerable papers and sketches for the various journal of his organization. As an author the head of the Salvationists worked as indefatigably as he did as an administrator.

Received all over the world by kings and other rulers, General Booth retained the simplicity and democracy that marked him as an unknown Methodist minister, yet he was an autocrat in the management of his huge organization.

MRS. BATEMAN'S STORY IS LIKE A DIME NOVEL

Dead Oshawa Woman Lost Two Husbands, Third is in Jail

Oshawa, Sept. 11.—The life of the late Mrs. Bateman, who was beaten to death in her home near here, and for whose death her husband is being held reads like a chapter of a dime novel, with two marriages before she met Bateman, in response to his advertisement in a Toronto paper for a wife, and married him.

Mrs. Bateman's maiden name was Finkle. Her first husband was Daniel Holman, a laborer in a cider factory at Cedardale, near Oshawa. Holman was killed by a Grand Trunk train one night while walking down the tracks towards his home.

After several years Mrs. Holman met William Cleverdon. They were married, but separated after about seven months. Cleverdon's mother died, and a quarrel which arose out of his going to the funeral resulted in his going away.

Next came the advertisement for a wife, and the woman's reply and subsequent meeting with Bateman and their marriage in Toronto. Bateman himself was a widower and had a grown-up family.

Continually quarreling, the Bateman home was anything but a happy one. On the day of the tragedy Bateman ran into the home of Mr. Edward Phillips, two doors away and exclaimed that the house was on fire. When Phillips suggested that they go in and try to put out the fire, Bateman, it is said, objected.

The autopsy indicated that death was probably due to blows from a hatchett or axe, the whole back of the head being crushed in.

COULDN'T FIND BAR KEY, HOTEL MAN PAYS $100

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 11.—For delaying to admit License Inspector Pacaud to the bar-room of his hotel on Saturday night last, Edwin Wigle, proprietor of the International Hotel, was fined $100 and costs by Magistrate Legatt.

Pacaud entered the International Saturday night, being attracted by the unusual number of men going in and coming out. On asking admission to the bar, the proprietor took so long in "finding" the key that the Inspector was satisfied he had given time to allow the exit of the crowd he believed to be in the bar room.

On finally gaining admission to the bar the Inspector saw but two fellows cleaning up. A visit to the adjoining pool room, however, found it especially over congested.

PUPILS WARNED OF SCHOOL DANGERS

Advised to Keep Pencils from Mouths and Not to "Swap" Chewing Gum.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 11.—With the opening of Chicago's public schools for the enrollment of new pupils the city Health Department came to the fore with the advice, "How to be happy in school."

Extracts from the Health Department axioms are:—

Fresh air makes the mind bright and makes learning easy.

Don't shut out the sunshine teacher. Flood the room with sunshine; it's God's best germ destroyer.

Never put pens or pencils in your mouth. The last mouth they were in may have been an infected mouth.

For the same reason never "swap" candy, chewing gum or apples. It's dirty and a dangerous thing to do.

Keep clean; soap is your good friend.

Treat your stomach right. Eat very little candy, and what little you do eat, be sure that it is pure.

Don't run to school, especially after eating. Start early, so that you will not be obliged to run.

LONDON DAILY TIMES PUBLISHES ITS FORTY THOUSANDTH NUMBER

—London Daily Times Publishes—

London, Eng., Sept. 11.—The Times first published under that name in 1788, printed its forty thousandth number to-day. To emphasize the occasion that journal issues an extra 44-page supplement, dealing with the history of the newspaper. This special number has the first article of a series entitled "The Story of Printing" being an illustrated review of the art from the time of Gutenberg down to William Morris and the present day.

The Oxford University press, it points out is the only press that can produce a list of all its publications for 327 years. The progress of modern printing is dealt with in the article on America. To cover printing six articles are devoted and a similar number has been written on the fascinating subject of copper plate printing and lithography, as well as an account of the many private presses. There is a splendid reproduction of a page from the Kelmscott Chaucer.

A special section is devoted to the newspaper press, and "The Times" naturally has the pride of place here. An absorbing story is told as to how there came into being "The Times" of to-day, which is a separate story and divulges the mysteries of organisation about which there has always been much public curiosity.

TELLS DETECTIVE'S FORTUNE; IS FINED

—Tells Detectives Fortune—

Toronto, Sept. 11.—Before Magistrate Denison to-day there was a charge of fortune-telling against Madame Comfort Stanton of 210 Cowan Ave., the complainant being Detective Grigg, who said the woman charged him fifty cents for pretending to forecast his future.

"She took a pack of cards," Grigg informed the court. "I thought she was playing a game of solitaire, but she told me my wife was going to die within a year."

Walter Smith had been informed that a "dark woman was coming into his life" and he objected.

The defendant pleaded ignorance of the law, and the fine was $20 and costs.

"Next time," Magistrate Denison threatened, "it is apt to be five hundred or a thousand."

"But palmistry" the woman expostulated. "I can practice that?"

"Only by keeping your hands clean," the Crown Attorney replied. "That's the only safe way I know."

FAR DISTANT URANUS.

Oddities a Visit to This Gigantic Planet Would Disclose.

If Uranus, which is a star of about the sixth magnitude, were a planet like those little ones called asteroids, which are being discovered by the dozen every year, it could not have much claim upon popular attention, but Uranus is really a gigantic world, more than sixty times as large as ours. Its vast distance, about 1,700,000,000 miles from the earth, is what causes it to look so small.

Uranus has four moons, which revolve backward in their orbits—that is to say, they revolve from east to west around Uranus, while Uranus goes, like all the other planets, from west to east around the sun. It is believed that Uranus rotates backward on its axis also. Moreover, the axis of that great, strange globe lies in such a direction that in the course of its year, which is equal to eighty-four of our years, the sun shines almost perpendicularly first upon one pole and then upon the other.

Measured by our time standard, there are forty years of constant daylight, followed by forty years of unbroken night, around the poles of Uranus, and the sun rises in the west and sets in the east there, but the sun looks very small when viewed from Uranus—only one four-hundredth as large as it appears to us. Still it sheds upon that planet 1,200 times as much light as the full moon sends to the earth, so that daylight upon Uranus, while faint compared with the blaze of a terrestrial noonday, is nevertheless a very respectable kind of illumination.

Sun and Fire Symbols.

There are to be found occasionally upon the walls of old brick houses in Canada, at about the line of division between the first and second stories, flat pieces of iron five or six inches in length and shaped somewhat like the letter "S." The use of these articles was clearly brought from England, where it is still continued, and there are a curious origin and meaning attached to them. The figure in question is an early symbol of the sun. It is still used in Herefordshire and other parts of England. There one is informed that the reason for the particular form of these irons is that they were made thus in order to protect the house from fire as well as from collapse.

A Poultry Novelty.

Included among the numerous poultry exhibits at this year's Royal Agricultural Show at Doncaster, England, is a novel variety of hen—a pure white bird. Experiments now progressing, it is believed, are likely to be successful in changing the color of the egg in another breed from white to brown.

SANDS THAT SING.

A Scientist Declares That Scotland Has the Best Singing Sands.

A lecture given recently at the Royal Societies Club by Mr. Carus-Wilson was devoted to a consideration of the extraordinary sands known as "musical" or "singing" sands.

The best singing sands in the world come from the Isle of Egg, off the coast of Scotland, and it is comforting to know that, whatever figure Britain may cut in grand opera, she is at least prominent when it comes to a question of singing sand. But what is singing sand? Mr. Carus-Wilson went to great pains to leave no doubt on the subject, and although his audience contained many eminent geologists, he asked leave to begin at the very beginning and to treat his audience "as an audience of boys."

The lecturer showed how the rocks of which the earth is composed are decomposed by the action of natural causes, chiefly the weather; how cliffs become boulders; how boulders become pebbles, and pebbles in turn become sand. In the course of time it occurs that nature, that most versatile old lady, produces a kind of sand which has music in its soul; a sand composed of quartz, rounded and highly polished, of a uniform size, and very clean.

And when these are agitated so as to produce vibrations, by means of the wind, by being trodden upon, or by being struck, they produce musical notes. Such perfect deposits are found in the Isle of Egg, and it was by means of samples of the real Egg variety that the lecturer produced musical notes.

Filling a wooden egg-cup with sand from the Isle of Egg, he stabbed the sand with a wooden ninepin abstracted, he said, from the nursery at home, and produced a high musical note. The sand behaved better in the egg-cup than in anything else. In a cardboard box its musical note remained dumb, as it did in a flower-pot and in the half of a rubber ball. In half a wooden Easter egg the sand from the Isle of Egg, as the lecturer remarked, "positively revelled" in its surroundings, and emitted a sharp, joyous squeaking.

Musical sands have been known for 1,000 years, and it is believed that there is a reference to them in one of the tales of the "Arabian Nights." But nature, who conducts experiments on quite a different scale from those at the Royal Societies Club, produced much finer results. There is the Mountain of the Bell on the shores of the Red Sea, which makes extraordinary sounds and boomings when the winds set the countless millions of particles rubbing against each other and vibrating.

A Queer Club.

"The Little Club" of London was a distinctly original institution. It was intended for those not five feet high. Invitations to be present at the inaugural meeting did not meet with a very hearty response. The scheme had to be modified owing to the occasional awkward situations created through the use of ordinary sized furniture; as when a member, imaging the president to be absent, gave vent to some contemptuous criticisms of him, only to find that his face had been temporarily eclipsed by a flash of wine which stood before him on the table. After this the premises were furnished in proportion to the size of the club members, the door was made high enough to admit a man of five feet, and no more, and to "brush your foretop" on entering was to be disqualified for membership.

Queer Clubs.

The title "Cave of the Golden Calf" bestowed on London's first Cabaret Theatre Club, which has just been opened, recalls other curiously-named clubs which have flourished in this country at different times. For instance, there was the "Calves' Head Club," founded in "ridicule of the memory of Charles I.," whose meetings for obvious reasons were rather suspiciously regarded after the Restoration. "The Everlasting" was a purely social club, with a membership of 100 souls. Social intercourse was always obtainable within its walls, for the rules arranged for the presence of members day and night throughout the year.

An Absent-Minded Inventor.

Several new stories have just been told about the famous Canadian inventor, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell. It appears that Dr. Bell hates the sight of his greatest invention, the telephone, so much that he does not make use of it unless he cannot possibly help it. In fact he has never appreciated its usefulness. Dr. Bell tells a story of how he was in a house where a child began to cough in the middle of the night, and the family feared the cough sounded croupy. He went to the telephone and asked a medical man to come over at once. It was an inconvenient hour, and the medical man desired some reason. When he heard what it was he asked why the child could not be brought to the phone. The inventor was immediately struck by the idea that it was quite possible, so that doctor decided over the telephone that the child did not have croup.

Friendship.

The plant of friendship grows only in the warm air of congeniality. Confidence binds its parts together and is the cohesive power of its nature, while sympathy is the life-giving sap coursing through every fiber. It is an evergreen and is indigenous to all lands. Its most beautiful flowers open during the night, and, while a perennial bloomer, it is most fragrant in winter. Time cannot wither or destroy it, age but strengthens and develops.—C. S. Field.

Rousseau In England.

Part of Rousseau's stay in England was spent at Chiswick, where he lodged over a small grocer's shop. "The philosopher sits in the shop," writes a contemporary, "and learns English words, which brings many customers to the place."

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

Then Catarrh Sets in, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing Catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough medicines contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs — you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone inhaler — it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Warning to Farmers.

Superintendent Joseph Rogers of the provincial police has issued a warning to farmers to be on the lookout for oil experts, who have revamped the old lightning rod scheme. These "oil experts" seek agreements with farmers for the purchase of their property, offering big prices. The agreement is then produced and the farmers asked to sign. A portion is then torn away and the farmer has signed a promissory note. This game was played around Ops 40 years ago, but the agents sold hay forks. They took several thousand out of the unwary.

EXPERIMENTAL FARM SYSTEM RE-ORGANIZED

Hon. Mr. Burrell Determined That the Farmers Shall Receive Greater Benefit.

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—One of the first problems which Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture, tackled when he took office was the re-organization of the Dominion's system of experimental farms. He found the farms were in many cases run down, the barns were out of repair, the farms were not up-to-date, they were not proving of value to the agriculturist, they were not in other words real experimental farms, where farm problems could be worked out and solved. Last winter Mr. Burrell called a conference of the superintendents of the farms throughout the Dominion. They met in Ottawa, discussed amongst themselves mutual problems and talked over with the minister ways and means of improving their work, so that the results of their investigations can be of permanent benefit to the agricultural community.

Energetic Policy.

Mr. Burrell's energetic policy is already bearing fruit. The barns and properties of the Experimental Farms all over the Dominion are being improved. The superintendents are taking a keener interest in their work and they are extending their activities. Efforts also are being made to have the Experimental Farms of each district deal more effectually with local agricultural problems. For instance there has been for several years a farm at Lacombe, Alta., of very restricted size. Lacombe is in the heart of what has been and should be a fine cattle raising and breeding country. The Lacombe farm, however, on account of its small area has been unable to experiment to any extent with stock problems. The government has bought a large addition to the farm and in future the Lacombe farm will make cattle raising one of its special features.

Selecting New Sites.

J. F. Grisdale, superintendent of Dominion Experimental Farms is at present on a trip of inspection through the west. He will visit all the government farms and spy out the country for agricultural possibilities. Mr. Grisdale will visit Southern Manitoba where a new farm is likely to be located. The site will be selected with a view to experimenting in apple and fruit culture on the prairies. For some time on a small scale apples of a remarkable good flavor have been raised around Morden and Southern Manitoba, raspberries and other small fruits it is known can be raised on the prairies with proper culture. The new farm will experiment in the development of hardy species of fruit to withstand the rigors of the western climate.

Mr. Grisdale will also visit while in the west the new town of Fort George in Northern British Columbia, on the line of the G.T.P. He will inspect the agricultural possibilities of the country and it is possible that an experimental farm may be established in the district. Eastern Canada will later be visited by Mr. Grisdale. Already it is understood property has been obtained for a new experimental farm in New Brunswick and an announcement will be made shortly.

FRANCIS WILSON'S FAMOUS PLAY COMING TO THE GRAND

Those who desire to enjoy a hearty laugh are promised an opportunity to indulge therein by witnessing the presentation at the Grand Opera House on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, September 13 and 14, of Francis Wilson's New York comedy success, "The Bachelor's Baby," wherein Etienne Girardot and a host of English players will enact the several roles. The piece is said to contain an exceedingly humane story in which the comedy element predominates, but little sharp tugs at the heart every now and then bring forth the humane interest. The story of the play tells of a child hating bachelor, being suddenly made the guardian of an orphan youngster, and furthermore tells of how that little one twines itself around this child-hating bachelor's heart and eventually through artlessness brings together a loving couple. The staging promises to be on a most elaborate scale and the various satorial appointments of the several ladies and gentlemen in the company will be elab-

FRENCH IN ESSEX AND KENT WILL DEFY WHITNEY ON SCHOOL ORDER

Some Sections Already Refuse To Obey Bilingual Regulations—165 Students From Two Counties Attend Quebec College—Sir James is Silent

Tilbury, Ont., Sept. 12.—Tilbury's Separate School Board is preparing to take similar action to that of Ottawa's Board, which decided to resist the Whitney bilingual regulations.

Separate School section number seven, Tilbury North, took similar action last year, and refused the Government grant of eighty-four dollars, and will do the same this year.

The many French schools in Essex county, and in a lesser extent, Kent county, are expected to take similar action. The general demand is for French and English in the schools.

A striking feature of the tenacity of the French for their language is the fact that one hundred and sixty-five young men from Essex and Kent are now attending Quebec colleges and seminaries to complete their education in French.

French Unanimously Approve.

Cornwall, Sept. 12.—The Cornwall Separate School Board will take no action in connection with the decision in Ottawa to defy Premier Whitney, relative to teaching of French in the Separate schools.

Interviews with a number of prominent French-Canadians here showed their unanimous approval of the action of the Ottawa Board.

One Opposed to Ottawa's Course.

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 12.—Gaspard Pacaud, chairman of the local Separate School Board, says, that he did not approve of any such action as Ottawa proposed. "When the law exists on the statutes, we will certainly abide by it," said Mr. Pacaud, who further states that the local Separate School Board will take no such action if it can prevent it.

Sir James Silent.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Considerable interest has been aroused among those interested in the Separate School system of Toronto by the action taken by the Ottawa Separate School Board, in which they decided to refuse enforcing the new Provincial regulations as to bilingual schools.

Opinions differ as to whether the local Board shall support the Ottawa contention.

Sir James Whitney stated that he had seen and read the despatch but had no statement to make.

GERMAN MENACE IS NOT A MYTH BUT A LIVE FACT, SAYS CROFT

British Statesman, in Toronto, Points Out Dangers Confronting The Empire—Would Like Canada to Offer Material Aid to Mother Country

Toronto, Sept. 12.—"It is better to trade with those who are building Dreadnoughts for us than those who are building them against us."

This was the text of an eloquent little speech delivered before the Empire Club at noon yesterday by Mr. H. Page Croft, member for Christchurch in the British House of Commons. His subject was "Imperial Co-operation in Defence and Trade."

Mr. Croft said he was thankful that England and Canada were getting to know each other better. Canada's opinion of Great Britain was no longer modelled on the remittance man. There was a great awakening in the British Isles as to the true meaning of Empire. The recent elections in Canada and the visit of the Canadian Premier to Great Britain had created an affection that no time nor stress could overcome. Every thinking man in the United Kingdom felt that the British peoples should trade together and if necessary fight together, and the Mother country could no more hope to stand alone than could any of her dominions. The different parts of the Empire should come together in a common council, each retaining her own autonomy. The British races could stand together against any stress that any rival power might be able to bring against them.

For Federation of Trade.

The surest way to obtain federation was by trade, the greatest bond of common unity.

"The dominions have felt this more keenly than we have," Mr. Croft said. "And we shall never forget that it was the Dominion of Canada that was the first to extend a trade preference to the Mother country. Thanks to that our trade with Canada has multiplied by four since then. The other dominions are following suit, and Australia to-day buys from us more than the great German nation."

He paid compliments to Messrs. Denison, Cockshutt and Wright for their work for Imperial federation.

Turning to the naval question, Mr. Croft said that no one could deny that for the first time in centuries, the supremacy of the British fleet could be questioned. A certain victory had become a doubtful success.

"We are not on our knees to you. We do not ask that you should help us," said he. "But we do say that the burden on us is very heavy. If you cannot help us it will not make any difference, for we will spend our last penny in taxation. The fleet is our all-in-all."

German Peril Is Real.

Those in Canada, far from the North Sea, who said that the German question was only a bogey, spoke without knowledge.

"Our danger is your danger. The fate of Ontario and Quebec is just as much bound up in the fleet as that of Scotland and Wales."

He did not call it a German "peril;" it was a fact, not a peril. Every class in Germany felt that it was Germany's destiny to be the equal of the world on the sea and the superior of all on land.

"There are those who say that all that Germany wants is colonies," he said. "If this is true, who on earth should stand together more than those of the British Empire, which consists of the largest tracts of sparsely settled lands in the world? The only way to stop this race of armaments is to make it clear that the fleet is not the care of the little Islands alone, but of the whole Empire."

COL. SAM HUGHES SEES FRENCH ARMY

Paris, Sept. 1.—The Hon. Colonel Samuel Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia, accompanied by his staff, arrived here to-day. The Canadian party was met by Dr. Phillipe Roy, the Agent-General of Canada in France, and later proceeded to Touraine to witness the manoeuvres of the French army.

VENERABLE JURIST TO PRESIDE AT BECKER TRIAL IN NEW YORK.

JUSTICE GOFF AT THE MILBROOK HUNT CLUB

Here is the most recent picture of Justice John W. Goff, the venerable New York jurist, who will preside at the trial of Police Lieutenant Charles A. Becker, who is accused in connection with the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal. The Russian wolfhound is a pet that the jurist gave away after his wife's death a year ago. On hearing his old master's voice the dog leaped upon him, and this demonstration of affection brought tears to the eyes of the Justice, who remarked that since his bereavement he had found little interest in life.

FUGILIST JOHNSON'S WIFE ENDS HER LIFE

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Jack Johnson, wife of the world's champion heavyweight pugilist, who shot herself through the head last night, died this morning. She did not regain consciousness.

Facts that came out after Mrs. Johnson had shot herself showed that she had decided to commit suicide as soon as her husband left the house to go down town. She called Mrs. Veanie Rhodes, the pugilist's sister on the telephone and asked her to come to her at once.

Then Mrs. Johnson called her two colored maids into her bedroom and told them she wanted them to join her in prayer. With an arm about each of them Mrs. Johnson knelt at the bedside. The maids followed her example and the three prayed together for several minutes.

As they arose Mrs. Johnson, pressing her hands to her face, said: "God pity a poor woman who is lonely."

She sent each of the maids into other rooms on errands and before either had time to return a shot was fired and when they came back they found her lying on the floor fatally wounded.

On a recent trip to Las Vegas, where Johnson fought Jim Flynn, Mrs. Johnson is said to have remarked to friends that everyone shunned her because she had married a negro and that she was unhappy.

Mrs. Johnson was 31 years of age and the daughter of Mrs. David Terry, of Brooklyn, N.Y. When she married Johnson she was the divorced wife of Clarence Duryea, a well known turf man.

ACT MUST BE CHANGED

From the Orange Sentinel.

Nothing is more natural than that the influence of the Roman Catholic Church will be exerted to prevent Protestants agitating for a change in the British North America Act with a view to the passing of a federal marriage law.

Already there are some good Protestants who are inclined to accept the views of those who say that such a change would be impossible. They illustrate that remarkable tendency on the part of Protestants to grant concessions to Romanism which are designed to rob them of their liberties, or at least to keep them in a position of inferiority before the law.

The argument that the British North America Act cannot be changed without the consent of Quebec is one that will not bear analysis. Changes have already been made, and in the future more drastic changes will be necessary. One that will occur to the mind of the ordinary reader is that part which determines the representation of the provinces in parliament. Already it is seen that by adhering to the present basis, which makes the population of Quebec the determining factor in all the other provinces, we will have a parliament of two or three thousand members within the next fifty or sixty years. It would be impossible to do business with such an unwieldy body. It is clear, therefore that amendments to the British North America Act are certain to come within the next twenty or thirty years.

Important as the question of representation is, the status of marriage, in our judgment, exceeds it in vital interest of the to the people of this country. If then we have changed the British North America Act, and it is clear that we must make changes purely with regard to matters of administration, how much more reason there is for making amendments when the foundations of society are in danger as they are with our present marriage laws.

PLANS OF C.P.R. CRUISER—LINERS SHORTEN TIME TO LIVERPOOL

Montreal, Sept. 12.—Plans of cruiser-liners, prepared originally at the request of the C.P.R. by Edward Bath, an eminent English naval architect, were made public here today. They call for vessels of 700 feet long, 30 feet draught, and a speed of 24 knots an hour. "The vessels would have turrets for four six-inch guns and eight 4.7-inch guns, and sixteen quick-firing guns. Heavy armor would also be carried, while more could be attached in war-time.

The designer points out that not only would a number of these vessels prove to be a great strengthening to a fleet, being virtually as fast and as heavily armored as cruisers, but they would reduce the passage from Liverpool to Montreal to five days. The cost of the liners would be $3,000,000.

FARMER DISCOVERS FORTUNE IN CELLAR

Ogdensburg, Sept. 12.—A report is in circulation in the vicinity of Madrid, St. Lawrence county, that a farmer named Lucien Sizer, residing about three miles from Waddington, in tearing down an old building on his farm found in the cellar a quantity of gold coins amounting to about $30,000. The report cannot be verified as yet.

It is said that only a few years ago a band of gypsies who were encamped in the woods near Sizer's place discovered many gold coins supposed to have been buried there by

CHOICE EXHIBITS AND SPECIAL FEATURES MARK OPENING OF FAIR

Grand Display in Every Department Excels Former Exhibitions Here—Balloon Ascensions By Woman Aeronaut Is One Of Special Attractions

The clerk of the weather smiled brightly on Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition of 1912. Early in the morning anxious eyes looked out of many residences to see what the chances were. At first it seemed to presage cold weather, but as the hours went by Old Sol rose higher above the eastern horizon and shed his golden rays over the city and exhibition in a way to warm the hearts of the Fair Directors. By ten o'clock the big field looked like a miniature army camping ground, canvas was spread in or under which, later on appeared the thousand and one articles on exhibition. Secretary Hall, "the indefatiguable," was busily engaged in his tent answering the thousand and one questions, pertinent and otherwise, of exhibitors and prospective displayers of live stock or manufactured goods. He remarked to The Times: "Busy? Why I was called out of bed at 5 o'clock this morning to answer some man who wanted to know how many aeroplanes were to be exhibited!"

The Car Service.

Mr. Munro, the enterprising street car manager, had made special efforts to handle the crowd. His efforts were eminently successful owing partly to changed condition of this year and the fact that the power is now better than ever before. Trailers were attached to all the George street cars and three extra motor cars were pressed into service. The extra cars stopped in the siding at the entrance gates. Transfers were granted at Charlotte and Park Sts. All cars ran in units of four cars.

Law and Order.

Mr. W. Henry, of the Children's Aid Society acted as special constable, the regular force acting under his instructions. Everything passed off quietly to the universally recognised character of Peterborough in that respect. In response to a question put to Detective Newhall, that officer assured The Times that the city nor grounds had shown any indication of the presence of such light fingered gentry as sometimes frequent fall fairs. From an early hour, intending exhibitors were busily bringing in stock or placing their respective exhibits under canvas or in the main building. The sound of hammer and beetle sang out merrily as stakes were driven home.

The Opening.

In the absence of Mayor Bradburn, who was suddenly and unexpectedly called from the city on civic business, Mr. E. A. Peck, M.L.A., formally declared the Fair open at two o'clock. Mr. Peck, in a happily worded speech congratulated the directors on the great success attained by this year's Fair, and noted the great interest the Ontario Government takes in such substantial encouragements to both the farming and the manufacturing industries.

Rural School Exhibit.

In a large tent, centrally located, was an exhibit of beautiful boquets of flowers, grown from seeds furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture to four rural schools of the township of Smith. Potatoes, from a similar source, also attracted much attention. This exhibit was in charge of Mr. E. S. Hopkins, B.S.A., of Norwood.

The Ladies' Exhibit.

The upper storey of the exhibition building is mainly devoted to the handiwork of the ladies. Here are to be seen everything that delights the feminine and often, the masculine eye, from lace collars to sofa covers of many designs.

Horticultural Show.

A new feature of this year's show is the Horticultural department. In a large tent, just east of the main building is a magnificent display of cut and potted flowers. This relieves the space in the exhibition building. Mr. Chas. Clee has a magnificent show of plants; one hanging basket alone contains ninety eight individual plants.

The Baloon Ascension.

At 5.50, in a fairly stiff westerly breeze, Miss Devonda made an ascent with her baloon. This gas bag, which measures 70 feet in height by 42 in breadth, is one of the largest on the continent. When some 2,500 feet above the ground, Miss Devonda "cut loose," and came to terra firma by means of her parachute, after taking a south easterly flight and crossing the river. Here she was picked up by an auto. A Times reporter, previous to her ascent, had a chat with Miss Devonda, who comes here from the Minnesota State Fair. She is a pleasant faced, retiring little lady, who has been eleven years engaged in making baloon ascensions. In response to questions put by The Times, Miss Devonda said, should her parachute land her in Little Lake, for instance, she is amply protected by a cork life preserver round her waist; this also preserves her from many a bump and bruise when coming down and encountering trees or other obstacles. Her usual ascent is from 4,000 to 5,000 feet. At the sound of a revolver shot, she pulls a lever which releases the parachute.

For about 150 feet she falls like a bit of lead, when the umbrella shaped parachute, some thirty-eight feet in width gradually opens and retards her fall. She has never been up in an aeroplane, having no desire for it

MILKING BY ELECTRICITY

POWER EXHIBIT AT PETERBOROUH EXHIBITION

The Seymour Power Company have a large and extremely interesting exhibit at the Fair Grounds, showing what can be done on the farm by electricity. This is one of the most complete exhibits shown anywhere, and consists of corn grinders, table saws, house pumps, washing machines, bone grinders, straw cutters, electrical milkers, etc. Cows will be milked daily at 4.30 p.m. by electricity. This is one of the most interesting displays on the grounds.

FLYING GROUND FOR THE ARMY

Sixty Officers Will Be Trained At One Time at the New Aviation Ground.

London, Sept. 12.—The official flying grounds for the men and the officers of the British army were opened last week at Upvon, on Salisbury Plains, eight miles from Amesbury, Wiltshire. The site is on a lofty part of the plain, 800 feet above the sea level, and remote from railways, which is regarded as a special advantage, and there is less likelihood of crowds of sightseers interfering with the work.

The ground cost $450,000 and $190,000 was appropriated for buildings. There are now 16 hangars, with large workshops, a store room, a lecture hall and hospital quarters for all ranks.

It is proposed that 60 officers be trained at one time. Three courses a year will be given. Twenty officers started on the work. The course includes cross-country flying, the general principles of aeronautical mechanics, the construction, maintenance and use of instruments, engines, etc., metereological photography and signalling.

The commandant, Commander Haine, of the navy, receives $6,000 a year. Under him are an assistant and five instructors.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 46 Cecil street, Toronto D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find at this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 346 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

A PROBLEM IN PICTURES.

And the Peculiar Coincidence by Which It Was Solved.

Some years ago a publishing house was preparing to issue a new edition of the writings of Thoreau, writes Charles S. Olcott in Art and Progress. The head of the house and a member of his staff were in consultation about the method of illustration. It was agreed that the pictures must be true to nature, but how to get them was the problem. Artists who do book illustrating could not be expected to go into the woods and make pictures which would in any way assist the text to reveal nature as Thoreau saw it. Photographs would be admirable but where was the professional photographer to be found who would undertake to go into Thoreau's country in sunshine and rain, in summer and winter, to catch all the phases of nature which Thoreau recorded in his "Journal?"

While the two men pondered a caller sat in the outer office with a large portfolio under his arm. Five years before he had read Thoreau's "Journal" and had taken up his residence in Concord that he might visit the scenes there described. In all seasons and all kinds of weather he had wandered through the woods and over the fields with his camera. Passionately fond of nature, he was no less devoted to art. To him photography was a pastime. It was not his profession. For the pure love of nature and of art and with no thought of pecuniary gain he had accomplished the very feat which the two business men had thought so difficult, and by a curious coincidence he appeared at the office to exhibit the result of his work at the precise moment when its desirability was being discussed.

VARNISHING DAY.

It Brings Many Surprises at the English Royal Academy.

When the hanging committee of the English Royal academy has completed the work of "hanging," the artists whose pictures are exhibited on the academy walls are forwarded a piece of pasteboard known as a "varnishing card." This card is the first intimation the artist receives that his picture has passed triumphantly through the processes of judging and "hanging," and it allows him to visit the academy on a particular day—"varnishing day"—just before the galleries are thrown open to the public. Hundreds of knights of the brush are to be found in the galleries of Burlington House on "varnishing day" and here and there are flights of steps and improvised platforms covered with artists putting the last loving touches to their canvases. Here, perched on the top rung of a pair of steps, is a young lady with smiling face scraping her picture with a palette knife and putting in fresh spots of paint occasionally, while on the floor at her feet is a young man whose features are the picture of misery, his eyes roaming toward the ceiling. His canvas is hopelessly skied, and he is silently abusing the members of the hanging committee for their lack of judgment.

"Varnishing day" brings many surprises to the exhibitors. One man will find his canvas wrongly named, and another, an impressionist, may be startled to discover that his glorious sunset, over which he has taken so much pains, is upside down. And for the first time he realizes that an impressionist's pictures can be turned about any way without greatly endangering the effect.

Turner had one of his paintings hung upside down, and old academicians well remember that a little canvas, "A Sleeping Naiad," was once, owing to lack of space, placed on the wall in an upright position and renamed "The Waking Naiad."—National Magazine.

Improving Americans.

"Nothing is fixed but the certainty of change," said Goethe, and we know that the future American will represent a change. He may be taller or shorter or thinner or fatter than the American of today, but there is nothing in the existing state of society—and we use society in its broad sense—to indicate that he will not be better in many ways. Confidence in this is based largely on the evident determination of the American of today to leave our institutions and our ideals better than he found them. Every American, native or foreign born, wants his children to have a better education than it was possible for him to secure. He wants to have his children live in a community of higher standards and ideals than he has; he wants betterment in local, state and national conditions, and the result of the want will be improvement and a demand by his children for still greater improvement.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

SLIDING DOWN A ROPE.

It Is Both Easy and Safe When Done in Sailor Style.

Sliding down a rope is not so simple as it seems. Few know how to do it properly. If you try to descend by letting the rope slide through your hands the friction will burn the palms so that you will have to let go after a few feet. If you try to lower your weight from one hand hold to another you are sure to become tired and will be forced to drop. You cannot slide with the rope between your knees, for the swaying of your body will jerk the rope out of the clutch of your knees, and then you are likely to fall.

The easiest and safest method you can employ is that used by firemen and sailors. Standing upright, throw out your right leg and give it a turn around the rope. Next put the rope in the crook of your right elbow and clasp it tightly, not in your hand, but in your arm.

In that way you can slide to safety without the slightest trouble. The rope does not touch any part of the body that is not protected by clothing, and your speed can be regulated by either straightening or cramping your leg. Once learned this method of sliding down a rope may prove in an emergency the means of saving your life or the lives of other persons.—Youth's Companion.

A Study In Wrinkles.

When George Rignold was playing Henry V. in London a friend visited him in his dressing room and remarked a large and handsome photograph of Wordsworth hanging on the wall. Said the friend, "I see you are an admirer of Wordsworth."

"Who's Wordsworth?" queried the actor.

"Why, that's his picture — Wordsworth, the poet."

"Is that old file a poet? I got him for a study of wrinkles."

Early Risers.

Sir Edward Coke, the great English lawyer, attributed much of his success to early rising. When a young man in chambers he rose regularly at three o'clock and studied until the courts met at eight. Nine o'clock was his retiring hour, as he believed a man should have an equal portion of sleep before and after midnight.

Just a Precaution.

"Why are you starting out with an umbrella on such a sunshiny day?"

"I am bound for the art gallery."

"But you cannot exhibit an umbrella."

"Of course not. But a notice on the catalogue says that one must leave his cane or umbrella outside before he can enter."—Toronto World.

Kindness.

"Do you ever go out of your way to do things to make other people happy?"

"Yes. I crossed the street this morning to avoid meeting a man who owes money to me."—Chicago Record-Herald.

DIG THEIR OWN GRAVES.

English Army Methods in the Execution of Condemned Spies.

The ceremony of disposing of a condemned spy in the English army always follows a definite precedent.

The unfortunate man is surrounded by a detachment of infantry, and after he is provided with a pick and shovel he is marched off to a selected spot and ordered to dig his own grave. This done, the tools are taken from him and his eyes are bandaged. The attending chaplain reads portions selected from the burial service, and from the ranks of the escort twelve men are selected at random by the officer in charge.

These men, having stacked their own rifles, are led to where twelve other rifles are awaiting them, six of which are loaded with blank cartridges. One of these is handed to each man, so that no one knows whether the rifle he holds contains a bullet or not, and none can say for certain that the shot fired by him killed the prisoner. The firing party then marches to an appointed position. The commands "Present!" "Fire!" are given, and almost before the last word rings out the volley is fired and the spy falls into the grave he has dug.

Nearly every man is more or less affected on being selected to form one of the firing party, and many men have been known to faint away on being singled out, while others are so overcome as to be scarcely able to pull the triggers of their rifles.

An Economical Man.

A commercial traveler told of a man who was riding on a train and pretended to become ill after eating a sandwich. The man opened his grip and took out a hot water bag. "He got a sympathetic porter," the commercial man continues, "to fill the water bag with boiling water, and then he opened up his lunch basket, took out a piece of fried steak and warmed it up on the water bag. You talk about your light housekeeping! Then after he had warmed the steak he cut it all up with a pair of scissors and fed it to himself with a pair of sugar tongs, because he would not take a chance with a fork going around a curve. But his finish was a limit. After he had eaten the steak he unscrewed the stopper of the water bag and poured himself out a cup of hot coffee. He had the grounds in the bag all the time."

Vulcan.

Vulcan, the god of ancient blacksmiths and metal workers, was lame in consequence of a pretty hard fall he had in his early days. Jupiter and Juno had a row, and Vulcan sided with his mother against the old gentleman, who promptly kicked him out of heaven. He fell for a whole day and lighted on the island of Lemnos, broke his leg and received as severe a shaking up as though he had tumbled down an elevator shaft. Aesculapius set his leg, but, having only just received a diploma, did a poor job, and for a long time Vulcan went on a crutch.

Carlyle's Bluntness.

Thomas Carlyle once took Lord Houghton (Richard Milnes) to task in regard to the proposed pension for Lord Tennyson. "Richard Milnes," said Carlyle, taking his pipe out of his mouth, "when are ye gaun to get that pension for Alfred Tennyson?" Milnes tried to explain that there were difficulties in the way and that possibly his constituents who knew nothing about Tennyson would accuse him of being concerned in a job were he to succeed in getting the desired pension for the poet. "Richard Milnes," replied the sage, "on the day of judgment, when the Lord asks ye why ye didna get that pension for Alfred Tennyson, it'll no do to lay the blame on your constituents. It's you that'll be damned."

THE FORUM

The Boy Scouts will be on hand at the Fair. A reconnoitre around the ice cream booths will likely be included in their first day's program.

Several of the aldermen own automobiles and occasionally take swift rides. But these trips will be nothing to the grand whizz they will take down the chute next January, if Mr. Bill Bailey has his way.

It is quite pathetic to see the wild but futile efforts of certain men to break into the patronage fodder. Their souls are filled with determination, their heels are full of ginger, and their eyes are sot in the direction of the hayrack.

The Socialists of Portland, Me., have opened a church where, according to the announcement, "truth can be preached and honest conviction uttered without fear or favor." As no two Socialists agree as to what Socialism really is, we predict that it will break up in a beautiful and disedifying church row.

A sample of the German peril reached The Times Office yesterday in the form of the most beautiful lithograph work the world has known. The products known as "Made in Germany" are the only menace need be feared from the land of the Kaiser.

One hundred and thirty-five farmers, all men of money and experience, who intend to settle in the province of Alberta, arrived in Edmonton this week on the G.T.P., by the same train as Mr. R. J. Daley, Publicity Commissioner for the Province in Winnipeg. "The settlement of the present year is the best that Alberta has ever known." Mr. Daley declared. "Never before has such a desirable class of newcomer made homes in this province. The American farmers who are now coming to the Northwest are men of means and of wide experience in coping with just such conditions as they can expect to meet in the pioneer country which will in the course of a very few years be tributary to Edmonton."

PETERBOROUGH FAIR.

With the experience of former fairs to aid them, the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition have succeeded in preparing for a greater and more instructive and entertaining exhibition this year than ever before held in the county.

From the standpoint of exhibits of farm products as well as industrial displays, the Fair promises to excel by far any previous year's show; and the amusement attraction arranged for should provide ample interest and encouragement to draw a greater number of visitors from town and country than in former years.

Less of the spectacular and thrill-starting features than may have been seen at the Toronto are to be expected, but for wholesome entertainment, practical instruction and awards for exhibits, the Peterborough Fair this year will be unsurpassed in proportion to the area it draws from for attraction of general interest.

All who possibly can do so should attend the Peterborough exhibition.

ROMAN CATHOLIC TOLERATION.

It is customary for our Roman Catholic friends to bitterly resent any charge of intolerance and to insist that intolerance is an attribute of Protestantism rather than of Roman Catholics. But the facts are rather against them, says the Guardian. In connection with the rubber atrocities on the Amazon it has been decided to plant a Roman Catholic mission on the territory where the outrages occurred. There was no objection to this, but it was suggested that it might be well to establish also a Protestant mission. But the British minister in Peru cabled that the Peruvian Foreign Minister had informed him that Peru was a Roman Catholic state and Protestant missions were barred by Article IV. of the Constitution. Of course our Roman Catholic friends will tell us that the Peruvian state is to blame for this, and not the Roman Church, but the fact remains that this attitude toward Protestantism is a characteristic one, and wherever the Roman Church is supreme the toleration of Protestants is a thing unknown. Toleration, as we understand it, is a product of Protestantism and is never voluntarily adopted by Rome.

The Cavan Blazers in History

(Editor Morning Times)

Sir,—I have read Mr. Conroy's version of the visit of the Cavan blazers to Peterborough on Patrick's Day, 1861. I was a boy at the time, but remember it well, though I was not there. The cannon, "Protestant Mag," was not from Mount Pleasant, but the property of the Omemee Orangemen. It had been obtained a year or two before for the first Orange procession at Lindsay, in consequence of threats that the invasion of that settlement would be resisted. The occasion of the demonstration at Peterborough was, I understood, a threat—possibly made in jest by some foolish son of Erin—that the Romanists would on that day carry a flag bearing a picture of St. Patrick with his foot on the British Crown, backed with the asseveration that a certain blacksmith was working night and day making pikes for the guardians of the aforesaid banner. An Orangeman told me that the cause of the threat to blow up the hotel was that a man who had treacherously struck a member of the Order had taken refuge there. Mr. Conroy's version is probably correct; but the other story, no doubt reinforced with potheen, was what aroused the ire of the "blazers"—who were not all from Cavan by any means.

The experience of Mr. Conroy in time of need was a by no means rare incident. The "blazers" was an organization quite as much given to deeds of brotherly kindness, without undue regard to differences of creed, as to fighting—and probably most to harmless fun.

MURDERS WERE NOT REPORTED

Remarkable Charges Made By a Chicago Girl

85 TYPEWRITTEN PAGES

Drug Kept for Pickpocketing—Damaging Information Respecting White Slavery is Said to Have Been Given.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Revival of rumors that a number of murders have been committed during the last year in resorts of West Hammond, a suburb came to-day through the arrest of Frances Ford, 20 years old, as an accessory before the fact in connection with the death of John Messmaker on August 13th last. The girl made a statement to Coroner Hoffman and Assistant County Attorney Johnson which covered 85 typewritten pages which is said to deal with vice conditions in West Hammond, and is said to include charges that at least two murders were committed in resorts in the village during the last year.

Messmaker, it is said, was drugged, and a hypodermic injection of poison also given him shortly before he died. The girl admitted being with him before his death. Her arrest was made on complaint of Miss Virginia Brooks, who has been leading an active crusade in West Hammond.

Coroner Hoffman expects a report on Saturday from a chemist on the examination of the vital organs of Messmaker.

"If poison is found in Messmaker's body, I shall take up with the Coroner of Lake County, Indiana, the subject of a number of other West Hammond deaths," said Coroner Hoffman.

In her statement of Coroner Hoffman the girl told of a bottle which she said always was kept behind the bar of a saloon, and which she understood was to be given to men under the influence of liquor, and who were thought to have considerable money on their persons.

It is alleged by Miss Brooks that a score of deaths have occurred in West Hammond resorts that have never been explained, only three being on record.

The Ford girl in her story to the police, says she and Messmaker drank heavily the day before his death. She denied she saw him drugged. Damaging information against certain West Hammond resort keepers in regard to alleged white slavery is said to have been given the officials by the girl.

WIFE ACCUSED OF HUSBAND'S MURDER

She Hides in Woods With Another Man Two Days, One Night.

East Liverpool, O., Sept. 12.—After having hidden for two days and a night in the woods about ten miles north of here, John Coburn, 21, and Mrs. Mary Burrows, 35, were arrested Wednesday night and brought to this place. They are charged with the murder of Richard Burrows, the woman's husband.

Burrows, a wealthy contractor, was killed Monday night. His body, with the head crushed in and a bullet through the heart, was found next day. Coburn and Mrs. Burrows were missing, and search for them was started.

IMPROVED METHODS OF CANCER TREATMENT

Paris, Sept. 12.—Following the recent announcement that an improved method of handling cancer cases had been discovered by a German scientist, comes the report that still another advance has been made towards the successful treatment of this disease. Despatches from the Stuttgart state that a recent conference, attended by representative of the Royal Wurttemberg College of Medicine, Dr. Adolf Zeller, a Wurttemburg physician, outlined a new method of cancer treatment which it is alleged, has already produced some remarkable results. Of fifty-seven patients treated by the new method it is claimed that 44 were cured, among them some who had already been operated on two or three times. No inkling is given as to the nature of the treatment further than that it does not involve operation.

According to the report, which naturally will be received by the medical world with some reserve, Dr. Zeller, exhibited a number of successfully-treated patients to his colleagues at the conference.

AFTER TO-DAY THEY GO

Handiest and Most Complete Book Yet Completed is Ready for Distribution.

Come early and avoid the rush of the wise ones who will seek to take advantage of The Times' offer of a Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary for six coupons clipped from six consecutive issues of the paper and a small expense bonus.

Judging from the crowds that have been examining the volumes during the last few days they are going to go like the proverbial hot cakes.

So far, the flexible black leather binding of No. 1. style has made that type of book the favorite.

"It looks like a Bible," is what they all say. The comment is justified, as the book is made up of the best print on the best Bible paper. In fact, as the work is almost indispensible, the dictionary should be placed beside the Bible on every book shelf, no matter whether it be five or fifty feet in length. In appearance it is a fit companion volume of the best Bible ever printed.

A dictionary of such common sense size and compiled in such a comprehensive manner is just as indispensable to the business man as the telephone book or the city directory.

Knowledge you Use is What Counts

It is not how much knowledge you have, but how much knowledge you use that counts in your work, and it is the same with books. You might have the largest dictionary or encyclopedia in the world, but it would not do you as much good as the dictionary which The Times offers its readers. The volume is small enough to keep constantly at your elbow and you will use it ten times to the once you will cross the room to consult the big Webster's on the stand or table; and that you will use it a hundred times more than you will use a library or encyclopedia.

A well known businessman explained yesterday why he was clipping the dictionary coupons. A visitor noticed that he was preparing to secure a dictionary from The Times, and expressed his surprise, as he had a big volume of Webster's in his office:

"I want that flexible leather dictionary," he said. "It's the handiest book of the kind I've ever seen and the most complete. Do you know most people don't realize how many new words are placed in our language every year. This book is up to date and I need it in my business. It's dollars to doughnuts that I'll use it ten times as much as I ever use that cumbersome one. This Times' book is a Carnegie library at your elbow."

If you have not started clipping already, start now.

Jewish New Year.

The Jewish colony of Peterborough, in common with the Jewish people everywhere, are celebrating their New Year which began yesterday morning, and will terminate at 12 o'clock to-night. Although the Jews here have as yet no regular synagogue, services are being conducted in the home of one of them by Rabbi Black, who has been a resident of this city for several months. Their places of business are closed. Prayer and fasting each day are the features of the services.

PLOW BY MOONLIGHT TO ESCAPE FLIES

Pest Attacks Farmers and Stock——Cows Refuse to Eat——Milk Supply Reduced.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 12.—Farmers in Northern Texas are plowing by moon light to escape the attacks of a fly that is causing the death of livestock in that section of the state. Horses and cattle are being blinded by the pest, and cows refuse to eat. Dairymen are heavy sufferers, supplies of milk and butter being greatly reduced.

The people are also suffering from attacks of the fly. Horses are being covered with blankets and old clothing to protect them both in the country and in towns in the affected section.

19 Rolls and 11 Cups of Coffee, Wins Eating Contest.

New York, Sept. 12.—Notwithstanding the high price of meat, a local Republican club on an outing on Long Island indulged in the costly pastime of a beefsteak eating contest Alderman Frank J. Dotzler tipping the scales at 301 pounds before the contest, calmly won the event by eating 9½ pounds of porterhouse, 19 rolls and 11 cups of coffee. A close second was "Jack" Probe, 40 pounds lighter than the victor, who made away with 7½ pounds of meat, 11 rolls and 10 cups of coffee, but no potatoes.

The Evening Fair.

Drawn by the favorable weather, there was a fairly sized attendance during the evening. The vaudeville attractions in front of the Grand stand were much appreciated, as was the splendid music of the 57th Regimental Band. The display of fireworks was unusually good and well worth the price of admission.

To-day there will be an immense throng present should the weather be propitious.

The Poultry Show.

A notice of this year's Fair would be like the play of Hamlet with the Prince of Denmark off the boards, should the poultry show be given no notice. It is certainly noticeable ere one reaches the huge tent by the vociferous crowing of the lusty throated "Chanteclers of the Morn." Inside the ten are garnered as large and well selected an assortment of poultry as could be expected in a city of 50,000 people.

BURLEIGH and ANSTRUTHER COURT OF REVISION

Notice is hereby given that a court will be held, pursuant to "The Ontario Voters' Lists Act," by His Honor the Judge of the County Court of the County of Peterboro, at Burleigh Falls, on the 19th day of September, 1912, at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon, to hear and determine complaints of errors and omissions in the Voters' List of the Municipality of Burleigh and Anstruther for 1912.

Clerk of Burleigh and Anstruther.
Apsley, Aug. 29th, 1912

"Closed For the Game."

"Me grandmother's dead," the office boy said,
Caressing his eyes with his sleeve.
"Too bad," said his boss, with a shake of the head.
"You must take a day off for to grieve."

"I've a pain in me dome," was the bill clerk's moan
As he rubbed his knob, which was hairless.
"You'd better lay off," said the boss, with a cough.
"Your headache might make you careless."

The rest of the force, with no sign of remorse,
Killed their relatives off. 'Twas a shame!
And the boss, with a glance at his calendar askance,
Hung a sign out—"Closed for the game."
—Philadelphia Ledger.

Move to Be Commended.

"I was out in the woods hunting yesterday, and I shot a man who was wearing one of those funny hats."

"Well?"

"Afraid! Why, man, if they think that you will get all the more credit."—Houston Post.

Unexpected Flippancy.

We hardly look for humor in a medical dictionary, yet one recently published defines "shout" as "an unpleasant noise produced by overstraining the throat, for which great singers are paid well and small children are punished."—Boston Transcript.

At Her Feet.

It was a beautiful not-o-rene
Who wrote to a distant friend.
With only a minute, as you might guess,
In writing a note to spend.

She took the city directory
As a perch for her little shoes
And wrote in her scrambled chirography
Her budget of breathless news.

"I'm making a hit," she told her friend—
"A hit that cannot be beat.
The run of the show will never end.
The whole town is at my feet."

Vulcan.

Vulcan, the god of ancient blacksmiths and metal workers, was lame in consequence of a pretty hard fall he had in his early days. Jupiter and Juno had a row, and Vulcan sided with his mother against the old gentleman, who promptly kicked him out of heaven. He fell for a whole day and lighted on the island of Lemnos, broke his leg and received as severe a shaking up as though he had tumbled down an elevator shaft. Aesculapius set his leg, but, having only just received a diploma, did a poor job, and for a long time Vulcan went on a crutch.

WHY SNIFFLE AND SNEEZE WITH CATARRHAL COLD?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Get Relief In Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold; sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants.

"In the fall of 1903," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit, and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

Signed, George Pulos.

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose, and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1.00; medium sizes 50c.; at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

OLD TALLY STICKS.

Their Use in England Was Abolished With Disastrous Results.

In the museum attached to the standards department of the board of trade, in Old Palace yard, London, a box containing a number of the old exchequer tally sticks, upon which, until an early period in the last century, it was the custom to keep the national accounts.

The tallies were notched sticks of seasoned willow or hazel, the notch on the edge representing the particular amount—the smallest for pence, a larger notch for shillings and the largest for pounds.

The system, which was first introduced by the Normans in the year 1066, was not finally abolished until the reign of William IV., and then only with disastrous results. An order was promulgated that the accumulated tallies, amounting to many thousands, were to be destroyed, and they were accordingly burned in one of the stoves in the house of lords. By some means or other the stove became choked, the paneling caught fire, and in the end the whole of the palace of Westminster, with the exception of Westminster hall, was destroyed.

Some years ago a number of these old tally sticks were discovered in Martin's bank, in Lombard street.—New York Tribune.

Puzzles From the Greek.

If two are a few, why not three; if three, why not four, and by a gradually advancing increment of number why not 10,000, or any other number? Or, again, if the loss of a single hair does not make a man bald, why should the loss of two, of three, and so on, and inferentially the loss of all?

If, then, no addition or subtraction of a unit can transform a small number of wheat grains into a heap or a full head of hair into a bald head, how is it possible that either transition should ever be accomplished?

Take a grain of millet out of a bushel and let it fall on the ground, and it makes no noise. Take every grain in succession of 10,000, let the same happen, and no sound is heard. Then collect all the grains back into the bushel and pour it out, and the result is a great noise. How, asks Zeno, can 10,000 noiseless processes make one full of noise?

Honors at College.

"What was your son's social standing in college?"

"Oh, very fair. Why, he almost got into the Gibber and Squeak society!"

"Indeed! How was that?"

"Why, you know they always hit them on the back as a sign they have been selected, and George was hit on the back with such force that it knocked him down."

"Mercy!"

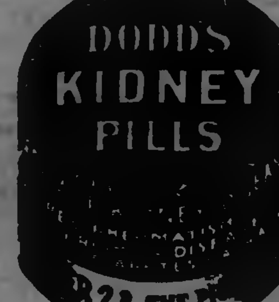
"Yes, indeed. He thought of course he had been chosen, but he found out afterward it was the class bully who hit him because he didn't like the set of his collar. But even that's a great honor."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Energy of will is the soul of every great character. Where it is there is resolute character; where it is not there is faintness, with effeminacy, despondency, neglect of duty and failure. "The strong man and the waterfall," says a proverb, "channel their own path."

In Training.

Nell—Why does she always dress in black? Belle—She's in training. Nell—Training for what? Belle—Well, you see, she married an octogenarian.—Philadelphia Record.

Opponents think that they refute us when they repeat their own opinions and take no notice of ours.—Goethe.



EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S
PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF
ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—
"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—
"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyes, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—
"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.
"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

THE ELEVATOR BOY.

In Chicago He Made Rapid Progress in Becoming an Expert.

The first day he is occupied mainly in learning how to run his elevator.

The second day he is so delighted with his position that he makes every effort to give all the information asked of him.

The third day he gets his uniform and begins accustoming himself to telling the passengers to step lively.

The fourth day he learns how to advise anxious inquirers to look at the bulletin board or ask the starter.

The fifth day he is so thoroughly versed in the duties of his position that he can run the car past people who are yelling "Down!" or "Up!" and three floors away from them waft back the gentle admonition to punch the button. Also, he is now able to carry the nervous passengers two floors too far and then refuse to go back.

The sixth day he is an adept and demonstrates it by sliding the door quickly in the face of the man who is a second late, also by stopping the car and dropping a couple of floors to take on the stenographers with huge blond rats, who haughtily omit pressing the button.

He is now a real elevator boy and wonders what right the public thinks it has, anyway.—Chicago Post.

CHEERFUL MENDELSSOHN.

The Pioneer In Good Conducting and the Boy Joachim.

The art of good conducting began with Mendelssohn. The Leipzig Gewandhaus owes the greatness of its orchestra to him. He was a hard taskmaster, but, according to the words of Joachim, he earned the good will and respect of his men by his thorough knowledge, says the Music Magazine. He was sane and rational, preferring a cheerful mood to gloom. Johann Kruse, formerly second violinist of the Joachim quartet, once told a little story of Mendelssohn's conducting in London, where he was always a favorite.

"Mendelssohn was to bring out the boy Joachim, then about twelve or fourteen years of age," he said. "At that time Joachim played Bach and Beethoven like a master. He began to rehearse the Mendelssohn concert with the orchestra when suddenly with boyish impetuosity he turned to the conductor and said, 'Herr Mendelssohn, I am sure there is a mistake in the orchestration here.'

"The cheerful and sunny Mendelssohn replied, 'Well, this is a good time to correct it, my boy,' and the error was found and corrected."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

These curious twists and turns superstitions take are to be found in the introduction of horses' skulls in or about the church buildings in England and Scotland, the reason alleged being to help the sound in church. This habit is unquestionably a relic of heathenism where an animal was sacrificed. Some years ago, when an old meeting house in Edinburgh was pulled down, the sounding board space above the pulpit was found to be filled with horses' skulls. In some parts of England there still exists the idea that if a horse's head is buried in a field there will be an echo.

Quite Frank About It.

"So you are going to marry Tom?"

"You saw the announcement, didn't you?"

"Yes, but—"

"It wasn't a fake."

"But, dearie—I never thought that Tom would be your choice."

"Tom [illegible] choice. He's my chance. Have you any other questions to ask, darling?"

Darling decided she hadn't.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sifted Pearls.

Some years ago the sultan of Sulu learned that the pearl fishermen were reaping big profits. He supplied his revenue collectors with sieves and ordered that all pearls found near Sulu must be tested in these sieves. Those that dropped through were to be retained by the fishermen; those that remained in the sieves were to belong to the sultan for taxes. It nearly ruined the pearl fisheries.

The Title "Colonel."

The title colonel comes from the word almost the same in several languages, signifying a column. The colonel was so called because he led or commanded the column.

Wool Varieties.

There are a great many varieties of wool, due to the crossbreeding of the sheep, the climate in which they are reared in different parts of the world, the natural surroundings and the soil. Thus each kind of wool has its individual name, which it takes from the breed of sheep or the locality where they are raised.

"Watches" on Board Ship.

On board all ships a series of "watches" are established, so that work is shared equally among the sailors. To aid this object also the crews are divided into two divisions, starboard and port. A ship's day commences at noon, and there are seven watches. The watch which is on duty in the forenoon one day has the afternoon next day, and the men who have four hours' rest one night have eight hours the next. This is the reason for having "dog watches," which are made by dividing the hours between 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. into two watches.

Living on Rubber.

The rubber slug is one of the many pests of rubber plantations. It attacks the young trees and feeds on the juice oozing from the cuts. Doubt having been cast on the suggestion that any animal could subsist on rubber, a saucerful of juice was placed before some rubber slugs, which lapped it up like a cat lapping up milk. Scientists have come to the conclusion that this slug contains some rubber digesting ferment as a gastric juice.

UNWRITTEN BOOKS.

Thackeray and Conan Doyle Both Found Themselves Forestalled.

How strange are literary coincidences occasionally is illustrated in the case of Thackeray and Dumas. Thackeray says: "I came near writing a book on the same subject, 'Les Trois Mousquetaires,' and taking M. d'Artagnan for my hero. D'Artagnan was a real character of the age of Louis XIV. and wrote his own memoirs. I remember picking up a dingy copy of them on an old bookstall in London, price sixpence, and intended to make something of it. But Dumas got ahead of me. He snaps up everything."

A coincidence quite as remarkable occurred with Sir Conan Doyle for central figure. He learned while spending a holiday in a mountain inn in Switzerland that during the winter months for some reason two men remained in occupation. For four or five months they were isolated from the rest of the world. Suppose one of them went mad or committed suicide or— The possibilities were endless. He forthwith determined to embody the idea in a story. On his way home he happened to pick up a book of tales by Maupassant. There, in it, under the title "L'Auberge," he found himself forestalled in every particular.

An Old London Dining Club.

An old London dining club, the Dilettanti, was founded in 1733. This at one time was an extremely wealthy club, for, in addition to their subscription, members had to pay a fine when any money was bequeathed them. In 1790 the Dilettanti had £10,000 in hand. Soon after its foundation Horace Walpole wrote that "the qualification for the Dilettanti is having been in Italy and the real one being drunk." It has grown respectable with years, but even now, when a new member is balloted, all the members have to make a complete circuit of the dining table before placing the ball in the box. And a rule still survives that "every member who shall produce on the table a dish of tea or coffee must pay into the general fund a guinea for every such drink.—London Spectator.

Noisy Noses.

Vivier, the celebrated horn player, paid a professional visit to England many years ago. He had just commenced to play at his first concert when Lord Houghton blew his nose—a war trumpet, as anybody who ever heard him would declare. The noise so unnerved Vivier that he could not go on and threw up all his engagements.

Speaking of the affair afterward, he used to say: "Ah, the English! They have terrible noses! They remind one of the last trump!"

GERMANS SAY THEY ARE TIRED OF STOOPING BEFORE ENGLAND

Berlin Newspaper Urges German Press Not to Join English Howling about Panama

Berlin, Sept. 12. — The Berlin Post the leading nationalist paper, in an editorial article to-day on England and Germany in American public opinion, says: "Americans are always very friendly to Germany, and they also know how England stands with Germany. The United States and Germany are the coming nations, and they are well aware that England is now in full decadence socially.

"That decadence must lead to political decadence, as is always the case in history. On the other hand, Americans know that if the world's peace is preserved it will not be by England, but only by the German Kaiser. Therefore, there is no reason why any ill-feeling should be created between Germany and the United States."

The Post urges the German press not to join English howling about the Panama. It continues: "England always has been defeated by American diplomacy. Conditions will be all the better for Germany in relationship with America if they get worse for England. Germany is tired of stooping before England, taking her chestnuts from the fire. We must resist England in every instance, even if England wants to resort to force. If Germany sticks to America's side in the present conflict, war will be avoided and England will only sustain one more diplomatic blow."

$300,000 SUIT FOR DEFAMATION

Mrs. Heims Enters Action Against Former Husband

FIGHT FOR REPUTATION

Denies She Is Drunkard, Upon Which Ground Her Husband Got Divorce.

New York, Sept. 12. — Mrs. Irma Blanche Wright Heims, the singer, is suing her former husband, Dr. Henry Francis Heims, dentist to the King of Italy, for $300,000, in Boston, for defamation of character, growing out of the charges on which Dr. Heims secured a divorce from her in Boston last March. Mrs. Heims is living at the Madrid, No. 552 Riverside Drive.

Dr. Heims charged his wife with habitual drunkenness, which led her to do some very interesting things. They happened, he said, during their residence in Florence, Italy. Mrs. Heims, it was alleged, was inordinately fond of champagne and was wont to acquire an "edge" before she felt in a mood to fill singing engagements.

Mrs. H. S. Simmons, wide of Dr. Heim's nephew, made a deposition saying: "Mrs. Heims never lost an opportunity to drink."

A milkman of Florence made a deposition. Dr. Heims, on Christmas night, 1909, went out on a motor trip, leaving his wife at home. It was charged in the milkman's affidavit that he was passing the Heims' villa at six o'clock the following morning. Mrs. Heims signalled him to halt. He did so, he said, and Mrs. Heims came out and secured his permission to ride in his cart with him to the city.

It was alleged by Dr. Heims that his wife was too friendly with Arturb Targuni, son of an Italian statesman. Mrs. Heims denied any undue friendship for Targuni, and speaking of the other charge, said she had never been intoxicated. She knew very little about liquor, she said.

The court found for the complainant.

"I am going to fight for my reputation," said Mrs. Heims, to a reporter, "Dr. Heims secured the divorce by buying up people to testify against me. I am not a drunkard, and I think it only just to prove I am not, my friends know I speak the truth, but I want to convince others who do not know me but have read the story of the case.

NAME LAWYER AS SLAYER

New York, Sept. 12.—The prospect of imminent arrest failed to deter Barton W. Gibson, the lawyer who was with Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo when she met death at Greenwood Lake July 16th, from the usual routine of his affairs to-day. Surrounded by a self-appointed bodyguard of reporters and detectives he reached his office down town at the customary time, went in and locked the door.

"I am here and I expect to be arrested," he told the reporters upon his arrival in NeR York. "In fact, the detective have told me that I would be. I am waiting now and I am ready. I do not know anything about this story of Mrs. Szabo's death being due to strangulation, except what I read in the newspapers."

When told that autopsy of Mrs. Szabo's body, which has been exhumed from a Jersey City Cemetery, at the behest of the Austrian Consul-General, disclosed that her windpipe had been wrenched out of place, Gibson declined to add to his statement.

Detectives employed by the Austrian authorities formed a cordon around the lawyer's home in Rutherford, N. J., last night and guarded every exit from his office to-day. They had instructions, they said, not to permit him to get out of sight.

A warrant for the arrest of Gibson will be asked for to-day by the authorities of Orange County, N. Y. The autopsy performed on the exhumed body of the Szabo woman showed that the windpipe was wrenched out of place and that the superficial appearance of the internal organs was such as to cause the surgeons to retain them for both miscroscopic examination and a chemical analysis.

The warrant it was reported will charge murder in the first degree.

BURN'S RELICS WILL BE SOLD

New York, Sept. 12.—The Globe Tavern at Dumfries, a famous haunt of the poet Burns, is in the market. Many a richet guid willy wacht was quaffed by the poet in this old hostlery which contains numerous relics of the poet including a window, on a pane of which by means of a diamond he wrote two verses, as well as a punch bowl, a jug, a cup, a Prince Charles wine glass, Burns' favorite, Mrs. Burns' workbox and other articles.

An American visitor to Dumfries a few days ago endeavored to find out if it were likely that the pane of glass could be cut from the window and sold separately, as he was prepared to put down as many dollars as might be found necessary. He was immensely disappointed when he was informed that such action would be looked upon as a sacrilege.

KEEP CUTS CLEAN.

Then There Isn't Anything For Them to Do but Heal.

The cut made by the surgeon should always be kept absolutely free from germs. If infection occurs we know that some one has blundered. Accidental cuts, on the other hand, are almost invariably infected.

The germs of disease are everywhere. No matter how small the cut may be or how brief its exposure to the air, germs are almost certain to enter. If an accidental cut is to heal quickly and well all germs must be carefully removed at the first dressing.

When we consider how many are the ways in which a cut may become infected we can understand why such precautions are necessary. Infection is often introduced by the very implement that makes the wound. Only surgeons use sterilized instruments. A knife or a pair of scissors or a piece of glass or crockery is almost certain to plant germs in the furrow it plows. Germs may also enter from the clothing, from the hands of whoever rushes to help, from the first piece of cloth or handkerchief used to stanch the flow of blood or from the water used for the first washing.

Since the avenues of danger are so numerous, it is safest to assume that infection has occurred. It follows that every family should understand some of the simplest methods of sterilization. Heat is the simplest of all. The mother of a family should keep a supply of soft linen rags that have been thoroughly boiled. She should keep them not on an open shelf with towels or other cloths, but done up in a carefully closed oiled paper bag or protected from the air in some other equally effective way. For washing the wound she should use only water that has been boiled. When the doctor comes he will add some kind of chemical antiseptic, and it will be proved once more that a clean cut can do nothing but heal.—Youth's Companion.

CHANGEABLE CHICAGO.

Has Eight Counties and Many Varied Spellings to Its Credit.

"Few people know that Chicago has been in eight different counties of Illinois," said an old Chicago man. "It was first placed within the limits of Madison county, Illinois then being a territory, Sept. 14, 1812.

"Subsequently it was included in the following counties seriatim: Edwards in 1814; Crawford, 1816; Clark, after the territory was admitted as a state, 1819; Pike, 1821; Fulton, 1823; Peoria, 1825, under the jurisdiction of which it remained until the creation of the county of Cook, Jan. 15, 1831.

"The name of the city, too, has been spelled more than a dozen ways. Father Hennepin called it Che-cau-gou; La Salle, Shecagou; on an old French map of 1682, Chekagou; on another old map (1672) in the Historical society library at Madison, Wis., it is Chicaugau; Father Gravier (1690) wrote it Chicagoua, and in 1700 St. Cosme wrote it variously Chikagu, Chicagou, Chicagu and Chicago, he being the first to give the letters the arrangement which finally was settled upon as the authorized spelling. Charlevoix gave the same spelling in 1721. In the Greenville treaty (as revised) it is Chikago.

"In an old deed filed away among the archives of the Chicago Historical society, as applied to the river or creek (1774), it is plainly written Chicagou. The word was the Indian word for garlic or wild onion and signified to the red men strong, mighty, powerful, courageous.

"In 1725 a chief bore the name Chicago (under some one of its many spellings), who went to Paris and was made much of by kings and princes."

His Reception.

Young Man—I have called, sir, to request the hand of your daughter in marriage. Old Grumleigh—Has she accepted you? Young Man—Yes, sir. Old Grumleigh—Then what do you want to come round and bother me with your troubles for?

Every character is the joint product of nature and nurture.

When Appetite Fails and Indigestion is Bad

There is Danger Ahead for the Man That Neglects Nature's Warnings

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious, and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N.S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead, I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made me a new man. My stomach troubles are cured. rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly enervated man and I strongly urge everyone in failing or lost health to use this grand remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut are purely vegetable—25c per box, 5 boxes for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

New Wharf at Lindsay.

Lindsay, like Peterborough, is anxious to have better wharf accommodation for the increasing business of the Trent Canal. It is proposed to have the structure erected at the foot of Colborne street, on the east side of the river. Lindsay is a growing town, and may soon develop into a rising young city, and the government should see that the new wharf will provide room for the large business which is sure to develop in the near future when the canal is completed.

The Omemee Armory.

The contract for the new armory to be erected at Omemee has been awarded to Messrs. Fitzgerald & Padget, of this city. This contract was secured by Mr. Fitzgerald through reading the advertisement in The Times, calling for tenders. Advertisements in this journal not only pay the advertiser every time, but also brings grist to the mills of the wide-awake reader. Our friends in Omemee are sure of having a good job, as there are no more capable and trustworthy contractors to be found than Messrs. Fitzgerald & Padbet.

The Hunting Season.

The hunting season approaches. Already lovers of the dog and gun are routing out old kits and furnishing up accourtements. It is yet a little early to listen for the cry of the wild goose, but ducks are slowly drifting down from the north and flocking upon Ontario ponds. The first opening date is that of the duck season beginning on Sept. 1st. The season lasts until Dec. 15th.

Other season are as follows:
Partridge—Oct 15-Nov. 15.
Quail—Nov. 15.-Dec. 1.
Deer—Nov. 1-Nov. 15.
Rabbits—Oct. 1-Dec. 15.

Fisherman Gets A Wetting.

Two young men of the city went a-fishing yesterday. They were respectively a telephone foreman and an employee of the C.G.R. Co. Their fishing spot was Lily Lake. They went intent on capturing the doughty muskinonge, but only got a mess of shiners and chub. The telephone man, possibly from the habit of gazing aloft at his crossarms neglected to notice that the bushes surrounding the bank, by which he was hanging over the water, were brittle. They gave way and in he went. Besides a bad wetting, he sustained some rather severe scratches on his arm.

In Fine Quarters.

The Knights of Columbus have certainly "done themselves proud" in the way they have fitted up their new club rooms (formerly the residence of the late ex-Mayor Stevenson). The building has been completely overhauled and repaired, partitions have been removed and new ones put in, changing the whole interior of the building. The rooms are now commodious and elegantly furnished. With these premises and the splendid T.A.S. building (formerly Richard Hall & Sons' store), our Roman Catholic friends cannot be accused of lack of enterprise in maintaining their club rooms. We doubt very much if they have their equal in Ontario.

POLICE COURT

Shooting Case Enlarged.

William Leal, charged with attempted murder, appeared for a hearing yesterday and was further remanded till Tuesday. His wife, whom he shot was present in court and manifested signs of forgiveness of her husband's act.

James Jordan, an ex-British soldier, was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble yesterday to answer a complaint that he was delinquent in domestic duties. James averred that he was able and did support his family. The court was lenient and James will have a chance to make good.

There is a stary current in connection with James' "night and day riding" that he found a pair of shoes. The shoes told somebody they were the property of the Chief-of-Police. Now, anybody that can get away with the goods from the Chief, deserves to be considered capable of doing other things that will redound to his credit in the matter of caring for his family. The Chief is a man who thinks twice before forming judgment and James can thank him—the man whose property he encroached upon—for his chance to make good.

WEDDING BELLS.

Eaton—Elliott.

The marriage of Miss Laura M. Elliott only daughter of Mr. James Elliott, Lambton Mills, Ont., and Mr. Gerald Eaton, of West Toronto branch of the Bank of British North America, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Eaton, Peterborough, Ont., was quietly celebrated on the 7th inst., in the Dovercourt Road Presbyterian church, Toronto, by the Rev. Mr. Wilson. They will reside in Lambton.

OBITUARY.

Thomas Walker.

Thomas Walker, one of the oldest citizens of Campbellford, is dead at his home. He was in his 94th year.

Mr. Walker was born on Black Pots farm in the parish of Old Deer, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, on March 9th, 1820. In 1845 he came to Canada, and after a short stay in Seymour township, he settled on a farm on the fifth concession of Rawdon, Hastings County, where he lived for between fifty and sixty years. Mr. Walker was, for many years, known as one of the most intelligent, progressive and successful farmers in the district.

WHY FOOT WEAR IS HIGH

Tanners Cannot Supply Sufficient Leather For The Trade.

Mr. John Kylie, the well known Hunter street boot and shoe merchant, handed The Times a circular letter to the retail boot and shoe trade, explaining why the recent advance in footwear was unavoidable.

"Why have I to pay more for shoes?" asks the customer.

This manufacturer is asking the tanner why he charges more for leather, and the tanner is vainly seeking hides and skins, not at a lower figure, for he realizes that they are too scarce, but at any price. Hides are scarce, tanning materials are higher, wages have greatly increased. Hence shoes must necessarily cost more money.

CHILD AVERTS A POSSIBLE WRECK

Little Alice Cunningham, 12 years old, daughter of J. J. Cunningham, Lock street, prevented a possible collision on the G.T.R. near the Lock street crossing, Wednesday evening.

The little girl seeing two trains approaching from opposite directions on a curve, flagged the one that was well under steam and averted a possible disaster.

The child's presence of mind is deserving, it would seem, of more than passing notice.

It is Almost the Most Dangerous Scourge of the Young.

Washington, Sept. 12.—With every hope for success the scientists of the United States Hygienic Laboratory are now engaged in seeking an anti- or preventative of measles, which annually claims a heavy toll among infants and children in the United States.

The research is based on the success of a recent experiment with monkeys, conducted by Dr. John F. Anderson and Dr. Jos. Goldberg, by which the scientists for the first time in medical history actually inoculated a small colony of the animals with the disease. Taking this as a basis, the anti-toxin is to be developed although the measles germ is so minute as to be undiscoverable even under the most powerful microscope.

The medical profession is watching the progress of the experiments with the greatest interest. With the exception of diphtheria and croup, measles is the most dangerous and deadly scourge to youth. According to the census bureau figures, taken from the "registered area" in the United Sates, in which approximately half of the population lives, the number of deaths among children in 1910 from diphtheria and croup combined was 11,512, while measles exacted a toll of 6,598, or 12.3 lives in every 100,000 persons.

BLACKS CAUSE RIOT ON GOTHAM TRAIN

One of Them Attempted to Kiss White Female Passenger.

New York, Sept. 12.—When a burly negro put his arm around a white woman on the Eastern Parkway elevated station platform in Brooklyn and attempted to kiss her, a free-for-all fight between whites and blacks began, and the police had some difficulty in quelling the near-riot.

The negroes had been drinking and started the disturbance by insulting white men and women on the platform. Eight blacks were laid out by the police. Some of their companions tried to escape by boarding trains passing the station. Twelve were captured, however, and landed in the Raymond street jail.

FRANCIS WILSON'S FAMOUS PLAY COMING TO THE GRAND

Those who desire to enjoy a hearty laugh are promised an opportunity to indulge therein by witnessing the presentation at the Grand Opera House on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, September 13 and 14, of Francis Wilson's New York comedy success, "The Bachelor's Baby," wherein Etienne Girardot and a cast of English players will enact the several roles. The piece is said to contain an exceedingly humane story in which the comedy element predominates, but little sharp tugs at the heart every now and then bring forth the humane interest. The story of the play tells of a child hating bachelor, being suddenly made the guardian of an orphan youngster, and furthermore tells of how that little one twines itself around this child-hating bachelor's heart and eventually through artlessness brings together a loving couple. The staging promises to be on a most elaborate scale and the various satorial appointments of the several ladies and gentlemen in the company will be elab-

RECORDS BEATEN At Peterboro Central Fair | JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN SINKING Great British Statesman Will Soon Pass Away | SEPARATE SCHOOLS MAY GO

BILINGUAL SCHOOL MATTER MAY CAUSE SERIOUS TROUBLE

An Agitation May Start To Abolish Separate Schools —Cannot Drive Sir James Whitney

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Leading Orangemen of the city appear to regard the action of the Ottawa Separate School Board in virtually defying the Government, as a big bluff which will promptly be called by Sir James Whitney. Sir James, they appear to consider, is an authority on bluff, and he will call this manifestation promptly and effectively. If, however, the French citizens of Ontario should be determined to attempt a show-down, there is general belief that the answer will be an agitation for the total abolition of Separate schools in Ontario.

"I am not prepared to say that an agitation for the absolute abolition of Separate schools in Ontario will result from the action of the Ottawa Separate School Board," said Controller Hooken to a Star reporter, "but I will say that if this endeavor to make of a concession an inalienable right is continued and enlarged, and if endeavor is made to start a revolution, that answer to the encroachments of these extremists will have to be considered by the great majority of the people of Ontario.

"People talk of the rebels of Ulster, but what comparison is there between those who fight constitutionally for the cause in which they believe, and these flagrant flouters of law and established government?

"However, if I know Sir James Whitney, he is not the man to allow those to whom special privileges have been extended to take the reins of power from his hands and drive this Province in any direction which may please their fancy and their desires.

"Observing men who are closely following the trend of events in Ontario did not require this object lesson in order to be convinced of the fact that we are approaching the danger point. Fifteen or twenty years ago, these people who are now so recklessly defiant were suppliants, humbly praying for the privilege of having French used in the primary classes in order that their children might get an education. They asked merely for a concession in certain places under certain condition for the sake of their innocent ignorant children, who would otherwise be hampered in their endeavors to secure an education. To-day, we have French teachers, French trustees and French inspectors. What was asked and obtained as a concession in now claimed as a right. Carefully laid plans are laid to convert this into a French Province. Well, it is not yet a French Province, as our friends will discover if they carry this agitation much further and compel action. Little by little, and then, under the arrangement between Sir Oliver Mowat and Archbishop Lynch, more by more, the privileges of the Separate schools were expanded in return for the solid political support of the Separate school advocates."

LABOR PARTY STARTED NAVY, ALSO COMPULSORY TRAINING

Australian, Who Was a Labor M.P. For Ten Years, Answers Keir Hardie—Ridiculous to Believe That Triumph of Labor Party Means The Millennium

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 13.—W. A. Lloyd, of Sydney, N.S.W., was an interested listener to the discussion at the Trades and Labor Congress the past couple of days. Mr. Lloyd was a member of the Labor Party in New South Wales for 10 years, and was a candidate in Labor interests at the last election.

He repudiates the sentiments of Keir Hardie, the British M.P., who gave utterance to views in strong opposition to Canada contributing toward either army or navy. Mr. Hardie's views, says Mr. Lloyd, find very little favor with the Laborites in the island continent. The Labor party in Australia is responsible for the creation of a separate Australian navy and the introduction of compulsory military training.

It is ridiculous to imagine that the triumph of the Labor party in politics means the advent of the millennium, adds Mr. Lloyd.

MISS PANKHURST IN INTERVIEW

Staying at Quaint Little Hotel in Apache District—Says Suffrage Fight is Invigorating Women

Paris, Sept. 14.—Miss Christobel Pankhurst was interviewed to-day at a quaint little hotel where she is staying in what is really the Apache district. She is looking radiantly healthy and rosy after her enforced rest and outdoor life. Miss Pankhurst has evidently accomplished some shopping, for she is wearing the latest French fashions.

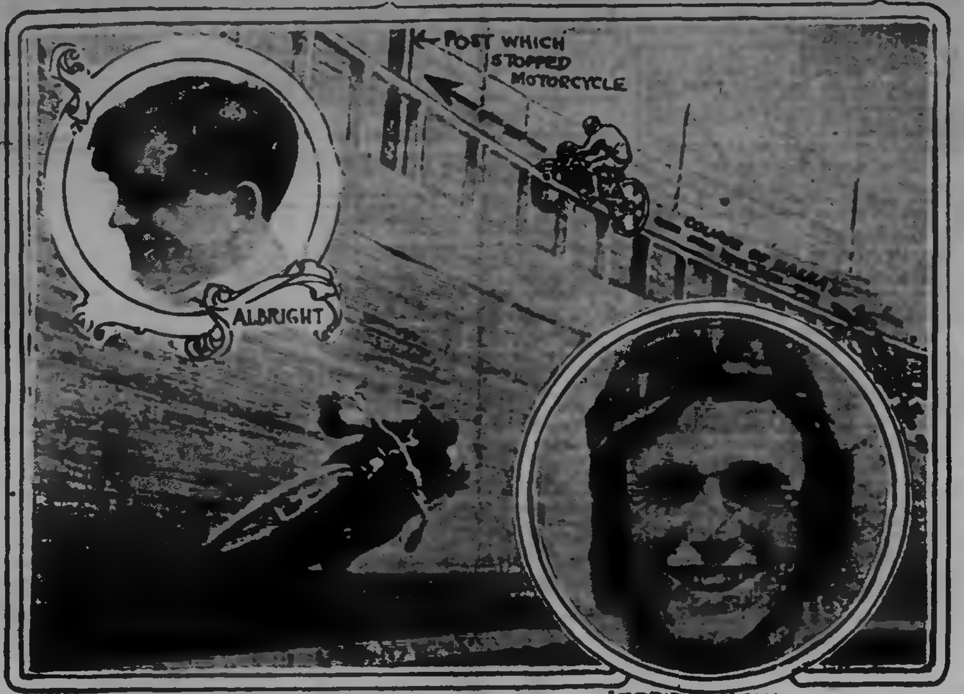
"I came to Paris a few days ago," she told the correspondent. "Before that I had been staying on the French coast, I prefer not to say where, but I could see old England on clear days. I received visits from my mother constantly, and kept in close touch with the suffrage movement, sending unsigned weekly letters to our paper. I now intend staying quietly here and will continue my work. I do not expect to take part in the French feminist movement, but have not any definite plans.

"I have made a careful investigation before announcing my whereabouts and find the British Government cannot touch me here, as the offence with which I am charged is not one for which I can be extradited. Anyway, England, who has shielded so many political refugees, would be in an absurd position if she interfered with France's right to do the same.

"The 'Votes for Women' movement," Miss Pankhurst went on to say, "was never in a more flourishing condition. It seemed to have been born again since the great manifestation in March. The women are joining in great numbers and are volunteering for any kind of service. We shall continue our present methods until we compel the Government to introduce a bill granting us the suffrage.

"The situation is serious," concluded Miss Pankhurst, "for the women will never surrender. The only solution is to give us the vote. Whatever happens, however, we shall fight till our cause is won. We are all thriving on it; it is invigorating our women and keeping them strong and healthy. My mother was a very ill woman until recently, but now she is in perfect health."

DRIVERS WHO WERE KILLED IN MOTORCYCLE ACCIDENT AT NEWARK



This picture shows the Vailsburg Stadium Motordrome, Newark, N. J., and how "Eddie" Hasha, the national champion motorcyclist, in losing control of his machine while going at terrific speed, crashed into the bleachers. Six persons were killed, including Hasha and the famous rider, John Albright, who was one of the entrants. Twenty-one were injured. The race was a four mile free-for-all and included the greatest riders of the country.

AT YESTERDAY'S RACES THE 2.30 CLASS DEVELOPES A SURPRISE

Immense Throngs Of City People Supply The Lack Of The Farming Community, Detained by Crop Conditions, In Making a Record Attendance At Local Fair

Once more the weather man was friendly disposed towards the local Fair. Yesterday's weather was as good as though made to order by the directors. During the morning, people began to trickle down, afoot, by street cars and buggies, whilst the moneyed people used their automobiles. At an early hour the concessionaries turned out of their respective tents with twisted hair and shoeless feet. After preliminary yawns and stretches, hasty toilets were made. Then their signs were stretched displaying the various inducements offered either behind canvas walls or in the open air. Belated owners of concessions were kept busy getting their frame work and canvas up. As the hours wore by, louder and louder grew the cries of "ring a cane and it's yours, 5 rings for a nickle and 10 for a dime," "get your photograph taken on a button, and give it to your girl. If you haven't got a girl, get one!" and similar expression calculated to coax the elusive five and ten cent pieces from closely shut pockets. The main floor of the building looked somewhat bare. Whilst such stalls as were occupied contained high class exhibits, the big space to the north west was vacant, except for one lonely separator.

Live Stock

The live stock attracted, and very naturally, much attention. The cattle, sheep and horse exhibit surpassing all previous shows here. Every horse stall in the grounds was occupied and some splendid animals were to be seen and admired.

Bee Demonstration.

An interesting feature of the Fair were the bees. A representation of the Guelph Agricultural College Apiary department was present and gave hourly demonstrations in the handling of these busy little workers. Within an enclosed wire frame of netting was a hive of Italian bees. The demonstrator, in conversation with The Times, noted that the object of the exhibit was not so much to encourage general bee raising as to interest an intelligent class of possible aparians. He described how the "foul" disease had ravaged the hives of some counties of Ontario. This is species of bacteria that is caught by bees from diseased honey. People using honey should scald or destroy empty honey receptacles. When asked by the Times whether a bee in naturally vicious and prone to sting, replied "No." Its just like this: If I hit you, you will naturally hit back!" When a bee has thrust his sting into a human or other being, it dies. He told how the "queen" bee is defended by the working bees and is often smothered by their kindly meant attempts to surround her for protection. The "queen" the mother of all offspring of her hive, after a shortlived honeymoon on the wing, with some favored "drone," reproduces her kind indefinitely; when her powers of egg laying begin to show symptoms of failing or weakening she is forcibly ejected by the expert aparian and replaced by a younger queen. A great principle of successful bee raising is to prevent "swarming." This is done by careful watchfulness and taking precautions in time.

USE SUN'S RAYS FOR POWER AND TO TRANSFORM DESERT

Italian Scientist Thinks a Chemical Process Would Succeed—Industrial Colonies in the Tropics Without Smoke or Smokestacks

New York, Sept. 14.—The possibility of using the energy of the sun as a substitute for the failing coal supply was the subject of an address by Prof. Giacoma Cinmician, of Bolongo, Italy, at the concluding session of one of the sections of the International Chemists' Congress here. The speaker said that since the earth's supply of coal is limited, it is not too soon to consider the possibilities of getting power from other sources.

He outlined a plan of putting the sun's rays to work by a chemical process after the manner of plants. In conclusion he said:

"If we should become able to utilize the energy of the sun in the way I have described, the tropical countries would become conquered by civilization, which would in this manner return to its birthplace.

"On the arid lands there will spring up industrial colonies without smoke and without smokestacks; forests of glass tubes will arise everywhere; inside these will take place the photochemical processes that have hitherto been the guarded secret of the plants, but that will have been mastered by human industry, which will know how to make them bear even more abundant fruit than nature; for nature is not in a hurry and mankind is."

DEAD EMPEROR BORNE SILENTLY ALONG CITY'S CROWDED STREETS

Tokio, Sept. 13.—The second part of the ceremonies in connection with the funeral of the late Emperor of Japan, Mutsuhito, took place tonight when the casket containing the body of the late ruler started on its journey to Aoyama, whence it will be taken to Monoyama for final burial.

Imposing as had been the ceremonial attended by the great dignitaries in the palace earlier in the day when the funeral service serving to emphasize the contrast between the ancient Shinto Rites and the twentieth century militarism was conducted the passage of the funeral car through the streets of the capital tonight was even more impressive.

People Show Sorrow

It afforded the populace of the capital an opportunity to display sorrow at the nation's bereavement, and hundreds of thousands stood for hours in absolute silence along the route as the coffin passed on the first stage of its journey towards its last resting place.

The streets and boulevards were brilliantly lighted by torches and arc lights on both sides of the road. Intersecting the torches and electric lamps were placed large sacred trees and at frequent intervals black and white cloth-covered poles, surmounted by wreaths of evergreens had been erected.

A COVENANT

(Star.)

The men and women of Ulster have pledged themselves not to submit to Home Rule. They have declared that they will not live under or obey a Dublin Legislature dominated by clerical authority and conceivably responsive to foreign influences hostile to Great Britain. They have condemned a measure which empowers Ireland to erect a hostile tariff against the larger British island, and which, once in operation, would spell disruption in the British Empire at its very heart. These North of Ireland men hold their religion, their liberty and the Empire dear. Therefore they have the sympathy of Scotch-Canadian Liberals and Conservtives, whose ancestors long ago entered into a Solemn League and Covenant in defence of their freedom, using the tombstones in Greyfriars churchyard at Edinburgh, as tables for the agreement to which they affixed their signatures. It is into a similar covenant that the people of Ulster are now entering, and they deserve the support of free men everywhere.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 45 Cecil street, Toronto D-6 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 75c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives brightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. Ontario Beavers Valuable.

The recent sale of furs at the Parliament Buildings realised $3,254.65 for the province. The pelts are taken from animals trapped in Algonquin Park under the direction of the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. There were 480 beaver skins, which were caught under special order, and realised $4,080.50, 89 mink, 5 fisher, 11 marten, 71 muskrat, 13 otter, 9 ermine. In addition, twenty-three pounds of castoreum were sold. This is a secretion found in the beaver, and is used in making perfumes and for medicinal purposes. The bidding was keen, and buyers came all the way from New York.

The revenues of Algonquin Park have also been augmented during the past year by the sale of live beavers to several zoological societies. Animals have been shipped to London, England, and other cities.

Mansfield's Coaching.

"Richard Mansfield," said an actress who played in his company, "was a great teacher, but terribly relentless. I shall never forget a time when I was playing with him in 'The First Violin.' I could not, strive frantically as I would, do the thing he wanted. He was gentle at first, and then, persisting in my failure, he began to lash and whip and sting me with his words until I thought I should have to run away. In agony of impotent desperation I cried out:

"'I cannot! Oh, I cannot!'

"Mr. Mansfield threw up his hands in a gesture of relief, and a smile played about his lips.

"'Why,' he said sweetly, 'you're doing the very thing right now. No one on earth could do it better.' And then I knew what he meant, and those lines were a triumph to me all that season."—Detroit Free Press.

An Apt Pupil.

A professor who when asked a question was in the habit of saying, "That is a very good point indeed; look it up for yourself," was once much disgusted with a student who had failed to answer a very simple question. "Mr. Jones," said he, "I'm surprised that you, who are going to teach, cannot answer such an elementary question. Why, what would you do if one of your pupils were to ask it?" "Well, professor," replied the other, "if such a thing had happened before I came here I'm afraid I would have said plainly that I didn't know, but now I think I'd do just as you do and say, Look it up, my boy; look it up!"

Schliemann's Luck.

It is told of Schliemann, the exhumer of buried cities of the ancient world, that he was pursued by ill-luck in his earlier undertakings. Mentioning the fact to a friend, the latter asked him which leg and arm he first inserted in trousers and coat. Schliemann said he habitually inserted his right. "That is the cause of your misfortunes," said his friend. "You have offended the left hand fairies, and they take out their vengeance on you. Reverse your habit and see." "And," said Schliemann in telling the incidents in his later and prosperous years, "you see how it changed my luck."

A Clear Case.

"You claim that the wheel of the defendant's car passed over your stomach," said the defendant's attorney to the plaintiff on the stand. "Yet here is your open-faced watch, which you testify to having carried in your vest pocket at the time, and the crystal isn't even cracked. How do you account for that?"

"Why," said the plaintiff, "the car was going so fast there wasn't time for the crystal to break, sir."

Expectations.

"I gave her a plush album on her wedding anniversary. It was one I had about the house for some time, but it looked like new."

"Well?"

"Now she has found that I have an anniversary soon."

"Well, no doubt you expect her to reciprocate."

"Reciprocate is not the word. I'm afraid she will retaliate."

Explained.

Mistress (on the second day to new cook)—Kathi, just be so good as to lend me 5 marks.

Cook (aside)—Ha, ha! That's why she said yesterday the cook in her house was treated as one of the family.

Walter's Composition.

Little Walter was told to write a composition containing the word "seldom." This is what he handed up to the teacher:

"My father owned some horses, but last week he seldom."

Hard Work.

"Plodder is looking pale. He's just killing himself with hard work."

"What's he engaged at?"

"Inventing a labor saving machine."

V. C. Man In Workhouse.

There is at present in the infirmary of the Cambridge (Eng.) workhouse an ex-noncommissioned officer of the army who holds the Victoria Cross, and is a member of a family of soldiers, three brothers, two sons, and eight nephews either serving or having served in various branches of the army.

The man is James Collis, who was born in Cambridge in 1851, and enlisted in the 46th Foot in 1872. He was transferred to the R.H.A., and went out to India, where he arrived just before the war broke out with Afghanistan. Collis went to the front with Major Blackwood and E Battery of B Brigade of the R.H.A., and was present at the disaster at Maiwand, when the British force was almost annihilated by Ayub Khan.

Collis, who was then a gunner, loaded sick and wounded on his gun and made for the British base, which he reached after great difficulties. He was nearly cut off on the way, and to save his charges unlimbered his gun, under fire of which the wounded were removed on the limber. He was relieved by a troop of Bombay cavalry, under Gen. Nuttall, who complimented him upon his bravery.

Shortly afterwards he made a daring trip with despatches.

Twelve months later, at a parade on the Poonah racecourse, Collis had his name called out and had the Victoria Cross pinned on his coat by Lord Roberts (then Gen. Roberts).

Collis afterwards joined the Bombay police in which he became an inspector, and experienced various adventures. He returned to England, where his health gave way, and he finally decided to make for his native place, whose workhouse infirmary now shelters him.

Two Handles.

Everything has two handles—the one soft and manageable, the other such as will not endure to be touched. If, then, your brother do you an injury, do not take it by the hot hard handle, by representing to yourself all the aggravating circumstances of the fact, but look rather on the soft side and extenuate it as much as is possible by considering the nearness of the relation and the long friendship and familiarity between you—obligations to kindness which a single provocation ought not to dissolve. And thus you will take the accident by its manageable handle.—Epictetus.

Exceptions.

Hardy—She may be well educated, as you say, but she uses very singular expressions.

Tardy—She does?

Hardy—Yes. Yesterday, for instance, she spoke of a musical concert.

Tardy—Wasn't that correct?

Hardy—Certainly not. It wasn't necessary to say "musical" in speaking of a concert. A concert must be musical.

Tardy—Must, eh? Well, I've been to some that were not.

Taxing His Resources.

Old Jones—Can you give my daughter the luxuries to which she has been accustomed? Cholly (engaged) Not much longer. That's why I must get married.—Chicago News.

Bachelor Parsons.

The young unmarried minister is the most carefully watched bachelor of them all. He has to guard his every move, or some one will start a story that he has at last fallen in love, or is engaged to marry some girl or other. He is also the victim of his friends' practical jokes, and sometimes he is his own victim. Last Sunday morning Rev. W. A. Cameron of Bloor Street Baptist Church was responsible for a laugh on himself when he announced hymn No. 44 in the Baptist hymnal, and began to read it to the congregation. He got as far as the middle of the third verse, when he suddenly stopped, his face went crimson, and with more than usual vehemence he again announced "Hymn 44," while the whole audience smiled. The verse at which he balked reads thus:

"For the protected gift of life,
For reason; for home's sheltering bower,
For the strong love of child and wife,
We praise Thy power."

Two Recipes.

For a Wedding—To one summer's night add two young persons, a beach and a little propinquity. Mix in one lock of wavy hair, an atom of delicate perfume and stir with a slight breeze. Sprinkle the whole with moonlight and let alone for the evening.

For Happy Wedded Life.—To one woman add numerous kisses, each supplemented with "Yes, dear; I love you more than ever." Mix thoroughly with long pleased expressions at sight of new gowns and hats, and season with many remarks about "youthful appearance." Sprinkle liberally with checks and bonbons (courtship brand). Do not stir up.

A Canadian Invention.

A most original and valuable invention, which will benefit the children of the elementary and secondary education classes, was demonstrated at the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada at a recent meeting.

The invention consists of three globes, representing the sun, earth and moon so mounted and mechanically fixed that by simply turning a handle not only the correct motions of the heavenly bodies are automatically produced, but what is the most striking feature of all, the phenomena resulting therefrom are most beautifully represented. For instance, the observer actually sees the correct position of the sun at any time of the year, the sun or moon partially or totally eclipsed day or night, changes in the length of day or night at all places on the earth's surface, the phases of the moon and all the other related phenomena.

The simplicity of this instrument, its completeness, and its effectiveness may be realised when it is seen that all these motions and phenomena are brought about by the simple method of turning a handle.

Numerous attempts have been made by inventors to perfect an instrument simple and automatic for the teaching of astronomical, mathematical and physical geography in schools and colleges and the demonstration proves that a Canadian in Mr. Park of Brantford has at last succeeded where others have failed.

Must Build Bigger Sheds.

The increase of freight traffic on the Canadian Pacific Railway at Fort William has made expansion necessary, and work is now progressing rapidly on the huge new freight shed, situated on the Kaministiqua River. This great freight shed, the dimensions of which are 1,000 feet by 80 feet, will be the finest of its kind on the Canadian side of the Great Lakes. The building is a two-storey one, with all the most modern and up-to-date conveniences. Boats docking alongside will be loaded, or unloaded as the case may be, by machinery. Package freight will invariably be consigned to this new shed, which, it is expected, will be in readiness soon.

THE FORUM

The straw hat still lingers. But there's a good excuse for some of us who just returned from our vacation.

The oyster season is already fourteen days old, and not a single Lindsay man has found a pearl in his stew.

Having delved into the "Darkest Africa" of Woodrow Wilson's past, political opponents have discovered he once sang in a glee club. It's time to hedge bets.

Toronto auctioned off its left-over Exhibition butter and cheese at low prices. It would be interesting to know how much the ultimate consumer of the left-over benefitted.

"A million attendance at the Exhibition, we want," cried Toronto. We're not so greedy in this city. Half a million would be quite a number to attend the Fair in this town where wagons and carts wheel promiscuously on the wrong side of the street.

China borrowed fifty million dollars in London and Toronto couldn't raise a million loan in the same mart. This fact ought to be capital for any old political party. Or is it just because the Britishers are suspicious of the Queen City's sobriquet, "Toronto, The Good"? K

Peterborough may not be everything that some cities are, but it can boast of being different from some cities—for in the matter of paved streets. And, too, there are some critics unkind enough to hint that Peterborough is indifferent even in this regard.

While other cities are boosting with just pride of their miles and miles of paved streets, Peterborough is content to be a good listener until the poles are removed. Experts say it is inadvisabe to pave till they are removed. These wise-acres qualify as experts by rubbing the fur the right way, apparently.

THE SCHOOL PARADOX.

Montreal is shy school accommodation for 900 children, and Toronto needs 164 more rooms for its pupils. Still both of these cities continue to prosecute parents whose children don't attend school, whose classes are required to congregate in sheds and basements. The sums wasted in trite civic addresses in Canada this year alone would build several school houses and afford decent salaries to teachers as well.

PETERBOROUGH'S OPPORTUNITY.

"With Peterborough's excellent location—between the two largest cities in the Dominion—its unsurpassed transportation facilities, and easy access to surrounding watering places, it should become a great convention city," remarked one of the Jersey City, N. J., excursionists here the other day. "A greater hotel accommodation is all that is lacking," he continued, "to make it possible."

That the man from Jersey is correct in his estimate there is no doubt.

When the Trent Canal is formally opened it will add a great and convenient facility for reaching the Kawartha lakes and various towns along its route in addition to Peterborough. Not only the convenience, but the pleasure and novelty of such an excursion would in themselves induce organized bodies to give preference to a meeting place whose approach is an unrivalled path of scenic grandeur and recreative atmosphere.

Peterborough should make a bid as a convention city.

THE SUCCESS OF THE MOTOR SHIP

The recent voyage of the passenger and cargo ship Selandia from Copenhagen has been completed and has proved a signal success. The voyage, which covered 21,000 is the first made by a vessel mechanically propelled without the aid of steam. No difficulties were experienced, and the only readjustment of the motor required was an insignificant change of the exhaust valves which necessitated only a fifteen minute stoppage of the motive power. The fuel consumption was small as it reached but 8.5 tons of oil a day to produce an average speed of ten nautical miles per hour.

In view of the satisfactory results achieved, the Danish East Asiatic Company has placed an order for the construction of three additional mottor ships of large tonnage. The attention of the British and German Governments has been attracted to the new motive-power, Great Britain having already gone so far as to appoint a commission of experts to consider the question of introducing oil motors into the British navy.

It is true that the speed developed by these motors is not great, but just now the system us only in the experimental stage, and there is reason to believe that it will make good the claim of the chief engineer of the Selandia that there is no reason why high power motor boats should not only be possible but forthcoming in a very short time.

MANY MILLIONS OF BLACK BASS

Wonderful Results in the Line of Fish Propogation

Mr. R. H. Hawkes, who lives on the shore of Loon Lake, six miles north of Apsley, was in the city yesterday and paid The Times a friendly visit. Mr. Hawkes owns one of the finest farms in the district, consisting of 350 acres facing on Loon Lake, a body of water ten or twelve miles long by three or four wide.

Wonderful Fish Propogation.

Nine years ago there was not a black bass in the lake, when some of the settlers secured nine full grown ones, and put them in the water. In the short space of three or four years these fish increased so rapidly that there were millions of bass in the lake. On one occasion Mr. Hawkes and his son caught 160 pounds in tow hours with road and line.

No Maskinonge in Lake.

One reason why the bass increase so rapidly is on account of the absence of larger fish. There being no maskinonge in Loon Lake to devour the bass fry. This goes to show that in order to get the best results in the way of bass culture, larger fish must be excluded.

Fish Hatchery Needed.

The government should provide a fish hatchery for the lakes and rivers of the district, which would make bass and maskinonge so plentiful in a short time that it would materially cheapen the cost of living.

This is a matter in which all the members in the district are deeply interested in, and there should be little trouble in securing an appropriation from parliament for the purpose. There are dozens of lakes and streams in the northern portion of the counties of Peterborough, Victoria and Hastings, which might be developed into prolific fish preserves at small cost. Besides, the restocking of the Kawartha Lakes with fish would also mean much, not only to those who reside in the district, but to hundreds of sportsmen and tourists all over the country.

PARADISE FOR DUELISTS

Summer Not Over and 58 Recontres But No Deaths.

Paris, Sept. 14.—Since the beginning of the summer fifty-eight duels have been fought between fools of the Boni Castellane kind, as far as is ascertained by the police and the newspapers. Doubtless there have been more. On a single Sunday night three duels were fought. No deaths from duelling have been reported so far.

CROWDS FLOCK TO OFFICE FOR DICTIONARIES

Popular Approval and Quick Acceptance of Great Offer Made by The Morning Times.

Popular approval and quick acceptance of the unprecedented dictionary offer made by The Times which enables every one to obtain a standard authoritative and complete dictionary of the English language at a cost never before deemed possible, has almost swamped the dictionary offie with the demands of readers for this remarkable book.

Never before in the history of the world has an autharitative edition of the famous Webster's Dictionary been offered to the public under such remarkable circumstances. Here, in a compact volume, is offered all the information concerning word definitions, grammar, usage and literary guidance which even the most erudite scholar could demand.

The dictionary offered by The Peterborough Times for six consecutive coupons clipped from The Times and the nominal charge of handling is the most remarkable work ever placed on the market. Besides giving definitions of all the words of the language, which the average man or woman would never have occasion to look up, it includes valuable charts of statistics, regarding the commerce and productive recources of Canada, the latest Canadian census and hundreds of illustrations, many of them in the form of costly color plates, which are both interesting and instructive.

Every new word recently coined and adopted by custom has been included. For example, the word "Osterize," taken from Professor Osler, who would chloroform people at the age of forty-five, when, according to his theory, they have outlived their usefulness. Also there are aviator and stovaine and taxicab and equilibrator, all of which have recently come into use by stress of necessity.

The illustrations are the most complete, elaborate and expensive that have ever appeared in a dictionary.

An Encyclopaedia as Well.

In fact, Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary, now obtainable at such a nominal rate from the office of The Times is an encyclopedia and Almanac as well as a dictionary.

All that is asked is that you come and look at it. There is no reason to take it until you see it. But those who come to see it invariably go home to save the six consecutive coupons, which, in connection with the small expense bonus, entitles any one to a copy of the work.

T. Q. Quartermaine, Esq., Secy.,
Board of Trade, Peterborough,

THE BACHELOR'S BABY

One of the Prettiest of Modern Comedies at the Grand Last Night.

At the Grand Opera House last night, the curtain rose on a fair audience, which, however, might be characterized as exceptionally good, considering the counter attraction of the Industrial Fair's evening offering. "The Bachelor's Baby" is an entrancingly charming every-day comedy, which holds the undivided attention of its audience from start to finish. It is the prettiest of pretty stage productions, consisting of irresistible humor here and there interspersed with touching pathos hinging upon childhood's innocence. There is no plot to the play, the story comprising a father's leaving the custody of his five-year-old girl in the care of his brother, who, as her guardian, is to receive a legacy of $150,000. The guardian brother, however, is an inveterable child-hater, and this characteristic is the hub from which radiates the funniest of funny situations, to which the audience is compelled to respond. Mr. Etienne Girardot, the star of the company, as Thomas Beach, whose dislike of children is the jest and distress of his friends, is perhaps inimitable in his peculiar cast. His comedy is extremely versatile, and readily responds to the varied situations the production offers. At the same time the touches of sentiment called from him are of an extremely pathetic nature, carrying his audience with him in sympathetic attention. Baby Wilson, as Martha Calvert Beach, the five-year-old niece in question, is as natural a little actress as the stage ever saw. She holds her audience spell-bound with her baby eccentricities and her insistence that her child-hating uncle is her deceased papa. The company is extremely well-balanced and it would be unfair to specialize any individual member thereof. It is an aggregation of histrionic talent that should call for crowded houses at this afternoon's matinee and to-night. For genuine unalloyed comedy nothing is travelling on the road to discount "The Bachelor's Baby." For pure, unadulterated twentieth century comedy it is hard to conceive of anything taking precedence to Etienne Girardot's latest effort as seen at the Grand last night.

The Moon's Phases.

The phases of the moon are caused by its relative position to the earth and the sun, so that when it is full moon in one part of the earth it is full moon in all parts of the earth, and so for all its other phases. The moon revolves around the earth once in twenty-seven days, though on account of the earth's revolution around the sun the mean duration of the lunar month—that is, the time from new moon to new moon—is twenty-nine days, twelve [illegible] forty-four minutes. The "[illegible] of the moon" is that half of [illegible] month during which the [illegible] least at night.

MORTGAGES ON LAND.

Why It Is Essential That They Should Be Recorded.

As the value of land to the owner increases so does the security of mortgage investments given on that land increase. A mortgage may be considered as a deed of the land which revests the title in the original owner or his successor on the paying off of the mortgage or the bond or note which the mortgage secures.

Mortgages are recorded in public offices, called registers, recorders or county clerks' offices, in much the same way that deeds are, so that any one buying the land is bound to take notice of them, and the land is bound by them, no matter to whom the land is conveyed, and no one has a right to say that he bought the land not knowing that a mortgage was on it, for he is presumed by law to know such facts, as a search of the title in these public offices would reveal.

If, however, the holder of the mortgage does not cause the mortgage to be recorded then any innocent purchaser of the land can take it clear of the lien of the mortgage.

In no particular has the law of this country gone further than in the effort to secure the title of the landowner and the security of the mortgage holder, and no investments are more highly regarded by the conservative business men than those founded on the imperishable surface of the earth.—Christian Herald.

UMBRELLA HANDLES.

In France They Shape Them as They Grow In Nurseries.

Most of the handles of canes, alpenstocks, parasols and umbrellas used in France are grown in nurseries. Ash, maple, oak, chestnut and other woods are used. In the early part of the first year after planting the young trees are cut near the ground to bring about the formation of numerous sprouts. The lower branches are removed, and only a plume of leaves is left.

Early in the spring the sprouts are subjected to a surgical operation. Their bark is cut, and the wood is carved in different designs, which are swollen by the sap and grow in high relief as the tree develops. Special instruments are used for the cutting and designing. Thus carved, the sprouts grow for three years.

At the end of the third year the forest of umbrella handles is cut, and the cuts are dried in the sun and then given a vapor bath, after which they are put into the hands of skilled workmen, who peel them with one quick movement.

When skinned the peelers cut them to the required lengths and send them to the umbrella maker, who varnishes them. If the shape desired is a ring or other open form a ring or oval or square is grafted to the natural stalk, bound closely, and left to grow into place.—Harper's.

Extra Buttons.

"It takes stout people to break all rules regulating the number of buttons on a coat or waistcoat," said the tailor. "They can't follow the fashion; their size won't let them.

"'Three buttons on a coat this year,' tailors' conventions may decree, or two or four or five, or whatever number they think proper, but the man with a figure that is constantly trying to escape its environment does not care about conventions. What he wants is buttons enough to keep his clothes in shape.

"'Put 'em closer together,' he says, 'so the strain won't all come on two or three buttons.'

"So we put them closer together, and the result is that stout people frequently have twice as many buttons on their clothes as fashion calls for."—New York Times.

An Able Manager.

A western senator was telling a story about an able campaign manager.

"He is a remarkably economical chap," said the senator. "He can make a dollar go further in a campaign than any man I know. They tell a story about him—a story that shows what a manager he is. It seems he went into a cigar store one day to get a light. Well, as he was lighting up a man entered and bought three five-cent cigars. As soon as the man left our friend said quickly:

"'Those cigars are six for a quarter, ain't they?'

"'Yes, sir,' said the salesman.

"Our friend laid down a dime.

"'Gimme,' he said, 'the other three then.'"—New York Tribune.

A Ghost Story.

A London daily tells a short modern ghost story. A man was traveling on a northbound train out of London. Opposite him was a silent stranger, his only companion. Between London and Derby no word passed. Then, as the train drew out of Derby, he said pleasantly, "Good line, this, sir, eh?" The stranger replied: "I think it's a beastly bad line. I was killed on it two years ago."

He Shouldn't.

A man with a donkey for sale, hearing that a friend wanted to buy one, sent him the following, written on a postal card:

"Dear Jack, if you are looking for a really good donkey, please don't forget me."—Exchange.

Monocles for Ladies.

Although not quite a new fashion, monocles for ladies have never been quite so popular as they are to-day. During a walk down Bond Street, London, one invariably sees several ladies wearing the monocle quite naturally and without any of that facial contortion which men often affect.

Ladies' monocles are usually gold-rimmed, although sometimes the plain glass is worn. In view of the fact that spats, walking sticks, cigarettes and monocles are now items of fashionable feminine attire, people are asking, What next?

FINDING A PAWN TICKET.

Sometimes It May Be Just Walking Into a Trap.

"While walking through one of the prominent streets the other day," said an innocent looking individual, "I espied an important looking piece of paper on the sidewalk and, picking it up, found it to be a pawn ticket for a diamond scarfpin which some careless person had apparently dropped.

"According to the ticket, the pin had been pledged several weeks before for $15. 'How am I to find the owner?' thought I. 'Shall I take it to the pawnbroker? Perhaps if I do the owner will never see it anyway. The pin must surely be a good one and doubtless worth three times the amount for which it was pledged. Why not appropriate it to my own use?'

"The name on the ticket was Brown, and my conscience was relieved when I found several hundred of that name in the directory. I soon made up my mind and started for the broker's office. I asked to see the pin before redeeming it, stating that I had bought the ticket, and upon the payment of 25 cents was allowed to examine it.

"It looked all right to me, although I am not a qualified judge of diamonds, so I paid the principal of $15 and the interest of $1.80 and the pin became mine.

"The next day I showed it to an expert, who declared it to be worth far less than the amount I had paid for it.

"'It is a trick of some people,' he said, 'to defraud unwary persons like yourself. The scheme consists of issuing tickets for spurious pieces of jewelry for amounts many times in excess of their value and dropping them on the sidewalk in different parts of town where unsuspecting persons might find them and redeem them, as you did, thus yielding a handsome profit to the perpetrators.'"—Philadelphia Record.

AN HOUR'S WALK.

You Would Hardly Think It Meant Traveling 86,253 Miles.

Have you ever thought of the distance you travel when you are out on an hour's stroll? Possibly you walk three miles within the hour, but that does not by any means represent the distance you travel. The earth turns on its axis every twenty-four hours. For the sake of round figures, we will call the earth's circumference 24,000 miles, and so you must have traveled during the hour's stroll 1,000 miles in the axial turn of the earth.

But this is not all. The earth makes a journey around the sun every year, and a long but rapid trip it is. The distance of our planet from the sun we will put at 92,000,000 miles. This is the radius of the earth's orbit—half the diameter of the circle, as we call it. The whole diameter is therefore 184,000,000 miles, and the circumference, being the diameter multiplied by 3.1416, is about 578,000,000.

This amazing distance the earth travels in its yearly journey, and dividing it by 365 we find the daily speed about 1,586,000. Then we get the distance you rode around the sun during your hour's walk, divide again by twenty-four, and the result is about 66,000 miles. But this is not the end of your hour's trip. The sun, with its entire brood of planets, is moving in space at the rate of 160,000,000 miles in a year. That is at the rate of a little more than 438,000 miles a day, or 18,250 miles an hour.

So, adding your three miles of leg travel to the hour's axial movement of the earth, this to the earth's orbital journey and that again to the earth's excursion with the sun, and you find you have traveled in the hour 85,253 miles.

Eccentric Tides.

Owing to the effects of shore lines and other influences which are more or less obscure it is very difficult to account for the peculiarities exhibited by tidal waves in various parts of the world.

Interfering waves cause once a day tides at Tahiti and in some other places, while on the other hand in the harbors back of the Isle of Wight and in the Tay in Scotland there are three tides in a day. The latter have been ascribed to overtides, produced by the modification of tidal waves running ashore and resembling the overtones of musical sounds.—New York Sun.

Made the Sea Run.

"Ah, yes," murmured Miss Screecher after the first selection at the musicale, "I have had some exciting experiences. Coming over here from London a terrible storm arose, and I had to sing to quiet the immigrants. You should have seen the heavy sea running!"

And the big, rude man in the pink necktie gazed out of the window.

"I don't blame the sea," he muttered.

Vulcan.

Vulcan, the god of ancient blacksmiths and metal workers, was lame in consequence of a pretty hard fall he had in his early days. Jupiter and Juno had a row, and Vulcan sided with his mother against the old gentleman, who promptly kicked him out of heaven. He fell for a whole day and lighted on the island of Lemnos, broke his leg and received as severe a shaking up as though he had tumbled down an elevator shaft. Aesculapius set his leg, but, having only just received a diploma, did a poor job, and for a long time Vulcan went on a crutch.

A MUSICIAN'S ROMANCE.

Fanelli's Triumph, That Came After Thirty Years of Misery.

The life story of M. Fanelli, the composer of "Tableaux Symphoniques," reads like a romance. How easily it might have read like a tragedy this incident will show.

In his youth Fanelli had been courageous and ambitious, full of dreams of the music he was going to write for the world to hear and admire. But misfortune followed misfortune. He found it impossible to get a hearing for his compositions, and one by one his dreams began to fade.

Ten, twenty, thirty years went by. Fanelli, all hope crushed by continued adversity, was earning a pittance by playing night after night in an orchestra. None of his colleagues suspected his genius, for he kept his ambitions locked in his heart, as he kept the symphony, the masterpiece of his youth, locked in his desk.

Then one day Fanelli, in search of work as a copyist, called upon Gabriel Pierne, one of the great musical celebrities of Paris. Asked to show a sample of his writing, Fanelli produced the symphony, which he had brought with him. Pierne looked at it and saw that the writing was clear; then he saw something more, for he continued reading the music eagerly.

"Who is this Fanelli?" he asked at length.

"Myself," answered the composer. "I wrote it nearly thirty years ago."

"Leave this with me and come again in a few days."

So Fanelli went out, while Pierne, too enrapt to say goodby, stood by the window, poring over the music. A few days later he announced to the delighted but dazed Fanelli that he was going to produce the symphony at one of the Concerts Colonne.

On the eventful night Fanelli himself took a seat with the musicians. Tears came into his eyes as he heard the first strains of his work, neglected for so many years. He was not alone in his emotion, however, for as the music proceeded tears came into the eyes of the other musicians, the director, the audience. The music took them by storm. When it was over a burst of applause broke out, rose and swelled and would not die away. The composer alone sat quiet, as if in deep thought. Finally he got up, walked over to Pierne, and with a full heart expressed his gratitude.

"Again I thank you, M. Pierne," he said, taking his leave, "Good night, and a good appetite to you."

Pierne wondered at this strange farewell, but at last the meaning dawned on him. The applause that was still ringing through the hall had brought to Fanelli not only fame, but what for the moment was of even more importance to him, the promise of easier living. The composer of "Tableaux Symphoniques" had left the scene of his triumph to enjoy a much needed and rare treat—a good dinner.—Youth's Companion.

Self Conscious Greatness.

One day in the train—on one of Victor Hugo's journeys to or from Brussels—he happened to find himself in the company of two English ladies who spoke French. Hugo knew but one word of English—Christmas, which he always pronounced "Christmus." In the course of conversation these ladies observed that it must be inconvenient for him not to know English when he was passing through that country. To which the great man's reply was, "When England wants to talk with me she will learn my language!" "From their astonishment at this answer," said Hugo in relating the story, "it was evident they did not know who I was!"—"Victor Hugo, His Life and Work," by A. F. Davidson.

TURPIN'S PISTOL.

Finding of Relic Recalls Story of Highwayman Hero.

A despatch from London the other day conveyed the information that Dick Turpin's pistol had been found—the same presumably with which the famous highwayman shot his friend, that equally notorious highwayman, Tom King. It is a double flintlock horse "stick," and it bears the inscription:

"Presented to Dick Turpin at the White Bear Inn, Drury Lane, February 7, 1736."

In common with many another robber Turpin was something of a hero in his day. The highwaymen of the time appealed to the popular imagination.

Among the accounts of Turpin's activities none is better known than that found in Harrison Ainsworth's "Rookwood." It is partly true and partly legendary. It mentions many of the famous gentry of the road by name, and one can imagine Dick Turpin and Tom King roaring out alternate verses at the White Bear Inn or that hostelry in Kilburn which the gang affected—singing it, perhaps, on the very night on which Turpin killed King and started off on his wild gallop of a hundred miles from London to York. "High toby" is the name by which the game of stand and deliver was familiarly known to its steady practitioners, and here are a few stanzas of the "Chapter of Highwaymen":

Of every rascal of every kind
The most notorious to my mind
Was the cavalier captain, gay Jemmy Hind!
Which nobody can deny.

James Hind, known as the "prince of prigs," was a royalist captain of some distinction who was hanged, drawn and quartered in 1688. It was said that Oliver Cromwell was among the many whom he had robbed.

But the pleasantest coxcomb among them all
For lute, corranto and madrigal
Was the galliard Frenchman Claude
Du Val!
Which nobody can deny.

Du Val was a gentleman highwayman who made life miserable for travelers going to and from London.

And Tobyglook never a coach could rob,
Could lighten a pocket or empty a fob
With a neater hand than Old Mob,
Old Mob!
Which nobody can deny.

"Old Mob" was Thomas Simpson, who was not particularly scrupulous as to his method of appropriation. He told a widow whom he robbed that "the end of a woman's husband begins in tears, but the end of her tears is another husband."

FRANCIS WILSON'S FAMOUS PLAY COMING TO THE GRAND

Those who desire to enjoy a hearty laugh are promised an opportunity to indulge therein by witnessing the presentation at the Grand Opera House on Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, September 13 and 14, of Francis Wilson's New York comedy success, "The Bachelor's Baby," wherein Etienne Girardot and a cast of English players will enact the several roles. The piece is said to contain an exceedingly humane story in which the comedy element predominates, but little sharp tugs at the heart every now and then bring forth the humane interest. The story of the play tells of a child-hating bachelor, being suddenly made the guardian of an orphan youngster, and furthermore tells of how that little one twines itself around this child-hating bachelor's heart and eventually through artlessness brings together a loving couple. The staging promises to be on a most elaborate scale and the various sartorial appointments of the several ladies and gentlemen in the company will be elab-

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S
PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF
ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionised the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

SUFFRAGETTES WILL COURT DEPORTATION

London, Sept. 13.—"The suggestion in a dispatch from Ottawa that the immigration authorities may deny her admission to Canada as a militant suffragette is not worrying Miss Barbara Wylie in the least," said Miss Annie Kennedy of the Women's Social and Political Union to-day. "She will sail Sept. 20 as planned." Whether militant tactics will characterize the votes for women campaign in Canada will depend on the women of Canada themselves.

Bluejacket's Black Neckerchief.

It is not generally known that the bluejacket's black neckerchief, a survival of the service mourning for Nelson, is the best British silk obtainable and that the admiralty is a very fastidious customer. Two to each man are issued annually, and many thousands of these discarded scarfs have been subsequently worn by Jack's feminity. A pair of them make an excellent blouse.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Moon's Phases.

The phases of the moon are caused by its relative position to the earth and the sun, so that when it is full moon in one part of the earth it is full moon in all parts of the earth, and so for all its other phases. The moon revolves around the earth once in twenty-seven days, though on account of the earth's revolution around the sun the mean duration of the lunar month—that is, the time from new moon to new moon—is twenty-nine days, twelve hours and forty-four minutes. The "dark of the moon" is that half of the lunar month during which the moon shines least at night.

Cutting a Hailstorm.

During a severe hailstorm in the Himalayas our native gardener brought out a hatchet and placed it edge upward in the garden to "cut the storm," as he said. Catlin in his "North American Indians" describes a ceremony of the Mandan Indians in which hatchets and edged tools are sacrificed to the "spirits of the waters" to avert a recurrence of the great deluge, of which the tribe has the tradition.—London Notes and Queries.

MAGIC WATER TOYS.

Wonderful Play Toys That Amuse the Children of the Orient.

Europe and America turn out for the edification of their children many ingenious toys, but the occidental youngsters have nothing to compare with the strange expanding water toys with which the children of the far east have for centuries amused themselves.

These are placed in small wooden boxes similar to the little paint boxes so often seen in our own country. They have the appearance of soiled shavings, broken matches and dilapidated toothpicks, but when thrown into the water the ingenious toys at once exhibit properties that show them to be considerably more than mere bits of stick.

The wood of these toys has been kiln dried, and immediately it touches the water it begins to absorb the water and to expand almost indefinitely. As it increases in size it separates and suddenly opens, becoming a very pretty toy. One stick will change into a flowerpot containing, it may be, a rose bush in full bloom. Another becomes an obese mandarin carrying an umbrella. Still another will take the form of a sea serpent, very ferocious in its tiny dimensions.

Then, too, there are toys which show as whales, tigers, crocodiles, etc. The figures are colored and present a bewildering variety in design and treatment. Their manufacture is a trade secret, kept inviolate by the guild that turns them out by the thousands.

For older children there are provided larger and even more artistic figures, consisting of historical characters—rulers, poets and soldiers—and dwarfed trees and tiny houses, whose doors and windows are full of inmates, are also among this class. The more ordinary kind cost a mere song, but the finer toys are quite expensive.—New York Press

A Partnership.

"My father and I know everything in the world," said a small boy to his companion.

"All right," said the latter. "Where's Asia?"

It was a stiff question, but the little fellow answered coolly, "That is one of the questions my father knows."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Named For His Satanic Majesty.

It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that hardly a county in the British isles is without some place or thing with the designation Devil, all of which prompts the thought that his Satanic majesty must be a holder of a considerable amount of property on this terrestrial globe. The Devil's Punch Bowl, the Devil's Bellows, the Devil's Kitchen, the Devil's Beef Tub, the Devil's Frying Pan, the Devil's Lake, the Devil's Dike, the Devil's Caldron, are a few instances which occur at random scattered about in various parts of the country.—Dundee Advertiser

TORONTO MAN FINED $3,600 FOR TAKING WAGERS ON HORSE RACES

Toronto, Sept. 12.—To the charge of keeping a common gaming house at 165 King street west, Abraham Orpen and Izzy Wilks pleaded guilty before Magistrate Denison this morning and were each fined $1,000, or thirty days in jail.

John Hare and Benjamin Greenberg, also pleaded guilty to a similar offense and were each fined $800 or thirty days.

It was a telegram from New York placing $400 on a horse at Fort Erie that started the police.

"Is it true," asked the Magistrate "that they had nothing to do with the bank clerks now waiting trial?"

"They took no bets from these two bank clerks. All their bets came from outside," said Mr. Corley.

"I will fine you each $1,000 or 30 days in jail, and remember, if such a case should ever come up again, it will be imprisonment without a fine," said the Magistrate.

FREE OF FEAR WHEN FALLING

Great Aeronaut Describes Remarkable Sensation

Rome, Sept. 14.—Adone Rosari, a newspaper man, who fell out of an aeroplane four times, yet lives to tell his story, pronounces dying to be a rather pleasant occupation.

He describes his last escape from death as follows. "At a height of about a thousand feet, it seemed to me that the territory over which we were flying was rising up to the airship. There was a great wind from below, and it occurred to me that it meant death to us.

"We are going to break our necks, I thought, and I wondered whether a miracle would happen to allow me to escape once more. But I wasn't afraid a bit. Die or not die didn't excite me at all. I looked to the right and to the left as if expecting help from some one. My ears anticipated the noise of the airship thundering down upon the ground. Our machine was falling sideways. I saw the pilot working like mad to prevent the catastrophe. I kept to the cabin and I heard every one of my heartbeats. I saw the pilot knock his head against the woodwork. He seemed to have lost his reason.

"'Goodbye, life,' I said over and over again. Suddenly the machine smashed the ground with a terrible noise. I felt as if some giant hand was clutching my neck from behind and pushing me upon the body of my companion, who was prone on the ground.

"But I was unconscious only for a few seconds. Presently I awoke, and the wish to live became very strong once more. I worked hard to get rid of the cables and other wreckage lying on top of me. My companion seemed dead. His face was running with blood. I called to him. I grabbed him by the arms. I begged him not to die.

"And then there was a great mob of people running towards us. They seemed to be greatly excited. They shouted to us. An ambulance came galloping in the distance.

"The people helped us. We were soon rid of the wreckage.

"The physician pronounced Narra, the pilot, not dead, only wounded.

"Then for the first time I realized that I wasn't dead myself. My wounds will soon be healed and I will go courting death again."

TAFT TO FORCE FIGHT IN WEST

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 14.—An aggressive campaign for the re-election of President Taft will be launched in the West this week by the Republican National Committee coincident with the opening speeches in Michigan, Colorado and Oregon.

Following the rallying cry in each instance will come a thorough organization of every State under the Jurisdiction of the Westerm headquarters, including California, South Dakota and Kansas, where the third term forces retain control of the Republican party. The ground work of organization has already been laid in each State.

One of the most significant moves of the campaign is the determination of the Taft leaders to fight to a finish in the so-called third term States The Third term candidate is now working his way westward.

As soon as his train pulls out of Huntingtan, Ore., to-day, John M. Harlan, of Chicago, with a corps of assistants from the New York and and Chicago headquarters, will take up the trail on aspecial train which will follow the Bull Mooser into Idaho, Utah, Nevada and California, and finally back to Colorado.

Mr. Harlan wil not only answer the third term candidate's speeches, but he will make a vigorous attack on him and his politics.

PLAN AUTO ROAD— N. Y. TO 'FRISCO

Indianoplis, Ind., Sept. 14. — A macadam roadway to extend from New Yorv City to San Franciscom a distance of 3,340 miles and to cost $25,000,000, was proposed here at a banquet of 300 Indiana automobile manufacturers and dealers, who subscribed $300,000 to start the campaign in this State. The plan is to furnish material at a cost of about $12,000,000 free to the counties through which the road will pass, the counties to pay only for the cost of construction. The route is to be selected by a commission to be chosen by an organization of automobile manufacturers, and the road will be constructed under the supervision of Government engineers, according to the promoters.

FOWL WORTH $10,000 ARE KILLED BY HAIL; TOBACCO CROP RUINED

New York, Sept. 12.—From all parts of Eastern New York and Western Connecticut there came yesterday reports of heavy damage caused by lightning and hail during a brief but violent storm. The loss to the Connecticut tobacco crop from hail is estimated at $100,000. The hail stones in some sections were so large that they went through the roofs of barns and outhouses, while hundreds of windows were shattered.

In New York city the storm showed its most destructive phase at the Zoological Park, where lightning wrecked the "Raising Ranch," a section of the park devoted to the cultivation of domestic animals to be used as food for the denizens of the cages and dens in the adjoining enclosures. The "raising ranch" just before the coming of the storm had more than 3,500 chickens, rats, pigeons, and guinea pigs, all of which were killed at a cost to the park of $10,000.

Origin of English Royal Academy.

The yearly "show" of works by living artists which is held at the English Royal academy from the first Monday in May to the first Monday in August owes its existence to a meeting of painters which was held at the Turk's Head, Soho, on Nov. 12, 1759. The knights of the brush and palette resolved that "once a year, on a day in the second week in April, at a place that should be appointed by a committee for carrying the design into execution, to be chosen annually, every painter, sculptor, engraver, chaser, seal cutter and medalist may exhibit their several performances." It was also resolved that "the sum of 1 shilling be taken daily of each person who may come to visit the said performances."—Oscar Frichet in National Magazine.

A Difference in Numerals.

Great Britain clings to its own numerical system and regards a billion as a million times a million. But America differs, a billion in the United States being only a thousand million. This is perhaps the only instance in which a thing is bigger in the old country than in the new. One has to go only a little way from England—to Calais—to find the billion lessened, for France dignifies a thousand million with the name of billion. They are wasting a word in France in this connection, however, inasmuch as there is already a word, milliard, to designate this number.—Detroit Free Press.

Rossini's Memory.

Rossini's memory was lacking in retentiveness, especially in respect to the names of persons who had been introduced to him. This forgetfulness was frequently a cause of amusement whenever Rossini was among company. One day he met Bishop, the English composer. Rossini knew the face well enough and at once greeted him. "Ah, my dear Mr.—" but the name escaped his memory, and to convince him that he had not forgotten him Rossini began whistling Bishop's glee, "When the Wind Blows," a compliment which "the English Mozat," as Bishop had been dubbed, recognized quite as readily as if his ecclesiastical surname had been mentioned.

Where the King Sat.

English vergers no longer turn an honest shilling by admitting spectators to see royalty at church. But some years ago one in a certain country church thought of something even better. King Edward had been occupying one of the pews, and after seeing His Majesty depart the clergyman return to find a brisk business going on. The verger had seen a way to assist the church restoration fund by charging loyal parishioners a few pence each for the privilege of sitting for a moment in the place still warmed with the royal presence, and he was astonished when the vicar summarily stopped the traffic.

An Unfortunate Abbreviation.

Cardinal Gibbons was discussing Gilmore and his band.

"Gilmore," continued the cardinal, "was famous for his playing of Mozart's 'Twelfth Mass.' On one occasion he played it in a North Carolina town, and next day the local paper announced that he 'rendered with great effect Mozart's "Twelfth Massachusetts."'"—Popular Magazine.

How Long Can He Stand It?

This is Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale's latest suffrage story:

"A negro woman was arguing and arguing with her husband, and when she had finished he said, 'Dinah, yo' talk don't affect me no mo' than a flea bite.'

"'Well, niggah,' she answered, 'I'se gwine keep yo' scratchin'.'"—Woman's Home Companion.

Mark Twain's Profanity.

William Dean Howells read the "Tom Sawyer" manuscript and thought it the best story he had ever read. Clemens consulted him regarding the use of a certain vigorous expletive. Howells advised that it be cut out. Clemens wrote back:

Mrs. Clemens received the mail this morning, and the next minute she lit into the study with danger in her eyes and this demand on her tongue: "Where is the profanity Mr Howells speaks of?" Then I had to miserably confess that I had left it out when reading the MS to her. Nothing but almost inspired lying got me out of this scrape with my scalp. Does your wife give you rats like that when you go a little one sided?—Harper's.

MME. SARDOU'S WORK OF ART.

The Curtain Raiser That Preceded Her Husband's Comedy.

Not merely in a domestic but also in a business sense are the Frenchwomen the admirable partners of their husbands. The first wife of Sardou, the dramatist, considered herself as such, despite the fact that she conducted a different line of business, wherein she achieved a fair success while the young playwright was endeavoring to get his plays produced. The first Mme. Sardou was a skillful milliner. She trimmed hats while waiting for the fame and fortune she was certain Sardou would achieve. Also she kept an eye on his branch of business also, and it was really she who obtained the opportunity for his first real success.

It appears that a bright comedy had long lain in the hands of a manager who would neither read nor return it. Without saying a word to her husband Mme. Sardou withdrew this work, herself carrying it to an actress she believed peculiarly fitted for the leading role. By her cleverness she succeeded in extracting a promise from the actress that the play should be read. In response to the actress' request for an address the dramatist's wife handed her a card inscribed "Mme. Sardou, Modiste." A few days later the wife of the manager at whose theatre the actress played entered the little millinery parlor of Mme. Sardou. She asked to be shown a hat. Several were tried on. Then, handglass still in hand and the hat selected still upon her head, she turned suddenly from the mirror and inquired whether M. Sardou were at home and could be summoned.

Sardou, greatly astonished, came, and the stranger, announcing her name and her husband's position, delivered the gratifying message that the play had been accepted, was to be given an immediate production and that the author was expected at the theatre that evening for the first reading and the distribution of parts.

After her departure the young couple held an explanation and jubilation. The clever little modiste caught up the hat just ordered and held it aloft. "Never say that I, too, do not compose works of art!" she cried gayly. "Behold my curtain raiser, which precedes your comedy! It has succeeded—yours will succeed!" And her prediction was fulfilled. The comedy, long since popular with English audiences as "A Scrap of Paper," was itself a success and the first of a long line of successes.

Speaking at Church House, London, the Archbishop of Canterbury said central south London, comprised within the bend of the Thames, formed the largest area of practically unbroken poverty in the British Isles.

Australia has huge areas of forest land estimated at 40,000,000 acres.

LITTLE TRICKS.

Politicians Are Notorious For Mannerisms While Speaking.

Perhaps one of the most curious characteristics of human nature is that everyone, when the mind is engrossed, unconsciously performs some little trick with his hands, feet, legs, or head. There is the rustic who scratches his head, the horseman who whips his riding-boot, the thinker who finds inspiration in fingering his beard, stroking his nose, or tearing paper to pieces, the soldier who tugs at his moustache, the bored listener who draws sketches on blotting-paper, the swaggerer who, in Castlereigh's immortal phrase, "comes down to the House like a crocodile with his hand in his breeches-pocket."

Science, says The British Medical Journal, has given the name of "manias" to these unconscious tricks, and among Parliamentary manias might be mentioned that of the late Lord Salisbury, whose intention of taking part in a debate was manifested by a peculiar jerking of one foot as he sat, with one knee over the other, listening to the speech to which he was to reply.

Innumerable "manias" which remain unclassified may be seen in Parliament. Mr. Balfour, in speaking, seems to be striving to pull himself up by the lapels of his coat. The only sign of emotion shown by Disraeli was a rapid look at the clock when the attack of his opponent was hottest. Others make much play with an eyeglass, with a bundle of papers, with their hands, and with various parts of their attire.

It is stated that at a recent congress a paper on neurology was read in which the movement by which the growing lad caresses the first shoots of "valour's excrement" on his upper lip was labelled "moustachio-strepsomania"; the habit of twirling the cane seen in old drum-majors, "sterpsorhabdomania"; that of putting the little finger in the ear, "otodactylomania." Then we have "stomatodactylomaniacs," who puts the finger in the mouth; "onychophagomaniacs," who bite their nails; "harmoniomaniacs," who drum with their fingers on window-panes or tables; and "trepodomaniacs," who nervously move their legs.

A Moorish Legend.

A certain sultan one morning commanded his prime minister to take a census of all the stupid people in his empire and let him have the correct list. The visier set to work, and at the head of the list, which was a very long one, he placed the name of his sovereign. The latter happened to be in a good humor and merely inquired how he came to merit that distinction.

"Sire," the minister replied, "I have entered you on the list because only two days ago you intrusted large sums of money, for the alleged purpose of buying horses abroad, to a couple of men who are entire strangers and who will never come back again."

"Is that your opinion? But suppose they do?"

"Then I will erase your name and place theirs at the head of the list."

"Bulls" Not Irish.

Those who are not Irishmen sometimes trespass on Irish property. A French cure, preaching about sudden death, said, "Thus it is with us—we go to bed well and get up stone dead!"

An old French lawyer writing of an estate he had just bought added, "There is a chapel upon it in which my wife and I wish to be buried, if God spares our lives."

A merchant who died suddenly left in his bureau a letter to one of his correspondents which he had not sealed. His clerk, seeing it necessary to send the letter, wrote at the bottom, "Since writing the above I have died."

Cause For Tears.

"Maud says she had her audience in tears last night."

"I believe it. They were crying for their money back, poor things."

From an Actor's Postbag.

Sir Herbert Tree receives many curious epistles in the course of the year, and he has selected the following three as being more than usually entertaining.

The first runs: "Dear Sir Herbert,—I don't know you, but I have four girls from Switzerland home for the holidays. It would be a great treat if they could see your play. But that would be rather expensive. Will you please send us five stalls? I hope you won't think this is very barefaced."

The second lady wrote: "Although I am a stranger to you it would be so helpful if you would send me £3 12s. 6d."

The third lady asked for a couple of stalls, and on being invited to say why she made the claim sent what she evidently believed to be an all-sufficient reason. "My father," she wrote, "knew Charles Dickens."

A Veteran Legislator.

One of the veterans of the British House of Commons is Mr. Henry Chaplin, who has advocated tariff reform in season and out of season for longer than probably he cares to remember. He has ever displayed solicitude for the agricultural portion of the community, and there is certainly no politician of the day who understands rural constituencies better than Mr. Chaplin.

He is, of course, an old hand at electioneering, and knows exactly what will go down with Farmer Giles and his friends. As a sportsman and a landlord they appreciate him highly.

Made a Noise.

"He didn't win the prize in the life race, did he?"

"No, but he hollered like he had it, and some people died envyin' of him."

Had Stomach Rumblings, Distress Before Meals

Was Seldom Free Free From That Weary, Droopy, Half-Dead Feeling.

Now Cured, and Gives Good Advice to Pthers With Dyspeptic Tendencies.

If you have any stomach distress at all you will certainly be interested in the following experience, which is told by Mr. Edward Dawkins:

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a mild yet certain remedy. To-day I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

Refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. 25c per box or five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

The Post has been informed that Lindsay is likely to have a maternity hospital in the near future. It will be located in the south ward, it is understood, and will be in charge of a professional nurse who will shortly take up residence here.

A New Feature.

Lindsay exhibition is to have a dance hall in connection with their fair, where all who feel live indulging in the hazy whirl of the terpsichorean art may jig away till they grow tired, at the low rate of five cents per jig. The first thing the directors will know they will be at cross purposes with those who believe it sinful to dance.

Local Harvest Nearly Finished

A day or two more of fine weather and the farmers will have reached the end of their work in the harvest fields. They have been at work early and late since the fine weather, and very few oats are now to be hauled in. The corn crop is maturing rapidly, and will soon be ready for the silos. The crops on the whole are above the average of former years.

Apsley Merchants Here.

Mr. Duncan Brown, Apsley, Reeve of Burleigh, is in the city attending the exhibition. Mr. Brown is one of Apsley's leading business men, and has done much for his village and the country to the north. Along with hundreds of others, he believes that a railway to the north will find a large and profitable business awaiting it. Mr. Brown is accompanied by Mr. Simon Windsor, another hustling business man of Apsley, as well as Mr. R. H. Hawkes, a prosperous farmer.

Ten thousand Attend Fair

Enquiries made at the ticket office at the main entrance of the exhibition grounds, by a Times representative, at 9.15 last night, elicited the information that, with an estimate based on the other entry, there were fully four thousand people on the grounds last night. This makes a total, with the very conservative estimate of six thousand present during the day time, of ten thousand people who attended Peterborough's Fall Fair of 1912.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

Local Boys Who Made Good.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Matschke, of Cleveland, Ohio, are in the city, guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Matschke, Dublin street. Mr. Ford Matschke, who is an old Peterborough boy and who attended the local Collegiate Institute, now hold the responsible position of head of the circulation department of the "Cleveland Plain Dealer," one of the important papers of the middle West. This is Mr. Matschke's first visit to Peterborough in eighteen years, and he naturally sees much growth and improvement in the city. His brother, Mr. Barney Matschke, has been for twenty years in the New York Fire Department, of which he is now Department Chief.

Has Arrived in Town.

Mr. Etinee Girardot and his company of Metropolitan players, who have been enthusiastically received throughout Ontario, and who will appear at the Grand Opera House, Toronto all next week, will be seen at the Grand Opera House, here, this afternoon and to-night. Mr. Girardot, whom you will all remember having seen in "Charley's Aunt," is now appearing in the great New York success, "The Bachelor's Baby," by Francis Wilson. Mr. Girardot carries with him complete equipment and his stage settings are magnificent. We have all wished to see Mr. Girardot in a new play, and we have our first opportunity now of reviewing our acquaintance with this admirable artist in his latest laughing success.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Watch for the balloon to-day.

The Lakefield Fair takes place Sept. 17 and 18.

A new Roman Catholic College has been opened at North Cobalt.

The Times' circulation is gradually extending in every direction.

A plowman's association has been formed by the farmers of Cavan and South Monoghan.

Mr. Reg. Turner alone sold 1,058 adult tickets and 195 children's tickets yesterday afternoon at the Fair.

The Times has a 350 acre farm for sale in Chandos. It is a snap. Call at the office and get particulars.

Mr. T. C. Webber, of Toronto, has taken over the drug business of Mr. George Reilly, King and Bethune streets.

The ascension of Miss De Vonda, the lady balloonist, was the one big attraction at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon.

Yesterday's attendance at the local Fall Fair beat all previous records, but watch to-day's crowd when the farmers turn out in their thousands!

Smith township was well represented at the opening of the Peterborough exposition, and incidentally, folks from that township, according to inference, they will be prize winners of man agricultural products.

Owing to the intervention of J. A. Sexsmith M.P., the C.P.R. Company has consented to make a flag station at Asphodel riding in South Dummer, and the local now stops at that point.

Ladies who would hesitate about stepping on to a kitchen chair (unless a mouse was in sight) bravely scaled a four foot fence at the grounds in order to hasten towards the gate—a subsequent street car nuisance to the city.

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition is no longer dependent upon the country cousin for patronage. Some six thousand residents of the city alone were present at the grounds yesterday.

CHILDREN IN SHEDS FOR ANOTHER YEAR

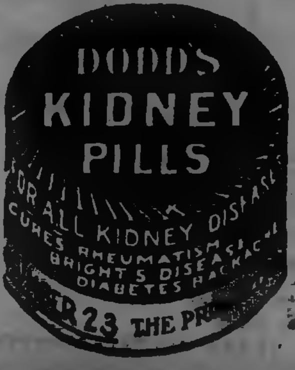
164 Rooms to be Made Ready, and Are Badly Needed in Toronto

Toronto, Sept. 13.—New school rooms opened this year—48.

New rooms to be opened within a year—164.

Not until a year has passed will it be possible for Toronto to abolish the present practice of housing school children in sheds, basements, halls, and rented rooms. Not even then will it be possible if in the meantime there is any unusual increase in the school population.

Recent rearrangements of classes made by Chief Inspector Hughes result in three of the four shed-housed classes in Davenport school being moved to more comfortable quarters.



PRISON SHIP FOR PORTUGAL REBELS

Capt. d'Almanda First of Leaders to Be Placed on Board.

Oporto, Sept. 14.—The trials of conspirators, as they are termed, are being carried on in Chaves, Cabeceiras de Basto and Braga, but they lag, and it will be a long time before the large number of those who have been arrested all over the north have gone through the courts. The sentences passed have invariably been of six years' imprisonment, to be followed by deportation for ten years, or, in the alternative of deportation, for twenty years to an African possession.

The steamer Cabo Verde, chartered by the government to receive the prisoners as they arrive, has been lying in Leixoes harbor for quite a while, and the first prisoner received on board was Captain Don Joao d'Almeida, who entered the vessel on July 28. Since then only thirty-four more prisoners have joined him—all harmless-looking peasants. Captain d'Almeida, with the others, is lodged in the hold, but is allowed to come on deck three times a week to see visitors. He bears his incarceration very bravely and makes few complaints, though his quarters and food are not to be envied; what he does object to is being run over by rats all night long, the steamer being thirty years old and swarming with vermin.

Pickpockets Throw Pilgrims Into a Panic and Rob Them.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—A gang of pickpockets made a rich haul yesterday near Munich as the result of organizing a panic among a multitude of pilgrims on the way to the celebrated shrine known as "Mary's Oak."

The pickpockets, who had taken their places in the mile-long procession of 15,000 pilgrims, suddenly shouted: "Danger! Look out for the motor-car!" The pilgrims were plunged into wild alarm and men, women and children trampled over one another in order to escape the fancied peril. Forty or fifty were taken to an adjacent hospital in an unconscious state. One old woman was seized with a fit of religious hysteria and was with difficulty prevented from throwing herself in front of a moving railway train.

When the excitement subsided it was found that the thieves had robbed the pilgrims of scores of watches and purses and of jewelry.

AUNT SALLY'S ADVICE TO BEAUTY-SEEKERS.

C.M.P.: The neck should receive similar attention to that given the complexion, so color and texture of skin will be the same. A yellow neck and a white face give a discordant affect. I advise using for both neck and complexion, the treatment recommended to "Monica."

F. M.: First, stop scowling, if you would get rid of the lines between the eyes. The best application for such lines, and all wrinkles, is a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint. Bathe the face in this daily until entirely relieved.

Monica: You hardly need such a list of cosmetics as you mention. Ordinary mercolized wax will help you more than any or all of them. It will gradually absorb the withered, discolored complexion and you will soon have a new, youthful and healthy-looking skin. You needn't get more than an ounce of the wax, which will cost you little at any druggist's. Apply nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.—Woman's Realm.

YESTERDAY'S RACES

The Afternoon.

Shortly after our citizens had satisfied the cravings of the inner man, they gathered at every available point of vantage to catch the cars for the grounds. It was at first thought, even by presumably competent authorities, that there would be a small attendance at the Fair. This was due to the lamentably small number of farmers from the surrounding country who were expected to arrive in this city to attend. Their absence was of course due to the splendid harvesting weather and the crops belated by the inclement weather season. Still, the gate receipts at such attraction are the true and tangible index as to attendance. By 4.30 the grand stand was packed to overflowing, hundreds paying admission to that sacred enclosure only to find a view of the coat tail buttons of men who had purchased admission sooner and had a front place—the "S.R.O." portion.

Boy Scouts.

Lieut.-Col. Clegg inspected the Peterborough Boy Scouts, who turned out some seventy-five strong, Knox Church alone sending thirty-five. Those sturdy sons of Canada, but more particularly of Peterborough, dressed neatly in their sombreros and khaki uniforms, carrying drill wands, gave a march past in front of the grand stand, both at the march and at the double. After performing their evolutions, they were dismissed. The city should be proud of her boys in khaki. The competition between the delivery horses was closely watched.

The 57th Regt. Band.

The splendid band of the local infantry regiment rendered a splendid program of well selected and appropriate airs and greatly contributed to givings the proceedings that "go" and "carnival" spirit which the manager of the great Coney Island Luna Park show claims as essential towards amusing a big crowd and keeping.

The Baloon Ascent.

Miss DeVonda gave another thrilling proof that she is an intrepid aeronaut and convinced the six thousand people present that the directors are making good in their promises to provide a unique entertainment. This lady, after saying "good-bye' everybody" was quickly carried astride of her trapize into the lambent atmosphere. She arrived safely per parachute about a mile north of the grounds. The vaudeville performances in front of the grand stand was fully up to expectation and gave full satisfaction to all.

The Horse Races.

The horse races were run off most successfully and without delay or any hitch. In the 2.16 class the result was:

Bourbon Brook, Keene, 3.2.2.
Jimmy Direct, Trenton, 1.1.1.
Harry Direct, city, 3.3.3.
Patterson, city
Roy Broop, Toronto.

The 2.30 class was hotly contested and afforded much excitement among the thousands both grand stand and the fence rail. It resulted as follows:

Manor King, Orillia, 2.1.1.1.
Hazel Brook, Keene, 4.3.3.3.
Picket Boy, 1.2.2.2.
Little Jenny, Omemee, 3.4.4.4.
Harryl Lindsay.

In the 2.16 class .34 was the best time made, whilst the 2.30 class places at least one horses under a higher mark by three quarters of a minute, as 2.29¼ was made.

The Evening.

During the evening every south bound car carried capacity. The music, vaudeville stunts and fireworks succeeded in pleasing an immense audience.

VOL. XXXIX NO. 217. PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO. MONDAY, SEPT. 16, 1912. PRICE, TWO CENTS

HOLDERS OF CONCESSIONS ARE FINED FOR ALLEGED FRAUD

Peterborough Fall Fair Closes After a Most Successful Season—Attendance Exceed All Previous Records —Alleged Operators Of Games of Chance Are Assessed $22.25c Each

The big Peterborough Industrial Exhibition of 1912 will go down to local history as a marked and phenominal success. On Saturday morning, the weather, whilst threatening kept fine enough to induce many hundreds of local citizens and visiting farmers to attend the Fair before dinner time. As during the two preceding days, the booths, occupied by the ladies in the interest of their various churches catered to the "inner man" of many present.

A Times representative taking a stroll around the live stock enclosures ascertained the fact that general satisfaction was expressed by exhibitors. Of course there were disgruntled exhibitors whose animals failed to win the coveted tickets, red blue and white, who claimed that what the judges did not know about live stock, would fill limitless shelves of books. That is to be expected at any such exhibition.

To enumerate in full the exhibits which helped to make the success of the Fair would take too much space. Among those which were of special interest were the following:

The Simplex Separator.

Ald. G. A. Gillespie, the well known local cheese expert, had an interesting and instructive exhibit of dairy machinery and separators. The Simplex Cream Separator attracted very general attention, especially from the farming community.

The most striking feature of the new "Simplex" is its light running. The 1100-lb. size, when at speed and skimming milk, takes no more power than the ordinary 500-lb. hand separator of other makes. It cuts the labor of skimming the milk more than in two time, and in these busy days, a saving in time is a direct saving in mon- because it does the work in half the ey to the dairy man. The low position of the milk can makes the filling of it easy.

J. J. Turner & Sons.

The busiest firm on the grounds was that of Messrs J. J. Turner & Sons, the local sail, tent and awning manufacturers. Messrs. Turner were possibly best advertised by other exhibitors as practically every tent on the grounds bore the brand of this worldwide known firm. To enumerate the manufactures of this firm would take too much space. It is sufficient to say that the name of J. J. Turner & Sons has an international significance. Orders not only from the central and remotest parts of Canada, but from England, and, in short, the world, are constantly received by them.

The F. R. J. MacPherson Co., Ltd.

As one enters the south door of the Exhibition building the first display seen is that of Messrs. F. R. J. MacPherson Co., Ltd., 341 George street, plumbers and electricians. The firm had a splendid display of the celebrateded Gurney-Oxford Stoves and ranges

Automobiles.

Ald. Jos. J. Duffus, local dealer in Ford, Russell and Reo cars, is exhibiting a "Ford" touring car.

That the "Ford" still maintains its popularity is evident by the fact that the Ford Motor Co. is preparing to build 150,000 cars for the year 1913.

Hundreds of people visiting the exhibit are heard to say, "There is the best car made," particularly from a point of hill-climbing, comfort, economy and reliability.

Roy's Artistic Photographs.

It is needless to state that the Roy Studio, obtained as large a quota of prizes in the art exhibit, in proportion to specimens of their artistic work shown, as in former years. The excellence of work done in the Roy Studio is beyond compare and certainly cannot be surpassed in the largest cities of the world. The reputation of this local studio is international as attested by orders satisfactorily filled for the most exacting people, not only of Canada, but of the United States and England, who have been pripileged to "sit" before the camera there. The Roys, father and son, have made an intelligent study of lights and shadow, expression, natural posse and personal individuality during the past eighteen years. This has resulted in the production of a portrait giving the absolute expression, only attainable by the camera, with that indefinable softness which is spread by the artists brush. Thus is shown and accentuated in the colored photography of the Roy Studio. Here the camera perpetuates the absolute likeness and expression which is toned and beautified by subsequent hand-coloring. At the Fall Fair, the Roy Studio obtained two out of a possible three premiums for their specimens of art. The big composite picture containing portraits of 587 children brought forth many warm econiums from art lovers.

Mendel's Artistic Photographs.

The most outstanding feature of the art section was again the collection of Portraits by the Mendel Studio, 374½ George street. Mr. Mendel, the maker of these beautiful portraits by photography, has an experience unequalled in this country, and is the only photographer in Canada whose work is known on both sides of the globe. The position Mr. Mendel holds in the art world is merited by the striking originality of his portraits and finishes, which are widely imitated. He does not rely on elaborate backgrounds, but scores through simplicity of arraignment on posse. Those contemplating of having work done for the Xmas holidays should make an appointment now.

Concessionaires Fined.

At a special police court held in Chief of Police Thompson's office at 4.30 p.m., before Magistrate Dumble, John Evans was charged with running the swing ball game. He demonstrated to satisfaction of his worship that it was a game of skill not chance. The prisoner was accordingly discharged.

The next case was the "Dart" game. This as explained by its operator, L. Henderson, the accused, consisted in a number of cards with numbers on the back of each. The customer buys a dart and throws it at the cards. If he transfixes a card he wins what the number on the back calls for. Detective Brodie explained that at Cornwall a similar game was operated, with the numbers in sight. The big numbers, or main prize winners were on the outside, thus reducing the chance of winning. His worship explained that as the numbers were concealed it was a game of chance. Gustace Larion was charged with operating a similar game. Mr. Henderson offered to run his game, in the future as the magistrate might suggest. His worship said he was there to enforce the laws not to make them. His worship enforced a fine of $20 and costs, or $22.25 altogether. Mr. Henderson said he did not have that much money with him, in fact, he still owed Mr. Turner for his concession at the grounds. Mr. Larion paid up from a healthy looking bank roll. The money paid to Mr. Brodie for the Provincial Government. Mr. Brodie suggested that the accused be allowed to pay the fine to him next Monday at the Parliament Buildings. The costs go to the city, otherwise a warrant will be issued here.

Mr. Lisser, who recently came from Bonnie Scotland and who has worved the Fairs at Edmonton and through the west, was charged with putting money under the pedestals of sticks over which rings at "so much per," were to be thrown. Detective Newhall testified to having watched the game for two hours and saw many rings paid for, but few prizes won. Under the front row of sticks was a $1 bill under each pedestal. The accused explained the game in full. Detective Newhall said that boys threw rings expecting to win the watch on the stick and the $1 bill. The accused said the watches cost him 95 cents and the $100 bill was put there to show the value of the watch. The sticks in the front row, under which the bills were placed could not be ringed, claimed Detective Newhall. The prisoner claimed to be a stranger in the country, but, since, his arrival had worked the same game through the far west. He did not know what he was being tried for.

His worship said it was not a game of skill, but a game of chance, and imposed a fine of $20 and costs, $2.25. He did not have the money with him so a policeman was sent with him to the exhibition grounds to get the money.

Ernest Gill was charged with assaulting Constable Moore at the Fair grounds. The prisoner when asked whether he wanted immediate trial or to be held over until Monday he replied. "I have a $1,000.00 worth of wild animals, so I'll take immediate trial." Mr. Moore testified to making the arrest after having trouble with his prisoner.

Constable Sills said he was taking a prisoner in custody through the grounds when the accused and another man in the same show interfered to prevent the arrest.

P. C. Moore produced a big club handed the prisoner by his wife and sister.

The magistrate imposed a fine of $20 and cost. This was paid at once and goes to the city.

Carlton J. Gill, who was a former newspaper man was charged with disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty, saying, "I don't want to stay in the town over Sunday." A $5 fine was imposed and paid.

FUNERAL OF GENERAL WILLIAM BOOTH IN LONDON.

In an endeavor to pay a last tribute to their dead leader, General William Booth, a vast procession of Salvationists marched through the streets of London with slow and solemn dignity. The above picture shows the cortege passing the Royal Exchange. The new general is walking bareheaded behind the hearse.

KEENE MAN INJURED BY C.G.E. STREET CAR

What may prove to be a serious accident occurred Saturday afternoon at the corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets. It seems that Mr. Thomas McIntyre of Keene was on his way home, ticket in pocket. As he crossed from the Northeast to the southwest at the intersection of the above named streets, on his way to the G.T.R. station, he seems to have become confused by the arrival of an "Edison" car and a Jackson Park car. He was struck by the C.G.E. car and thrown aside by the fender. Mr. McIntyre sustained bruises on his face and head. Fire Chief Howard, with some members of the brigade saw the crowd gather. Chief Howard secured the services of a medical man, at once, Dr. McNulty being the first to arrive and found that the injured man, who was unconscious, had every symptom of concussion of the brain. Mr. McIntyre was conveyed by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was later on reported as resting easy.

HON. COL. HUGHES PRAISES THE BIG ARMY OF FRANCE

Everybody Knew What To Do, And Sight Was Magnificent

London, Sept. 15.—Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia, refering to his visit to France, says that his party had attended the manoeuvres at the express invitation of the French War Office, and had been given a cordial reception by the French officers. "Yesterday we travelled right along the fighting line, a distance of some 200 kilometres. The sight was magnificent. The French soldiers in fighting show splendid co-ordination between the moving parts, and force seemed to be easily secured. Each section new what to do, and the way to do it."

Col. Hughes now finds it impossible to attend the German grand manoeuvres next week, owing to their clashing with the British manoeuvres proper, which also begin on Monday. "I have had a hearty invitation to go," said Col. Hughes, "but I cannot be in two places at once."

OVER ONE HUNDRED TURKS KILLED IN FIERCE BATTLE

Cettinje, Montenegro, Sept. 15.—One hundred Turks were killed and fifty taken prisoners in a fight with the Mallissori tribesmen in the Hoti district on Wednesday. The Albanians suffered a loss of twenty men killed.

Fighting continued at different points in the same district Thursday.

A GENERAL RISING.

Athens, Sept. 16.—It is reported here that Turkish soldiers in the Alessio and Scutario districts are murdering and torturing Christians. The Albanians occupying the mountains on the Montenegrin frontier are preparing for a general uprising.

A Fright Over the Baloon.

Some excitement and more than one thrill was created among the thousands present at the Fair on Saturday afternoon, as Miss Devonda made her baloon ascent. As she arose to the height of some three hundred feet, the baloon listed to one side, and looked as if it would turn turtle.

ASQUITH'S DEFEAT SPELLS DEATH TO HOME RULE

Scottish Labor Party Will Be Formed to Contest Ten "Safe" Seat With Government

London, Sept. 15.—Fiercer than ever is the quarrel between Liberal and Laborites over what the former call the treason of the latter. Each accuses the other of the loss of Midlothian to the Tory Major Hope. So furious are the Liberals that they threaten to oust Arthur Henderson from his seat in the Barnard Castle division of Durham by putting up a Liberal at the next election.

Liberal organizers clearly understand that the extension of the "three-cornered fignts," as the contests are called when a Tory, a Liberal and a Laborite go to the polls together, must wreck the radical coalition eventually, yet all the logic of Mr. Asquith, and all the appeals of Mr. Churchill cannot persuade the Labor captains to return to the old attitude of subserviency.

As the up-shot of conferences in Scotland, a Scottish Labor party will be formed. It will constitute a group in the national Labor party, but will formulate a policy in keeping with Scottish sentiment. To the consternation of the Liberals, ten "safe" Liberal seats in Scotland will be contested by Labor candidates resolved to give labor's claims rather than the wishes of middle-class Liberalism the post of honor.

Out of 39 Parliamentary by-elections since December, 1910, the Unionists have won eight seats from the Liberals, and the Liberals only one from the Laborites.

The Unionists have gained nearly 34,000 votes—a significant turnover, considering the normal pro-Liberal tone of the majority of the divisions contested.

The defeat of the Asquith Ministry means the defeat of Home Rule for Ireland.

JAMACA WOULD JOIN WITH THE UNITED STATES, SAYS POST

Prosperity of Island Depends Upon Commercial Union With United States, Say Younger Generation

London, Sept. 15.—Jamaica's probable future as a dependency of the United States has a prominent position in The Morning Post. A gentleman who is closely connected with Jamaica says that so far as the sentimental side is concerned, it is unfortunately true that the younger generation of whites and educated negroes believe that the prosperity of the island lies in the direction of a commercial union with the United States.

Even political union they regard with complacency unless Great Britain adopts a policy of colonial preference and thereby assist the West Indies. The increasing production of sugar, coffee, cocoa, etc., offers no alternative to the ever increasing cry for association with the United States, either by reciprocity or by a political union, or at least closer connection with Canada.

An additional impetus to the movement towards the United States may arise upon the completion of the Panama Canal. Old West Indian planters say that the growth of feeling in Jamaica in favor of America is only natural, but that a preferential treatment would restore the allegiance of Jamaica to Great Britain.

FOUR MILES OF DECORATIONS AWARDED J. J. TURNER & SONS

Yesterday, Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons received a telegram from Regina stating that the firm's tender for decorating the city on the occasion of the visit of the Governor-General in October, had been accepted. The specifications call for four miles of decorations, which will require about 30,000 flags and pennants.

A Big Undertaking.

In regina there are no poles on the streets, or are poles to be had in the west. The result is that the firm are starting men out this morning in various directions to purchase one thousand good, straight poles. These will be brought to town and shipped in a few days on special cars. In addition to the poles, 1000 barrels will be required. The barrels will be filleh with earth and placed on the sides of the streets to hold the poles on which the flags will be strung. The barrels will probably be shipped in knock-down form, and put together in Regina. Mr. Kingdon the local cooper will probably take a force out to Regina to attend to this part of the work, although this has not yet been definitely decided.

Ten Thousand Flags.

The firm will make up at once 10,000 additional flags and pennants, which will be ready to ship with the poles and barrels. Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., leaves to-morrow morning for Regina to put things in shape for the force of men which will follow in about a week.

Their Largest Order.

Last night, Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., informed The Times that this was the largest order ever booked by his firm, and they have had some very large ones. It certainly is a tribute to their enterprise, and will not only be a good advertisement for the firm but for Peterborough as well.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

Fair Amount of Garden Produce Offered at Good Prices.

Saturday's market was fairly well attended, many coming to the market and taking in the Fair in the afternoon. Chickens, 35c to 40 each, were plentiful. Apples are becoming more plentiful and several different varieties were noticed.

Eggs, 25c dozen.
Ducks, 50c each.
Peaches, 15c, 20c 25c dozen, 55c per small basket.

Local Aparians Interested.

Mr. W. B. Angle, an expert sent to the local Fair by the Aparian Department of the Guelph Agricultural College, in reply to a question put by The Times, said he had never before attended a fall fair where such keen interest was taken in his exhibit and accompanying lecture, as at the local grounds. He thinks Peterborough county will hereafter enter much more largely into the bee industry.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 66 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 66 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 65c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 65c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. FLED FROM HIS BRIDE.

Romantic Story of the Marriage of General Sam Houston.

In "As I Remember—Recollections of American Society During the Nineteenth Century," is a romantic story of General Sam Houston, whose "appearance was patrician and courtesy that of the inborn gentleman."

"I have spoken of General Houston's appearance. I now wish to refer to his fine sense of honor. He was married on Jan. 22, 1829, to Miss Eliza Allen and separated from her directly after the marriage ceremony in, it is said, the most painful circumstances. The wedding guests had departed and General Houston and his bride were sitting alone by the fire when he suddenly discovered that she was weeping. He asked the cause of her tears and was told that she never loved him and never could, but had married him solely to please her father.

"'I love Dr. Douglas,' she added, 'but I will try my best to be a dutiful wife to you.'

"'Miss,' said General Houston, even waiving the fact that he had just married her, 'no white woman shall be my slave. Good night!'

"It is said that he mounted his horse and rode to Nashville, where he resigned at once his office as governor and departed for the Cherokee country, where and elsewhere his subsequent career is well known. Having procured a divorce from his wife, he married Margaret Moffette in the spring of 1840."

THE FOURTH DIMENSION.

This Tells What It Is, Though You May Not Quite Grasp It.

The fourth dimension is a property of space quite beyond the sense perception of men, an abstraction derived from the results obtained by well comprehended processes in the higher mathematics. Certain things happen in these computations which are in no way susceptible of explanation in a space restricted to the three ten chest dimensions of length, breadth and thickness. From a sufficiently considerable number of such phenomena the theory has been evolved that space has a fourth dimension.

In the common progress of mathematical study the need of such transcendental dimension first arises in the specific case of that plane section of the cone designated the hyperbola. At an infinite as well as in all intermediate distances of that curve from the point of origin the line is continuous in a given direction; if now to infinity a single unit be added the curve comes into view in the diametrically opposite direction.

In this elementary demonstration the fourth spatial dimension appears to suggest sphericity, but this is only the beginning. It is still under careful examination by mathematicians. Sciolists at one time seized upon the idea in explanation of thought transference, psychic phenomena and the whole hoodoo range in general.—New York Sun.

The Banshee.

The banshee is the domestic ghost or spirit attached to certain Irish or highland Scottish households and is supposed to take an interest in the welfare of the family generally and especially to wail at the death of any one of its members. The banshee is pictured in Irish folklore under the form of a little old woman with long hair, which she continually combs, at the same time keeping up an incessant weeping and wailing. The incident of the comb is exactly similar to the legend of the German lorelei, a spirit which sings, while the banshee weeps, as an accompaniment. The proud distinction of possessing a private banshee is allowed only to families of pure Milesian stock. The word is derived from the Gaelic ban-sith, a woman fairy.

Trying to Beat the Game.

"Every note that prima donna sings costs me at least a dollar," said one musical manager.

"Well," replied the other, "get a man to write her a song with only whole notes and rests in it."—Washington Star.

"Oh, mother, why are the men in the front baldheaded?"

"They bought their tickets from the scalpers, my child."—Chicago Tribune.

Then She Got Mad.

She (having nothing else to say)—It's funny how we ever came to think so much of each other. He—Funny? It's positively ridiculous!

SLIDING DOWN A ROPE.

It Is Both Easy and Safe When Done In Sailor Style.

Sliding down a rope is not so simple as it seems. Few know how to do it properly. If you try to descend by letting the rope slide through your hands the friction will burn the palms so that you will have to let go after a few feet. If you try to lower your weight from one hand hold to another you are sure to become tired and will be forced to drop. You cannot slide with the rope between your knees, for the swaying of your body will jerk the rope out of the clutch of your knees, and then you are likely to fall.

The easiest and safest method you can employ is that used by firemen and sailors. Standing upright, throw out your right leg and give it a turn around the rope. Next put the rope in the crook of your right elbow and clasp it tightly, not in your hand, but in your arm.

In that way you can slide to safety without the slightest trouble. The rope does not touch any part of the body that is not protected by clothing, and your speed can be regulated by either straightening or cramping your leg. Once learned this method of sliding down a rope may prove in an emergency the means of saving your life or the lives of other persons.—Youth's Companion.

Gymnasium Training.

Every person who has received gymnasium training is aware of the fact that an exercise which calls for painful effort on the part of the beginner is often performed almost without any conscious effort at all after a certain amount of training has been received. Again, it is perfectly well known that brute strength alone does not make a gymnast and that even a simple exercise may offer great difficulty to a muscular and well developed individual who has not been trained in the gymnasium. The explanation for this is made in an article by Professor Dubois Raymond in Die Umshau, who points out that one of the essential functions of gymnasium work is not so much to build up muscle as to train nerves and nerve groups to work in proper unison and co-ordination.

Flags at Half Mast.

Ever since flags were used in war it has been the custom to have the flag of the superior or conquering nation above that of the inferior or vanquished. When an army found itself hopelessly beaten it hauled its flag down far enough for the flag of the victors to be placed above it on the same pole. This was a token not only of submission, but of respect. In those days when a famous soldier died flags were lowered out of respect to his memory. The custom long ago passed from purely military usage to public life of all kinds, the flag flying at half mast being a sign that the dead man was worthy of universal respect. The space left above it is for the flag of the great conqueror of all, the angel of death.

No Ladies, No Stead.

Mr. Stead, the London editor, who went down with the Titanic was a great peace man, a woman suffragist and was an active agent in most great reforms. There was one peculiarity told of him. He didn't believe in any classification among people. He did not believe in meetings for men. He wouldn't attend such meetings. One time when he was invited to attend a big public function for men only, in Toronto, he wired the committee: "No ladies, no Stead." While attending a great peace congress in this country he was invited to a newspaper men's banquet, but wouldn't go because no women had been invited.

It was not gallantry that moved him to this course, but antipathy to social distinction of any kind. The women were to be included in every effort toward the promotion of good in the world. They were not to be proscribed. He regarded their encouragement and assistance as necessary to all progress.

The Uncertain Apple Tree.

An apple tree is the result of a graft from the tree that is known to be a producer of a certain kind and flavor of apples. If the seed were planted and one relied on it to produce a select grade of fruit the result would be disappointing, for the reason that from the seed the most remarkable varieties will be shown. Perhaps they will be miserable little crabapples or misshapen, bitter fruit or a useless conglomeration. The seed somehow or other harks back to its origin, notwithstanding years of cultivation. The varieties of apples known today are a result of careful selection and constant grafting of the better kind from year to year until the present development has been attained.—Harper's.

A National Benefactor's Tomb.

A correspondent of The Times, signing himself "A Friend of the Donor," calls attention to the fact that the gravestone at Brompton Cemetery of Mr. John Jones, who died in 1882, and left to the nation his collection of works of art, now in the Victoria and Albert Museum, bears no record of his munificence. Thinking it appropriate that an inscription should be placed there by the museum authorities, the "Friend of the Donor" saw the director on Oct. 10 last year, who received the proposition with sympathy. "It has taken," continues the "Friend of the Donor," "from that period to June 20 for a decision to be arrived at, and the following is an extract from the letter:

"The Board of Education have had under consideration your suggestion that they should cause an inscription commemorative of the benefaction to the Victoria and Albert Museum of the late Mr. John Jones to be placed on his tombstone in Brompton Cemetery. I am directed to state that, while they sympathise with your proposal. . . . they regret they cannot comply with your suggestion that they should record their appreciation of the generosity of Mr. Jones by means of an inscription on his tombstone.'

"No reason is given. The cost would be about £13, and, as mentioned, the gift is now valued at £1,000,000!"

Maund and Maunder.

Neither maund, a basket, nor maunder, to whine or grumble, is obsolete. Both are still in common use in South Notts and Leicestershire, at any rate. The former is used only, however, of a particular kind of basket, used for carrying butter to market. The basket is nearly square in shape and has two lids opening from the middle part, where the handle is, and it is called the "butter mawn" (maund). Maunder is usually heard in such sentences as "What are you maundering at?" A Northumbrian will say, "He's a maundering old fool," when the man of whom he is speaking strings words together in a senseless sort of way somewhat akin to maudling.—London Notes and Queries.

THE FORUM

No two countries have customs alike In India a girl never sees her husband until after marriage, while in this country she sees him most before she is married.

In Cleveland the women distributed coffee, cakes and pies at the polls to influence the vote for women's suffrage, which is a sweeter way than stabbing policemen with hatpins.

Detroit is living right up to its reputation as one of the most progressive cities in the United States. It has been renominating councilmen one week and placing them in jail the next

"One of the most vivid and striking electrical displays ever seen here, was witnessed on Thursday evening last." Our contemporary is right; it certainly was a "striking" display, the lightning having struck several barns in the neighborhood.

The Examiner printed an item the other day to the effect that a man in a Western Ontario town was caught eating a block of wood and sent to jail. This great family journal is of opinion that a man who would thus wantonly destroy our national resources should go to jail.

WAS NOT A SUCCESS.

Socialist rule in Milwaukee was not the shining success that the voters had been led to expect it would be. Auditors, now busy on the books of the Seidel administration, have discovered many evidences of wasteful methods, some of which point to that common municipal experience known as graft. Streets which were paved a year ago have to be repaved because of the poor material employed, and the Socialist officials in charge of the city's purchasing department will be haled into court and given an opportunity to explain why it was that they paid exorbitant prices for certain supplies. Socialist human nature is pretty nearly the same as the common variety, and this last exposure of municipal crookedness in Milwaukee occasions no surprise.

RECIPROCITY.

According to the September crop report of the Washington Government the United States this year will yield between 700,000,000 and 800,000,000 bushels of wheat, nearly 1,300,000,000 bushels of oats, almost 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn and 72,000,000 tons of hay. In the case of each product the output will be very much larger than last year. There is an increase of 89,000,000 bushels in spring wheat, of 368,000,000 bushels in oats, and 464,000,000 bushels in corn, and of 17,000,000 tons in hay. This abundance of food-stuffs means a new prosperity for the Republic, but it also means that the States will have a much larger quantity of wheat for export than in any previous year.

What is more important still, the United States will have a far greater surplus volume of wheat than Canada for sale outside of the country. In view of this the News asks what good would reciprocity do the farmers of the Canadian West under such conditions? Is not the answer to be found in the fact that for weeks Winnipeg prices for wheat have been considerably higher than the Minneapolis quotations? Even despite the Canadian duty, Ontario is to-day buying early American wheat. But for this measure of protection the Eastern Canadian market would each year be flooded with new wheat from the Western States before our own prairie crop would be available for contract and milling purposes.

"CATARRHOZONE" A BOON TO MANY THOUSANDS.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing — those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with CATARRHOZONE You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhozone, and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essences that reaches every sore, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm or sicken the stomach, because Catarrhozone is the purest, safest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

"For many years," writes Richard McCallum, Stirling, Ont., "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed, irritable condition.

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of, and tried it. Really it benefitted me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit, I continued using Catarrhozone, and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat trouble."

Get Catarrhozone to-day. Large size costs $1.00, and lasts two months. Smaller sizes, 25c. and 50c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

HOW SCIENCE CREATES INDUSTRY.

Certain wise men who recently expressed their choice of the seven modern wonders of the world took a new point of view. The seven ancient wonders were curious and interesting, but not primarily useful. Most of the seven modern wonders won their place because of the amazing help they have been to man, or at least by reason of their extraordinary possibilities. Nowadays men stare for a short while at a new miracle and then set to work to make it commercially available.

Here is where modern Germany shows that remarkable combination of science and industry that has put it in the front rank of nations. The imagination of the profound student calls up some new invention and then there are men to work over the idea and make it practical. The indigo planters of India know painfully well what an effect has been produced on commerce by the German discovery of artificial indigo and now the race for the artificial rubber industry has begun. The actual discovery of a process of manufacturing that product artificially has already been attained and there remains only the task of making the process cheap enough to be of practical use.

For work of this kind the German system of industrial education is admirably fitted. Large staffs of highly trained research chemists are constantly at work in the great chemicals, but it is the technical men of middle rank that win the commercial and industrially at work in the great industries but Cooley has pointed out how the special training of such men is one of the features that distinguish German vocational education from vocational education everywhere else in the world. The research chemist and the consulting engineer evolve great ideas, but there must be trained subordinate officers to carry out their plans.

BRUSSELS HAS A NOVEL COMPANY

Brussels, Sept. 14.—A new company has just been founded whose originality will be hard to beat. This is the "Umbrella Lending Society," which would have been eminently welcome during the past month. The company has a capital of several million francs and half as many umbrellas, and its object is to save people from the trouble of buying and carrying these occasionally useful but cumbersome articles about when not in actual employ.

Subscribers may pay one dollar per year, and are given an aluminum counter with a number. It is much easier, evidently, to carry a counter than an umbrella. If the subscriber is caught in the rain, all that he has to do is to go into the nearest restaurant, tobacco shop or big store, and in return for his "fiche" he is immediately furnished with a respectable umbrella. When the sun comes out again, he enters the first similar establishment and deposits his umbrella in exchange for another counter. The system is simplicity itself—until some ingenius swindler casts facsimile counters and surreptitiously sells them at half the original price.

DON'T LIKE YOUR WIFE CAST HER OFF

Pekin, Sept. 14.—The Chinese National Assembly has prepared a code of law for divorce which will absolutely beat Reno divorce mill hollow.

The new law provides that a man has but to say that he is not satisfied with his wife, and to pay the necessary fee to the court, and he is free. It is expected that the moment it is the law of the land there will be a rush to the courts to shake off importunate bad-tempered and irritable wives.

At the same time there is to be brought forth a law for the abolition of concubinage, but it will not be in any respect retrospective, as, if it were, it would hit Yuan-Shi-Kai and, in fact, every high official in the republic of China, with more or less force. The very weak and sardid point in the whole proposed legislation, however, is that it will hit the children of concubines, hitherto considered to be members of their respective families.

JEWISH NEW YEAR DULY OBSERVED

Local Colony of Jews Celebrate the Advent of Their New Year.

"May it please the Lord our God, and God of our fathers, to renew for us a good and sweet New Year."

Standing round their tables with bread dipped in honey, in their hands the Jewish people in Peterborough and the world over heard the benediction.

Hearty greetings for a happy New Year followed, for "Rosh Hashanah," the Hebrew New Year, began Friday evening, and for two days the orthodox observed it carefully but the exchange of greetings will continue eight days later until the great day of Atonement or Yum Kipur.

Down through the ages have come the traditions of the Jewish people, and they claim that September 11, 1912, marks the close of the Jewish Year 5672.

Many solemn ceremonies take place on this New Year Day. One of the most impressive is that of casting away the sins, which is observed by only a few of the most othodox Jews Late in the afternoon a procession of between one and two dozen leaves a synagogue and slowly and solemnly proceeds to some quiet spot on the lake front, but within the city limits. The rabbi or leader, in high monotonous tones recites a prayer. Together the company then proceeds to the edge of the lake, and shake the skirts of their garments over the water. This is symbolic of shaking off sin, and is based on a verse in Micah, "And cast it into the depths of the sea all their sins."

It is the custom to partake of some especially palatable mean on New Year's Eve, among the viands being grapes, other fruits and honey.

Pass for Judgment.

The New Year Day is a fast day, and according to tradition it is the most important judgment day on which all the inhabitants of the world pass for judgment before the creator. Three books of accounts are opened on Rosh Hashanah wherein the fates of the wicked, the righteous and the intermediate class are recorded.

The characteristic ceremony of Rosh Hashanah is the blowing of the shofar. It took place on Thursday morning at the reformed temple and both Thursday and Friday at all orthodox synagogues. The real meaning of the custom is unknown. In addition to the explanation that it is a call for repentance, much mystical significance has been attached to this time-honored custom.

No Jew, unless he has cut himself entirely loose from the synagogue, will fail to observe the Day of Atonement by resting from his daily pursuits and attending services in the synagogue.

The local Jewish merchants closed their stores in honor of the festival.

EMPTIED STREAM TO GET MONSTER

And Found He Wasn't There Meantime Town Is Without Water.

Budapest, Sept. 14.—An extraordinary instance of the prevalence of superstition in Hungary has just occurred at Kis-Cerogde, near Grosswardein. A hysterical woman, a Frau Mirko, declared that it had been revealed to her in a dream that a terrible dragon had taken up its abode in the village spring. The population in a wildly excited state, gathered round the courthouse, demanding help against the monster. Although it was the only source of water supply for the whole village, the crowd insisted that the spring should be stopped up, while some persons urged that it be blown up with dynamite.

Completely panic-stricken, the authorities decided that the spring should be pumped dry so that the dragon might be killed. The inhabitants rushed frantically away to get pumps, and despite the protests of the village schoolmaster—apparently the only sane person in the place—proceeded to pump out all the water, leaving the spring dry. And at the bottom the credulous peasantry saw only masses of black lime. And now, as the village is without water, the government has taken proceedings against the weak and foolish authorities who yielded to the pressure of an ignorant mob.

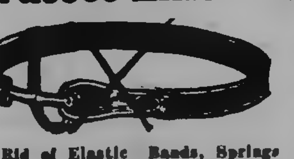
Trusses Like These Are A Crime



Get Rid of Elastic Bands, Springs and Leg-Straps. Such Harness has Forced Thousands to Undergo Dangerous Operations.

Trusses like those referred to above—the belt and leg-strap, elastic and spring contraptions sold by drug stores, surgical supply houses and many self-styled "Hernia Specialists"—make life miserable for everybody who wears them.

And—even when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on—they do no good whatever.

Instead, they often do immense harm—they squeeze the rupture, often causing strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the sensitive spinal column at the back.

The Plain Truth Is This.

Rupture—as explained in our free book—can't be relieved or cured—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless constantly held in place. Just as a broken bone can't together.

And—just as a bandage or splint is the only way a broken bone can be held—the right kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out.

What a difference it will make when you get that kind of truss.

And you can get exactly that kind of truss — without risking a cent of your money.

It's the famous Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager.

Far more than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place.

So different from everything else for rupture that it has received 18 separate patents

Thousands say it is as comfortable as their clothing.

No belt, elastic belt or springs around your waist, and no leg-straps—nothing to pinch, chafe, squeeze or bind. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. It is held in position by suction—can't shift or slip — the only truss in existence that is honestly guaranteed never to let the rupture come out.

Sent on 60 Days' Trial to Prove It.

We have so much faith in the Cluthe Truss—we have seen it work wonders for so many others—that we want to make one especially for your case and let you wear it at our risk.

We'll give you 60 days' time to test it—if it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out, when you are working and at all other times—if it doesn't put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had with your rupture—if you don't get better rightaway—then the truss won't cost you a cent.

How It Strengthens and Heals.

In addition to holding the rupture, the Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager is constantly giving a soothing, strengthening massage to the weak ruptured parts.

All automatically—the massage goes on all day long, all without any attention whatever from you.

This massage—which strengthens just as exercise strengthens a weak arm—is so remarkably beneficial—so remarkably curative—that in 199 cases out of every 200 rupture begins to get better from the day a Cluthe Truss is put on.

The World's Greatest Book on Rupture.

Don't go on letting your rupture get worse—don't spend a cent on account of your rupture until you get our book of advice—which two cents for a stamp—or a penny for a postal—will bring you.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 82 pages, 21 separate articles, and 19 photographic pictures—took us over 40 years to write—took us that long to find out all the facts we've put in it.

It explains the dangers of operations and why they don't always cure to stay cured. Tells why — for the protection of the public—drug stores should not be allowed to sell trusses.

Explains why belt, spring and elastic trusses can do no good. Exposes the humbug "methods," "appliances," "plasters," etc.

And tells—absolutely without misrepresentation — all about the Cluthe Truss — just how it holds—how it gives the curing massage—how it is waterproof—how it ends all expense—how you can get it on 60 days' trial—and gives names and addresses of over 5000 people who have tried it and want you to know about it.

Write for it to-day—don't put it off—this book may be the means of adding many years to your life and of restoring you to full strength and usefulness.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionised the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

NEWS OFFER DRAWS THRONGS

PEOPLE ARE ENTHUSIASTIC.

Office Crowded With Those Seeking to Secure Attractive Volumes.

The Times' office is crowded these days with people who want copies of Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary, in response to the remarkable money-saving offer repeatedly announced in column of the newspaper.

The Times, in all modesty, takes this evidence of public appreciation as a sincere compliment. All that we asked was that people come and SEE this dictionary. But those who came departed with a copy of the work which is now offered to everybody in return for six consecutive coupons and the cost of handling. There were many of our visitors who had not saved the necessary coupons, but they went home with the firm intention of doing so.

One caller at the premium headquarters looked at the dictionary, said: "Wait, I'll be right back," and re-appeared in half an hour with six dictionary coupons taken from copies of the paper which he had saved. It is presumable that this person came to the premium headquarters in a skeptical frame of mind, else he would have brought his coupons along in the first place. The Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary, under The Times' unprecedented offer, is the doom of skepticism.

Comments throughout the crowds at this office were enthusiastic in praise of the compact but comprehensive volume which has leaped into such unparalleled popularity.

The most popular of three styles offered is the Style No. 1, the flexible leather bound, Bible paper edition, which goes to anybody for six consecutive coupons and 98 cents expense bonus. The cash charge is merely to cover the cost of handling and distributing the books.

It is safe to say that no more useful offer was ever made in Peterborough by a newspaper. The dictionary obtainable at such an astonishing rate is really the most up-to-date the handiest, the best-typed dictionary on the market to-day.

It contains all the latest words that have come into the language—and there are many of them that have grown out of the progress of aviation and the recent discoveries of science.

It also contains up-to-date charts of statistics concerning crops, commerce and all the important figures of the last year. There are thirty-two pages of color plates, authoritative and informative. In short, it is an encyclopedic dictionary full of accurate information on hundreds of interesting topics.

There are three styles of these dictionaries. One of them may be obtained for six coupons and only 48 cents. The second style is obtainable for six coupons and 81 cents. The difference between the 98-cent and the 81-cent book is only in the binding. Some of the illustrations are omitted from the 48-cent dictionary.

TRAILED MURDERER INTO BALLROOM

Well Dressed Man, Who Slew Girl, Taken From Festal Scene.

Geneva, Sept. 14.—While a ball was in full swing at the village of Altstatton, near St. Gall, a police dog, followed by Gendarmes, entered the room, and a well-dressed young man was arrested on the charge of murder. He had killed—it is supposed through jealousy—a pretty Swiss girl of seventeen, Regina Stabler by name.

It should be explained that in Switzerland on a general holiday (as in this case) dancing commences in the afternoon, and is continued until midnight in many villages. Between the dances the young man and the girl were seen together on the road a little distance away from the restaurant, and her body was discovered soon after. The police were informed, and placed a trained dog on the scent, which went in a direct line to the ball room and wanted to pull down the murderer. The latter has since confessed the crime.

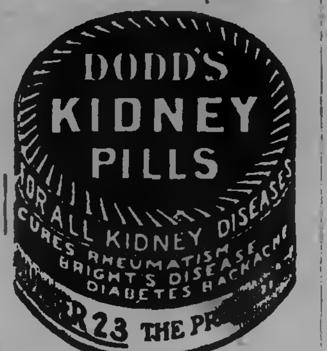
SHOCKING REPORTS RROM NICARAGUE

Rebels Live Well, Permit Non-Combatantes to Die in Streets.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Shocking reports of famine and sickness, brigandage and brutality in the rebel zone in Nicaragua sent to the outside world by couriers are beginning to reach the State Department and are being referred to the attention of the American Red Cross.

At Granada, it is reported, the victorious rebel troops have confiscated all food supplies for the revolution, and while being well fed themselves, are permitting the non-combatants to die in the streets. Railroad and telegraphic communication to the city are cut off by the rebels. They will probably be restored this week by the marine forces under Col. Pendleton. When full reports are available, officials here expect to verify and complete meagre reports of starvation and horrors of uncivilized warfare.

The American Red Cross already has made a cash contribution of $2,000. When conditions in Granada are more fully known the aid probably will be increased. The society officers think they can do this without appealing for public contribu-



LESSON IN SCIENTIFIC COMPLEXION RENEWING

(From the Family Physician.)

Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle in acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in flaky particles like dandruff, only much smaller in size. In abnormal conditions, or in advancing age, these particles are not shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain, the more soiled and faded they become—that's the immediate cause of a "bad complexion."

It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, will absorb those worn out particles. The absorption, while hastening Nature's work, goes on gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week or two the transformation is complete. The Fresh, healthy-hued, youthful underskin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexions should get an ounce of mercolized wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings. [illegible]

Hell, Hull and Halifax.

Halifax (Eng.), supposed to be the most wealthy and prosperous town of the north country in proportion to size, formerly possessed a curious notoriety. A clause of the "Thieves' Litany" ran: "From Hell, Hull and Halifax, good Lord, deliver us." This arose from the fact that Halifax at one time could inflict summary punishment upon anybody within a radius of nine miles who had committed a felony, especially by stealing cloth. The culprits were tried by a jury of four freeholders, and if found guilty, as generally happened, were executed with a kind of guillotine at a spot still shown in Gibbet lane.

A Dog Pepys Saw.

On Sept. 11, 1661, Mr. Pepys made this entry: "To Dr. Williams, who did carry me into his garden, where he hath abundance of grapes, and he did show me a dog that he hath to kill all the cats that come thither to kill his pigeons, and do afterwards bury them and do it with so much care that they shall be quite covered; that if the tip of the tail hangs out he will take up the cat again and dig the hole deeper. Which is very strange, and he tells me that he do believe that he hath killed above 100 cats."

Dickens' Humaneness.

The best part of Charles Dickens, the great novelist, was the humaneness of him, coming out in the tender pathos with which he streaked the funny side of life. Primarily a humorist, he was, like many another humorist, a humanist too. Dickens came out of that lower London life, one-third grotesque, one-third pitiful, one-third heroic, which he pictured in his writings. He had lived the struggles of Oliver Twist, of David Copperfield and of Philip in "Great Expectations." That was the reason why he was able to lay hold of people's hearts when he described those deathless persons.—New York Mail.

Awful Ignorance.

Young Man With Lavender Tie, Pink Shirt and Bright Purple Socks—Say, Jim Lawrence is a queer duck. He pronounces his words so queer! The other day he was telling some girls about going to the Blank inn for a "tabbledote" dinner. As soon as we left the girls I asked him what he meant and come to find out he meant table de hotey! Ha, ha, ha!—Chicago Tribune.

The Weight of the World.

A cubic foot of earth weighs about five and a half times as much as a cubic foot of water A cubic mile of earth then weighs 25,604,300,000 tons. The volume of the earth is 259,880,000,000 cubic miles. The weight of the world without its atmosphere is 6,066,880,000,000,000,000,000 tons. If we add to this the weight of the atmosphere given above we get a grand total—6,066,255,818,600,000,000,000 tons.

FRIGHT IN BATTLE.

How Grant Cured a Badly Scared Staff Officer.

One of General Grant's newly appointed staff officers had never been in any serious engagement. But almost the first day that he reported to Grant he was placed under a fire of the hottest and most severe kind. The screaming of the balls, the roaring of the cannon and the sharp crack and rattle of the musketry thoroughly demoralised him. He became absolutely sick and paralysed with fear. He was so weak from nervous excitement that he lost physical control over himself.

General Grant came up at the very climax of his fright, and, noticing his pale face, his blue lips and chattering teeth, he said: "Captain, you are frightened. That is natural enough. You will get over it. Suppose," continued Grant, "I should come to you with a hat containing ninety-nine white beans and one black one and I should ask you to thrust your hand into the hat at a venture and pick out the black bean. Do you think your chance of getting that black bean would be very good? Well, your chance for being hit under this fire is no greater than your chance for drawing the black bean."

This officer at once took heart, and from then on he never showed the slightest sign of fear.—Life.

A DYED BEARD.

It Probably Changed the History of the Whole Human Race.

The most striking case in history of the importance of trifles is furnished by the story of Musa, the leader of the Moslem host which won from Christendom in three and a half years dominions which it took the soldiers of the cross twenty generations to win back. He had a red beard. This was a trifle.

Musa, though a very great general, was a very vain man, and he dyed his beard black. This was another trifle. One of his captains chaffed him on the subject, and Musa forthwith had him stripped and scourged. For this, at the very height of his conquering career, Musa was recalled by the caliph and disgraced. This made it impossible for him to command the Moslem army at the battle of Tours, on the issue of which, as all historians agree, the destinies of Europe and perhaps of the whole human race depended.

It is almost certain that if the genius of Musa had replaced the incompetence of the half dozen tribal leaders whose dissensions made victory impossible the forces of Islam would have joined hands from the west to the east and inclosed Europe in their grasp.—London Standard.

Animals That Are Always Enemies.

Many animals are born with an inherent antipathy for other animals. The excessive fear shown by young rabbits which for the first time smell a ferret and of young turkeys which hear the shrill cry of a hawk they have never heard or seen before are proved examples of the strength of these instinctive antipathies. But the case of the weasel and rat is, perhaps, more to be noticed because of the greater equality of the antagonists. The feud is so bitter that a meeting between them almost certainly means death to one or both. Friendships are not uncommon between the cat and dog and have been known between a dog and wolf, but the mutual attitude of the weasel and rat is invariably war—war that is waged to the death.

Great In His Line.

Robert Barr once showed a portrait of Mark Twain to a silk merchant of Lyons. "Tell me who that is," Mr. Barr said. The merchant gazed at the portrait and answered, "I should say he was a statesman." "Supposing you wrong in that, what would be your next guess?" asked Mr. Barr. "If he is not a maker of history he is perhaps a writer of it—a great historian, probably. Of course it is impossible for me to guess accurately except by accident, but I use the adjective 'great' because I am convinced this man is great in his line, whatever it is. If he makes silk he makes the best." Mr. Barr told the French merchant who the portrait represented and said, "You have summed him up in your last sentence."—London News.

Gladstone and Grillion's.

Mr. Gladstone's election to Grillion's club, which took place in 1840, was far from delighting him at the time. He declared it to be "a thing quite alien to my temperament, which requires more soothing and domestic appliances after the feverish and consuming excitements of party life, but the rules of society oblige me to submit." Lord Morley adds: "As it happened, so narrow is man's foreknowledge Grillion's down to the very end of his life nearly sixty years ahead, had no more faithful or congenial member."—London Chronicle.

Soon Remedied.

Irate Householder—Why can't you answer this bell sooner? The fire's out again. Where have you been?

Maid of all work (resigned and leaving)—I've been packin' up my things. I can't stop to do that. It'll light itself soon. The 'ouse is afire!—London Punch.

Angelo's Verdict.

Once a painter notorious for plagiarisms executed a historical picture in which every figure of importance was copied from some other artist, so that very little remained to himself. It was shown to Michael Angelo by a friend, who begged his opinion of it. "Excellently done," said Angelo, "only at the day of judgment, when all bodies will resume their own limbs again, I do not know what will become of that historical painting, for there will be nothing left of it."

RIBBON UPSET A STATE.

The Undecorated Minister Resigned and the Government Fell.

Many interesting side lights on a court and the unexpected trials and troubles incident to it from which republics are free are given in William Miller Collier's book of reminiscences of his days as minister to the Spanish court, "At the Court of His Catholic Majesty." That a government should fall as the result of a ribbon bestowed for a purely ceremonial purpose seems rather absurd, but, says Mr. Collier:

"It is a historical fact that not many years ago a certain minister of the marine in one of the European countries resigned because the ruler of a foreign country, on the occasion of his visit to its capital, gave him a certain rank in a certain order and gave a higher rank to his colleague, the minister of war. The minister of marine contended that it was an insult to his country's navy and the fact that he received the rank which the rule required in such cases and that the minister of war had received a higher rank only because the lower rank had been given him previously made no difference to the aggrieved minister.

"In his opinion his own government in not demanding that the foreign government give him also the higher rank in this foreign order had permitted its navy to be insulted, and so he resigned, and the government fell. Thus does the fate of nations hang not on threads, but on ribbons."

FISH FEATHERS.

An Epicure's Dish and the Way to Trap the Makings.

The young man did not know what he wanted to eat. His appetite was poor. His palate must be tempted and tickled. He scanned the menu card again and again. Finally, with a sigh of resignation, he said to the waiter:

"Bring me some fish feathers."

"Fish feathers?" exclaimed the astonished waiter.

"Yes; fish feathers! And I want 'em tonight, not next week!"

The waiter retired for a conference with the chef, the captain and the floor manager.

"No such dish here," was his report. "There ain't any such thing. There never was such a dish in New York."

The young man arose and sighed again.

"That's what I've been told by every waiter in New York," he remarked sadly. "But if you will drop a line to the commissioner of fisheries in Washington he will correct your mistake, enlighten your ignorance, project a shaft of thought into that granite which grows above your shoulders."

He sighed a third time, stretched himself slowly and added:

"The commissioner will tell you that fish feathers are a delicacy. They are taken from flying fish. You catch flying fish with salt water on their tails."

Then he went gloomily into the night.—Popular Magazine.

Swordsmanship Against a Tiger.

Sir James Outram, known as the Bayard of India, was a "mighty hunter" and an accomplished swordsman. He once performed the hazardous feat of killing a tiger with his sword and from the back of his horse. General Nicholson performed a similar feat. He rode round and round the tiger at a gallop, gradually narrowing the circle until at last he was near enough to deliver his blow. He had only the one blow and if he had failed would have been slain. The explanation of the feat is that the tiger does not spring upon the horseman during the circling process because he is watching his opportunity. As the circle draws closer and closer upon him he becomes bewildered by the strange maneuver, so unlike that of any hunter he has ever encountered.

BAD FOR THE STOMACH.

When Non-fatty Foods Are Intimately Mixed With Grease.

The stomach never has the least power of digesting true fat. This is disposed of in the intestines. When eaten in the ordinary forms, as fat meat, butter, etc., the fat separates out in the stomach and does not in the least interfere with the work of the gastric juice on the other food, but when a non-fatty food has been intimately mixed with grease the latter prevents the gastric juice getting at the food it could digest.

Fish fried in oil or butter is by no means the most marked example, as the fat does not penetrate very deeply. Potatoes mashed with butter are rather worse, and minced vegetables fried with butter are bad offenders. The reason advanced explains why pork is difficult of digestion. The muscular fibers are mixed up with fat cells, and by the liberation of the oil in each tiny cell the eaten pork is made into an oily paste.

A very strong stomach will do the work required, but it is not a fair task to impose frequently, and a weak stomach will refuse to do anything beyond reminding its owner by a few stabs that it will not stand such treatment.—Exchange.

Horse Hatred.

Of all the domestic animals the horse is probably the most gentle, but there are exceptions. A California man had in his stable a fine thoroughbred horse, of which he made quite a pet. One day he went into the stable, and, stopping to pat his favorite steed, he was surprised when the horse, with a violent plunge, broke the halter and came at him with open mouth. At first he thought it was in fun, but he soon realized his mistake and hastily climbed up a ladder and yelled for help. On the arrival of his son the horse went back to the stall and immediately resumed its former gentleness to all but its owner. To him it remained a deadly foe until he was compelled to sell it. He never knew the reason for its sudden animosity.

So He Did.

"Indians, you know," said the widely read man, "are very stoical. They're never known to laugh."

"Oh, I don't know," replied the flippant person. "The poet Longfellow made Minne ha-ha."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The two powers which in my opinion constitute a wise man are those of bearing and forbearing.—Epictetus.

THE BLACK SQUAD

Grimy Vulcans That Feed the Fires on Ocean Liners.

HEROES OF THE STOKEHOLD.

These Models of Human Grit Practically Brave Death Every Time They Face the Blistering Searing Blasts of Heat From the Glowing Furnaces.

An inferno, all smoke and heat and fire and uneasiness, is the stokehold of an ocean liner. As you enter it, picking your way over the burning ashes, the hot blast from the furnace mouths smites you in the face; it scorches your eyes and sears your lungs with every gasping breath you draw. Your impulse is to turn and fly. Life seems impossible in such an atmosphere.

And yet the inferno hums with life and strenuous, almost savage, industry. Opposite the huge boilers, quivering with suppressed power, like so many chained giants, are the figures of men as if carved in ebony, glistening with the sweat that streams from every pore. They are working furiously, with muscles swelling and knotting as if they would burst through their sheath of skin—humans in quick succeeding poses of fierce labor which would delight the eye of the sculptor and baffle his skill.

Gathering up a shovelful of coals, each man propels them with a quick forward thrust of the body into the white hot heart of the furnace and with a dextrous turn of the wrist spreads them evenly over the fire. Then, quick as the eye can follow, another shovelful succeeds and another, as if life itself hung on the breathless swiftness of the sequence.

Such is the stokehold in which the vulcans of our mammoth liners and battleships feed the greedy furnaces, which keep the propellers revolving to the tune of twenty knots and more an hour—the men of the "black gang" who, clad in trousers almost as black as their grimy bodies, and with a filthy "sweat rag" loosely knotted round their necks, toil thus for four hours at a stretch, until the last "ounce" is taken out of them, and they crawl back to their quarters for a well earned eight hours of rest.

If a fireman faints, overcome by the heat and exhaustion, he is quickly laid aside in some corner, with a little tepid water dashed on his face, and there he is left until he "comes round," while his fellows ply shovel and "slice" (the latter to clear the fire periodically from refuse) with a fiercer energy than before, adding the fallen man's labor to their own. The moment he recovers consciousness he struggles to his feet, seizes the shovel and is at it again. "Go off watch?" Not he! He's as good a man as any, and the fireman never knows when he's beaten

To call such men heroes is no abuse of an often misunderstood word. They are not only the last word in human grit and pluck—for your fireman will die rather than give in—they are heroes who face death every time they enter the stokehold, as lightheartedly as other men would sit down to their dinners. At any moment a fusible plug may fly, a boiler tube collapse, a gauge glass may splinter, and the captain may have occasion to "regret" that some good man or other has fallen a victim to his duty.

His ship may be sinking, the inrushing water swirling knee deep over the plates on which he is standing, but no thought of the boats and an escape to life is for him. He must stick to his post until the last fire is drawn and if he has time to race up the escape ladder to the boat deck well and good. If not—the odds are all against him—he goes down, a "mute, inglorious" hero, to his death. It is all part of the day's work for which he draws his meager pay, with a cheerful acceptance of the fact that his life will be short and certainly not merry, for you find few stokers who have passed their forty-fifth birthday.

It is not only that the fireman's muscles and stamina must bear this inhuman strain. He must watch the gauge glasses with the keen eyes of a lynx to see that the line of bubbling beads never rises above or falls below the level that denotes safety. He must know his boilers as a jockey knows his mount; which of them requires coaxing and which requires forcing to stimulate its sluggishness, for boilers, it is said, have as many whims and caprices as a woman.

On the whole, the stoker is no unamiable man. He may growl at his food, though he often fares "like a fighting cock" aboard; he may have a vocabulary which would make the average bargee green with envy, but he will laugh you to scorn if you suggest that his work is too hard and that he is not "game" to the backbone.—London Answers.

TRIALS OF TRAVEL IN PERSIA.

The Ubiquitous Caravan and the Crude Methods of Transportation.

In Persia it is no simple undertaking to prepare for a caravan journey of 150 miles or so, as your arrangements must allow for at least eight days on the road—in many places merely a rough, stony track through mountain gorges. A string of six or eight mules is required, and you have to be smart at a bargain when you haggle with the owner of the beasts, though as a matter of fact the muleteer generally gets his price. The next business is the engagement of a smart boy for the road and a cook to prepare the meals, and upon their character the entire comfort of your caravan journey depends.

Persian servants could give points to the most expert swell mobsman going. They always make the very best use of opportunities for plunder when the provisions for the trip are bought. Gradually, however, the large saddle bags begin to swell out with packets of tea, loaves of sugar, tins of provisions, rice, meat, bread, candles, coal and other necessaries. You have also to provide a new samovar, plates, knives, forks, spoons, together with a teapot and tea cups.

Fortunately for eight months of the year in Persia the sun shines continually out of a fine blue sky, so journeys are generally taken under ideal conditions. Rain adds the last note of desolation to the mostly barren land, making the miserable villages, full of hungry, begging people, and the gloomy, fortlike caravanserais gray, nightmare visions of hopelessness.

Often during the long hours of the daily march are heard the low sounding bells telling of an approaching caravan. Surrounded by huge bales of cotton, cases of opium and bundles of carpets come a troop of Persians on pilgrimage to Mecca or Kuballa, who for safety's sake generally travel with a large, well-guarded caravan. Their well-filled saddlebags contain everything necessary for their six or eight months' journey. So accustomed do the Persians become to the pace of their mules they can doze comfortably on their backs through the hot hours of the afternoon without running the slightest risk of misadventure, but the westerner has to keep wide awake to preserve his equilibrium.

The most useful vehicles for long journeys in Persia are the palakis and kajavahs, the quaintest contrivances for travel to be seen anywhere. These "Persian cabs" are fixed up on mules. Each animal carries two of them. Men, women and children sit in them cross legged, a painful and irksome position for Europeans, who usually prefer to ride horse or donkey rather than screw themselves up in these boxes.

Some skill, too, is required in loading up the mule with its human freight, care being taken that the two people who travel side by side are about the same weight. If a tiny husband and a fat wife have to go together his box must be filled with ballast so as to equalize the weight. Similar care has to be exercised in dismounting, for if one passenger jumps out without giving warning of his intention his neighbor is shot to the ground with unseemly haste.

The most comfortable means of travel, sacred to the use of the wealthiest class, is the takhtiravan, a kind of palanquin consisting of a box about seven feet long and five feet high fitted with doors and windows and furnished inside with a soft mattress and luxurious cushions. The vehicle is built on the sedan chair principles, the poles resting on a sort of saddle on the backs of the mules, which are harnessed tandem. Their area of usefulness is restricted to the plains and the sensation experienced while riding in them is like being tossed in an old-time liner on the stormy Atlantic.

In southern Persia there are no roads suitable for wheeled traffic, but Tartar guided post carriages are driven four horses abreast in the northern part of the country. Tartars are most reckless drivers and as their conveyances are springless only the most hardened westerner can travel in them with impunity.

Some British Glad Raiment.

The new mantle and cloak which the king has commanded for the knights of the Grand Cross of the Victorian Order will be very handsome indeed, of dark blue satin, with a border two inches deep of red, a cordon of blue and gold and white silk lining. The collar to be worn on "collar days" is beautiful indeed—all blue enamel and gold roses, with carbuncle centres and white enamel inscriptions. In the centre of all Queen Victoria's medallion is shown in gold. —London Gentlewoman.

GROTESQUE FASHIONS.

Queerly Arrayed Women of the Rubber Jungles of Brazil.

It was a queer civilization that Algot Lange found among the rubber workers at Remate de Males, in Brasil, and described in his book, "In the Amazon Jungles." "The rubber worker is a well-paid laborer even though he belongs to the unskilled class. The tapping of the rubber trees and the smoking of the milk pay from $3 to $10 a day in American gold. This, to him, of course, is riches, and the men labor here in order that they may go back to their own province as wealthy men. There are fewer women than men in Remate de Males, and none of the former is beautiful. They are for the most part Indians or Brazilians from the province of Ceara, with very dark skin, hair and eyes, and teeth filed like shark's teeth. They go barefooted as a rule. Here you will find all the incongruities typical of a race taking the first step in civilization. The women show in their dress how the well-paid men lavish on them the extravagances that appeal to the lingering savage left in their simple natures.

"Women, who have spent most of their isolated lives in utterly uncivilized surroundings, will suddenly be brought into a community where other women are found, and immediately the instinct of self adornment is brought into full play. Each of them falls under the sway of 'Dame Fashion'—for there are the latest things even on the upper Amazon. A red skirt with green stars was considered at one time the height of fashion, until an inventive woman discovered that yellow dots could also be worked in.

In addition to these dresses, the women will squander money on elegant patent leather French slippers (with which they generally neglect to wear stockings), and use silk handkerchiefs perfumed with the finest Parisian eau de cologne, bought at a cost of from $14 to $15 a bottle. Arrayed in all her glory on some gala occasion, the whole effect enhanced by the use of a short pipe, from which she blows volumes of smoke, the woman of Remates de Males is a unique sight."

How Seeds Travel.

They have been discovering some extraordinary plants in England, plants which puzzled the botanists, to whom they were either utterly unknown or known as growing only in far distant lands. One naturalist picked on the grounds of the Bradford sewage works 160 species of foreign plants. Among these were several Australian burrs, Jimson weed, prickly poppies from Mexico, others native to Peru, Siberia and the Azores. All were of a prickly nature. Investigation proved that the dust from wool combing establishments was being used as fertilizer and the washings of wool were run into the sewers. The burrs of these foreign plants had come in the wool and had grown. Other plants had sprung from seed in rags and others been brought in soil on foreign timber.—New York World.

Gained in Weight, Digestion Restored, Health Renewed

Here is More Proof of Quick Cure For All Folks That Are Weak, Ailing, Nervous.

More Praise for Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"For a period last summer the thought of food excited feelings of nausea," writes Mrs. C. A. Dodge, of Bloomsbury. "The heat had made me listless and the distaste for food reduced me to a condition of semi-starvation and brought me to the verge of nervous collapse. Tonics were useless to restore an active desire for food. The doctors told me my liver and kidneys were both at fault, but the medicines they gave me were too severe and reduced my strength so that I had to abandon them. At the suggestion of a friend who had been cured of blood and skin trouble, I began the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The differences I first noticed was, that while they cleansed the system, instead of feeling weaker I felt better after taking them. Indeed their activity was so mild it was easy to forget I had taken them at all; they seemed to go right to the liver, and in a very brief time not only did all source of nausea disappear, but I began to crave food and I digested it reasonably well. Then I began to put on weight until within three months I was brought to a condition of good health. I urge Dr. Hamilton's Pills for all who are in poor health."

Get this best of all medicines today and refuse a substitute for Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers, 25c. per box, or five for $1.00. Sent postpaid by The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Yesterday was rally day at the Murray street Baptist Sunday school a feature of the occasion being an excellent address delivered by His Hon. Judge Huycke, on the subject of "Canada for Christ." There was a large attendance of teachers and scholars.

"The Bachelor's Baby."

On account of the counter attraction at the Fair grounds, there was not as large an attendance at the Grand Opera House to witness the play of "The Bachelor's Baby" as there should have been. On Saturday night, however, there was a better house. The play was fully described in a former issue of The Times.

The Directorate is composed of both policy holders and guarantors.

Broke Plate Glass Window.

While shaking hands with a friend on Saturday morning, Mr. Richard Fallis, of Cavan, lost his balance and fell against a plate glass window at Barrie's Limited. The window is a total loss, costing about $80, while the pane adjoining received injuries to about half that sum. Fortunately the damage is covered by insurance.

Beaverton After Textile Industry.

Advocate: Several matters of importance to the villagers were on deck for consideration at the meeting of the Board of Trade, among others being a proposition from a textile industry to locate in Beaverton. The industry proposed to employ fifty hands with a considerable increase in the near future.

An Interesting Experiment.

A Cannington butcher has decided upon an interesting experiment. He is withdrawing his delivery wagon, and will give his customers the benefit of this saving of expense by reducing the price of all fresh meat two cents a pound. In a small place like Cannington there ought to be reason to expect that the new policy will be welcome and successful.

Known in Peterborough.

Frank Microch, an Italian, who was arrested in Hamilton on Friday last with attempted murder, is said to have lived in Peterborough, having been engaged at the new power house. The charge of murder may be laid against him as the victim was severely stabbed in the back, while walking down the street.

A False Report.

A report was in circulation on Saturday to the effect that Mr. Tom Eastwood, the well known Buckhorn hotelkeeper, who had one of his toes amputated a short time ago at Nicholls Hospital on account of gangrene, was in a serious condition. The Times is pleased to learn that the report is without foundation, and that Mr. Eastwood's condition is improving.

At Murray Street Church.

The pulpit of Murray street Baptist church was occupied last night by Rev. H. D. Kennedy, who is at present visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Kennedy, Water street. Mr. Kennedy has spent five years in California as travelling evangelist, and last year he was in Indiana. His next work will be in Michigan. His masterly discourse last night was listened to with interest and no doubt also with profit, by a large congregation.

A Painful Injury.

The corner of Bethune and Stewart streets was the scene of a collision between a large touring car, said to be from Toronto, and a horse and buggy, owned by William Byers, of Cavan. The buggy was overturned by the force of the impact and the driver was seriously cut about the head, caused by coming in contact with the steel tire of the buggy. It required several stitches to close up the wound before the injured man could proceed to his home. The vehicle was slightly damaged.

Drug Business Changed Hands.

Mr. Geo. J. Riley, who has carried on a drug business at the corner of King and Bethune streets, for the past nine years, has sold out to Mr. F. C. Weber, late of the McKenzie Seyler Co., Limited, Druggists, of Toronto. The new proprietor is an honor graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, and being thoroughly qualified, hopes to receive a continuance of the generous patronage heretofore extended to Mr. Riley. Telephone, as before, 442.

Peterborough a Live City.

Professor Dorenwend, Toronto's well known hair goods merchant, was in the city on Saturday on a business trip, and dropped in to pay his respects to The Times. Mr. Dorenwend thinks Peterborough is one of the most progressive little cities in Canada, and says he can see a marked improvement every time he comes here. Mr. Dorenwend believes that Canadians have a great mission and is of opinion that we are destined to become the bulwark of the British Empire in the not far distant future.

A Slight Mix-up.

In Saturday's issue there appeared an item stating that Mr. Duncan Brown, reeve of Burleigh, was in the city. The mistake was in stating that Mr. Brown was reeve. This is not correct, the office of Chief Magistrate being filled by Mr. Wm. Tucker, a gentleman who also took in the Peterborough Fair last week. Mr. Tucker as well as Mr. Brown will please accept our apologies.

A Blacklister's Troubles.

At the police court on Saturday, a blacklister put up ten "bucks" for being drunk. Chief Thompson tried to find out where he got his jag, but the inebriate told what was probably a cock-and-bull story about having been to Lindsay, where he secured a bottle. He said he returned to Peterborough on the nine o'clock train, but both Chief Thompson and Detective Newhall were at the station and failed to see him disentrain.

Barnardo Girls Coming.

Rev. W. J. Mayers, Senior Secretary of the Barnardo Homes, sails for Canada on the 19th aboard the Sicilian, in charge of an emigrant party of 200 girls and boys. The principal object of Mr. Mayer's visit is to advocate the claims of the institution for Canadian support, which has hitherto been very little. Mr. Mayers takes an influential personal introduction from the Bishop of Durham, Lord Strathcona and others. The girls will be brought to the Barnardo Home in Peterborough.

Chief Thompson is Prompt.

Chief of Police Thompson was a busy man on Saturday afternoon. In conjunction with Ontario Constable Brodie he made sure of getting the alleged law breakers at the Fair to speedy trial. The Chief with great thought for the comfort of the accused, as noted in another column obtained the presence of Magistrate Dumble so that the men charged would not have to be detained over Sunday. He and officer Brodie took an automobile to the grounds between the various trials and got their man. Whilst there the Chief's eagle eye was on the alert for other offenders.

Says He Is Sane.

A man named Charles Bell, an inmate of Rockwood Asylum for insane Kingston, came to Peterborough on Friday, having escaped from that institution. It appears that several days ago Chief of Police Thompson was notified from Kingston to be on the look out for the escaped man. It appears that he had been in Keene with relatives and came to Peterborough to see the fair. Constable Cochrane says the man is perfectly sane, and acted in every respect as a rational individual.

Saturday morning the Superintendent of Rockwood was called up by long distance and informed that Bell was in custody here. Acting on his instructions Constable Cochrane took the man to Port Hope, where he was met by an officer, who took him back to the asylum. Mr. G. N. Gordon is acting for Mr. Bell.

He Resisted Arrest.

A young man named Gill in charge of the living snake exhibit at the Fair was nearly the means of participating a small sized riot in front of the grand stand on Saturday afternoon. Constable Archie Moore requested him to move away from the space allotted to the tents occupied by some of the performers. He refused to do so and Mr. Moore undertook to arrest him. He resisted with all his might, and being a husky young man it required several officers to subdue him. He kicked and fought, giving those in the grand stand a pugilistic exhibition that was not on the programme. Beyond a few slight bruises and torn shirts, those engaged in the fray, were not injured. In the bigness of his heart Constable Moore decided to let the young man go, probably as a reward for his pluck.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Well, the local Fall Fair has gone down into history as a signal success.

The second heat in the 2.22 class on Saturday was most exciting. Manitou King winning by half a length, won in a few rods from the post.

Local magisterial judgment, Saturday afternoon settles the "swing ball" game. This will be of interest to Fair followers throughout the Province, as this game has only been allowed at Church affairs before.

Detective Newhall was again in the lime light on Saturday afternoon. His watchful vigilance played no small part in getting some $35 in fines for the city.

Many of those who paud for concessions at the Fair complained because it was closed down Saturday evening. Possibly if it had been kept open, complaints would have been heard, later from other quarters.

POLITICAL RIOT IN BELFAST FOLLOWS UNFURLING OF GREEN FLAG ON CELTIC FOOTBALL FIELD

Orange Bannerettes Were Thrown to the Breeze And In Fight That Followed Scores Were Injured —Further Trouble is Feared

New York, Sept. 16.—A London cable printed here this morning says: "While the Tory press, which is anti-Home Rule and pro-Ulster, is now busily informing the Government that the Belfast riots of Saturday, in which 20,000 persons turned their attention from football to politics in such a fashion that a hundred people were injured, prove that the Home Rule bill cannot be carried, The London Daily Chronicle, the leading Liberal paper, this morning presents a different side of the story, indicating that the whole trouble was the result of a "Tory plot" hatched in the shipyards.

Rumors of Trouble.

"The Chronicle's Belfast correspondent writes: "Accounts of the affair calculated to convey an entirely erroneous idea of the causes of the riot were sent broadcast oper the wires. Celtic Park, where the match was played, is at the extreme end of the Nationalist quarter. During the week there were rumors of possible trouble, but no one paid serious attention to them.

"'It now transpires that the whole affray was organized amongst the members of the Unionist Clubs in the Belfast shipyards.

Thousands Mixed in Scuffle.

"'These people came on the scene provided with orange bannerettes and armed with revolvers which they began to use the moment the trouble started. They took up their position in the unreserved area on a raised bank at the end of the ground, where they formed a solid mass.

"'Long before the game they freely gave expression to their desire to "kick the pope." When the visiting team had lined up, they continued their insults and unfurled hundreds of orange banners. When the Celtic club banners appeared, its bearer was knocked down and brutally kicked. It would have been too much to expect other sympathizers to look quietly on, and soon there were thousands mixed up in the scuffle.'"

"Popular Passion."

The Daily Mail, a Tory organ, says, editorially: "While we are most anxious to in no way exaggerate the importance of this encounter it was unquestionably a political riot, not an ordinary fight between partisans of football clubs. Popular passion in Belfast may pass beyond control, and it is clear Mr. Churchill now realizes that the Home Rule bill cannot be forced through in its present form."

STRANDED WITH 400 EXCURSIONISTS

Steamer Caspian on a Mud Bank Near Brighton.

Kingston, Sept. 16.—The Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Navigation Company's steamer Caspian went aground about two o'clock this morning in Presque Bay, near Brighton, with a crowd of about 400 excursionists for Rozhester and other American ports on board. Presque Bay, where the steamer struck is in a cut about seventy miles from here. The boat is on a mud bank and will not be damaged.

The Calvin Wrecking Company's tug, Cornwall, left at four o'clock this morning to tow the stranded steamer to deep water.

MILITARY OUT TO KEEP PEACE

Another Outbreak of Sectarianism at Queen's Island Shipyard.

Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 16.—Queen's Island Shipyard was the scene of another fierce outbreak of sectarianism this morning. Several artisans were badly mauled, one of them so severely that he was carried out of the yard unconscious.

Excitement at both of the big shipyards, which are the largest employers of labor in Belfast, has risen to fever pitch. Many men refused to go to work to-day at Harland & Wolff's plant, and only a very few Catholics are working at the other yard, as the manager last week advised against their return to work on account of the feeling shown by the Protestants against them.

The military, which has been confined to the barracks since Saturday's disturbance, when sixty persons were severely injured in a fierce fight waged on the Celtic Park football grounds, was ordered out to-day to keep the peace.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Fair and cool.

BOY TOUCHED LIVE WIRE WAS INSTANTLY KILLED

Ten Year Old Harry Cousins Was on His Way to School in West Toronto—Youthful Rescuers Received Shock

Toronto, Sept. 16.—Grasping a live wire of the Stark Developing Company which dangled a few inches from the pavement, ten year old Harry Cousins, 29 Mulock avenue, was almost instantly electrocuted at Annette street and Pacific avenue, West Toronto, shortly before nine o'clocv this morning.

The little chap was playing with a number of other children close to the school when he noticed the broken wire dangling close to him. He was about to grab it, when one of his playmates warned him to be careful. With a laugh, however, the lad seized the wire which was carrying a heavy voltage, and the next moment was hurled backwards to the ground.

Father M. Staley, who lives at 161 Annette street, was apprised, and he carried the little fellow into his house, and telephoned for Dr. Hopkins. When the physician arrived, however, he could only pronounce life extinct.

WORST POSSIBLE WEATHER FOR THRESHING IN THE WEST

Much Frost and Rain Reported From the Prairie Provinces —Most of the Grain Is Cut—High Winds Shell Some of It

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 16.—It is raining all through Manitoba to-day and it is cold and damp all over Saskatchewan, the worst possible weather for threshing.

Sunday morning frost was reported all over Saskatchewan, ten degrees at Regina, seven at Wynnayd, five at Saskatoon. In Alberta ten degrees was reported at Lethbridge, and five north of Edmonton.

All the wheat and most of the oats is cut in the West, but considerable flax is still in the field.

High winds preceded the rain on Saturday and shelled considerable grain. The prospects look very blue to-day, as the weather does nor seem to improve.

Saturday's wheat inspections show splendid grading, 97 cars out of 142 being contract and 50 grading as No. 1 Northern. This proves that old farmers who seed and harvest early have their reward.

Twenty points in Saskatchewan, three In Alberta, and two in Manitoba, Russell and Dauphin, reported frost to-day.

INVESTORS INTERESTED.

Vancouver Suburb One Year Notes Issued to Yield 5½ Per Cent.

The announcement that the Dominion Bond Company, Limited, had bought an issue of $1,200,000 one-year notes of the Municipality of Point Grey, a suburb of Vancouver, has attracted considerable attention among investors because of the magnitude of the purchase—it being the largest issue of short term securities ever sold by a Municipality for distribution at home—and because of the marked departure from usual financing methods.

Point Grey, which is regarded as the finest suburb of Vancouver, authorized an issue of $1,350,000 long term bonds, but, after the experience of Toronto and some other cities abroad, decided that the present was not a good time to place them on the market which was not favorable temporarily to this kind of security. Hence the arrangement with the Dominion Bond Company, Limited for an issue of one-year notes.

An usually strong feature of the notes which the Dominion Bond Company is now offering to the public is the fact that the net debt of Point Grey is only six per cent of the assessed valuation. The, coupled with the high interest yield of 5½ per cent. makes the issue one of the most satisfactory from an investor's point of view ever offered, and despite the large amount it is expected that the public will subscribe for the entire issue within a very few days.

DUCHESS OF ROXBURGHE

King George and Queen Mary of England have accepted the invitation of the Duke and Duchess of Roxburghe to spend a short time at their country home, Floors Castle, in Kelso, Roxburghshire, on the Scottish border. This is considered a social triumph for the Duchess, who was formerly Miss May Goelet, of New York. The visit of the royal family will take place in the fall.

INVADING "GERMAN" ARMY IS MARCHING TOWARD LONDON

British Grand Army Manoeuvres on an Unusually Large Scale—Mimic War to Continue Five Days

Cambridge, Eng., Sept. 16.—Having received word that the Blue Army, under command of Lieut.-General Sir Douglas Haig, which in the Grand Army manoeuvres commenced to-day represents an invading force from the North Sea, had started to march towards London, the defending army set out at daybreak this morning to intercept it.

The manoeuvres are being conducted on the most elabarate scale held in England for some years. The general scheme provides for the repulse of an invading army from the direction of Germany, the scene of operations adjoining the eastern coast line of England.

The manoeuvres in the early stages will be confined to Norfolk and Cambridge, though later they will cover an area including Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex, Hartford, Huntington and Bedford. The mimic war will continue for five days.

The hefending army which spent last week in carrying out divisional manoeuvres, is composed of 22,500 men, 900 horses, 96 guns, 68 machine guns, and 1,500 cyclists. The invading force has 2,500 more men. Each army has the use of one airship and eight aeroplanes, the latter fleet having been considerably reduced through the order prohibiting the use of mono planes on account of the recent accidents which resulted in the deaths of four lieutenants of the army flying corps.

It is expected that the red and blue armies will clash to-morrow. By that time King George will have reached the scene of operations and all the military attaches will have taken the field.

PHILLIPS & SHAW CO. AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Patrons of the Grand Theatre will have an opportunity on Saturday, matinee and night, Sept. 21st, to see that most popular of all farce comedies "Billy," which is said to have made more people laugh than any play of its kind as presented by Sidney Drew. The entire plot hinges on four front teeth, false ones of course, which jump out of Billy's mouth at the most critical moment of his life, for he is just in the act of pledging his love and devotion in a proposal of marriage to the girl of his choice, while on a sea voyage which he is taking for the benefit of his health, accompanied by his charming sister, Alice. After the loss of his dental improvements, Billy can only lisp and sputter so is compelled to forego the opportunity which has been offered him to press his suit for the hand of the girl he loves, and in the meantime, his sweetheart, Beatrice, feeling deeply insulted by his most peculiar actions, receives and encourages the attentions which are being shown her by Billy's hated rival who is also on board. Billy, assisted by his devoted sister, makes a desperate search for the lost molars but in vain until Alice finally locates them in a nice glass case on exhibition calling for the owner to come and claim them, but owing to his sensativeness he is unwilling to claim his property until finally they are put up for auction when Billy succeeds in securing them at an immense cost. For two hours and a half of pure unadulterated fun and laughter there never was and never will be anything which will fill the bill so thoroughly as this screaming farce comedy "Billy," as being presented by the Phillips & Shaw Co.

GUNMEN UNDER ARREST SILENT IMPORTANT EVIDENCE LOCATED

"Lefty Louie" and "Gyp the Blood" Refuse to Make Any Statements to Attorney.

Many Letters and Postcards Found Which May Have Importance.

Trailed Their Wives to Brookly Apartments, Where They Were Hiding.

New York, Sept. 16.—Harry Harowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood," and "Lefty Louie" Rosensweig, preparing for their arraignment to-day on indictments charging them with the murder of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, evinced no more disposition to give information or make any admissions than they did yesterday, when Assistant District Attorney Moss grilled them for three hours regarding the night when a grey motor car drew up near the hotel Metropole and the band of gunmen shot Rosenthal down after the gambler had been enticed to the sidewalk. The two gunmen declined to talk about the murder until after they had conferred with counsel.

Forty or more letters and postcards found in the rooms of the two gunmen may furnish important information to the States Attorney. Detectives ramsacked the apartments from the ceiling to the floor. Carpets were lifted, paper was torn from the walls in the search for evidence. Beneath the boards of the floor and tucked under carpets correspondence was found which Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty says is of importance.

The gunmen's counsel asked to enter tentative pleas of not guilty with leave to withdraw, but decided to wait until next Wednesday before pleading. The wives of the prisoners and Max Kahn, the alleged pickpocket arrested in the flat occupied by the gunmen were held in $2,500 bail each as material witnesses.

The gunmen were nattily dressed, and took a keen interest in the proceedings. They had no statements to make.

Assistant Attorney Moss was prepared to-day to make a demand upon the Police Department for the letters found. Mr. Moss said he was unable to understand why the news of the finding of the letters had been withheld from him.

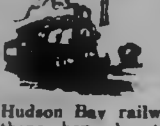
RUSHING THE H. B. RAILWAY

Remarkable Journey of Minister of Railways of the North



Ottawa, Sept. 16.—RANK Cochrane, the Minister of Railways and Canals, has returned to Ottawa from a remarkable journey over the route of the Hudson Bay railway by canoe, and thence home by steamer through the Bay and the Straits. It was the first time that a minister of the crown had ever attempted to see, first hand, the great northern country, and to study for himself on the spot the feasibility of the Hudson Bay route. It was an arduous trip, and only a man of the north used to life in the open, like Mr. Cochrane, could have ever undertaken such a journey.

CANOE AND STEAMER

The trip from Le Pas to the mouth of the river Nelson was by canoe. At the Nelson Mr. Cochrane was met by the government steamer, Stanley. He made a thorough inspection of both Port Nelson and Fort Churchill. Mr. Cochrane has returned much impressed with the feasibility of the scheme. "I have great faith in the route," he stated, and has announced, "I will shove the line for all I am worth."

WHAT A DIFFERENCE.

The difference between the attitudes of the two governments towards the Hudson Bay Railway is striking. During their fifteen years in power the Liberals, before every election, announced that they would rush the Hudson Bay line. The west, however, had to be content with pre-election promises. After the fifteen years all that was done was to start a bridge at Le Pas. Two weeks before the election the railroad was hurriedly let for the first section, but no work was started. Mr. Cochrane found when he had assumed office that the government was without any authentic information as to the route the harbor terminals, or the length of navigation in the Bay or in the Straits.

SENT ENGINEERS.

Mr. Cochrane despatched engineers overland to the Bay to examine both parts as to which was preferable, while two steamers, the Arctic and the Minto, were sent by water. Expert harbor engineers were also sent north to start work. "Full steam ahead on the Hudson Bay" was Mr. Cochrane's announcement, and he has more than fulfilled his promise. Work was rushed on the first section. The contract was led on the second, and the tenders for the first section to the Bay have been called for, so that by this fall all of the road will be underway and early next spring work on the harbor and terminals will be started, so that by the time the line reaches tae Bay docks and elevators will be ready for the steamers to carry the grain of the West to the European markets.

AN EXTRA SAILING.

White Star Dominion Line Give Extra Steamer Nov. 23.

Montreal, Sept. 17.The White Star Dominion Line has just announced an extra sailing from Montreal for Saturday, Nov. 23rd, by their "Megantic" to provide for an unusually heavy fall movement to the old country, forecasted by the prosperity of all classes in Canada at the present time

All the Canadian Lines are also preparing for a heavy outward movement for the Christmas holiday season and the White Star Line has compled with their arrangement a list of three special sailings from Portland, Me., and Halifax, N.B., viz.: "Laurentic," Dec. 7th., "Teutonic," Dec. 14, and "Canada" Dec. 21st. In discussing the extent of this movement with one of the White Star officials to-day, he stated that heavy bookings homeward for the holidays is a sure indication of unequally heavy return booking in the early spring as the passengers for the most part take return tickets with them and usually the price of a friend's passage as well, and a great many of our imigrants come over as the result of these Christmas homegatherings of our recently arrived Canadians who take advantage of the dull winter months to visit the old folks.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 65 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

The Wrong Crowd.

Mr. George Grossmith tells this story of when he was performing with his father. On one occasion, instead of beginning the performance at eight o'clock, as advertised, they did not arrive in the town until twenty minutes past that hour. "We dressed in the cab, which flew along like a fire engine. Suddenly we espied a building lighted up and a large crowd coming out. 'Go back, go back!' shouted my father to the crowd as he put his head out of the cab. 'Go back; it is all right—Grossmith is here. We have arrived—go back!' Unfortunately it was not our audience, but a congregation leaving a Methodist chapel after service."

Disputed Authority.

There is a story told of Drs. Chalmers and Stewart, who argued on the street corner on some knotty point of theology with Scottish pertinacity until it was time to separate, when one of them remarked, "You will find my views very well put in a certain tract," of which he gave the title, upon which, to his surprise, his antagonist replied, "Why, I wrote that tract myself."

An Unsinkable "Boat."

Among the water vehicles the most extraordinary is the catamaran of the Madras fishermen. It consists of three logs lashed together flush with the surface of the water and is propelled with a single oar. The catamaran is really unsinkable and in rough weather could be used when an ordinary boat could not.

ENTERTAINING THE KING.

What It Cost To Be the Host of Royalty.

King George, like the late King Edward, does everything that lies in his power to prevent undue trouble or expense being incurred by those whom he visits, and everything that savors of ostentation is most obnoxious to him. At the same time it is necessary that a certain amount of formality should be carefully observed, and all this runs into money. His Majesty, for instance, is invariably accompanied by an Equerry, who, by reason of his position, becomes a member of the house party, while if the Queen travels with His Majesty, her Lady-in-Waiting has likewise to be included among the guests. It is very rarely that the King is attended by more than two body servants; while three maids, as a rule, suffice for Queen Mary's requirements.

It is laid down that His Majesty must upon all occasions have a suite of apartments to himself, and it is desired that these should be as far removed from the rooms of the other members of the house party as possible. A similar suite has to be provided for Queen Mary when she is present. Not many years ago a well-known nobleman who was entertaining the present King for the first time spent over $10,000 in providing a new suite of rooms for His Majesty's occupation.

Whenever it is at all possible, the King also desires that he should be placed in telegraphic and telephonic communication with the royal palaces, so that he may be within easy reach of his secretaries and the chief officials of his household. Most country seats are, of course, to-day upon the telephone, but the telegraph is a very different matter, and when the late King Edward was once staying in the North of England his host spent $650 to provide a special telegraph wire. His late Majesty, as it happened, only required to make use of it upon one occasion, when he wired exactly eight words to Buckingham Palace—surely the most expensive telegram that was ever dispatched.

Enlivened the Dinner.

When Muzaffer-ed-Din, Shah of Persia, paid his first visit to England he was the guest of King Edward VII., then Prince of Wales. On the evening of his arrival a banquet was held at the palace, and on the menu was asparagus.

As it happened the Shah had never heard of, much less tasted, asparagus till that evening. When the dish was brought on he helped himself to half of it, picked each stalk up in his fingers, nibbled gingerly at the head and then threw the stalk over his shoulder on to the carpet. To have let it remain on his plate would have been a breach of Persian etiquette.

All eyes were turned to the Prince of Wales. What was he going to do?

The prince, tactful as ever, glanced at those about him, then at his plate; then he picked up stalk after stalk, ate what he wanted and threw the balance on the carpet behind his chair.

A moment later thirty people in that room were eating asparagus in Persian fashion. The air was thick with flying stalks, and the attendants, trained to look more serious than ever on such occasions, never batted an eyelash nor moved a muscle.

BOOTH ANECDOTES.

The Late General Was a Man of Many and Varied Characteristics.

Many anecdotes are told of the dead leader to illustrate his many-sided character.

In discussing the anti-suicide bureaus of the army he once said:

"Kindness and charity are factors of these bureaus. The charity will be of the right kind, I trust. There are, you know, two kinds of charity, and too much of it is like the barber's.

"There was a poor deacon in Warwick who had no money and needed to be shaved, and he went from barber to barber, but none of them, despite his holy office, was willing to shave him for nothing.

"In the end, though, he found a barber who, on hearing his tale, said gruffly.

"'Sit down there in that chair.'

"Suddenly the barber's dog in the adjacent room set up a terrific howling.

"'Be still, there!' cried the barber. And he muttered anxiously, 'What can they be doing to him?'

"'Alas,' said the deacon, 'I shouldn't wonder if some one was shaving him out of charity'."

On another occasion General Booth was talking to a reporter.

"Are you saved?" he asked suddenly.

The young man flushed, stammered and hesitated.

"Well," said the general, "do not despair. There is a chance even for reporters."

Then, discussing prayer, General Booth told a story, a story with a moral.

"There was a young clergyman appointed to a small country town," he began, "and a short time after his arrival a horsy-looking man in leggings stopped him on the street one day, bowed respectfully and said in a trembling voice:

"'If you please, sir, would you mind next Sabbath offering up a bit of a prayer for Milly Dean?'

"The minister, of course, assented. The man, whose look was worried and haggard, took leave gratefully, and on the next and the two following Sundays Milly Dean was prayed for from the pulpit.

"Then one afternoon the man in leggings met the minister again.

"'Thank you for them prayers, sir,' he said, 'but you needn't pray no more for Milly Dean.'

"'Why,' said the other, shocked, 'is she dead?'

"'Dead?' said the man in leggings. 'No; she's just won the Blue Ribbon handicap by a length and a half'."

An instance of the fire and feverish anxiety of General Booth to compress as much work as possible into the closing years of his ministry was provided on his missions by motor. "Faster" was the word that impelled the general ever forward, and it is to be feared that in his anxiety to carry the message into the remote villages that are still off the train track he did not always observe the speed limit. He frequently exceeded thirty miles an hour.

When his chauffeur was getting all he could out of the engines the general's cry was still "Faster!" The car was capable of thirty-five miles an hour. That did not satisfy him. He always wanted to move quicker. He would sit on the front seat by the driver, whispering every now and again, "Faster!"

Royal Measuring Board.

In the gymnasium of Buckingham Palace in London is an upright measuring board, on which the children of the King and Queen record their heights every few months. Each has a burning ambition to be tall, and there is said to be a keen rivalry among them as to who shall be the giant. Before the Prince of Wales left for Paris the first time, his younger brother had a slight advantage of him in size, but during his absence he gained in width as well as in height.

Shadow of the Holy Stone.

It is a singular fact that June 21 is the only day in the year that at sunrise a shadow is cast by the "holy stone" across the altar stone at Stonehenge, England. The event is always made the occasion of a pilgrimage at daybreak by members of the Universal Bond of the Sons of Men and many tourists. Stonehenge is reported to have been a sun temple.

Busiest Spot on Earth.

The most crowded spot in the world for five and a half days of the week is that small tract of territory, covering one acre, bounded by the Royal Exchange Bank, and the Mansion House in the city of London. It is a veritable human ganglion, says The Strand Magazine. If you were to stretch an invisible thread north and south across this space you would find that in the course of each day no fewer than 500,000 persons passed and repassed, together with 50,000 vehicles. And the busiest corner of all in this busy acre is immediately outside the Mansion House, for rather more than half the traffic crossing our imaginary boundaries passes that way. The results of a traffic census taken by the city police show that on an average day some 30,000 vehicles pass this particular corner, while the pedestrian traffic is well over 250,000, and these figures are constantly increasing.

The Life Story of a Sow.

To get the full flavor of this anecdote, which occurs in Watt's "Edinburgh and the Lothians," you must know Edinburgh's Cowgate and its curious buildings. It happened to Dr. Guthrie, after whom a street in the neighborhood, inclosing part of the Horse Wynd and College Wynd, is named. Dr. Guthrie had climbed to the summit of a tall "land" one day on a charitable visit. When he entered the room he perceived a sow, of which the family seemed very proud. "However did you get that great animal upstairs?" asked the doctor, panting after his climb. "Ay, but it never wa doon!" was the laconic and conclusive reply.

Precocious Fox.

Charles James Fox is probably the only man who ever made a maiden speech in the House of Commons while still a youth in his teens. He was nineteen when he took his seat for Midhurst, and within a few months he had made three excellent speeches. And yet even at this early age Fox used frequently to sit up all night drinking and gambling.

Rainy Spots.

The rainiest day on record anywhere in England was August 6, 1857, when the rain gauge at Scarborough, holding nine and one-half inches, was filled to overflowing. The rainiest place in England is Sty Head, in Westmorland, where the mean annual fall is 175 inches, but where in wet years there have been measured 200 inches, or 17 feet.

Old Street Lettering.

Names of London streets are often painted on the bricks of the houses, and when the letters wear off a painter renews them—and freqently makes a mistake in spelling. A movement is now under way for uniform street nameplates.

THE FORUM

It is perfectly proper to speak of the recent baby show at Riverside Park as a howling success.

It is reported that the Liberal party is short of funds. This may explain the tie that binds the party and the plain people who are in the same fix.

For a name that is real damp we commend that of Mr. Fountain Wetmore Rainwater, who lives in Waterloo, Ont.

Turkey's modern form of Government doesn't seem to be any check on the killing of Christians. Abraham Lincoln said you couldn't give a sheep five legs by calling its tail a leg, and he was right.

A delegate at the Labor Convention in Guelph stated that the Lemieux Act provided for everything but its enforcement. After all, this is the most important essential of all.

Newspaper men are coming up in the world. It was stated the other day that one of them in Regina is a millionaire. Another has been elected Chancellor of the University of British Columbia. But the triumphs of these gentleman pale beside that of the Pittsburg editor who has been enrolled in the glorious company of Lillian Russell's husbands.

FISKE O'HARA IN "THE ROSE OF KILDARE"

Fiske O'Hara, who easily ranks as the foremost exponent of Irish character parts of the romantic order, will be the attraction at the Grand next Thursday, Sept. 19, in his new play, "The Rose of Kildare." A romance of the stirring days of 1798, in the County Kildare, is the theme of Messrs. Paulton and Bradley's work, which is one of the daintiest and most attractive vehicles that Mr. O'Hara has yet obtained to display his versatile talents. It tells how one Gerald O'Donnell, a mad-cap young gentleman of the County is shipwrecked on the coast of Wicklow in a French vessel bearing supplies from Napoleon to aid the Irish insurgents in their struggle against Engaldn. He reaches the shore and finds that a treacherous friend of his sweetheart has informed the authorities of his proposed landing and that he is a proscribed rebel. The soldiers unwittingly help him to reach Ballymara Castle, the home of his sweetheart Lady Moya Fitzpatrick, the Rose of Kildare, but his escape is soon made known to his arch-enemy, Brian Burke, who compels Gerald to take to the Wicklow Mountains, where he is soon captured by the soldiers. He is led back, a prisoner, to Ballymara Castle, now occupied by English soldiers and there court martialled and sentenced to death. As he is being led out to execution, the commanding officer is notified that Burke who is a magistrate of the county, has received a proclamation of amnesty, and is holding back for the purpose of having O'Donnell shot. Burke now becomes a prisoner, charged with attempted murder, and Gerald and his Rose of Kildare become once more united. "The Rose of Kildare" is of the Pitou productions and there is a fine company, in the roster of which are many prominent names. Charming Irish songs, of which Mr. O'Hara has quite a large budget in this performance, will of course, be one of the attractive features of the entertainment, and will be sung as only O'Hara can sing ones, and put them in the water. est Invention of age For Hoarseness, Weak Throat

Nothing So Far Discovered is so Beneficial to Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers and Teachers as Catarrhozone.

Because of its strengthening influence upon the vocal cords, Catarrhozone cannot be too highly recommended as a wonderful voice improver. It almost instantly removes huskiness or hoarseness, thus insuring clearness and brilliancy of tone. Catarrhozone keeps the mucous surfaces in perfect condition, and its regular use absolutely prevents colds and throat irritation, thereby removing the singer's greatest source of anxiety—unfitness of voice. The most eminent speakers and prima donnas are seldom without Catarrhozone, and credit in no small degree their uniform strength and brilliancy of tone to its influence.

Singer Recommends Catarrhozone.

"For many years I have been a sufferer from that terrible disease known as Catarrh.

"Being a professional singer you can readily understand that Catarrh would be a serious hindrance to my professional skill.

"One year ago I read in the Progress a convincing testimonial from one who had been cured of this disease through using your God sent invention, Catarrhozone.

"Believing in the merits of Catarrhozone, I tried it.

"Catarrhozone cured me and has been the means of my success.

"You are at liberty to use my name, if it will help relieve some from suffering, and I will always remain.

"Bob Bixley, New Glasgow, N.S."

Mr. Bixley is one of the best known singers and entertainers in the Maritime Provinces. Everyone knows him, and his testimonial for Catarrhozone is the best sort of evidence of what great benefit Catarrhozone is to those suffering with throat weakness or catarrh.

Complete outfit, consisting of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months, costs one dollar. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely to your address by mail if price is forwarded to the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., or Kingston, Ont.

BIG PILES OF BOOKS CLAIMED

Every day now is dictionary day at The Times.

Such a demand marked the opening of the distribution of Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary that the success of the popular educational venture is assured, and more books are being rushed here by the carload.

Do not delay to reach the dictionary department before the entire 1911 edition of the most modern dictionary is exhausted.

Start clipping the required six consecutive coupons to-day.

Be sure that you accept no substitutes.

These valuable books are being distributed from the main office of the Times only. If you cannot come write your order, inclosing coupons, expense bonus and 22 cents postage.

Do not accept the inferior substitute works which jealous book dealers are trying to foist on the public as "The Times' dictionary, or as a "just as good as" brand. Get the new 1911 edition with the complete vocabulary and big colored plates and the latest Canadian census. There are no others like it.

Crowds clamored for the flexible leather-bound volumes known as No. 1 from early in the morning until late in the evening yesterday. At noon a message was wired to New York ordering another carload of books to be rushed here to avoid the possibility of the stack on hand becoming exhausted.

WHAT OTHERS SAY OF THE TIMES' OFFER

These comments were worth heeding, for the average of intelligence among those dictionary seekers was was easily seen to be very high. Many professional men filed along the line between stenogrgphers and school girls. Doctors, lawyers and clergymen all seemed anxious to possess the handsomely bound black leather volume which looks like a fine Bible and which they described as "comprehensive" and above all else "handy."

"I've got plenty of dictionaries," a prominent physician said who came with two sets of coupons and carried away two dictionaries, one for his home and one for his office, "but this is the handiest one that I've seen. I'll use it ten times as much as I use the others. I've read the Times for years, and I expect to keep on reading."

"Young lady, don't bother showing me that book," an old man said to one of the busy clerks who started to explain the merit of the volume. "I know Webster's and I know the Times. I've read your paper for years and I have faith enough to take your word for it. If you say the book is right, it is right, and I knowit. Wrap it up. I'll be back again."

"I am surprised at the extensive vocabulary this book contains," an educator said. "It even has the modern slang which has come to be everyday English with us."

While the demand for dictionaries was keeping the clerks busy, covetous dealers in many parts of the city "got busy" with their dusty old volumes of ancient editions of Webster's and started to try to attract trade by offering them in exchange for Times' coupons and a price which was every cent the books were worth.

Be sure you dictionary is 1911 and contains the latest Canadian census. Be up to date.

POINT GREY FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Assessed value for taxation $35,575,000
(Exemptions not included above)
General debenture debt $3,399,000
(Including treasury bonds)
Waterworks 1,076,000
Net debt $2,323,000

FEATURES OF THE ISSUE

Included in the general debenture debt of $3,399,000 are $1,350,000 long term Bonds, which the municipality is holding in its treasury. The present issue of short term notes is made to avoid disposing of these Bonds in the present unfavorable market for long-term securities.

Point Grey immediately adjoins the present city limits of the City of Vancouver on the south and west, and has a population of 8,000 and an area of [illegible] acres—twice the area of the city of Vancouver proper.

Vancouver is rapidly outgrowing its present limits and the question of annexation is being discussed seriously.

Point Grey is regarded as the choicest residential section in "Greater Vancouver," and includes "Shaughnessy Heights," an exceptionally desirable residential section, recently opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Point Grey has been decided upon as the location for the new Provincial University of British Columbia.

We recommend these Notes as a high-yield municipal security and point out that, in addition to being a first charge against the municipality, they are additionally secured by the $1,350,000 Treasury Bonds.

PUBLIC OPINION

NO. 8, OTONABEE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Some one signing himself "Moderation," makes some nasty remarks about the Public School in S.S. No. 8 Otonabee. The new Separate School has been built because Public School supporters objected to the Public School being made a Separate School of. The Examiner need not fear. The public supporters will take care of the Public School, which will now be public and free, and not under the domination of the Examiner's favorites. The P.S. supporters of S.S. No. 8 are alone responsible for what has been done, and they don't thank the Examiner for trying so hard to keep them and their children under anybody else's control. What kind of a "Public" School is it where the trustees never meet and have no say in the management?

A JACK TAR AFLOAT

THE NAVY IS NO PLACE FOR THE SLUGGARD.

The Jacky Starts at Five In the Morning and His Day's Work and Play Is Carefully and Rigorously Allotted to Him Until Bedtime—Thursdays and Sunday Afternoons Are Holidays For the Men.

If jack tar does not have a good time afloat as well as ashore, it is his own fault; for, although he has plenty of work to harden his muscles and give him a good appetite for his boiled "duff," he has at least plenty of time to enjoy himself in such ways as are dear to his heart.

There are no sluggards aboard a man-o'-war; and every Jack of them all rubs his sleepy eyes open at five o'clock in the summer, and an hour later in the winter, to the blare of the bugle, and the shouting of the bosun's mates, "Show a leg there! Arise and shine, 'rise and shine! All ha-ands lash-up-and-stow-hammocks." In the twinkling of an eye he is wide awake, and begins another day's round by lashing his bedding in his hammock, with seven turns of his hammock-lashing, and is then ready, with a rare appetite, for his breakfast of cocoa and bread or biscuit, for which half an hour is his allowance

Then follows a long spell of work and drill until noon, with a quarter-of-an-hour's "stand easy" at eight o'clock, when Jack is at liberty to enjoy the pipe he has earned, or to repair to the mess for such supplementary breakfast as he requires. And we may be sure that, four hours later, the shrill note of the bosun's pipe that summons him to dinner, falls like music on his ears, for if ever a man has right and appetite for a good square meal it is "Jack" at "eight bells."

There is no laggard in the joint rush, at the bidding of the pipe, to the cook's galley, from which rise mingled odors of baked meats, vegetables, and the succulent "duffs," so dear to Jack's heart. It is no Sybarite's meal that awaits these hundreds of hungry sailors—it may be salt pork, with pea-soup, or salt beef and pudding, or liberal portions of preserved beef or mutton, familiarly known as "Fanny Adams," with potatoes or rice on alternate days. But whatever it is, it is good and plentiful, and does not require the sauce of hunger to make it appetising.

Nor is the meal prepared by any cunning chef. Every member of every lower deck mess takes his turn to cook, though he may know as little of cooking as of quadratics, and the results may at times be more startling than agreeable. It is the duty of the day's cook to get the provisions for his mess from the issuing room, where ship's stewards officiate; and, after manufacturing the meal from his raw materials, to carry it to the ship's cook for its final stages, which no doubt do much to remedy the inexpert work of the mess-cook.

At "one bell" (half-past twelve) the bugle-call, known and beloved as "Nancy Dawson," rallies the forces to the grog-tub for the daily distribution of rum; a ceremonial as popular in the time of Nelson as in our own. The day's allowance of grog is mixed with scrupulous care in an enormous tub which bears on its bulgy side, in large brass letters, some such loyal words as "The King, God bless him." Three parts of water to one of rum go to the mixing, and the grog is served out by a petty officer and the marine sergeant of the guard to the waiting queue of mess-cooks — as many half-pints to each as there are men awaiting them in his mess. Every tar above the age of eighteen is entitle to his half-pint; and those who have no taste for it are allowed to draw money instead at the rate of 3 1-2 cents every two days.

His dinner, his grog, and his pipe serve to pass an hour and a quarter very agreeably for our sailor, and occasionally it furnishes him with an opportunity to make a few cheap additions to his wardrobe, for the dinner hour is found a convenient time for disposing by auction of the effects of men who have deserted or are dead, and it is often possible to pick up a white duck-tunic or other article of raiment for a very small fraction of its cost.

At 1.15 Jack is ready, at the bugle-call, to resume work—cleaning guns, or whatever it may be, but on Sundays and Thursdays he is indulged with an "afternoon off." This is Jack's opportunity for doing a little tailor's work on his own account, and he spends many a happy afternoon, pipe in mouth, on the upper deck "making and mending clothes," with a skill the slop-shop worker might well envy; for Jack is noted for his clever needle work.

But the needle has no monopoly of Thursday afternoons. This is the time also sacred to the rites of the "scran-bag," with its mysterious contents. A warship, as we all know, must be kept as spick and span as the sitting room of the most careful housewife. If Jack carelessly leaves any of his property about—as, of course, he often does—from a tunic and a towel to a book or a pound of tobacco, the hand of the ship's corporal pounces on it, and in it goes into the capacious canvas-bag, there to be imprisoned until the hour of liberation comes. Every Thursday afternoon the bag, full of its miscellaneous booty, is opened, and each article is claimed by one or other of the sailors crowding around, its owner being allowed to redeem his property by the payment of a penny fine—the price of an inch of yellow soap—for every derelict article that is his.

But Jack is not only a skillful needleman, he is also an accomplished "washerman," as he proves on the evenings which he spends periodically, with his arms in the soap-suds, restoring his clothes to a virginal whiteness, and if he is a good cobbler or a deft wielder of the razor he can put many an extra pound into his pocket by operating on his fellows' boots and chins.

What They Meant.

A Scotch clergyman named Fraser claimed the title and estates of Lord Lovat. He tried on the trial of the case to establish his pedigree by producing an ancestral watch on which were engraved the letters S. F. The claimant alleged that these letters were the initials of his ancestor, the notorious Simon Fraser, Lord Lovat, beheaded in 1747 for supporting the young pretender. The letters, engraved under the regulator, were shown to stand for "Slow, Fast," and the case was laughed out of court.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or to-morrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia and Research Bureau is approved, adopted and used in the—

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes:—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes:—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyer, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes:—

"The name of 'Nelson.' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

CREEPING TREES.

Tropical Growths Which Develop Into Natural Bridges.

Very familiar objects in tropical forests are the remarkable Lianas, or bush-ropes, so-called because their stems have developed into natural ropes or cables. There is a necessity for this style of growth imposed by the luxuriant growth of the tropics. To every green plant a place in the sun is a necessity. It must have light and if it cannot get light it dies. The continuous and rampant growth of tropical forests constantly tends to choke and smother the slender Liana and the enormous length of its creeping tendrils is but the result of its keen struggle for light and existence. Thwarted at one point by the dense foliage, it seeks the line of least resistance, some times creeping along within easy distance of the ground, but ever and always climbing toward the sun. The consequence is that many equatorial forests are a tangled network of stout rope-like creepers which lattice adjoining trees, and form great loops and natural bridges.

In the region of the Cameroons in West Africa, also in western Uganda, and in the impenetrable forests of the Congo, the Liana is represented by various kinds of Landolphia, a genus of rubber-bearing trees or shrubs, which furnishes nearly all the wild rubber derived from Africa. These rubber "vines" climb over the big trees, sometimes to a height of 200 feet above the ground, hanging occasionally in great loops like enormous cables.

The flowers of these Landolphias are deliciously scented. They are white, with a golden centre, and not unlike in shape the flowers of the periwinkle. The foliage is a glossy dark green [illegible] which they bear are brightly colored. The rubber is a sticky sap, which flows from the lining between the outer bark and the inner core of woody fiber. To obtain the valuable product, the natives cut the Lianas up in sections, strip off the bark and boil it until the whole of the viscid sap is extracted.

Muscular Labor M.P.

In the next general election in Britain John Redmond will have the unusual experience of finding a seat for an English member of the House of Commons.

James O'Grady, the muscular labor man, who at present represents East Leeds, has come into conflict with the official Liberal organization in that constituency, with the result that he has had notice to quit. His offence was that he denounced the Cabinet over its attitude to the recent dock strike. Although there is a powerful Irish element in Leeds, O'Grady would stand no chance without Liberal support.

As his name implies, he is an Irishman, although, as he himself says, he did not enjoy the blessing of being born in the Emerald Isle. He first saw the light in Bristol, and was a Home Rule propagandist in England long before Parnell or Redmond came along to preach that gospel.

"Jim" O'Grady has in fact done more to educate the English democracy in regard to the grievances of Ireland than any Anglo-Irishman, and for that reason John Redmond will see that he will not lose his place in the House of Commons. If Home Rule becomes a reality before the general election, T. P. O'Connor will join the Irish Government, and in that case O'Grady would be available for the Scotland division of Liverpool.

Churchyard Town Hall.

The Isle of Wight possesses a curiosity in town halls. The municipal headquarters of the town of Brading are actually in the churchyard. In such a solemn place levity will, of course, be at a discount, so probably the city fathers at Brading are a very solid group. The church is an ancient one, and the building which serves the town as a council chamber was probably in early times some adjunct of the church, though exactly what no one seems to know.

When Evey Sailor Wore a Queue.

The sailors' broad collars were devised so that the powder or tar on the wearer's queues should not come off on the blouse. In the old days every sailor wore his hair in a queue and either had the queue powdered or held together by tar. This was not good for the blouse or jacket underneath. So detachable broad collars were added. Sailors stopped wearing queues a century ago. But they still wear the wide collar. When Lord Nelson died the British navy went into mourning for him. Sailors put broad black ribbons on their caps and black ribbons on their blouses. And the ribbons remain to this day, not only on the uniforms of British sailors, but on those of other navies as well. The broad "bell shaped" ends of sailors' trouser legs were thus shaped so that the wearer might more easily turn his trousers up above his knees when he had to swab the decks. Deck swabbing was a hateful and supposedly degrading task. Hence the sailors called their enemies "swabs" as a term of contempt.

Baby of the House.

Sir Philip Sassoon, who was recently elected by Hythe, is the "Benjamin" of the British House of Commons. Hitherto Lord Wolmer enjoyed this distinction, but he has been beaten by a year by the new member, who is not yet twenty-four.

Sir Philip Sassoon has not only succeeded to his father's title, but also to his seat in the House, for Sir Edward Albert Sassoon represented Hythe ever since the "Khaki" election. The young politician was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford, where he graduated with honors in history. Like his father, he takes an interest in the Territorial movement, and holds a commission in the East Kent Yeomanry.

His mother is a daughter of Baron Gustave de Rothschild, so that the new member is connected with two of the most powerful financial-houses in Europe. The Sassoons have derived most of their wealth from India, and Sir Philip Sassoon has succeeded to his father's interest in the firm of David Sassoon & Co.

Bram Stoker's Advice.

The late Mr. Bram Stoker had a ready wit. Sir Henry Irving, whose manager and secretary he was, once told an amusing story of him. Hardly a mail arrived that did not bring Sir Henry a batch of begging letters. One day he got a note from Paris, which ran thus:

Dear Sir Henry—As I walk along the boulevard hardly a day passes on which I am not mistaken for you. The resemblance is extraordinary, and it is really most embarrassing, and I should be glad to know what you would have be do in the matter. Meanwhile the loan of a five pound note would be much appreciated by yours truly.

"You'll look to it, Stoker?" said Sir Henry.

"Certainly!" was the prompt reply.

A day or to afterward the letter happened to cross Sir Henry's memory, and he asked Bram Stoker what he had done in regard to it.

"I sent him a postal order for half a crown and told him to get his hair cut."

An Unwitting Executioner.

During the Boer war of 1881 one of the sentries of a British regiment, having been found asleep at his post, was tried by court martial and condemned to be shot. At the appointed time he was marched to a spot outside the camp, and the troops were drawn up to witness the execution of the unfortunate man. Just as the officer in charge was about to give the order to fire a bullet flew into the group of officers and men, and the prisoner fell dead at their feet. The shot was from the rifle of a concealed Boer marksman. In "sniping" the British troops he had unwittingly acted as executioner.

A Blanket Fight.

A strange custom prevails among the Indians of Alaska. When a difference arises between two of them, and a friendly settlement seems impossible, one of them threatens the other with dishonor. He executes his threat by tearing up a certain number of his own blankets. The only way his antagonist can get even with him is by tearing up a greater number of his own. The one who destroys the most blankets is regarded as having won the fight.

Moon Causes Rain In Africa.

A new instance of the supposed connection of the moon with rainfall claims the support of highly scientific authority. Heavy rains are said to occur in South Africa at intervals of nineteen years, and this period coincides with the lunar cycle of maximum north and south declinations. E. E. Nevill, late director of the Natal observatory, finds an explanation in the moon's attraction. The theory is that a permanent cloud belt is drawn along by the moon and that as the moon nears its furthest point north the mass of clouds is made to impinge on the mountains in Natal, giving excessive rainfall.

When Coal Was Banned.

It would greatly surprise the average person to-day to hear that by a proclamation of 1306, the use of coal in London was forbidden, so little was it liked. Two and a half centuries later, on the contrary, its value was recognized, and its export in any form prohibited. To-day nothing is as cheap as coal in London. As for colliers, their pay and conditions of living to-day are princely when compared with those of many miners in the 18th century.

GROWING FISH ON A FARM

A New Form of Agricultural Activity

PROFITABLE FOR FARMER

With the decrease in supplies of cattle and consequently higher beef prices, it will not be surprising if more farmers turn towards fish culture as a substitute. There are more private fish ponds and hatcheries in the United States than is generally supposed by the ordinary observer, and it is time Canadian farmers were taking the matter up. In many instances these ponds or hatcheries are made to pay good dividends and the work of carrying them on is interesting as well as remunerative. Fish such as bass, carp, catfish and sunfish when reared in artificial environment, are placed in ponds, but the eggs from yellow perch and trout are hatched in troughs and reared in running water.

A good example of the success which can be made in raising trout by artificial methods, or in what is known as a hatchery, is the work done by Jacob Diegel of Hampden county, Mass. He started in a small way about six years ago. Having been a close observer of the habits of trout, he has met with practically no drawback. He selected a stream on his farm, which has a temperature of 60 to 68 degrees. This is the best temperature for developing trout, but when the water is warmer than seventy degrees trout are likely to die. In mountain streams, where the water is extremely cold, it sometimes takes many years for a trout to obtain a length of six inches. In a year, at a temperature of 60 to 68 degrees, this length is sometimes attained. It can be easily seen, therefore that in the first place trout hatching and rearing cannot be conducted on every farm, although there are many farms which have streams of the proper temperature, and where trout raising can be carried on profitably.

The yearly production on the Diegel farm is about 100,000 trout. Of this eventually 14,000 to 15,000 will go to consumers' tables. These trout average about one-fourth of a pound each when sold, and bring 75 cents per pound. The balance of the 100,000 will be sold as fingerlings and yearlings. He caters to clubs, private parties and hotels. When selling fingerlings for stocking trout streams he receives $30 per 1,000 and $75 to $125 for yearlings. In fact the demand on his output is so great that it is only by refusing customers for the small trout that he keeps them until they develop to one-quarter pound of bigger for the table market. Two creeks are used for a water supply. These are divided into pools 50 feet long. All told he has about 900 feet of creek bed divided off into pools. The trout are divided in the pools according to size and age, and it is necessary that the creek be so divided, because it is impossible to grow young trout in the presence of older ones. The matured trout likes nothing better for a meal than a fingerling of its own kind. The pools are one and a half to two feet deep and about six feet wide. The stream is diverted at the head of the pools and also a certain amount allowed to flow at a slow rate through the pools. The fry are kept in the upper pools where the current is rather sluggish But as the bottom of the pools drops fairly rapidly, in the lower pools, into which a part of the second creek is diverted, the current becomes more swift, and the water is easily kept at the right temperature for the larger fish.

CARE OF THE POOLS.

During the summer the upper pools in which the fry are kept are partly shaded. Each spring there is a general cleaning out of the pools. They are emptied one by one, and the bottom excavated for about six inches and fresh sand dumped in. This is one of the secrets of keeping trout successfully. The trout must have fresh, cool, clear water at all times of the year. Unlike the culture of bass, carp, sunfish, etc., it is not necessary to have the water full of crustacea. In fact, the clearer and purer the water is, the better for the trout. Mr. Diegel feeds his trout on beef's and pig's liver. The young fry and fingerlings receive which smaller morsels than the trout which weigh upwards of one-quarter pound. When the trout are very small, the beef liver is the only kind to feed them and is ground into minute particles. As the trout develops, it is possible to feed them hog liver, which is not so expensive. On Mr. Diegel's fish farm as high as 400 pounds of liver is feed weekly in the summer, when the trout are active. Anyone contemplating starting a hatchery will have to be sure of the food supply.

HATCHING THE EGGS.

The work of hatching trout is interesting to say the least. One male to three females is placed in the breeding pools, the males being introduced early in October. The spawn is taken the latter part of October or early in November, the best females are sorted out heretofore and put in separate pools. The fertilized eggs are put in trays constructed of special wire about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter and space between the wires of about one-quarter of an inch. The eggs are are spread in uniform rows between the wires by means of a feather. The frame of these trays is wood and short legs, about one-quarter of an inch long to keep the trout away from the bottom of the trough in which they are put while the eggs are hatching. These trays are about one foot wide by two feet long and placed in the trough so that the water will run over the trays to the depth of about one inch. When the trout hatch the eggs burst open and the tiny fish drops through the wire screen to the bottom of the trough. Attached to the trough is a sack which furnishes the small fry with food for thirty to forty-five days, according to the temperature of the water. The embryo trout attains a length of about three-quarters of an inch before beginning to feed.

The trough, about twelve feet long, in which the trout are hatched, is supplied directly from a spring the hatch coming off the fore part of February. Under favorable conditions the trout grows the first year to be four to six inches long. By the end of the second year he will average close to one-quarter pound, and weight. Trout are light eaters during the winter, and from the first freeze until April, as far as growth is concerned they are dormant. One problem to be solved by all hatchery owners is how to protect the premises from poachers. When it comes to the matter of poaching trout, some men who would not think of taking anything that does not belong to them, regard the sneaking in on a posted hatchery and filling their creels without permission as a different proposition. (It is necessary to keep a sharp lookout for trespassers; Some owners fence in their hatcheries, but this is unnecessary where the owner is near most of the time. Others keep dogs, geese, or guinea fowles to give alarm. Of course, the depredation of muskrats, snakes, etc., must be guarded against.

MR. MARSHALL HALL.

Is as Ready Upon the Political Platform as in the Courts

To inaugurate the new premises of the Playgoers' Club, above the Leicester square Tube station, a large number of members of the dramatic profession were entertained to luncheon in the handsome premises. Mr. E. Marshall Hall, K.C., M.P., presided: The son of Dr. Alfred Hall, a well-known Brighton doctor, Mr. Marshall Hall was born fifty-four years ago. He was educated at Rugby and St. John's College, Cambridge, where he graduated B.A., and subsequently became a member of the Inner Temple, whence he was called to the Bar in 1883.

In connection with Mr. Hall's Parliamentary experiences the following story is told. When the question of his candidature for the Southport division was under consideration, and efforts were being made to induce Sir George Pilkington, the former member, to join the Liberal Unionists, Mr. Marshall Hall went to Norway for a holiday. When starting he almost missed the train, but he just got in in time. He has a way of getting in, he says. Then as the train steamed out of Liverpool street station he noticed a line of trucks going along parallel with the train. Watching them idly, he was startled to see the name on the engine as his carriage passed it. It was Southport. The train was running his way, he accepted the omen, went to Southport, and won the election.

Mr. Hall is as ready upon the political platform as in the courts, and at one big Conservative demonstration this sang froid enabled him to score heavily.

He had been suggesting certain reductions of taxation upon tea, sugar, and coffee, when a bold forester suddenly called out, "What about cats?" Without an instant's hesitation, Mr. Marshall Hall replied suavely: "Oh! you eat cats, do you? I could not see your legs; I thought you only had two."

It was some moments before his somewhat heavy-witted audience pierced the subtlety of the remark, but when they did they burst into the heartiest guffaws, and the questioner shrank before the fierce publicity which his question had drawn upon himself.

The Spoiled Thrill.

In his book of reminiscences the Right Rev. Dr. Boyd-Carpenter tells a story of a missionary meeting that was being held in a small village in England.

The vicar of the parish, Mr. Ingham, was a very energetic man. Indeed, his energy was deemed by some of his parishioners as somewhat intrusive. At the meeting a missionary gave a vivid account of the cannibal habits of some tribe to which missionaries had gone and among whom some had met their death.

The missionary described a native feast. He told how at the feast a large pie had appeared. Desirous of reaching the climax of the tragedy by slow stages of heightening interest, he dwelt upon the pie and then upon its central ornament. What was it? A finger—a human finger.

"And whose finger do you think it was?" he demanded in thrilling tones, and paused dramatically.

The chance was too good to be missed, and one of the villagers promptly told him, "I'll warrant it were Parson Ingham's finger, for he has it in everybody's pie."

When Royalty Dances.

Royal etiquette is a little cumbersome in these democratic days. In England not only may no ordinary guest dance while the great ladies of the royal family are doing so, but gentlemen must make a point of standing, however far they may be removed from the royal circle. This is according to a writer in The Gentlewoman, who goes on to say:

"I once saw two young men sharply reprimanded by a court official because they continued sitting in animated conversation when the Queen began to dance. In fact, so marked was the rebuke that I don't think either is likely to have to learn his lesson a second time."

An Appropriate Hymn.

A certain professor of divinity who was spending the summer in the Scottish highlands was invited to baptise the infant son of the local minister.

When the time for the ceremony arrived the guest gave out for congregational singing a paraphrase much favored on such occasions. "Let us," said he, "sing from the fifth paraphrase, beginning at the second verse, 'As sparks in close succession rise'."

To his consternation, the congregation giggled audibly. Afterward, asking the clerk what he had done wrong, that functionary replied. "You must know, professor, the minister's name is Sparks, and yonder is his tenth bairn."

A Prudent Editor.

In a record of Dr. Memorie's life and work we find this story, with which he once concluded a sermon:

When Dr. William Smith was bringing out his Biblical dictionary, being a prudent editor and understanding the taste of the public extremely well, he determined that the articles should contain as much science as was compatible with orthodoxy and no more. The one on "The Deluge" was to be written by a man whom the doctor considered safe, but when it was finished it turned out to be quite heterodox. There was no time to procure another, as that part of the dictionary had to appear at once, so when people looked for "Deluge" they discovered only "See Flood." A fresh writer was then found, but when his article was returned it was worse than the first. It was not allowed to appear; Dr. Smith simply wrote: "Flood, see Noah." How he managed with this article I don't know.

The First Typewriter.

Italians claim that it was one of their countrymen, named Ravizza, who constructed the first typewriter, as long ago as 1855.

Padded Coachmen.

In Russia it is a mark of distinction for a coachman to have a very rotund figure. The drivers of fashionable carriages appear at first to be abnormally stout. As a matter of fact, this appearance is due to the skilful padding of the coachman's livery. The padding is done with cotton, and some remarkable results are obtained.

Tennyson's Prediction.

Tennyson predicted the day of his death. Just a year before his death friends of the poet were visiting Aldworth House. The late Lord Selborne turned to Tennyson and remarked, "You ought to be happy here." "Ah," said the poet, "I have only a year [illegible]

QUEEN LIKED "DIZZY" MOST.

Late Queen Victoria's Favorite Premier Was Lord Beaconsfield.

It is a popular belief that "Dizzy" was the Prime Minister whom Queen Victoria liked most, while Gladstone "got on her nerves," to quote one authority. It would appear, however, from Dr. Boyd Carpenter's reminiscences, that Sir Robert Peel was her late Majesty's favorite Minister, and that Lord Salisbury was regarded by her with almost equal admiration. When at Osborne one evening Dr. Carpenter asked Queen Victoria whether she regarded Lord Beaconsfield's novel, "Coningsby," as a book which gave a fairly correct picture of English life of the time. Says the bishop:—

"She looked a little blank for a moment, as though hardly knowing what reply to make. Then she pursed her lips and said, in her quizzical way, 'I didn't care for his novels.' This led to a conversation about Lord Beaconsfield's powers. 'Yes,' he was, in the view of the Queen, an able man, with a fine imagination; 'Yes—great, but not so great as the present'—i.e., Lord Salisbury, then Prime Minister.

"She went on to speak of her Prime Ministers. The two who held high place in her mind, as she spoke, were Sir Robert Peel and Lord Salisbury. She spoke with very warm and grateful affection of Sir Robert Peel, referring to the kindness he showed and the trouble he took at the time Osborne was secured as a royal residence. 'We owed it to him that we got this place'."

Dr. Carpenter, by the way, tells an interesting story illustrating Queen Victoria's interest in all kinds of domestic details. Her Majesty was godmother to one of his children, "but," he says, "she knew the names and ages of all of them, and there were eleven of them. Indeed, on one occasion she set me right about the age of my youngest boy. 'How old is your little boy now?' she asked me one evening at Windsor. I answered, with true fatherly doubtfulness, 'I think about nine, your Majesty.' 'No,' she promptly said, 'he is ten.' And the Queen was right. This was in 1897."

Fumes Kill Off Bees.

Having a Cobalt silver smelter in their midst is not an unmixed blessing to the residents of Thorold, Ont., town or township who keep bees and hens.

It is claimed that there is not a live bee left within a mile of the Thorold smelter, because the fumes of the arsenic getting into the flowers, has killed them all off. Farmers who keep bees, or did, are demanding damages from the owners of the smelter, and it is understood that the claims are readily paid.

There are even cases where cows and horses, as well as chickens and other fowls, have died as result of the arsenic fumes from the big smelter.

Puns.

The pun was at its climax early in the nineteenth century. Thomas Hood was a master punster, especially in verse. No better examples can be found anywhere than those in "Miss Kilmansegg" and the "Tale of a Trumpet." What could be neater than the argument of the fiddler trying to sell an ear trumpet:

There was a Mrs. F.
So very deaf
She might have worn a percussion cap
And been knocked on the head
Without hearing it snap.
Well, I sold her a trumpet,
And the very next day
She heard from her husband at Botany
Bay.

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

Here Is Good Advice To All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away.

This Condition Can be Quickly Cured By a good Cleansing Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming, in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—not sleepy in the day-time, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt, and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

A Correction.

Through a typographical error in the advertisement calling for tenders for the carrying of the mails over Rural Route No. 8, Otonabee, the word "Norwood" was inserted instead of "Peterborough." The corrected advertisement is to be seen in another column. Prospective tenderers will kindly take notice.

Peterborough to Have Tag Day.

Enquiries made yesterday from Mr. P. Campbell, manager of the Bank of Toronto, elicited the information that Peterborough will certainly have a "Tag Day," this fall. The date is not yet definitely fixed, but this great auxiliary of the Children's Aid Society's funds will be about the middle of November.

Local Fire Brigade's Sympathy.

The local fire brigade yesterday afternoon showed a practical proof of their respect to and sympathy for a former member of that organization. They sent a beautiful wreath of flowers in token of their commiseration with Mr. and Mrs. Archie McBride, Union street, in their sad bereavement by loss of their little eight-year-old child who was called away, after long illness at one o'clock. The funeral arrangements will be noted later.

Dormer's Alleged Assailant. Remanded.

A Hamilton despatch says that Joho Brown, of Binbrook, alleged to have assaulted Isaac Dormer, the 68-year-old former resident of East City, causing serious injury to his head, and necessitating his removal to the city hospital, was remanded for such time as the old man is able to appear against him. Dormer is still in the hospital.

Tried on Charge of Theft.

Laverne Killenbeck and Joseph Reynolds declined to plead or elect at yesterday's police court, when charged with the theft of $225 from John Anderson of this city. Anderson claims to have had the money abstracted from his pocket on Saturday. The prisoners were remanded until Sept. 23rd, County Crown Attorney Wood, in view of the alleged bad record of the prisoners placing their bail at $1,000 with two securities of $1,000 each.

Boy on Toy Auto Run Over.

Yesterday afternoon as little Fern Stevenson was crossing George street at McDonnel street on his automatically worked "automobile," he was run over by a passing horse and buggy. The little chap, who is only four years old sustained some slight bruises. The buggy wheels passed over one of his legs, but fortunately did not fracture the bone. The boy was taken to the home of his parents on George street, near Edinburgh street.

Sunstroke Causes a Relapse.

Yesterday morning a man giving the name of Carstairs, who claimed to be on his way to Cobourg, created some excitement at the G.T.R. station. Carstairs, who claims to be the victim of a former sunstroke, fell down as though in a fit. Restoratives of a liquid description were supplied by a bystander, when the traveller with a few strong expressions arose to his feet and proceeded to the town of overgrown civic buildings and American visitors.

A Lindsay Man's Invention.

Mr. Richard Sylvester, of Lindsay, has invented and already completed what looks to be the last cry in agricultural machinery. This consists of a combined automobile and threshing machine. This machine moved and operated by its own power, cuts and threshes the grain of fifty acres a day. When the threshing season is over certain parts can be eliminated and the motive power portion used for ploughing. It is claimed that it will plough twenty acres daily. The threshing machine has already been given a practical test and the demonstration proved most successful. The inventor claims that to bring his machine to its present state of perfection has involved an outlay of some $300,000.

Farewell Said to Mr. Wilkie.

An interesting feature of the regular program at Knox Church Sunday school, on Sunday, was the farewell said to Mr. Harry Wilkie, who, having decided that the mission field in India calls for his services, will take up that work. Mr. Wilkie was ordained at Parkdale Presbyterian church last night, by the Toronto Presbytery, with the Rev. R. Douglas Fraser, presiding, and Rev. A. Logan Geggie, conducting the service of ordination. Mr. Wilkie made a suitable reply.

Local Rifle Range in Sight.

It now looks as though the gallant local infantry regiment, the Peterborough Rangers will have a better opportunity to improve their rifle marksmanship. It is understood that the matter of a local rifle range, already approved by Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, is now receiving due consideration by the Council at Ottawa.

It is expected that everything in connection with the matter will be under way this fall and that the range will be ready for the spring shooting. A number of sites have been under consideration for some time, whilst at least 500 acres will be required for the purpose, it is expected that a site will be procured near the city.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McBride, Union street, will extend heartfelt sympathy to them over the loss of their eight months old baby at noon yesterday. The little one had been a sufferer for some time. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

An interesting dedication service will be held in St. John's church to-morrow evening, when a handsome Oriental lamp will be dedicated to the pious memory of the late Mrs. Chas. Perry, who was for a long time a consistent worshipper in the sacred edifice. This lamp was manufactured in Jerusalem, and as remarked by Canon Davidson, has probably no superior in Canada.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

An entertainment will be given to-night in St. Alphonsus Lyceum to celebrate the opening of St. Peter's T.A.S. Ladies' Literary Society lecture season.

With a Lindsay man's recently completed combination of automobile, harvester and threshing machine, where will the English immigrant, looking for farm work, come in?

Belleville is after dog owners and having them haled before the magistrate. There are enough tagless and unpaid for dogs in Peterborough to keep the Magistrate busy for several days, should their owners be summoned.

The Belleville Ontario, makes a great boast of the showing made at Toronto Exhibition by Hastings County minerals. Back in Galway, in the County of West Peterborough, is a boundless supply of minerals. The only trouble is to locate them.

Hastings has had a sensation. Burglars have been at work there, even entering the G.T.R. station.

Dr. Bryce, in Toronto, said Canada would prosper better, if people would only scatter to the smaller cities. Peterborough can accommodate a few thousand of them.

RE-DISTRIBUTION WILL GIVE TORONTO THREE NEW SEATS

Rural Districts Will Lose Many Members—Some Members Represent a Population of 10,000 While Others Represent 100,000

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—An interesting blue book has just been issued giving in detail by constituencies the vote of the last election. The figures emphasize the necessity of a redistribution as at the last election there were great inequalities in the size of the constituencies. During the ten years there has been a strong movement from the country to the cities with the result that some of the urban ridings have a population of well over one hundred thousand while a number of rural seats have ten thousand and less. The unit based on Quebec's population will be about 30,000.

More Members for Cities.

The constituency with the largest population is Maisonneuve with 170,978. Outside of the Yukon the smallest constituency is soulanges with a population of only 9,400. Quebec west also has a population of but 9,618. Both these constituencies are bound to disappear next election. All of the Montreal ridings are far over the unit and Montreal and Toronto are bound to have from three to five new seats, Toronto Centre has a populations of 53,125, Toronto East 68,912, Toronto North 56,469, Toronto South 43,956 and Toronto west no less than 105,291.

Thunder Bay and Rainy River is a seat which is certain to be divided as it has a population of 67,249. Huron County is almost certain to lose one of its members in a redistribution. Lanark County's two seats are also far below the unit. The seat of Leeds will likely be incorporated with another seat; one of the Northumberland seats will also probably disappear.

Middlesex Loses a Seat.

Middlesex County will also lose one of its three seats. The discrepancy in the present population of the Quebec seats is more glaring than in Ontario and a redistribution will see the disappearance of a large number of rural ridings with small population.

GUNMEN WALKED THE STREETS OF NEW YORK UNMOLESTED

Counsel for "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie" Tell of the Way They Spent Their Time—Rubbed Shoulders With Police.

New York, Sept. 17.—For six weeks prior to their arrest, "Gyp the Blood," and "Lefty Louie," wanted as slayers, and minutely described in thousands of circulars sent broadcast throughout the country, walked the streets of New York daily. Twice they attended the Mardi Gras festivities at Coney Island, and on one occasion they stood almost in the shadow of police headquarters, while detectives, supposed to be looking for them, passed in and out of the building, while for ten minutes the gunmen debated with themselves the wisdom of giving themselves up.

This is the gist of a statement given out by ex-judge Charles Wahle, who is defending all four gunmen under arrest.

The lawyer declared emphatically, that "Gyp" and "Lefty" had not been in hiding. He went over the actions of the two men for the last six weeks, during which time they were in New York. Not for a minute during that time, he said, could any act of the two men be construed as suggestive of hiding.

Mr. Wahle declared that "Gyp" and "Lefty" had walked the streets of New York and Brooklyn daily in plain sight of hundreds of uniformed policemen, who were looking for them, and while at Coney Island had rubbed elbows with many of the 800 policemen on duty there. They were preparing to go to Coney Island again on Saturday night when they were arrested.

WEDDING BELLS

O'Reilly—Flynn.

The good township of Ennismore was the scene of a pretty wedding. This was the wedding celebrated in St. Martin's church when Mr. Stephen O'Reilly led Miss Beatrice, daughter of Mr. Cornelius Flynn to the altar. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick. The bridesmaid was Miss Clara Hickey and the best man Mr. Mike O'Reilly.

McQuaid—Fitzgerald.

Yesterday morning in St. Peter's Cathedral, Miss Ruby, youngest daughter of Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald became the charming bride of Dr. Thomas McQuaid, of Sault Ste. Marie. Rev. Dr. O'Brien solemnized the ceremony. After the wedding breakfast the bridal couple left for points east and will afterwards reside in Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. M. McQuaid of Sault Ste. Marie, brother of the bridegroom, was present at the ceremony.

GADSBY—DORAN.

On Tuesday, Miss Regina Elmore Doran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Doran, 221 Glasgow street, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony, at Guelph, Ont., to Mr. H. Frank Gadsby, of the Toronto Star. The happy couple, on their return from a three months' wedding trip, will reside in Toronto.

FINAL REVISED FIGURES OF RECIPROCITY ELECTION VOTE

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—A blue book giving final details of votes cast in the general election of September 21 last shows that out of a total of 1,850 voters on the lists of the nine provinces, 1,307,528 exercised the franchise.

In Ontario the actual vote cast was 480,572 out of a total qualified list of 693,485. In Quebec 324,039 out of 455,288; Nova Scotia 113,000 out of 136,994; New Brunswick 79,072 out of 101,112; Manitoba 77,686 out of 86,588; British Columbia 43,559 out of 83,081; Saskatchewan 89,043 out of 142,414; Alberta 69,775 out of 107,228.

MUNICIPAL FINANCING.

Vancouver Suburb Issued $1,200,000 Short Term Notes Holding Long Term Bonds in Treasury.

Probably the most important municipal financing since Toronto borrowed $6,000,000, abroad on short term notes is that of Point Grey, British Columbia, a suburb of Vancouver, by the Dominion Bond Company, Limited. This municipality recently authorized an issue of $1,350,000 long term bonds but decided that the present market was not a satisfactory one in which to offer them. Point Grey, of course, had the benefit of Toronto's experience in London.

Those long term bonds were put back into the treasury and $1,200,000 one-year notes were sold to the Dominion Bond Company, Limited, at a price which permits the latter to offer them to the public to yield 5½ per cent., which gives them rank as the most satisfactory municipal securities now on the market. In addition to the high interest yield, the financial statement of Point Grey shows that the total indebtedness is only six per cent. of the assessed valuation.

Point Grey is regarded as the finest residential section in "Greater Vancouver." It adjoins the limits of the city proper on the South and West, and contains 12,000 acres—just twice the area of Vancouver. "Shaughnessy" Heights, the exclusiue residential section recently opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway, is in Point Grey, and this municipality has been chosen as the site for the new University of British Columbia. The population of Point Grey is 8,000, and it is generally believed that annexation to the City of Vancouver will be accomplished in the near future.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Mostly fair and cool.

FEELING HIGH IN BELFAST

Radical Paper Declares That State of Civil War Exists in Big Industries

London, Sept. 17.—The Daily News (Radical) describes conditions in leading Belfast industries as a "state of civil war." hundreds of Catholics in Harland & Wolff's shipyards quit work when Orangemen paraded the departments threatening what would happen during the day. For warning his Catholic friends that an attack was to be made upon them on a ship which was completed during the day and was to be moved in the evening to another part of the river, a friendly Orangeman had to "clear out," his comrades describing him as a "traitor."

At 4 p.m. there was not a Catholic workman in the shipyard.

On the Catholic side feeling runs high. In one of the foundries where a majority of the workmen are Catholics, the Protestants, who up to yesterday had not been interferred with, were made very uncomfortable.

Do Not Like Burnham

The Catholic Register and United Canada have both passed the word to the Catholic people of this province, that Mr. J. H. Burnham, M. P., must be removed from political life. He is a danger even greater than some whose removal is not yet demanded. Is it because he is deeply read in Catholic history and religion? It certainly isn't because he is a harmless champion of freedom. But he isn't removed yet—by a long chalk.

WILSON WELL PLEASED AT RECEPTION HE'S GETTING

On board Wilson special car, Magnet, Clinton, Iowa, Sept. 17.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson has reason to congratulate himself on the reception he is receiving on this, his first big campaign tour, according to Alexander P. Manning, the black-skinned, broad grinning custodian of Democratic Presidential nominees for the last 20 years. Manning, as everybody calls him, began escorting Presidential candidates around the country in 1892, his first charge being Grover Cleveland.

"I have been out with them all," said Manning to-day, "Bryan included, and I never saw the crowds so big, or the enthusiasm so genuine. Even the crowds Mr. Bryan got in 1896 don't beat the way they are turning out now to see Governor Wilson."

CANADIAN SHIP MERGER THE EIGHTH LARGEST IN WORLD

Fusion of C. P. R. and Allan Lines is Understood to Be a Fact—Will Keep Mail Contract—Will Own Nearly a Hundred Liners

London, Sept. 17.—The Liverpool correspondent of The Daily Telegraph wires that there is little doubt entertained in shipping circles that reports of the fusion of the steamship lines of H. and A. Allan and the Canadian Pacific Railway will shortly be fully justified.

It is understood that the Canadian mail contract is now safely assured to the joint concern, which in its combined form, will enjoy the closest relations with the Dominion Government.

Recent figures credit the Canadian Pacific Railway with a total tonnage of 192,000, comprising 69 ships. The Allan Line is credited with 25 ships, totalling 186,000 tons. The combination would therefore include 94 ships of 378,000 tons, ranking 8th in the world.

WIDESPREAD DISASTER IS LIKELY IN IRELAND TODAY

Ten Days of Demonstrations Against Home Rule Will Begin on Wednesday—Big Force of Troops and Police Ready

Belfast, Sept. 17.—A ten days' series of big Orange demonstrations against Home Rule will begin to-morrow with a meeting at Enniskillen, where it is said 100,000 Protestants will formally warn the Government of their determination never to acknowledge an Irish Parliament, to obey its laws, or to pay taxes which it may impose. Other meetings will follow elsewhere throughout the north.

That the demonstrations will result in widespread disorders, is considered more than likely. In anticipation of trouble at Enniskillen, the authorities took stringent precaution to-day. A big force of police will be on duty, and troops will be held in readiness to reinforce the police at a moment's notice.

Many Lords Attend Meetings.

That the demonstrations will not be mere irresponsible affairs may be judged from the fact that among those who will particpate prominently in them are such men as the Dukes of Devonshire and Abercorn, the Marquises of Londonderry and Salisbury, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Lord Hugh Cecil, and Ex-Solicitor-General Sir Edward Carson.

The Government has threatened all these leaders with prosecution if they do not moderate their activities. To these threats the leaders have replied by boldly inviting the Government to prasecute and watch the explosion which will follow.

In Belfast, manufacturing was largely tied up to-day by the incessant fighting between Catholic and Protestant workingmen. Dozens were badly hurt.

NORWOOD MAN INSTANTLY KILLED BY THE EXPRESS

John White a Well Known Contractor Attempts to Cross in Front of Train

A sad accident occurred at four o'clock yesterday afternoon directly in front of the C.P.R. station at Norwood. It seems that Mr. John White, contractor and builder of that village attempted to pass to the C.P.R. station, in front of the Montreal westbound express. Mr. White was accompanied by a friend, but the latter realizing evidently the speed at which the express was moving held back. Just as Mr. White had one foot on the platform, and seemingly safe after his hazardous attempt, he was caught by the cowcatcher of the engine and thrown under the wheels. His head was entirely severed from the shoulders and the face split in half from forehead to chin as though with a dull axe. "He presented a horrible appearance" remarked an eye witness of the catastrophy to The Times last night. The deceased leaves a widow and a large family, some ten in number.

An inquest on the remains will be held at Norwood this morning before Coroner Kindred of Havelock.

DULUTH TO END STRIKE BY BUYING OUT STREET RAILWAY

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 17.—The city council last night adopted a resolution instructing the city legal department to take steps to acquire the Duluth Street Railway as city property.

The action of the council was due to the strike, which has been in progress for a week, attended by more or less serious rioting, and the alleged refusal of the manager of the street railway company to arbitrate differences with nine of its employees. A special election will be called to pass on public ownership. An act of the Legislature, which assembles next January, will be necessary to authorize an issue of bonds.

BANDITS HOLD A MAIL CAR UP

Masked Men Terrorise Memphis Special and Loot Cars at point of Revolvers

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 17.—Two masked men held up the "Memphis Special" on the Southern Railway, westbound at 1.30 o'clock this morning, near Stevenson, Ala. The mail car was looted, but the amount secured is unknown.

The men boarded the train at Stevenson, entered the mail car and covered the four clerks with pistols. Three of the clerks were bound, the fourth being ordered to open all the sacks of registered mail, from which the robbers filled a bag with packages supposed to contain valuables.

After the car had been thoroughly ransacked, the fourth clerk also was bound and one of the robbers pulled the emergency cord, bringing the train to a stop in a thick wood. The engineer after waiting a few moments for a signal to proceed, went back to investigate, discovered the mail clerks almost suffocated under mail sacks which the robbers had piled on top of them.

OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTORS.

Municipal Notes Yielding 5½ Per Cent. Interest.

Mr. R. M. Harcourt, representing the Dominion Bond Company, Limited, of Toronto, may be found at the National Hotel, Peterborough, until Thursday night. Peterborough investors have been considerably interested in the offering of $1,200,000, one year notes of the Municipality of Point Grey, B.C., a suburb of Vancouver, at a price to yield 5½ per cent. and Mr. Harcourt has been busy explaining the merits of the offer. We are informed that in addition to the notes carrying practically the highest yield ever given with a Municipality security, they are especially satisfactory from the security point of view in that the total debt of the Municipality is only 6 per cent. of the assessed valuation.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 65 Cecil street, Toronto D-6 tn J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 388 George St. directly opposite Crossman's store.

The Unexplored.

More than 20,000,000 square miles of the earth yet remain unexplored. Africa has the largest unexplored area, nearly 6,500,000 square miles, while North America contains fewer than 1,500,000 square miles of virgin territory. The largest continuous stretch of unexplored country is in Liberia, Africa. The tract consists of about 20,000 square miles, all of which is within 200 miles of the sea. Regions adjoining the Kongo, the basin of the upper Nile, parts of Morocco, Abyssinia, Somaliland, have yet to be surveyed, mapped out and if suitable commercially exploited.

Willing to Be One.

"What!" began the father explosively. "You want to marry my daughter? You, who haven't a penny on earth? You, who aren't worth a picayune? You? Sir, let me ask you this: Don't you know that my daughter is accustomed to all the luxuries of wealth?"

"Y-yes, sir," replied the suitor, miserably. "But ain't I one of 'em?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mean Thing.

"No," said Miss Passay, "I don't like the photos Kamrer made for me. They make me look like a woman of forty."

"Well," replied Miss Peppery, "you should have told him not to touch them up if you didn't want them to look so youthful!"—Philadelphia Press.

Probably.

The witness testified that he had been knocked down by a motor car and that the chauffeur, who was joy riding, had given no warning of his approach.

"Do you mean," asked the judge, "that he didn't have a horn?"

"No, your honor," replied the witness; "I think he'd had too many."

Ran the Hole Out of Town.

A lecturer once told of a Russian he saw some years ago in Manchuria whose methods of achieving results were not according to the usual code. The Russian had a well in his front yard which he concluded to fill up. He began digging a hole by the side of the well, throwing the dirt from the new excavation into the well. "In the course of time," said the speaker, "the old well was filled, but there was a hole alongside as big as the first. The Russian went farther away and dug another hole to fill the second. He continued this process of digging one hole to fill the other until he literally ran the hole out of town."

Requiescat In Pace.

The man with the old clock under his arm laid it on the jeweler's show case. "I wish you'd see what is the matter with this," he said.

The jeweler removed the dial, screwed his eyeglass into place and inspected the works of the ancient timepiece.

"Nothing is the matter with it now; its sufferings are over."

"Well, how much do I owe you?" asked the man.

"Nothing," answered the jeweler. "This isn't a professional treatment. This is a coroner's inquest."—Exchange.

Domestic Bookkeeping.

"And what's your reason for increasing the servants' wages, pray?" her friend asked.

"Because my husband complained that my dress and millinery bills equaled the household expenses, and I want to show him they do not."—London Tit-Bits.

What Beat Sandy.

A native of a town on the coast of Scotland, when the contract for lighting the first three steamers fitted with electric light at the local shipyard was completed, formed one of a social party gathered to entertain the electricians. In a burst of candor and comradeship he was overheard saying to one of the wiremen:

"Mon, Peter, efter workin' wi' you on they boats I believe I could put in the electric licht masel', but there's only one thing that—that—bates me."

"Aye, and what is that, Sandy?" said his interested companion, willing to help him if it lay in his power.

"Well, mon," said Sandy, "it's just this—I dinna ken hoo ye got the ile tae rin along the wires."—London Ideas.

The Harnessmaker's Hands.

If you see a man with hard lumps or corns on the back of his fingers, just at the bottom of the first joint and particularly well marked on the little finger, you may be pretty sure that he is a harnessmaker.

The corns are caused by the thread used rubbing across the backs of the fingers, and they appear on both hands, for in sewing harness both hands are used alternately.

The saddlemaker also has a distinctive hand. It is strong and well developed, with characteristic corns on the palm at the roots of the fingers. His nails are usually split, broken down or otherwise injured.—Pearson's Weekly.

MUSIC OF THE WALTZ.

Magic of the Alluring Melodies of Johann Strauss.

Johann Strauss wrote some of the most alluring waltzes that have ever bewitched the feet of the world, and they have aptly been described as "those irresistible waltzes that first catch the ear and then curl around the head till on a sudden they invade and will have the legs."

The music of the waltz originally consisted of two sections, each composed of eight measures in three-fourths or three-eighths time. Examples of these primitive forms are found in Beethoven's and Mozart's German dances. The next development was the stringing together of several of these sixteen measure waltzes and the addition of trios and a coda. Hummel first effected this in 1808. The base of modern waltz music, however, is found in the dances of Schubert. But it is to Weber that the waltz owes what, musically speaking, is its most important development. The composition of the "Invitation to the Dance" marked the adoption of the waltz form into the sphere of absolute music and prepared the way for the stream of pianoforte and vocal waltzes not intended as accompaniments to dancing, the best examples of which are the waltzes of Chopin and Rubinstein.

Johann Strauss, the first called "the father of the waltz," raised the waltz to a higher level than it had ever been raised before, and Johann, his son, called "the waltz king," developed the waltz to its present form. Strauss, the son, wrote over 400 pieces of dance music, of which "The Beautiful Blue Danube," his first vocal waltz, was the most popular. His waltzes were built up of such beautiful musical themes, often so inspired and moving, as well as rhythmically alluring, that they were in a sense symphonic.

In the early part of the nineteenth century the composition of waltzes for dancing was almost entirely in the hands of the Viennese composers and the Strauss family in particular. The Strauss waltzes, which were written for the ballrooms of the gayest dancers in the world, are full of piquancy, coquetry and vigor, as full of momentary hesitancies and sudden abandonment of reserve as the conduct of coy but ardent lovers.

Wagner wrote, "A single Strauss waltz surpasses in grace, refinement and real musical substance most of the products of foreign manufacture which we often import at great cost." Hans Von Buelow publicly advocated the occasional inclusion of Strauss waltzes in the programs of symphony concerts, and Brahms wrote under the opening measures of "The Blue Danube Waltz," "Not, unfortunately, by Johannes Brahms."

Amiable Cats.

Cats are of a high strung and sensitive nature, easily influenced by their surroundings. If you wish a fine tempered, nice little home loving cat you must possess some of these attributes yourself. You cannot expect to have a very amiable animal if you are cranky all the time. Give the animal credit for being a good imitator. If you are vile tempered and given to striking the kitten find no fault if the cat has a like manner and strikes people and smaller animals.

Above the Laws.

Some men think money can do anything. A certain rich man sent for the doctor, who looked him over and then pronounced judgment.

"You have been living too high."

"Maybe I have. There are many good things in the Pittsburgh markets."

"No levity. You have violated nature's laws."

"Well, I guess I have."

"And you must pay the penalty."

"Pay the penalty? Oh, come now doc. Can't you get me off on a technicality or something?"

Moody's Reply.

"How am I to know if I am a true Christian?" a lady once asked Mr Moody at the close of a revival meeting. Mr. Moody is said to have replied: "Ask your servants, madam They are sure to know."

One Good Way.

"My wife," said Mr. Clarke, "sent $2 in answer to an advertisement of a sure method of getting rid of superfluous fat."

"And what did she get for the money? Was the information what she wanted?" asked Mr. Simmons.

"Well, she got a reply telling her to sell it to the soap man."—Harper's Monthly.

He Guessed Right.

"Ah, me," exclaimed Mrs. Nagget, "my shopping was most unsatisfactory today!"

"Huh!" grunted Nagget. "Trying to get something for nothing, I suppose."

"Yes, dear. I was after a birthday gift for you."—Philadelphia Press.

Quite a Change.

Howell—Rowell doesn't speak to his wife. Powell—And I can remember when he thought it was worth $1 to say a few words to her by long distance telephone.—Judge.

Took His Time.

Accompanied by a boy, Rev. James Hamilton of Liverpool, England, was fishing for sea trout while on a vacation in Scotland. He slipped on a stone, lost his balance and, being encumbered with heavy wading boots, had very great difficulty in keeping his head above water. Finally he managed to get back to the shore, although in a very exhausted state, and said to the boy, "I noticed that you never tried to help me."

"Na," was the deliberate response, "but I was thinkin' o't."

The Lifeboat.

Like many other inventions the lifeboat was a long time in finding favor. The first lifeboat was designed by a London coach builder, Lionel Lukin, in 1785, under the encouragement of the Prince of Wales; but, despite royal patronage, his invention received little attention, though one of his boats saved several lives at Bamborough. The loss of the Adventure in 1780 first destroyed public apathy in this subject, and with the offering of prizes for lifeboat designs a first step toward life-saving at sea was taken.

Knew His Place.

"Yes," said the determined looking woman, "I might manage to hand you a bite to eat if you'll saw and chop a good pile of stove wood and bring in a few buckets of water and chop the weeds out of the garden and fix up the fence."

"Lady," replied Meanderin Mike, "I'm only a hungry wayfarer. I ain't yer husband."

The Gentleman.

It is possible for every man to assume an elegant manner, but the true gentleman is nature's own nobleman, who never forgets to be polite to every one, and it is as easy to discern the assumed from the innate good breeding as it is to distinguish paste from diamonds.—Dickens.

THE FORUM

Will Germany's new battleship, the Kaiser, fight the better for knowing she can outrun any opponent afloat?

The Titanic has made unlucky all the names of its class; witness the protest against calling the new White Star liner the Gigantic.

A paper bomb was dropped by the lady baloonist last week, and contained the query: "What would you do if this was a bomb containing sixteen ounces of dynamite?" This to our notion is a superfluous question.

The editor of the Review printed a paragraph the other day stating that most beautiful ladies have the ankles of a washerwoman. But how does he know?

A new fire alarm system has been installed in the House of Commons at Ottawa. Members who are disposed to generate hot air are reminded that the alarm rings when the temperature reaches 90 degrees.

Returning Canadian tourists from England who adopt the new fashion and bring mutton-chop whiskers with them should be immediately deported. Such whiskers are under the ban of the Barbers' Union and the Canadian Association of Beauty. Down with 'em.

An imprisoned suffraget who refuses to take food should be assumed to be mentally unbalanced and confined in a lunatic asylum until she comes to her senses. It is not uncommon for lunatics to refuse food and they must be forcibly fed. It is better to have the forcible feeding done by asylum attendants who are accustomed to it than by prison officials.

Mayor Thorpe of Guelph, who has returned from a trip to the Pacific coast, advises young men to stay in the east, if they have comfortable positions. He further says that there are good opportunities for investing money on this side of the continent as elsewhere. There is wisdom in his words. Some of the men who went west are now rich. So are some who remained in the East.

THE COST OF SPEED MANIA

The cost of speed mania in human life is indicated by the recent report from Newark, N.J., where five or six persons were killed, an equal number fatally injured and a dozen or more seriously hurt, all in order that a motorcycle race might be held to gratify the devotees of that sport.

It is a considerable loss of life and limb, and in view of the fact that the cost of raising a human beings runs up into thousands of dollars, it would seem the part of wisdom to place human life in danger only when some cause other than that of breakneck speed is to be furthered.

It is generally admitted that the motorcycle is a machine designed to show how the speed mania can obtain control of every person who are sane on every other matters. It is true that there are riders in whose hands the motorcycle is a safe and delighted vehicle, but if the number of fatalities continues to increase those whose duty it is to guard the public safety will have to take a hand in the work of checking the speed mania.

STILL A PAGAN.

The suicide of General Nogi and his wife reveals to the world that in spite of the advance in civilization, there is a strong element of paganism in the Japanese mind. It is particularly unfortunate that the ancient notions of heathenism in the Far East should still so prevail as to cost Japan the life of one of her greatest generals and most useful men.

If the doctrine of Nogi were carried out to an excess and all the prominent men of the nation, whether military or naval or political, should deem it their duty to join the shade of the departed monarch, the empire itself would be in a sad plight. Such mistaken devotion to a ruler as that displayed by Gen. Nogi is almost unintelligible to the Western mind.

The act of their general illustrates what was the common mood of superstition and the idea of loyalty that prevailed over the great part of the world for many centuries. That Japan has made wonderful progress and is now one of the world powers, may be recognized, but that such an act as the suicide of the warrior should accompany the funeral ceremony of the late mikado is thrown into an unusually brilliant light because of the presence of representatives of all the prominent governments in the world and what those visitors may have to say privately of such an act may have such an effect as to lead to the abandonment of the ancient fatal practice.

Let Japan understand that it is uncivilized to encourage such an idea and the nation will lay it aside. It is a little more savage and heathen than the doctrine of some rulers in the Western world that every man must fight a duel if called on to do so, or resign his position in the army to which he is attached.

A CENTURY OF STEAM AT SEA.

On the Clyde the centenary of the steamship has just been celebrated. The New World's celebration took place five years ago. But the engine which propelled the Clermont on her epoch-making voyage up the Hudson was made in Birmingham. In 1803 Robert Fulton began negotiations for his 19-horse-power engine, and almost two years later he secured permission "to export the parts of a steam engine to the United States of America." Thousands of the curious lately have been going to the South Kensington Museum to see the diminutive piece of machinery which drove Henry Bell's boat up and down the Clyde in 1812.

The story of the hundred years of progress from the midget ships of the Clyde and the Hudson to the giant vessels of the Atlantic and the Pacific is one of the fascinating records of human achievement. The Sirius comes across the sea. The contract for carrying the mails to Halifax and Boston is given four wooden paddle-wheelers, and the Britannia reaches this port 14 days and eight hours out from Liverpool. Sailing ships hold their own for voyages to India and Australia until the opening of the Suez Canal ends the era of wind-driven craft. The old Oceanic, first of modern liners, appears. As iron had displaced wood, steel takes the place of iron. The City of Paris crosses the ocean, the first ship to be fitted with twin screws. Germany enters the field and with the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse makes her first bid for the business of the sea. The Lusitania takes the records for speed and the new Oceanic for size, and now the Imperator ie almost completed at Hamburg, with her 50,000 tons against the Oceanic's 45,000, and Aquitania, the longest vessel ever laid down, is building at Glasgow. Europe builds the mammoth ships, and the midget Comet, from whose performance on the Clyde the Old World generally dates the beginning of steam navigation, was a vessel of 25 tons.

The monster vessels are here; happy the port that is equipped to receive them.

THE GERMAN SOCIALISTS.

Much discussion has been occasioned in Germany by a public profession of patriotism from the lips of Georg Heinrich von Vollmar, the Social Democratic leader. For many years Vollmar has been a member of both the Reichstag and the lower legislative chamber in Bavaria. His profession of patriotism was called forth during a discussion of the military budget in the Bavarian Parliament. He declared that, while the Social Democratic party always was and still is a party of peace, its members would be the first to rise in defence of the fatherland in case of war.

It is difficult for us to realize the full import of such a statement coming from a leader of a strongly anti-military party which has always been regarded with suspicion by German loyalists. Thousands of Germans feel sure that the Social Democrats are only waiting for an opportunity to betray the country. Their mistrust and apprehension are shared by the upper circles of the bureaucracy Emperor William himself, although he once went so far as to say: "I don't believe that my Social Democrats are as black as they are painted," believes that they need to be kept down with the iron fist. Until very recently he has been accustomed to refer to them as "enemies," and several times after an election, at which the Reds made gains, he has adverted to the time when he would have to bore loop holes into the walls of his Berlin palace.

Patriotic declarations like this recent one of Vollmar and Bebel's similar assurance last year during the Moroccan crisis will strengthen the position of the Social Democratic party. The obstinate refusal of the administration to redistrict Germany, in spite of the manifest unfairness in the present apportionment of Reichstag delegates, is due solely to its unwillingness to increase the legislative strength of a party that might prove disloyal in a time of crisis. If the Social Democrats can convince the government that they are sincere German patriots without any Marxian illusions as to the universal brotherhood of man, they will have cleared the way for the reapportionment which no German chancellor has yet dared to approve. The next step will be the abolition of Prussia's three-class voting system, and once this has disappeared Germany will be well on the way toward true parliamentary government. German journalists and statesmen are constantly scanning the political horizon for the advent of these changes. That accounts for their interest in Herr Vollmar's utterance.

FEATURES OF THE ISSUE

Included in the general debenture debt of $3,399,000 are $1,350,000 long term Bonds, which the municipality is holding in its treasury. The present issue of short term notes is made to avoid disposing of these Bonds in the present unfavorable market for long-term securities.

Point Grey immediately adjoins the present city limits of the City of Vancouver on the south and west, and has a population of 8,000 and an area of 12,000 acres—twice the area of the city of Vancouver proper:

Vancouver is rapidly outgrowing its present limits and the question of annexation is being discussed seriously.

Point Grey is regarded as the choicest residential section in "Greater Vancouver," and includes "Shaughnessy Heights," an exceptionally desirable residential section, recently opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Point Grey has been decided upon as the location for the new Provincial University of British Columbia:

We recommend these Notes as a high-yield municipal security and point out that, in addition to being a first charge against the municipality, they are additionally secured by the $1,350,000 Treasury Bonds.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Chimes Again.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—I have heard it rumored on the street that at the opening meeting of the Ministerial Association Rev. Canon Davidson is to address the Association on "The Ringing of the People's Chimes," and "Anglican services in Presbyterian Churches." Could you inform us if this is correct?

CITIZEN.

Reply—The Times called up a couple of the ministers to make inquiries but both said they were not on the programme committee for this year, and did not know. We may hear later, and if so, will report through our columns.—Ed. Times.

The Court House Fence.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Victoria Park is one of Peterborough's chief attractions to visitors. This beautiful park could be greatly improved in appearance by tearing down the obsolete and unsightly sheds to the north of the Court House. It is only a wonder to me that the enterprising city billposter has not got an option on that vast stretch of bare boarding to advertise Daisy Dimple's Doughnuts or Uncle Jim's Jaguars. Seriously though, now that the county buildings are heated from an isolated building by steam or hot water, those old sheds should be torn down and their present location turned into a grass plot. This would also give the Court House a more imposing appearance as it stood outlined against the eastern sky instead of tagged on to a twenty foot high fence.

"AETHETIC."

The New Separate School.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—My attention has been called to a letter which appeared in the Examiner on the 7th inst., in which the writer tries to prove that the agitation against teaching R. Catholic doctrines in a public school resulted in the erection of a new Separate School and the breaking up of the public school and endeavors to point the moral that such Protestant agitation is not only foolish and vain, but it strengthens and helps the R. C. Church and its teachings, and in proportion weakens Protestantism and its teachings. The writer also kindly warns us Protestants against such agitators as Messrs. Burnham, Weir and others.

There are always two sides to any issue, and I like to look at both sides and I find most reasonable people with a desire for truth and justice, always try to view both sides of a question. The writer in the Examiner has put one side, I should like to put the other as briefly and as fairly as possible.

Now, no Protestant of my acquaintance (including Mr. Burnham) wishes to either prevent a Roman Catholic child from being taught in the faith of his parents, nor be compelled against his parents' wishes to be taught doctrines contrary to their faith. This is only common justice, and all Protestants agree on this matter. Now the other side of this new separate school business, is just this: "The Protestant children were being instructed in the doctrines of the R. Catholic Church, against their parent's wishes.

The teacher in that school taught to Protestant children doctrines that are contrary to their faith and the faith of their parents. What happened was what might be expected to happen and what will always happen in similar cases, viz.: the parents of these Protestant children rebelled against such gross injustice, and will anyone contradict me when I say such a proceeding is unjust and unfair. I say most emphatically that a man's faith is a sacred matter whether, be he Protestant or Catholic, and to fetter or try to fetter a man's honest faith is a crime in my opinion. The agitation against teaching these Protestant children, doctrines against the faith of their parents resulted in action being taken and the teacher was not allowed to teach these children of Protestant parents, doctrines against their faith.

What followed was that the church having enough of its members in that section to do so, erected a separate school of their own. The Protestant children have to walk miles to a school where they will not be taught R. C. doctrines, and the writer in the Examiner says in effect this is a worse condition of affairs than before and you have to thank such agitators as Burnham and Weir for it. Then he draws the conclusion that said agitators are only working harm in the community. Now we certainly have got one more separate school where Catholic children are taught the religion of their parents, but I look at it in this light: That is far better than Protestant children being taught R. C. doctrines, even if they have to walk miles to be instructed in the faith of their parents. R. C. doctrines are not now taught in that school to Protestant children. We have lost a school, but Protestant parents value their childrens' training more than that school. That to my mind is the other side of this separate school business. We have lost a school, true, we hape broken up a school district, but our children are being taught in our faith and not in the doctrines we disbelieve. That we have had to pay dearly for freedom of faith may be, but we cannot pay too dearly for such a boon. While we have such men as Burnham, Weir and others to fight the battles of the children of Protestants, we shall not have Protestant children attending schools where doctrines contrary to the faith of their parents are taught them. In conclusion I have yet to know of a school where Protestant teachers teach their faith to R. C. children and we demand and mean to have the same sacred right for our children. Let the cost be what it may, and we will support the men who support our rights and equal just rights are all we claim.

Seeking the Wild.

Thousands of people are finding out each year that the wilderness is the place for the enjoyment which cannot be experienced anywhere else. Algonquin Park of Ontario for instance has been the mecca during the past summer for one of the largest influx of summer visitors in its history and every year shows a large increase of this great brotherhood of summer resort seekers. A wilderness of over 2,000,000 acres of forest, rivers and lakes filled with the wild things that inhabit its confines and offering fishing that cannot be excelled in any other part of the country is bound to attract the attention of the lover of nature and those who love "God's out of doors." The autumn months are among the best of any during the year for a visit to this delightful spot and the "Highland Inn" at Cache Lake offers to its patrons all the comforts of a city home. The altitude is 2,000 feet above sea level, the days are beautiful and the nights cool and conducive to that sleep which refreshes and invigorates. Write to Mr. Wm Gall, "Highland Inn," Algonquin Park Station Ont., for rates, interesting illustrated descriptive publications and all particulars. m

NUTSHELL ENGLISH COURSES

DICTIONARY HOME STUDY.

Home study has been discussed and advertised extensively during the past few years. Various methods and means have been introduced, but The Times believes that the best self-secured education obtainable in the English language and general information upon a most economical basis is offered in the Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary.

THE TIMES OFFERS YOU IN ONE VOLUME, BOUND BETWEEN HANDSOME LEATHER COVERS, A COMPLETE EDUCATION IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, AN ABUNDANT OPPORTUNITY OF INCREASING YOUR VOCABULARY, STUDYING SIMPLIFIED SPELLING, AND MUCH OTHER USEFUL INFORMATION FOR SIX COUPONS CLIPPED FROM CONSECUTIVE ISSUES OF THIS PAPER AND A SMALL EXPENSE BONUS.

Commercially speaking, the purchase of this leather-bound volume means that you are getting $4.00 for 98 cents, but generally speaking, it is impossible to estimate the value such a course of at-your-elbow education may be to you.

There are three styles of books, but the limp leather volume seems to have the call. The other two books are as good dictionaries in cheaper bindings.

Incompetent Employes Are Becoming Capable.

Not hundreds but THOUSANDS of stenographers and clerks have determined to get out of the poorly paid class in which they had been placed by their ignorance and are using the DICTIONARY ROUTE. Those who are climbing high each day are using The Times Dictionaries as the stepping stones of their progress.

The BIG LITTLE BOOK is always at the elbow of those anxious and willing to learn. There can be but one result of the awakening of those who by sloth and misunderstanding had lost the approval of their employers.

If you doubt the truth of the interest awakened in the dictionary come to the Dictionary Department and be convinced.

While on a visit to London an art master, well known for his absence of mind, had occasion to require a cab. Looking round, he espied one coming in his direction, drawn by a miserable specimen of a horse.

Hailing the cabman, he was about to enter the vehicle when, looking at the horse, he said:

"What's this?"

"An 'oss, sir," replied the cabman.

"Rub it out and do it again," said the professor, abstractedly.

Becoming a Man.

The Prince of Wales looks distinctly more manly as a result of his sojourn in the Gay City, and both mentally and physically he shows the supreme advantage of a foreign social environment. The meeting between himself and his mother was a very affectionate one, and if there is one trait in his character which stands out more prominently than another, it is his profound love and admiration for the Queen. He was gaily chaffed by his sister, Princess Mary, about his French, but he speedily demonstrated to the satisfaction of those who ought to know that his time in Paris has been well utilized, by speaking the language with amazing facility. When his study in Paris comes to a close he will proceed to the long-looked-for holiday at Balmoral, prior to entering upon serious studies at Magdalen College.

A Clear Case.

"You claim that the wheel of the defendant's car passed over your stomach," said the defendant's attorney to the plaintiff on the stand. "Yet here is your open-faced watch, which you testify to having carried in your vest pocket at the time, and the crystal isn't even cracked. How do you account for that?"

"Why," said the plaintiff, "the car was going so fast there wasn't time for the crystal to break, sir."

Expectations.

"I gave her a plush album on her wedding anniversary. It was one I had about the house for some time, but it looked like new."

"Well?"

"Now she has found that I have an anniversary soon."

"Well, no doubt you expect her to reciprocate."

"Reciprocate is not the word. I'm afraid she will retaliate."

Explained.

A Curious Legend.

There is a curious legend in regard to Deadman's Place, Southwark, London. An ingenious old writer says that the name originated as follows: "In Deadman's Place, at St. Mary-overus, a man servant being buried at seven of the clocke in the morning, and the grave standing open for more dead Commodities, at foure of the clocke in the same evening he was got up alive againe by a strange miracle, which, to be true and certaine, hundreds of people can testifie that sawe him acte like a country Ghoste in his white peackled sheets." However, a more exact historian explained that the name was merely a corruption of Desmond's Place.

Whole Hog or None.

"Whole hog or none" refers to the alleged custom of Mohammed to allow his followers to eat all except one portion of a pig, which portion, however, was not specified. The result, therefore, was that if a Mohammedan did not wholly avoid the use of pork he might as well run the risk of consuming the whole hog as to eat any portion thereof.

A Curse and a Coincidence.

Superstitious folk in Germany are attributing the tragic death of Prince George of Cumberland to the far-reaching effects of a curse. His great-grandfather had a Swiss valet, who in 1810 was found dead under suspicious circumstances, and many people suspected his master of murdering him. Mme. Sellis, the valet's mother, was so convinced that this was the case that she journeyed from Switzerland to London, confronted the Duke of Cumberland and cursed him and his children to the fourth generation. Nine years later the duke's only son came into the world stone blind. His son in turn, the present duke, was born without a nose and has to wear an artificial one, and now Prince George has been killed shortly after making a marvelous recovery from an illness which had crippled him for years.

Walter's Composition.

Little Walter was told to write a composition containing the word "seldom." This is what he handed up to the teacher:

"My father owned some horses, but last week he seldom."

The Greatest Singer.

Probably the most remarkable singer of all time was Farinelli, the beauty of whose soprano voice remains unequalled. It was of large compass, three and a half octaves, exceeding the ordinary range by six or seven notes. His debut at seventeen at Rome in 1722 was extraordiary from his competing with a trumpet player in sustaining and swelling a note of astonishing length and power. For fifteen years he traveled extensively, and he reached Spain in 1737, intending to stay a few months, but remaining twenty-five years. Philip V. of Spain had fallen into a profound melancholy, and the queen found Farinelli's voice the only remedy.

"Deprived of His See."

As an example of the ability of the juvenile scholar to evolve an unexpected meaning from his text a correspondent relates that the following question was put to a history class: "What misfortune then happened to Bishop Odo?" The reply came quite readily, "He went blind." An explanation was demanded, and the genius brought up the textbook. "There, sir," triumphantly; "the books says so." The sentence, indicated by an ink stained digit, read, "Odo was deprived of his see."—London Spectator.

"The Marseillaise."

The words and music of the famous battle hymn, "The Marseillaise," usually are ascribed to Rouget de Lille, a French engineer officer, who, it is said, composed it by request, about 1792, to cheer up the conscripts at Strassburg. It derived its named from a body of troops from Marseilles, who played and sang the piece as they marched into Paris. De Lille was pensioned by Louis Philippe in 1830 and died in 1836. It is safe to say that no other song ever written has stirred the hearts like "The Marseillaise." It will probably live forever.

MORE CARS AND MORE MONEY FOR MOVING WESTERN WHEAT

Borden Government Has Done Much to Solve the Crop-Moving Problem, and Great Improvement in Facilities is Result

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—The Dominion Government is making and encouraging every effort toward facilitating the moving of what promises to be a bumper crop in western Canada. Hitherto systematic preparations have been conspicuous by their absence, the wheat-raisers of the west being left practically to take care of themselves. Under the more businesslike order of things now prevailing in administrative circles no means for the prompt transportation of the grain is being left untried. The result is sure to mean a great benefit to the west.

Two Things Necessary.

There were two things necessary to guard as far as possible against a railway car shortage, and to give sufficient elasticity to the currency during the crop-moving period to ensure enough ready money for all the needs of the harvest. The Borden government has rushed arrangements for enlarging the terminal elevator facilities at the head of the lakes. The railways, at the instance of the Ministry, have made greater preparations than ever before to cope with the western crop situation. They will enter upon the gigantic task of moving the wheat with five hundred additional locomotives and no fewer than twenty thousand more cars. Roadbeds have been improved, terminals enlarged and other increased facilities provided. Whatever the railways can do toward the provision of adequate facilities they have urged to do, and, apparently have been doing.

More Money Available.

Part of this policy, as already stated, has been the extension of the period during which the various chartered banks are permitted to increase their circulation for crop-moving purposes. Under the arrangements just made there will be available what is practically "extra" currency amounting to thirty-one millions of dollars. The emergency period was extended a month each way, to begin on Sept. 1st instead of Oct. 1st, and to end on the last of February instead of the last of January.

What It Means.

Hon. W. T. White, in dealing with this problem, provided recently for an issue of five dollar Dominion notes to replace the notes of large denominations held by the banks, these big notes having been used by the banks as "legals" and not being available for purposes of public circulation. The possible circulation a year ago was $164,000,000, but the actual circulation was much less, amounting to $138,000,000. This year the possible circulation has been increased to $185,000,000, and the actual circulation can reach $170,000,000 without difficulty. These measures, adopted in time to allow their full benefit to be realized this autumn, will mean that the problem of crop moving will be a much less difficult one to solve than under the conditions which prevailed heretofore. Business measures have been invoked for coping with a business situation.

THE PATIENT HOTEL CLERK.

As He Is Viewed From the Commercial Traveler's Standpoint.

Hotel clerks are a suave, polite, hard pressed, very busy class, wearing fine raiment, diamond studs and occasionally the smile that won't come off; likewise the air of a millionaire minus the cash.

They can answer more questions in five minutes than an occult lawyer can in two hours and have to; can keep their temper like a graven image and bang the office bell and yell "Front!" with the tone and jar of a steam calliope. Hotel clerks were originally counts with nothing to count. The hotel's entire responsibility rests on their fashionably garbed shoulders, while the landlord sits in the back office, and they can say "Four-fifty, please," for two meals and a room as if it were a nickel.

They survey the arriving guest as a hawk would a left alone chicken, gauge how high priced a room he will stand for with the accuracy of tested scales, and when it comes to the size of his wad there is only one case on record where a skilled clerk ever had to "guess again."

Their nerve is chilled steel, poise that of Gibraltar, endurance like the rock of ages. They can give cards and spades to a drummer on the fine art of polite prevarication and beat him to a frazzle; can preach a sermon, lead in prayer, time a horse race and umpire a ball game.

It has been said that no human being can do two things at once, but this is a rank blunder, for a skilled hotel clerk can do five—viz, answer two questions, size up an arrival, hand out stationery and yell "Front!" all in one breath; also repeat the performance ten times a minute. Their two most valuable assets are fluency of smiles and ability to recall the name of every "once was" guest.

Hotel clerks catch all the latest jokes and stories on the fly. Their fund of good humor is exhaustless. Their faces must reflect morning sunshine persistently and continuously to hold their jobs down, even in spite of kicks thicker and more exasperating than "skeeters." And how many and what fool ones most of these are none but those doomed to yell "Front!" every five minutes and keep smiling will ever know.

There are a few public servants who in due time earn a halo. And of these the always patient hotel clerk is one.

His Accomplishment.

Little Willie—Oh, Mr. Henpeckke, won't you play something on the violin?

Mr. Henpeckke—Why, really, Willie, I would be glad to if I knew how.

Little Willie—Oh, I guess you know how all right. My pop says you always play second fiddle to Mrs. Henpeckke.

ROYAL BALLET MASTER.

Czar Nicholas Is the Largest Theatrical Manager In Eurpoe.

It is often said that the Czar of Russia is the largest theatrical manager in the world. He owns a number of theatres, and in every one he has a box. The Imperial Family are the theatres' best patrons. Actors are trained at their expense, and enjoy a pension when it is time for them to leave the boards. To be an "artist of the Imperial theatres" means not only honor but provision for old age. The performances are not confined to Russian. The Czar has a troupe of French actors at his own expense, besides paying the German troupes from time to time. The receipts of the theatres never cover the expenses, so that the Czar spends several millions yearly on his actors, and the royal dancers are the most famous in the world.

This is the Russian idea of one of the many things a Czar ought to do. His theatres are comfortable and roomy. The stage effects comprise some of the best furniture in the world, chairs and cabinets which would be in museums in any other country; old brocaded coats which have been worn by emperors, and bronzes which make collectors' mouths water. The acting is excellent, too.

When the Czar goes to Peterhof or one of his summer residences a troupe of actors followed him. He chooses the repertory, and makes his own suggestions, aided by the Empress. Everything is perfection in the little summer theatres, though the building is often of wood only, and sometimes the spectacle takes place in the open air.

The prettiest open-air theatre is in the summer palace of the Dazienki, in Poland. The stage is built on an island in the lake. The spectators' seats are on the mainland. The scenery is real trees and flowers, while the water, with the swans and lights reflected, forms one of the most beautiful foregrounds imaginable.

It is very difficult to gain admittance to one of the Czar's summer theatres, especially when he is to be present. The rule is that only members of his household and officers and their families stationed in the neighborhood are admitted; but it is sometimes possible to get in through a friend in the Imperial household, and then you can see the Czar of all the Russias, with his wife by his side, laughing heartily at all the jokes and in the intervals between the acts criticizing the performance.

Tearing Cards.

To tear a pack of cards in two is regarded by some as a marvelous feat of strength, and yet the trick is possible to any one with fairly strong fingers. The secret of the trick lies in the fact that the entire pack is not torn at once, but in pretending to get a grip on the pack the strong man so manipulates the cards that they overlap. In this way but a single card is torn at a time, and once the surface is torn the rest is easy. To any one who can hold a pack of cards firmly the trick is fairly easy, and, while in olden times a single pack of cards was considered to be the limit of strength, many of our strong men tear three and four packs at a time. The cards are restored to their original form before being given out for examination, and so the trick escapes detection.

Windmills on Houses.

Wind engines are for the most part variations of the familiar windmill. With a surface sufficiently exposed great power is obtainable for operating a dynamo. One cannot help marveling. If a single horsepower wind engine were affixed to the roof of every London house, think of the enormous saving to the hands, the legs and the backs of half a million housewives and domestic servants! Every family could then keep its horse or at least its horsepower, every householder could afford a motor, and, from an artistic standpoint, what a great gain to the eye it would be to see London a city of windmills.—London Strand Magazine.

The Bark of the Dog.

Wild dogs do not bark. They whine, growl, howl, but the true bark is never heard among them. The explosive noise familiar to us all in the bark of the domesticated dog is undoubtedly an acquired faculty. In a word, the barking of the domesticated dog is an effort on the animal's part to speak, which he derives from his association with man. The dog's bark is, of course, varied in its expression. Anybody can tell the difference between the bark of welcome that the dog gives his master and the bark of defiance that he offers to the stranger who falls under his suspicion.

Surprised Himself.

A man of the name of McDonnell was being taken home by a friend, Patterson, in a wheelbarrow one night, and as they were trudging along Patterson tried to offer his friend this good advice: "There is no use in your trying to drink up all the whisky in the world." McDonnell said nothing, but reflected some time, and finally, noticing that they were passing a well lighted distillery, he said, "Well, Patterson, I never thought I would start them working nights."

Piling It On.

Dedude—That man called me a liar, a cad, a scoundrel and a puppy. Would your advise me to fight for that?

Old Blunt—By all means. There's nothing nobler in this world, young man, than fighting for the truth.

Absolutely Past Hope.

"She is the most inconsistent woman I ever knew."

"Never does what she ought to or what you expect, eh?"

"That is just it. Sometimes she does. She is inconsistently inconsistent."

Silence Is Golden.

"Of course," said the beginner, "to be successful in politics one must know how to speak."

"Better still," replied the old hand, "he must know how not to speak."

Something Like It.

"Will you have some mocking bird soup?"

A new waitress in a family hotel on the hill startled the diners one evening by asking this question.

"I'll not eat at this hotel again. I'm a member of the Audubon society. The very idea! Making soup out of mocking birds!" indignantly remarked a woman.

"I'll take a chance on it just once," said her husband.

The waitress went to the kitchen and returned.

"I made a mistake," she said. "It was mock turtle soup."

The Wash Boiler.

A faucet on the wash boiler is said to be an excellent thing. Instead of lifting out the clothes after boiling them open the faucet and let the boiling suds drain into a tub or pail. The clothes may be more easily removed to the rinsing tub after the boiling water has been drawn off. A plumber will be able to fit a faucet to a boiler at small expense.

LAUNCHING A VESSEL

The Crucial Moment Comes When She Takes the Water.

That a launch is a matter of mathematics, as well as of great skill and labor, is shown by the fact that the man of science who has the matter in charge always makes a set of calculations showing the strain of the ship and its precise condition at practically every foot of the journey down the ways.

If a boat should get in the way or if it should take an unusual length of time to knock out the keel blocks, or if any one of half a dozen things should cause serious delay, the scientific man knows just how long he can wait and just how far the limit of safety extends.

There is always one supreme moment in a launch and it is at a time that escapes the average spectator. It is when the vessel gets fairly well into the water. This is when an important factor known as the "moment of buoyancy" comes into play.

If you can imagine a vessel sliding down an incline without any water into which to drop you can see that the vessel would tip down suddenly at the end which has left the ways and would rise at the end still on the incline. But really in successful launches the stern of the vessel is gradually lifted up by the water, and this throws the weight forward on that part of the ship still resting on the ways. The force of the water is called the "moment of buoyancy," and the natural tendency of the ship to drop to the bottom of the stream is called the "moment of weight."

Now, the moment of buoyancy must always be greater than the moment of weight, but it must not be very much greater, for if it were it would throw too much weight forward on the part of the ship still on the ways and might break them down or injure the plates or keel. When the English battleship Ramillies was launched this did really happen, and so great was the strain near the bow that parts of the cradle were actually pushed right into the bottom of the vessel.

It is this danger of disaster that causes the scientific launcher to make the most careful calculations as to the conditions surrounding the ship at every foot of her journey into the water.

Faked Butterflies.

One of the meanest frauds on record is that which is said to have been practiced recently on entomologists. It appears that there is a systematic trade in forged butterflies carried on by European dealers. The method as described is to cover the wings of moths after setting with a heavy coat of powder, which is then tinted with pastel colors to suit the taste of amateurs. Not content with imitating the rarer species, the forgers have recently been improving on nature and selling hitherto unknown varieties at unheard of prices. One expert was for awhile taken in with a red butterfly with blue polka dots, but this bold piece of imagination ultimately led to the exposure of the fraud.

Wild Orchids In England.

Few of our English flowers attract more attention or are more interesting than the wild orchids. Mr. E. J. Bedford, one of the first of the English nature photographers, is making a collection of photographs of these plants, and he contributes to "Knowledge" for the current month descriptions and pictures of some of the rarer forms which he has recently discovered in Sussex. The illustrations include the plants growing among their natural surroundings. Among others are the Spider Orchis, the little Bog Orchis, and the Lizard Orchis, with its curious prolongations of the floral leaves.

"I Sleep Soundly, Feel Like New"

ALL WHO LACK VIGOR, THOSE WHO ARE DISPIRITED AND WORN OUT, SHOULD READ THIS CAREFULLY.

Proof That Health and Renewed Vitality Quickly Return When Right Remedy is Used.

"I am only thirty years old, yet for almost two years I have felt more like seventy-five. I have found it difficult to sleep at night, and in the morning felt so depressed and heavy that effort was difficult. My hands were always clammy and perspiration on slight effort would break out all over me. It was not unnatural that I should begin to brood over the chance that I should be unfit to do my work, and this dread made my sleepless nights perfect misery. After repeated trials of medicines and mixtures, Dr. Hamilton's Pills gave me the first gleam of hope. From the very first I could see they were different in action from other pills. They didn't gripe and acted as naturally as if nature and not the pills were cleansing my clogged-up system. The sluggish action of the system gave way to normal activity. Dizziness and headaches ceased, appetite, good color and ambition to work returned, and have remained. I am like a new man and I thank Dr. Hamilton's Pills for it all."

This was the experience of J. E. Parkhurst, a well known grocery dealer in Jefferson. Follow his advice, use Dr. Hamilton's Pills for your stomach, kidneys and liver, and you'll enjoy long life and robust good health. All druggists and storekeepers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c per box, 5 boxes for $1.00, or postpaid from the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo,

Figures of Last Week's Fair.

Lindsay Strangers Are Generous

It Costs to Hello in Port Hope.

A Port Hope young man, a few days ago said "Hello" to a couple of girls. He omitted to use a phone and its connecting wire in making the remark, which cost him $5 as he "helloed" on the street without waiting for an introduction to the young ladies. He admitted he had "a couple of beers," which may have overcome an otherwise natural bashfulness.

Temporary Trouble at Cereal Co.

The Quaker Oats Company's big mill was almost put temporarily out of business yesterday morning, most of the employees being laid off until resumption of work after dinner. Some coils at the London street power house were burnt out, thus shutting off the power. The power which was shut off about 10 o'clock was once more hastening along the wires by 11.30.

Is Mr. Cooney a Rich Man?

Mr. Alfred Cooney, 339 Hunter street, seems to be on the high road to fortune. He has received a box of samples of gold and copper ores, which in his judgment promises great riches. This gentleman states to have a Government claim, registered in Spokane, Wash., which he alleges are worth $500 an acre. His claim of forty acres at $500 per acre would net Mr. Cooney the neat little sum of $200,000.

Presentation to Mr. J. T. Murray.

A pleasant function was enacted at the home of Mr. Jas. T. Murray, sometime foreman of the balling room of the International Harvester Company's plant. Mr. Murray is leaving the city and his friends gave him a surprise party at his home, 500 Parnell street in order to wish him godspeed in his new home. Mr. Murray was presented with a handsome suit case in token of esteem in which he was held by his fellow employes.

Work Done at Fire Hall.

Work has been begun preparatory to the erection of a building to the rear of the fire hall in which the stable refuse will be stored. As the yard of the fire hall has been artificially filled in and raised some four feet higher than the ground immediately to the south, a cement wall is being laid. It is a point open to dispute whether the confining of stable refuse is advisable; still the building referred to will be continued with.

Drunk in Local Option Town

The village of Woonville in Victoria County is "local option." The village had their Fall Fair last week. License Inspector Thornbury attended the fair. He discovered that the non-alcoholic atmosphere of Woodville had been polluted by fumes only manufactured in distillery or brewery and traced them to their immediate source. The fumes proceeded from a visitor to the fair who was drunk in that otherwise sober village exhibition. An information was laid and the violator of the law and order was fined $25.25 in the Lindsay police court.

Work on the Regina Work Begun.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have placed an order for twelve hundred barrels with Mr. A. Kingdon. These will be used as described in a former issue, for holding poles on the streets of Regina, Alta., from which to suspend decorations on the occasion of the visit there of H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught. Three hundred will be shipped immediately and the balance will follow as soon as made. The poles of course, are not the regular telegraph pole, but pieces 25 feet long by from three inches at the base to two inches thick at the top.

A Local Man Returns.

Mr. Thomas Staples, Hamilton, with Mrs. Staples, is the guest of his brother Mr. John Staples of Maitland avenue. Mr. Staples who formerly conducted a pump factory and blacksmith shop on Simcoe street, near the gas works, sold out his local business about a year and a half ago and since moved to Hamilton, Ont. Here Mr. Staples obtained the position of foreman in Messrs. Roberts Bros. big blacksmith shop. When asked by the Times as to conditions in the Ambitious City, Mr. Staples noted that on his arrival there, about a year ago, he purchased a home for $3,500. At the time of his purchase, Mr. Staples thought the price a little high, but the location suited him. He recently refused $5,000 for the property. Mr. Staples will remain here for two weeks' vacation.

City Fathers and Hydro-Electric.

The City Fathers who went to Toronto to meet Hon. Adam Beck in regard to the Hydro-Electric question saw the new incinerator and sewerage disposal plants whilst there.

It will be remembered that at a recent meeting of the City Council, Mr. Aird Murray, of Toronto, submitted an estimate of the cost of preparing plans and specifications for the city in connection with sewage disposal. This was in the neighborhood of $2,000, with an additional charge of $50 a day and expenses whenever his services were required in Peterborough. The council were unanimous in their opinion regarding the system employed by Toronto in the disposal of a portion of their sewage. The incinerator plant which consumes about one-fourth of Toronto's sewerage was given close examination. The City Fathers met Hon. Adam Beck in the Continental Life Building, which contains the head office of the Hydro-Electric Commission. The Aldermen are naturally reticent regarding the result of their meeting with Mr. Beck. We understand, however, that the head of the Hydro-Electric Commission will come here, should a by-law be presented to the citizens to give full explanations.

HYDRO-AEROPLANE DROPPED BOMBS DOWN ON WARSHIPS

Gave Proof to British Authorities That They May Be Deadly Even to Battleships—Missiles Went down Funnels From Thousand-Feet Height

New York, Sept. 18.—A London cable says King George watched the sham battles in East Anglia yesterday between the blue and red armies congratulating the territorials on their splendid work.

Commander Sampson was captured by the red army, his biplane having developed a defect. It having been proved that hydro-aeroplanes can make deadly attacks on warships, the Admiralty has decided to add largely to its fleet of hydro-aeroplanes at Eastchurch.

Dropped Bombs Down Funnel.

It is reported that bombs were dropped down the funnels of the warships from a height of 1,000 feet with absolute accuracy. The new oil-driven battleships now being designed, it is said, will have armor-clad decks and armored funnel shields to protect them from the bomb dropping aeroplanes.

They will also be fitted with guns of high elevation for attacking air-craft. The gun is a combination of an anti-torpedo craft and anti-air craft. weapon. When required for work against surface vessels, it has a range of 13,000 yards, with 31 pound shells. It can be elevated nearly 80 degrees, at which angle its effective height range is 9,000 yards.

Can Fire it 13,000 Feet High.

At a distance of four and a half miles it can send a shell at a height of 13.000 feet. For use against air craft a new type of shrapnel shell is used.

"GIRL OF MY DREAMS" COMING TO THE CITY

Play That Succeeds at Princess, Toronto, Will Show Here at the Grand Opera House, Sept. 23.

Brimming over with humor and merriment and fairly crammed with bright catchy song hits "The Girl of My Dreams," starring John Hyams and Leila McIntyre, opened the season at the Princess Theatre on Monday night, in Toronto, amid the greatest enthusiasm and appreciasion.

The real "first-nighters" were there in throngs with appetites whetted for the offerings of a new season and their delight at the bill surprised themselves.

Very Pleasing Music.

The success of the offering lay in the atmosphere not in the plot, which was designed to avoid being tedious. The music which, reinforced the comedy, was of an exceptionally pleasing character, the augmented orchestra contributing not a little towards the success.

Between the two principals the honors are divided. Mr. John Hyams excels in the presentation of a dry sauve humor which sets the crowd rocking in merriment, whereas the grace and personality of Miss McIntyre in her charming little songs brings encores and applause as infinitum.

Cheery, Healthful.

"The Girl of My Dreams" is a bright, cheery, healthful little play, musically staged by Kail Hoschna, abounding in charming choruses, dances and whirls of brilliant costuming.

Chief among the song hits are "I'm Ready to Quit and be Good," "Quaker Talk," "The Girl Who Wouldnt Spoon," and "What's Sauce for the Gander is Sauce for the Goose."

2000 ATTEND ENNISKILLEN

Sir Edward Carson Declares Home Rule is Not a Question of Politics

Enniskillen, Ireland, Sept. 18.—The first of a series of demonstrations preliminary to "Ulster Day," by which September 28th will be known, and on which date Ulsterites throughout the United Kingdom will sign a covenant pledging themselves not to submit to Home Rule in Ireland, was held here to-day with upwards of 20,000 persons participating Sir Edward H. Carson, president of the Ulster Orange Association, and former Solicitor-General for Ireland, delivered a fighting speech, in which he declared that Home Rule was not a question of politics of politics, but was the very life of the county.

Continue for Ten Days.

Other demonstrations, at which the Unionist leaders will make addresses, are being held throughout the Province of Ulster aod will continue for ten days.

The Cork Free Press, the newspaper controlled by William O'Brien says that the speech delivered by Winston Church, in which the First Lord of the Admiralty favored the establishment of Parliaments in different sections of the United Kingdom, really means that he will not join the the coercing of Ulster.

DEDICATION SERVICE IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Handsome Oriental Lamp Presented in Memory of Late Mrs. Perry.

Last night at 8 o'clock an interesting and impressive ceremony was witnessed by a large attendance in St. John's Church. The occasion was the dedication of a handsome swinging lamp, of Oriental design, manufactured specially to order in Jerusalem, to the memory of the late Mrs. Charles Perry, relict of the late Charles Perry, M.P. This lamp is suspended in the chancel and is of a unique design of silver filagree work. It was generously donated by Miss Ruby Burnham. The lamp is fashioned after those hanging in the church of the Holy Sepulchre, Jerusalem. It is probably the only one of its kind in Canada. The dedication service was of a memorial character and specially applicable to the occasion. After a special lesson had been read and prayer offered, Canon Davidson, of St. John's came forward and removed the cover from the lamp, at the same time unveiling a wall tablet, in memory of Mrs. Perry, at the entrance to the church. He then pronounced the dedication completed.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON WILL TRY AGAIN.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Sir Thomas Lipton, the famous English yachtsman, is to visit the United States in the fall, and it is said will make another attempt to lift the America's Cup. The coming of Sir Thomas will be received with enthusiasm by yachtsmen throughout the country.

ZAPATA THREATENS TO KILL EVERY AMERICAN IN MEXICO

Rebel Chief Tells What He Will Do to the United Stated If Intervention Comes

New York, Sept. 18.—General Emiliano Zapata, the rebel chieftain who is threatening to attack Mexico City gives his reasons for his uprising against President Madero, in a statement forwarded to the Herald from his camp at Yautepec Morelos. He says:

"I charge Madero with making a promise to reduce taxes to induce the people to follow him against Diaz. He has not kept his promise. I charge him with promising to increase the taxes on large estates so that the owners would have to cut them up and thus give the poor man a chance to buy a little farm. He has not kept this promise.

"I charge Madero with ignoring the men who helped him win and with putting into places of trust at large salaries 73 of his relatives.

"I demand that Madero resign the Presidency; that he and his family leave the Republic forever. The Government must not give them a cent on which to go, for the Madero family had enough Government money.

Does Not Want Presidency.

"I do not want the Presidency, but I do demand an honest election, at which I will agree not to be a candidate.

"Immediately after the election, the laws must be revised from top to bottom so as to give the poor man a chance.

"I have 18,000 men under arms in eighteen States of Mexico, while Pascual Orozco, with whom I have no connection, has control of two States making twenty States under arms. If I am victorious. I shall drive Orozco from the country."

Accompanying the statement is the following declaration regarding the rumors of pending intervention by the United States in Mexico.

"If intervention comes, I will kill every American in Mexico. Then I will enter Mexico city, but it will be to join the federal army to fight the northern invader."

ROYAL CHILDREN PUT UP SUFFRAGETTE BANNERS

London, Sept. 18.—And now Royalty has begun perpetrating "suffragette outrages;" it leaked out today. The King's sons, Princes Albert and Henry, are the two miscreants. The incident happened just after someone looted the red flag from the golf course at Balmoral and left purple "votes for women" flags instead. That was bad enough but how much worse it was when similar posters were found a day or two later, plastered on the door of the guest-room of the Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, who was visiting at Balmoral Castle at the time. Likewise there were other posters on all of the automobiles in the Royal garage.

The Queen was furious, she suspected the servants, and started a rigid inbestigation. It took a week of sleuthing to run down the real culprits—the two young Princes. They didn't really sympathise with the "votes for women" campaign, they said, when they were cornered. They only did it for fun, and begged to be forgiven.

As there was nothing else to be done, the Royal clemency was finally extended. The Queen compelled both Princes to apologize in person to Churchill, however.

TO THE BLOCK.

CONSIDER THE RIGHTS OF CHILD

Prevents Defectives From Propagating Their Species

HEALTH MEN'S BANQUET

Toronto, Sept. 18.—An occasion of unusually profitable discussion was enjoyed by the delegates of the Canadian Health Association at the annual banquet in McConkey's. Speakers representative of Federal and Provincial Governments and authorities on church, state and health matters contributed thoughts to the discourse.

RIGHTS OF THE CHILD.

Red. Archdeacon Cody spoke strongly and at length for the child.

"We have been hearing for a hundred years of the rights of men," he said. "Now we are beginning to hear of the rights of women, and we ought to hear more of the rights of children. Some of them have the right to be well born, the right to live, the right to protection, the right to play, and the right to a sound education." Every child had the right to be born sound physically, mentally and morally. In order that this might be, parents must be well housed, have good air, good water, and a certain amount of leisure. It was the bounden duty of the church and the State to see immediately what could be done to prevent defectives from propagating their species.

CANADIANS FIRST.

Dr. J. A. Macdonald said that the Health Association should feel more responsible for the class of people who were bred in Canada than for the health of immigrants. "Put as the background of your service," he told the health officers, "this fresh chance that democracy has to justify itself by giving the coming generation an opportunity to be well born.'

1000 KILLED IN BIG BATTLE

Turks and Arabs Lost Heavily In Battle With Italians

Rome, Sept. 18.—The most sanguinary engagements of the war in Tripoli were fought yesterday near Derne, a town on the Medtiterranean coast 140 miles northeast of Bengazi. The Italians lost 61 men, killed and 113 wounded. The Turks and Arabs left more than 800 dead on the fields. Forty-one prisoners including an Arab chief, fell into the hands of the Italians.

Raged Four Hours.

The battle opened at daybreak when a force of Turks and Arabs surprised and attacked the Italian lines. The fight raged for four hours, but the superior Italian artillery, supplemented by brilliant bayonet charges, finally routed the Musselmans who fled in disorder.

General Reisoli, commander of the Italian army in Tripoli, in his report to the war office, estimates that the Turks and Arabs must have lost a thousand men, killed, including those who were carried off, and that more than 1.000 others were wounded.

BRITISH OFFICERS MAY JOIN IN WITH ULSTER

Belfast Report Declares That List Embraces Men of High Rank, Including 26 Colonels

New York, Sept. 18.—A cable to The Tribune from London, says:

"A remarkable story comes from Belfast, that before embarking on the present campaign against Home Rule, the leaders had received the assurance that in the event of Home Rule being pressed to its final stage a certain number of army officers, representing every branch of the service, would throw in their lot with the Ulster men.

"The list is said to include many officers of high rank, with 26 colonels and lieutenant-colonels, 43 majors, 69 captains, 31 lieutenants and 228 men holding the rank of sergeant major or sergeant.

Ulster Campaign Opens.

"Ulster's campaign against Home Rule will open with a big meeting to-day at Enniskillen. This is the first of a series of demonstrations which will culminate on Ulster Day, when the members of the Unionist community will bind themselves by solemn league and covenant to refuse submission to a National Parliament.

Many Buy Revolvers.

"One of the most disquieting features of the present situation is the increase in number of persans who own fire arms. In the Nationalist district of West Belfast one dealer is disposing of revolvers at the rate of 100 a week and expects that this rate of sale will continue for some time, a large number of the weapons being disposed of on the club system.

Going on Elsewhere Also.

"There is reason to believe that what is happening in West Belfast is also taking place in other districts and notably in the city of Dublin. The authorities are perfectly well aware that the traffic is being carried on, and some time ago the Government actually discussed what steps could be taken to deal with the importation of these arms. It was then decided to take no action at the moment and thus matters have been allowed to drift."

117,000 WIDOWS TO BE SENT OUT TO CANADA

Salvation Army About To Launch New Immigration Scheme As General's Last Wish

Toronto, Sept. 18.—One of the last wishes expressed on his death bed by the late General William Booth of the Salvation Army is to be realized. A cable from his successor, General Bramwell Booth, at the Salvation Army headquarters, London, England, to local headquarters, states that those at the head of the Army's international immigration work are ready to launch the "widow scheme," which has been under consideration for some time.

Colonel Lamb, superintendent of the Army's colanization enterprises states, according to a telegram from Vancouver, where he is at present on his return from China to Eastern Canada, that there are in the United Kingdom 117,000 widows and 200,000 children dependent upon them, whom it is the intention of the Army to help. Women who wish to come to Canada will be relieved of the care of their children until they are in a position to look after them in this country. Colonel Lamb, who is very enthusiastic regarding the whole scheme, expects that many will marry again.

"It was one of the dear old General's dying wishes that something should be done to help these poor women in the Old Land," and Commissioner Rees, Commander-in-Chief for Canada and Newfoundland discussing the project, said "He felt very kindly for the great number of widows, many of whom are under 30 years of age and encumbered with several small children.

200,000 Dependents.

When the Commissioner was in England last June the early returns as to the number of widows and their dependents had just been compiled from the Government reports and other sources, and the figures were at that time placed at 140,000 and 200,000 respectively. Those given by Colonel Lamb are believed to be based on later revised returns.

"It was a plan of the late General's" said the Commissioner. "that the Salvation Army should temporarily relieve needy widows of the responsibility of their children, until the former could get on her feet again. We have carried into effect the idea on a small scale before, but this proposition is a very large one, I am not in a position to state how the scheme will be financed or even to enter into details until I have conferred with Col. Lamb," he added.

CITY BOARD OF WORKS IN SHORT SESSION LAST NIGHT

The City's Board of Works met in business session last night, chairman Ald. Buller presiding. There were also present, Mayor W. H. Bradburn, Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Duffus, Duncan and Johnston.

The bad drainage on Park street, opposite Dr. Morrison's residence, is being attended to. Surface drainage and a catch basin will eventually have to be provided in this locality.

The City Solicitor reported that if Street Commissioner's statement is true, Dr. King has no claim on the city for $7.15 damages, due, the doctor says, to the operation of the cement mixer on Charlotte street, near the Monaghan Road, 22nd August last, and the right of way being obstructed by concrete crossing material, which condition frightened the horse, resulting in a runaway. The Street Commissioner contends that the mixer was working on Frederick street, a hundred feet away, and a clear right of way left for equestrian traffic on Charlotte street, where his men were laying a concete crossing over Charlotte from Frederick. Then his men affirm that they saw whatever trouble arose with the doctor's horse, which they allege was under controll as long as they watched it—a distance of 275 feet.

Aldermen Anderson and Johnston moved that no action be taken.

Ald. Duffus thought it questionable if the city is liable or not, and would not advise fighting the case when $7.15 would settle it. Then the city has no definite proof that the horse did not run away, whereas the three occupants of the doctor's buggy at the time in question might be prepared to swear the horse was frightened at the mixer and crossing material.

Ald. Buller thought the matter a hold-up.

The Board here abruptly adjourned until Friday night.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 65 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 45 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 25c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. She Snubbed Napoleon.

Mme. de Chevreuse, a representative of one of the noblest families in France, declined the honor which Napoleon wished to confer on her, that of being maid of honor to his sister-in-law, the queen of Spain. The afterward became Josephine's dame du palais, but always affected to look down on the imperial court. One day she went to a reception at the Tuileries blazing with diamonds. "What splendid jewels!" remarked Napoleon. "Are they all real?" "Mon Dieu, sire, I really don't know, but at any rate they are quite good enough to wear here!"

QUEEN MARY'S HOME.

Opened With Money to the "Mary Fund," and Will Do a Lot of Good.

Barn House is the name painted on the wicket gate of the holiday home for working girls at Whitstable (Kent), purchased with a portion of the "Marys'" coronation gift.

No formal ceremony, just a hearty "come right in" from the lady superintendent will welcome the first girl guests when they invade "Queen Mary's Home."

On a recent afternoon a correspondent loitered up a flower-bordered path, passed a moss-covered sundial circled with rose trees, and halted wonderingly before the restored fifteenth century barn. The walls were of red bricks interrupted with frequent black beams, the bottle glass windows where white-curtained and sash tied, while the oak entrance door, elaborate with worm-eaten carvings, led into a hall reminiscent of yule logs and boars' heads and punch bowls.

That great floor cushion and the tapestries on the wall came down this morning from Buckingham Palace, said Miss Campbell, lady superintendent, and an old campaigner in matters of organizing, as we sat drinking tea from the cups of the china service chosen by the Queen herself.

"The Queen has been most kind. She has taken a personal interest in all the arrangements which have been going on for nearly twelve months. We are venturing to hope she will pay us a visit some time during the summer.

"Our girls are to have a splendid holiday. Breakfast at nine, and no rules worth mentioning. We have our own bathing hut only a hundred yards or so away from here, and there is a tennis court and croquet lawn. There will also be organised excursions for those who care to join in.

"The girls are all members of the London Girls' Club Union.

'Some are factory hands, some are shop assistants — some are vegetarians! Fourteen of them will come at a time, and each group will stay for a fortnight. The 'season' will last right on till October."

The grounds comprise an orchard, where the girl guests may pick fruit as they will, a kitchen garden, and a pool shaded with tapering rushes, and reeds. There is a poultry yard, and an old summer house, and a tank, green with rust, dated 1760.

Ancient Town Hall.

The little town hall of Totnes, in Devonshire, is probably the most ancient in England. It is tucked away in a corner behind the parish church, and all its furniture and fittings are almost exactly as they were [illegible] years ago. We do not know whether the councillors bring their own cushions with them, but they will probably need to do so, for the oaken chairs of our ancestors were not built for comfort.

Quite a number of English towns have two town halls, the old one and the new. Scarborough is one of these places. The old hall, in St. Nicholas street, is used for entertainments and other social purposes, while the new one, a magnificent building, is used for municipal work.—Tit-Bits.

GREAT HORN SPOONS.

The Ones That Are Made by Natives of Southern Alaska.

Horns of the Rocky mountain sheep, the buffalo and the mountain goat are made into dishes, ladles and spoons. Some of these are carved, while others are both carved and inlaid with shell. The decoration is sometimes geometric, but often a conventional representation of animal forms. This is especially true of the spoons of the Indians on the coast of northern British Columbia and southern Alaska. A few of these spoons are so large, so wonderfully artistic and so well made from the horn of the rare Rocky mountain sheep that even a moderately good one may appropriately be called a "great horn spoon." These are of a rich, golden yellow color. By far the greater number of horn spoons in this same region are made of the horn of the mountain goat, and these are black. A few have black handles of goat horn and golden bowls of sheep horn. All these handles are usually carved to represent traditional or mythical men, animals or monsters belonging to the lore of the individual family, just as among our people silver spoons bear the family monogram.—Detroit Free Press.

Church Tower Belfries.

Probably you have noticed that the openings in the belfry of a church are usually filled with a number of slanting boards, sometimes covered with lead. These are improperly called louvres, and many persons imagine that they are so arranged as to keep out the rain. The right name for these slats is abatsons, a word that means to throw down.

Their use is not to keep out the rain, because the wet does not hurt the bells at all and rain can beat in through the openings very easily. They are designed to turn the sound of the bells downward, so that persons on the ground can hear them better. In the middle ages some of these abatsons were beautifully carved and decorated.—New York Press.

The Game of Lacrosse.

The game known as lacrosse was originally played by the Canadian Indians, and from them adopted successively by the French and English settlers, and by them introduced to the United States. The object of the game is to drive the ball through goals situated at each end of the field. The players are usually twelve on a side. In 1867 the Lacrosse Association of Canada was formed, and an Indian team visited Great Britain, creating great excitement. The game is one of real importance in the English sporting world.

Clearly Incompetent.

"Have you ever been married before?" asked the license clerk.

"Great heavens, young man!" exclaimed the experienced prima donna. "Don't you read the papers?"

Whereupon she wired immediate instructions to discharge her press agent.—Washington Star.

The Only One of Its Kind.

On an evening somewhere about the end of the sixteenth century a traveler from Sweden might have been observed at the door of the Rose Theatre in London. He was going to see a new piece called "Titus Andronicus," and in order to follow it in the native language he bought a copy of the play, price twelve cents, at the theatre door. When he went home to Sweden he took the book with him to show his wife and friends what strange stuff the foreigner ranted. For 300 years it was preserved and in 1904, being discovered in the home of a countrywoman, was transferred for safety to the Lund University. The book is the only one of its kind known to exist.

FRENCH TOBACCO TESTERS.

Men Who Find Smoking Anything but an Agreeable Task.

The French government's official tasters of tobacco form a category of civil servants of whose activity little is known outside their own department.

Tobacco is a state monopoly in France, and these experts are employed under the ministry of finance to report on all classes of tobacco that are permitted to be sold in France. The men are mostly superannuated inspectors of tobacco factories.

Their hours of business are from 9 to 5. As a rule, it is the lower grades of tobacco that need the most careful attention. They have to report not only on the cigars, cigarettes and pipe tobaccos put on the market by the French Tobacco Regie, but also on all imported tobacco.

Smoking when compulsory is anything but an agreeable duty, these employees say. They are in constant danger from ills caused by the excessive use of tobacco, and they combat these by taking large quantities of black coffee, which is also said to assist them to differentiate between the various kinds of tobacco on which they have to give their opinion.—Exchange.

KILLED A PROSPECTOR.

And British Expedition Takes Summary Vengeance on Cannibals.

Further details of the recent attack by pagan cannibals in Nigeria on a British mining expedition and the murder of Mr. Campbell, the Scottish prospector in charge, have been received in London.

As soon as the news of the outrage reached the British Resident, punitive measures were taken, and all the villages implicated were destroyed. There was no casualties on the British side apart from a few arrow wounds, but a large number of natives were killed. It is not expected that there will be any further trouble.

It seems that Mr. Campbell with his only white companion, Mr. Poole, had been working in the locality of the attack for two weeks during which time the natives treated the expedition well. All went satisfactory until it became necessary for the party to erect flags and beacons to mark the limits of the ground. Unfortunately for these, and especially small white cloth flags which were planted among the native crops, aroused the superstitious fear of the pagans, who regarded them as a "juju" against their farms.

Warnings were given as to the threatened danger, but apparently these were not regarded as serious. Suddenly one morning two old pagan chiefs arrived on the scene, throwing earth over their heads, a proceeding which it was thought, was intended to indicate that the visitors should go, as the people were getting out of hand.

Definite news on the point is wanting, but it is probable that this action was wrongly explained by the interpreter as merely being a native form of salute. In any case, the chiefs retired, and in a few minutes the expedition was attacked.

By good luck Mr. Poole, who was wounded, reached his horse, but Mr. Campbell missed his and was shot down by innumerable arrows. A few days after his body was recovered and buried.

Drew His Picture.

It is told of Major-General Sir William Gatacre of the British army that during the Sudan campaign he was one day going the round of the sentries. Stopping before one, he asked him what his orders were. "To keep a sharp lookout for the enemy and also for Gen. Gatacre," was the prompt reply. "Do you know him by sight?" asked the general. "No, sir," answered the man, "but I was told that if I saw an officer fussing and swearing and rushing about that would be Gen. Gatacre."

War Cries.

In the very early days the French had their "cri de guerre," the Scotch their slogan and the English their war cries, but so many cries were launched by the different great British lords that in 1495 Parliament passed a special law forbidding these cries on the ground that they produced disorder, allowing but one battlecry, "St. George and the king."

Schliemann's Luck.

It is told of Schliemann, the exhumer of buried cities of the ancient world, that he was pursued by ill-luck in his earlier undertakings. Mentioning the fact to a friend, the latter asked him which leg and arm he first inserted in trousers and coat. Schliemann said he habitually inserted his right. "That is the cause of your misfortunes," said his friend. "You have offended the left hand fairies, and they take out their vengeance on you. Reverse your habit and see." "And," said Schliemann in telling the incidents in his later and prosperous years, "you see how it changed my luck."

Certain suffragist bodies in the old country have started out on a new tack and have begun to attack the institution of marriage, conselling free love. This is the acme of foolishness and will serve still further to discredit the cause. Those responsible are losing their heads entirely. What political right that they could gain could compensate women for the protection which the sanctity of marriage affords them?

The Times is in receipt of a letter from a man signing himself "A Growler," Toronto, in which he uses he applies the epithet "bigot" to the editor of this great family journal. It is entirely appropriate and in the proper order of things that a man of that name should live in Toronto. Living in such a place doubtless has made growlers of most of the citizens.

COMPLAINT RE GRAND STAND.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Now that the Fair is over for this year, I would like to make a kindly meant suggestion to the directors. On Friday night I was dead tired at the grounds so purchased seats in the grand stand for myself and two ladies. The only seats I could find vacant were low down. For these I paid seventy-five cents. This, with our admission to the grounds and street car fares amounted to $1.80 cents that I paid for the privilege of gazing at the backs of men standing in front of our seats. We could see practically nothing of the performance on the stage.

Liquid Cough Mixtures Can't Cure Bronchitis

But the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone, Which are Breathed to the Furthest Recesses of the Bronchial Tubes, Being Quick Relief and Sure Cure.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing medicine which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at the source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, medicinal essences, whereas, with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"I have been a chronic sufferer from Catarrh in the nose and throat for over eight years. I think I have spent four hundred dollars trying to get relief. I have spent but six dollars on Catarrhozone, and have been completely cured, and, in fact, have been well for some time. Catarrhozone is the only medicine I have been able to find that would not only given temporary relief, but will always cure permanently.
Yours sincerely (Signed), WILLIAM RAGAN, Brockville, Ont."

For absolute, permanent cure, use Catarrhozone. Two months' outfit costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c., at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

IS THERE A LOCAL COMBINE?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—We hear everywhere that coal is going to be dearer than ever this winter. We hear that the owners and operators have a shortage of over a million tons owing presumably to the strike. The question has often been asked, "Is there a coal combine among the Peterborough coal dealers?" Naturally the local dealers deny that such a condition exists here. But, sir, even more natural is it to ask why, every now and again, the local papers SIMULTANEOUSLY contain advertisements of these dealers as to charges in price—generally higher prices? I am informed that last season coal was sold in Lakefield for less than in the city of Peterborough through which it passes en route to that village. The Lakefield coal does not come under manipulation and control of the Peterborough dealers, who by so strange a coincidence always change prices on the same day for the same class of goods. Would it not pay a few score of our citizens to form a little private protective pool of their own and buy coal. This could be bought from some "Independent" man in Buffalo, and by putting up a good stiff front, backed by enough of the almighty dollar, the railroads would not refuse to haul. Let the local dealers show that there is fair business competition among them, let them have a fair living profit, but, Mr. Editor, let them stop their raw way of advertising changed prices on the same day.

Otonabee Protests Against Examiner's Statements.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—As an Otonabee resident I want to protest against the attack made on the good name of Otonabee by the Examiner. We know the Examiner is fighting the battle in favor of the Church, and can see no good in anybody but Roman Catholics but what are the facts about Otonabee? Leaving the question of teaching Roman customs in a "public" school out altogether, I want to say that from one year's end to the other the school board of trustees of No. 8 Otonabee, was never called together. There were two Catholics and one Protestant on the board, but even at that they had nothing to say in the management of the school. Everything was referred to a well-known clergyman of Peterborough, to whom the R.C. teacher referred everything, also to the smallest details. The truth is the public school ratepayers of S. S. No.8 Otonabee were shut out altogether except at the annual meeting provided by the statute for the election of trustees. But what is the use of electing trustees when they had no say? It is not the way any other public school is managed, and it is too much to ask Protestants to pay taxes for being ignored altogether and their children put completely under influences that ought to be outside of public schools altogether. I have no objection to clergymen ruling separate schools and now, the R. C. ratepayers have one and a good one and I hope they will do well, but I am a Public School supporter and I don't want the Public School to be run as a separate, and I think all people who are in favor of fair play will endorse our action. If they do not then public schools in sections where the trustees and ratepayers are in Catholic majority will lean all that way and in the name of religion and good morals be separate and not public as this one was, but is not now, thank God!

"ONE OF THEM."

P.S.—What started the row was the shot fired at one of the annual meetings, when on complaint being made about the teaching of R. C. catechism in a public school building, one of the Catholics said in my hearing, "We will show the Protestant sons of bastards whether we will teach catechism or not." I heard this myself and felt that the time for asserting the public character of the school was at hand, unless we were to be down and give up altogether.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL

May's Schoolhouse, Sept. 9th.—All the members were present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. J. T. O'Connell came before the council and asked them to grade St. James street and Romaine street running through his property. He said if the grader was run over the two streets it would cut the weeds and improve their appearance and help the sale of lots. Mr. O'Connell also asked the council to build a culvert on Romaine street running through his property. No action was taken on the matter at the last meeting.

The following bills were approved and passed for payment:

Foster Moncrief, teams and men, grading Business street, $15.75; John McIntosh, gravel, $1.70; Peterborough Lumber Co., re Lundy's Lane bridge, $18.07; George H. May's re Lundy's Lane bridge filling, material, labor and concrete, $103.65; Foster Moncrief, grader repairs re J. Crowley, $3.00—$142.17. Lansdowne and Park street bridge—The Peterborough Lumber Co., material for bridge, $19.89; George H. May, material, labor, etc, $70.61; The City of Peterborough to pay half of this account—$90.50.

Mr. G. H. May called the council's attention to the ditch near where the street car stops near the C.P. R. Railway. He said that a bill should be put in and the ditch filled up. The council did not take any action in this matter.

A communication was read from Mr. Morrison, again asking the council to grade two streets on the West Mount property.

The council agreed at a previous meeting to grade Third avenue, as soon as the commissioners could attend to the work.

A communication was read from Mr H. J. McCannan asking for permission for the Otonabee Power Co. to install two poles and wires for house lighting purposes up to and on Kenneth and Grandview avenues.

Moved by Mr. May, second by Mr. Robson—That Mr. McCannon's request be granted.

Moved by Mr. Morrow, seconded by Mr. Foster—That North Monaghan grant an additional $10.00, providing Cavan township does the same towards finishing the grading on the boundary.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Forster, seconded by Mr. Morrow—That the teamsters working on the public highway shall receive $4.00 per day, providing they draw 1½ yards of gravel or earth per load, but only $3.50 per day if they draw one yard per load.

Doctor Recommends Postum from Personal Test.

No one is better able to realize the injurious action of caffeine—the drug in coffee—on the heart, than the doctor. Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it, too, contains the drug caffeine.

When the doctor himself has been relieved by simply leaving off coffee and using Postum, he can refer with full conviction to his own case.

A Mo. physician prescribes Postum for many of his patients because he was benefited by it. He says:

"I wish to add my testimony in regard to that excellent preparation Postum. I have had functional or nervous heart trouble for over 15 years, and a part of the time was unable to attend to my business.

"I was a moderate user of coffee and did not think drinking it hurt me. But on stopping it and using Postum instead, my heart has got all right, and I ascribe it to the change from coffee to Postum.

"I am prescribing it now in cases of sickness, especially when coffee does not agree, or affects the heart, nerves or stomach.

"When made right it has a much better flavor than coffee, and is a vital sustainer of the system. I shall continue to recommend it to our people, and I have my own case to refer to." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

FEATURES OF THE ISSUE

Included in the general debenture debt of $3,399,000 are $1,350,000 long term Bonds, which the municipality is holding in its treasury. The present issue of short term notes is made to avoid disposing of these Bonds in the present unfavorable market for long-term securities.

Point Grey immediately adjoins the present city limits of the City of Vancouver on the south and west, and has a population of 8,000 and an area of 12,000 acres—twice the area of the city of Vancouver proper:

Vancouver is rapidly outgrowing its present limits and the question of annexation is being discussed seriously.

Point Grey is regarded as the choicest residential section in "Greater Vancouver," and includes "Shaughnessy Heights," an exceptionally desirable residential section, recently opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Point Grey has been decided upon as the location for the new Provincial University of British Columbia:

We recommend these Notes as a high-yield municipal security and point out that, in addition to being a first charge against the municipality, they are additionally secured by the $1,350,000 Treasury Bonds.

A DRAMA IN REAL LIFE.

The Play That Was Enacted in the New York Subway.

A subway train was leaving Grand Central station with its usual 5 o'clock load. In a corner by the door sat a man whose worn clothes and shabby shoes were whitened with the lime he worked in. His face was lean and marked with tired lines, and his hands, joint swollen and blunted, hung wearily between his knees. A large woman, bejeweled and plumed, entered the car with a rustle of skirts and a jingle of finery that attracted all eyes. Swaying uncertainly on her high heels as she made for the only empty seat, she was thrown from her balance by a sudden lurch of the train, and only the laborer's promptly outstretched arm saved her from an ignominious fall.

She straightened herself with what grace she could and turned with a smile to thank the gentleman who had rescued her. A glance at the workman, however, made her expression change to one of disdain. With a perceptible sniff, she ostentatiously brushed her gown where it had come in contact with the man's hand and sank into the seat. Looking as if he had received a blow in the face, he shrunk back and dropped his eyes in confusion.

Across the car, watching the little episode, sat a lady with a sleepy child in her arms. The little girl, perhaps three years old, was dressed in spotless white, from her dainty kid shoes to the deep frilled bonnet that framed her rosy face. When the guard called Seventy-second street the man slowly rose, and the lady opposite stood up with the child still in her arms. Touching the man's arm, she said, with a smile:

"Will you not be kind enough to carry my baby up the stairs? She is too sleepy to walk and very heavy for me to lift."

The man straightened himself and, with face alight, carefully took the little white clad form in his arms and led the way up the stairs. Passersby stared curiously at the trio, but there was no consciousness of that in the woman's gracious "Thank you! That was a great help."

As the mother and child passed on the man lifted his battered hat and turned homeward with a buoyant step. —Youth's Companion.

FLAMES THAT ARE NURSED.

Siam's Sacred Fire and the Fires of Vengeance of Sicily.

History records many strange examples of fires that are kept burning for long periods of time. The best known examples are those of pagan people who keep up perpetual fires as a religious custom.

The oldest known fire in the world is that in a Buddhist temple near Bangkok, Siam, which has been burning without interruption for two centuries. A priest is always on guard to watch the sacred flame. Every four years a new flame is kindled, but this is always lighted in the great brazier from a brand of the old fire.

The life of a grand vizier in Persia was once saved by a Parsee trader, who discovered and exposed a plot to kill the royal official. In spite of the fact that the Persians are Mohammedans and hold fire worshipers in contempt, a single flame has been kept burning continuously for seventy years at Sarbad in honor of the humble trader.

In inhabited lands within the arctic circle fires have been known to burn for years. This, however, is not so much a custom as it is a simple practice based on reasons of convenience and necessity because of the scarcity of wood or kindling of any kind to produce ignition. Oil is the fuel of the people of the snows.

In Sicily it has long been the custom of the vendetta to maintain the "fire of vengeance" until one's enemy has been slain. The criminal records of that fiery island are full of instances of fires that were kept up for years until death overtook the unfortunate victim whose life had been marked for destruction.—New York Times.

Snug Harbor.

More than 100 years ago a sailor died, leaving an apple orchard comprising twenty-one acres of land, then in the suburbs of the city of New York. He left it for the purpose of establishing a home for aged, indigent and infirm sailors. This was the foundation of the Sailors' Snug Harbor, on Staten Island, where nearly 900 wornout sailors are enjoying all the comforts of home in their declining years. The little apple orchard of more than 100 years ago is now in the heart of New York city, with a value estimated at $30,000,000.

A JOCULAR MONARCH.

Ivan the Terrible Had Cold Blooded Notions About Jesting.

Ivan the Terrible forgot neither his devotions nor his diversions. His palace alternately resounded with praying and carousing. He had a company of jesters, whose duty it was to divert him, especially before and after any executions, but they often paid dearly for an unseasonable joke.

Among these none was more distinguished than Prince Gvosdef, who held a high rank at court.

The czar, being one day dissatisfied with a jest, poured over the prince's head the boiling contents of a soup basin. The agonized wretch prepared to retreat from the table, but the tyrant struck him with a knife, and he fell senseless to the floor. Dr. Arnolph was instantly called.

"Save my good servant!" cried the czar. "I have jested with him a little too hard."

"So hard," replied the other, "that only God and your majesty can restore him to life. He no longer breathes."

Ivan expressed his contempt, called the deceased favorite a dog and continued his amusements.

Another day, while he sat at table, the waywode of Staritza, Boris Titof, appeared, bowed to the ground and saluted him after the customary manner.

"God save thee, my dear waywode. Thou deservest a proof of my favor."

He seized a knife and cut off an ear. Titof thanked the czar for his gracious favor and wished him a happy reign.—Pearson's Weekly.

OUR EARLY RAILROADS.

Rules That Used to Be In Force Half a Century Ago.

A curious relic of railroad operation some fifty years ago in Tennessee and Georgia is exhibited in the following extracts from the rules then in force:

Each engineman will keep a watch, which must be regulated by the time of his conductor at the commencement of each trip and will always have in his possession the current schedule book.

Should any stock be killed which may be likely to endanger the safety of the next train passing, the engineman will stop his train until track is cleared.

As a general rule, when trains meet between stations the train nearest the turnout will run back. Any dispute as to which train has to retire is to be determined at once by the conductors without any interference on the part of the enginemen. This rule is required to be varied in favor of heaviest loaded engine or the worst grades. If they meet near the center, in case of backing, a man must be placed on the lookout, so that any danger to the rearmost part of the train may be seen and the engineman at once receive notice. The backing must be done cautiously.—Railroad Man's Magazine.

It Was Changeable.

One of the large Kansas City stores owes its success in a great measure to its policy of exchanging goods if returned in a salable condition. An exception is made when dress materials have been cut from the bolt. One day recently a customer purchased ten yards of a two toned silk, which the clerk assured her was the most fashionable fabric of the season. When she reached home with her purchase she decided, on reflection, that a woolen material would be more serviceable. Accordingly she returned to the store the next day and requested the exchange. The clerk explained that it was an impossibility, as the goods had been cut.

"Why, I bought this with the distinct understanding," remonstrated the woman, "that I could return it. Did you not tell me it was a changeable taffeta?"

The exchange was made.—Kansas City Star.

LIVING SUDDENLY.

A New Experience For the Woman Who Thought She Couldn't Do It.

Mrs. Brown went in to see Mrs. Smith, whom she found, tired and pale, trying to sew with the baby on her lap.

"Life does seem hard," Mrs. Smith said after a little ordinary conversation. "I've just had a letter from my sister wanting me to come there for a fortnight and bring the baby. It looks like heaven to only think of it, but of course I can't go."

"Why not?" asked Mrs Brown.

"Oh, it would be perfectly impossible. There's the sewing and the cleaning, besides everything else. I've got to stay here."

"Suppose you died suddenly. What then?"

"Oh, then, of course, they'd just have to get along somehow."

"They why not live suddenly and let them get along somehow, just the same?"

Mrs. Smith stared.

"Live suddenly?" she said. "Why, I never heard of such a thing!"

But, nevertheless, Mrs. Brown managed to get her to do it, and the next week she went off for a fortnight and didn't come back for a month.

What happened at home was like a miracle.

Elsie and Amy, whom their mother never allowed to take the least care, took all the care and made father and the boys have a regular picnic. The boys turned in and helped clean the house.

The whole family took hold exactly as they would have done had the wife and mother been suddenly snatched away.

Only, as she was just "suddenly alive" instead, there was joy instead of sorrow, looking ahead instead of looking backward.

And then what a homecoming, with the baby rosy and all its back teeth cut, and mother not tired, not pale, not fidgety, not nervous.

Really and truly alive for the first time in years. What a stupid lot of big children we are, anyway, fumbling over dirty old methods, when the new ones are showing clean, smiling faces everywhere! Here's to no more necessary people "dying suddenly." Let's all "live suddenly" and be happy forever after.

Life's Mysteries.

Stick to the ideal and hug the unexplained. The people who have solved the riddle of the universe at fifteen are bowled over by the enigma of their work at fifty.

When you have spoken the word it reigns over you; when it is unspoken you reign over it.—Arabic Proverb.

EDUCATION IS MOTION

THINGS ARE MOVING FAST THESE DAYS. Sciences change over night. Discoveries are of last week. Inventions of yesterday. The man or woman who is progressing is keeping abreast of the times. 'Tis not enough that you graduated from this University or that College. The world asks: "What do you know to-day?" Education is motion. You move with the tide of events or you find yourself hull up on the mud-flats. Encyclopaedias that served you well within the last decade are now practically obsolete. They know nothing of the Titanic disaster, the Discovery of the South Pole, the Monorail, Wireless Telegraphy, the Airship, the Turko-Italian War—or Hundreds of other subjects of to-day or tomorrow. The one Encyclopaedia that keeps up with you, and you up with the times, is built and perpetuated by Thomas Nelson & Sons on the Loose-leaf Principle.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPÆDIA

Nelson's Patent Loose-leaf Binding Device has revolutionized the whole world of Encyclopaedia making. It has made possible a work that is right on the heels of history.

Nelson's maintain three permanent Editorial Staffs: European Editor, George Sandeman, M.A., Edinburgh, Scotland; Canadian Editor, Wm. Peterson, L.L.D., C.M.S., Principal McGill University, Montreal; American Editor, John H. Finley, Ph.D., LL.D., President of the College of the City of New York.

Nelson's contains upwards of 70,000 subjects, treating over 1,000,000 topics; has 7,000 illustrations and 500 maps. It is the only absolutely new and dependable reference work because the Loose-leaf Binding Device makes it possible to keep the work always up-to-date.

Nelson's Perpetual Loose Leaf Encyclopaedia is used in all parts of the civilized world. Also by the King of England, Premier of Canada, Premier of Ontario, Mikado of Japan, and State Departments throughout the world.

Read these Letters:

J. A. Macdonald, Managing Editor of The Globe, Toronto, writes :—

"I have had occasion to resort quite frequently to your perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia for information of many sorts, and have found it exceedingly helpful. This remark applies especially to history and its allied departments of knowledge; Chronology, Biography and Geography. There is a decided advantage in the loose-leaf method of keeping the Encyclopaedia up-to-date over the yearly supplemental volume method, and one that is not up-to-date is worse than useless."

H. J. Silver, Montreal, writes :—

"In November last the Protestant Board of School Commissioners supplied a copy of Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia to each of its High Schools, to the Superintendent's office, and to one of its Public Schools. The Principals of these schools have expressed their hearty approval of the work and its usefulness to their pupils. Personally, I have found the work and the Bureau of Research particularly useful to me."

F. E. Wyes, Librarian Grand Trunk Railway Literary and Scientific Institute writes :—

"The name of 'Nelson,' and the list of editors and specialists, is sufficient guarantee to make us feel that we have a perpetual reference work in keeping with the demand for information desired by all who are interested in a progressive Encyclopaedia.

"Your Bureau of Research for Special Information will be of great help to the members generally."

An Interesting Division of the British Army in India.

In the English papers one may frequently see pictures of tiny soldiers, about seven or eight years of age, gravely saluting elderly officers. These infants at arms are boy recruits holding regular and dignified places in the Indian army. Each Sikh regiment is allowed twelve of these little chaps, who are trained almost from babyhood. They are paid each 3 rupees and 8 annas a month and at the age of sixteen enter the regular army.

The Sikh soldiers are an interesting and remarkable part of the British army in India. Their conduct in frontier engagements has distinguished them as brave, steady and devoted to their English officers. Yet about fifty years ago these well ordered soldiers were fanatical savages who in their mad uprisings shook the power of Great Britain. Once conquered, they accepted British rule and were trained and disciplined into a well equipped army of 30,000 soldiers. They formed part of the force that subdued the mutiny. The Hodson's horse troops, which helped capture Delhi, were composed of Sikhs whose devoted service to their leader made them famous. Their scarlet sashes and turbans gained them the name of "Flamingoes." Their descendants are no less determined fighters and stanch soldiers.—New York Press.

Pulque Trains In Mexico.

Pulque is the national drink of Mexico. It is made from the juice of the magney plant, large tracts of which are cultivated outside of Mexico City. As a rule, there are 300 plants to the acre.

The juice is extracted by pound. It is shipped into town in long trains much like milk trains here, and the consumption is so great that it is equivalent to two quarts a day for each person.

The white liquid tastes like yeast, and in small places it is a common sight to see pigskins filled with the liquor strapped to a burro's back, the pulque making a gurgling sound with every motion of the animal.

The Circling of Cranes.

One day in the autumn, long, long ago, the cranes were preparing to go southward. As they gathered in a great flock they saw a beautiful girl standing alone near the village. The cranes wanted to take her with them. They gathered about and lifted her on their outspread wings. So they carried her into the air and far away. Now, when the cranes were taking her up into the air, they circled below her closely so she could not fall. They also cried in loud, hoarse voices so that people could not hear her call for help. Therefore the cranes always circle about in autumn when preparing to fly southward and utter loud cries.—"Myths and Legends of Alaska."

Economy In Epitaphs.

In a certain town lives a man who had been so unfortunate as to lose three wives, who were buried side by side. For a long time the economical bereaved one deliberated as to whether he should erect a separate headstone for each, commemorating her virtues, but the expense deterred him. Finally a happy solution of the difficulty presented itself.

He had the Christian name of each engraved on a small stone—"Mary," "Elizabeth," "Matilda"—a hand cut on each stone pointing to a large stone in the centre of the lot and under each hand the words:

"For epitaph see large stone."

Indian Ocean Serpents.

Among the most venomous serpents in the world are the marine snakes of the Indian Ocean. They are the dread of fishermen, and it sometimes happens that vessels are obliged to thread their cables through barrels to prevent the reptiles from swarming on board. Great numbers of them may often be seen floating on the surface of the water as if asleep. They are exceedingly fierce and will commonly attack human beings without provocation.

Long Beards.

Howell's "Welsh Celebrities" says: "Llewenn had the longest beard of which we have record. When loose and flowing it fell down over his horses shoulders almost to the animal's knees. It was of a peculiar yellow or straw color, which was all the more curious, both his parents being dark haired mountain Welsh people. Years afterward the mountain people had proverbs which referred to this freak, they often using the expression 'About as long as Howland's beard' or 'Yellow as the whiskers of Llewenn'."

George Kilingworth, whom Queen Mary sent to Russia in 1555 as one of her agents to Czar Ivan the Terrible, had a beard five feet three inches in length, and Count Ruloff of Poland, 1687, rejoiced in the possession of a moustache which was so long that he could not touch the ends of it with his fingers.

Prince's New Honor.

The Prince of Wales has received one of the two Orders of the Golden Fleece—the Spanish one—on attaining his majority. He could never have got the other—the Austrian—because it is restricted to Roman Catholics. The Order was originally one, and was founded by Philip the Good, Duke of Burgunday, at Bruges in 1430, on the day of his marriage with Isabel of Portugal. There is quite a wide choice of explanations how the Order got its name. Some writers say it was taken from the Golden Fleece of Jason; others from the fleece of Gideon; others again suggest that woollen manufacture was then the staple industry of the Netherlands, where the Order was founded. Lastly, lovers of romance have claimed that the duke named the Order after "the fleece of golden hair" of his mistress, Marie de Rambrugge. But this would hardly have been delicate, even in the 15th century, on the day of the founder's marriage.

FREAKS OF MARINE LIFE.

Barnacles May Serve Some Purpose, But It Is Not Apparent.

Barnacles are among the curious forms of marine life. So far as is known, they perform no important office, either constructive or destructive, in the economy of nature. They serve to no appreciable extent as food for the creatures of the depths; neither do they operate as a check upon other forms of marine life that might become redundant.

Strangely enough, barnacles are assigned by the naturalists to the same great subdivision of the animal world which includes insects—the anthropoda, which means joint footed. Barnacles belong to that class of crustaceans that embraces lobsters and crabs and constitutes the order of cirripedia, a term that means "curled feet."

Barnacles are hatched from eggs. The young in no way resemble the adults. Upon emerging from the eggs the young barnacles show themselves as free swimming little creatures with one eye, six legs and one shell. The young barnacle undergoes the operation of molting several times and finally appears with two eyes, twelve legs and two shells. At this state it roves no longer, but attaches itself to some convenient object by means of its antennae, secreting a cement whereby it glues itself quite fast. Then it undergoes a metamorphosis that completely changes its appearance. It loses its bivalve shell and its eyes and acquires its characteristic ciripeds or curled feathery legs, and it takes on an entirely new shell.

Three orders of barnacles exist. Members of one order are attached by the shell directly to rocks, timbers or other convenient objects. Those of another order are attached to floating objects by a long stalk, and the barnacles of the third order are parasitic upon crabs and other marine animals. When extended from the shell the curled, feathery appendages are in constant motion, and they create currents in the water that serve to convey to the curious little creatures their food, consisting of many species of minute forms of life abounding in the sea.

What are commonly known as "sea acorns" are nothing more than barnacles of the genus balanus. There exists a number of different varieties of these, showing shells of a white, greenish white, pink or purplish color. These barnacles attach themselves to rocks, shellfish, the piling of piers and sometimes even to whales. The base of the shell is glued firmly to the supporting object, there being no stem.

Ship barnacles are true wanderers of the deep, the same species frequently being found upon the hulls of vessels coming from the most remote and widely separated regions. They present a very odd appearance, for the shell is attached to the end of a flexible stalk, which varies in length from an inch in some species to twelve inches in others. Generally speaking, the shell of the ship barnacle is of a white or bluish white hue, and the stalk is brown or slate colored.

ARE WATCHING TICKS.

British Columbia Insect Is Under Careful Expert Scrutiny.

In reference to the reported statement of J. W. Cockle of Kaslo, B.C., to the effect that the woodticks which abound in British Columbia carry germs which cause spinal meningitis and beri-beri, and that the bite of these insects is sometimes fatal, which statement has caused considerable alarm in British Columbia, Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion entomologist, states:

"While I do not know what statement Mr. Cockle made, I can most emphatically state that the woodticks have not been shown to have any relation to either spinal meningitis or the tropical disease of beri-beri. The real facts are as follows: For some time the division of entomology has been investigating the distribution and habits of the Rocky Mountain spotted fever tick. Mr. Cockle has kindly sent, at my request, specimens of woodticks which I have identified as this species. Specimens of the same species have also been sent to me from other districts in British Columbia.

"This tick has been shown to be the carrier of the organism or germ which causes the disease known as Rocky Mountain spotted fever, prevalent in certain regions of Montana and Idaho, from 5 to 70 per cent. of the cases proving fatal, according to the locality.

"So far as I have been able to discover, no certain case of this disease has been reported in Canada, but the possibility of its introduction or discovery at any time made it desirable that the distribution and habits of this germ-bearing tick should be investigated, and such an investigation is now being carried on.

"I am anxious to have reports from any medical men of cases of diseases which they suspect of being traceable to the bites of ticks, and also specimens of woodticks, under which term several species are included."

MODELED FROM MEMORY.

Danton Was a Wonder, Though He Did Once Mix His Subjects.

Danton, the celebrated caricaturist, had a wonderful power of modeling from memory. After one long look at his subject he could go to his studio and make a bust quite perfect in its resemblance.

One day a young man came to him, saying that his sister was ill and about to die and that, although the family wished her bust modeled, they dared not excite her by mentioning it. Would he undertake to reproduce her features after seeing her once? Danton agreed, and next day the brother informed his sister that he intended to present her with some jewels and that a young man would bring some specimens for her approval.

Danton brought in the jewels and, going home, modeled a bust of striking resemblance. Next year an old gentleman, the father of the young woman, came to order a bust of the brother, who also had died. This, too, was a marvelous success.

The result of such planning, however, was not always as satisfactory to his patrons as in these cases. A gentleman who could not persuade his wife to sit asked Danton to enter a certain omnibus one day and fix in his memory the features of the lady opposite him.

He did so, modeled a beautiful bust and sent it home. It proved, however, to be not the mistress, but the maid, who had also taken the trip in the omnibus.

FOUGHT A PYTHON

Fearful Plight of a Man Trapped In the Big Snake's Den.

EXCITING BATTLE FOR LIFE.

Plucky and Successful Struggle to Escape the Embrace of the Writhing Monster, Which Would Have Crushed Its Victim Like an Eggshell.

Few men after having been roughly squeezed by a python have lived to tell of their sensations while in the embrace of the big snake. An Englishman employed in the London zoological gardens was, however, one of the fortunate few.

The Britisher while in Antwerp visited the Jardin Zoologique, where he observed that a big python—a female about fourteen feet in length—was suffering from caries of the jaw, with ulceration of the mucous membrane, a condition often fatal to snakes in confinement.

Having pointed this out to the resident director, the Englishman obtained permission to make trial of an ointment that he had found efficacious in the early stage of the disease among his own snakes.

Now, as ill luck would have it, the regular keeper was absent on this particular occasion, and his place was filled for the time by another from some other department of the institution. This man spoke nothing but Flemish, a tongue of which the Briton was ignorant.

The Englishman went into the python's den with this attendant, taking it for granted, of course, that the man was accustomed to snakes and handing him the box of ointment to hold until the Briton should be ready to use it.

When the Englishman had brought the python fairly down to the floor he gripped her hard by the neck, which action had the effect, as he intended it to have and which it always has with snakes, of making her open her mouth. While holding her thus he pressed her head away from him at the same time to prevent her catching hold of any portion of his clothing in her efforts to overcome him.

In her fright and rage she drew her body up across the Britisher's back and twisted her tail round and round his other arm. All that the Englishman now required of the keeper was, by teasing or pinching her here and there or by unwinding the tail when necessary, to cause her to shift her coils constantly and prevent her resting long enough on one spot to apply undue pressure.

The Englishman turned to make a sign to the Fleming to be ready to hand him the ointment. To the foreigner's dismay the Fleming's face, with a sort of full, impartial interest, looked at him through the glass in front, the door closed on the outside! He had become frightened by the python and had quietly departed.

At the same instant that the Britisher turned the serpent tightened on him so suddenly and violently that he momentarily lost consciousness. Then he found himself staggering about the den fighting for life. He expected his ribs to give way every moment, yet his chief fear at the time was of falling through the glass.

He pushed the reptile's head away from him with all his strength lest it should cross his breast, and he can remember catching sight of himself, a mulberry colored figure, in the mirror. All the time that he fought he knew that he was trampling over the other pythons, who, furious at the disturbance, were now darting about the den, above and all around him in every direction.

The Britisher exerted every energy to keep his feet, for he had retained sufficient presence of mind to realize that were he to go down all would be over with him. The heat was stifling. He felt that he could endure it no longer. The cage spun madly round before his eyes, and he let go the snake's head.

The big serpent now twisted sharply over his right shoulder close to his face and slid off to the ground.

The Englishmen remembers falling against the door with outstretched hands, but nothing more until he found himself sitting on the steps outside coughing violently, while the phlegmatic keeper was for some occult reason putting a hot key down his back.

Fortunately the snake had only a small part of her body across the Englishman's left side and back. Had she encircled him with a complete coil he would have been crushed like an eggshell.—Harper's Weekly.

Turtles and Their Eggs.

Turtles which weigh more than 150 pounds are not in demand, as the flesh becomes coarse with age. But these reptiles grow to 800 pounds and measure seven feet in length.

The eggs of the green turtle, a great delicacy, are generally deposited in the sand in nests of sixty. If not found by man or eaten by rats or birds they are hatched out by the heat of the sun in about eight or nine weeks, and the young turtles at once make for the sea, where many of them fall victims to crabs or other fish.

Dieting the Seals.

"Why have the seals been put on reduced rations?" was the first question put by the new assistant at the aquarium.

"To keep them from getting too fat," he was told. "Of all specimens in the aquarium none takes on flesh so rapidly as the seals. If their diet was not cut down when signs of obesity appear they would soon get so fat that they couldn't swim."—New York Times.

Home of Wisdom.

"I was just thinking about Diogenes."

"What of him?"

"I wonder if he really delivered his words of wisdom from a tub."

"Why not? It was probably a tub of axle grease setting on the front porch of some Athenian grocery."—Kansas City Journal.

Alaska's Delegate.

It takes the Alaskan delegate nearly a year to cover his district in a campaign. He reaches the coast cities by boat, goes down the Yukon to the interior and goes in as far as time and facilities permit to the interior camps. So closely is the population packed in the settled districts, however, that he is able to tell by midnight of election day from the telegraphed reports from the more important cities whether or not he has been elected.—Argonaut.

Always Against Them.

Mike Kelly had been a habitue of the courthouse for fifteen years and at every criminal trial had occupied a front seat, listening with evident admiration to the speeches of the prosecuting attorney.

"Ben," he said one day after the prosecutor had ended his remarks, "I've heard you speak again and again, but never, on my soul, have I heard you say a good word for the poor devil on trial."—Popular Magazine.

A WESTERN WRITER.

"Janey Canuck" Is the Most Interesting of Our Women Scribes.

Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Edmonton is, perhaps, the most interesting of the large group of Canadian women who are making noteworthy contributions to the literature of the Dominion. Mrs. Murphy was born in 18[illegible] (she is not afraid to tell her age) at Cookstown—the south Simcoe village famous as the birthplace and present home of Hon. J. E. Duff, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture. Emily Ferguson was her name, and she came of a noted Simcoe County family of Tory politicians, being a niece of the late Col. T. R. Ferguson, and granddaughter of the late Col. O. R. Gowan, both of whom were members of the House of Commons. Sir John A. Macdonald was a guest at the wedding of her parents. She was educated at Bishop Strachan School, Toronto, winning the Alex. Manning medal for general proficiency. In 1887 she married Rev. Arthur Murphy, a Church of England clergyman, and for years has lived in the west.

Mrs. Murphy writes under the pen name of Janey Canuck, and her book, "Janey Canuck in the West," was enthusiastically praised when it appeared. Her publishers, Cassells & Co., Toronto, have just issued a delightful sequel to this work, entitled "Open Trails." It is not a story in the ordinary sense, but a series of impressions of western life, skillfully and charmingly recorded. Mrs. Murphy is a very keen observer, with a real and robust vein of humor. Robust, indeed, is the best word to describe her work as a whole, for it is all strong, sane, and refreshing. The only fault to be found with "Open Trails" is that the last eight chapters are unnecessary—just a few rambling remarks about a visit to the east, which might have been condensed into a paragraph, if a comparison of west and east was desired.

Mrs. Murphy is candid in criticism of the west, much as she loves it. Take this paragraph, for example: "The Egypt of the Pharaohs did great things. She boasted herself to be the granary of the world, even as we claim to be the granary of the Empire, but in this day we are not particularly concerned as to the number of bushels she produced or as to how she marketed them. Our attention is riveted on those records which tell how she lived and loved, and what she looked like—her color, so to say."

"Janey" believes in fair play as well as frankness. She defends the cost of construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the west. It may have cost three times as much as other railways, but she points out that the road is sound and solid, not "cobwebs strung on a muskeg." She has a word to say for the French nuns at St. Albert, who have on their monastery windows not a cross and the lilies of France, but a cross and maple leaves. As to the Canadian who puts up a notice "No English need apply," she says: "I delight in that Englishman who, on seeing such a notice, raised his eyebrows and said: 'By Jove! Copied off the gates of Hell!'"—Star Weekly.

Kept Sober, But—

After a banquet a prominent man was asked by a close friend:

"Well, did you manage to stay sober?"

"Oh, yes," he replied, "but my health was drunk."—Judge's Library.

WONDERFUL MIRAGES.

These Seen In the Winter Twilights In Northern Alaska.

The most wonderful mirages ever beheld by mortal eyes are those that are seen in the twilight winter days in northern Alaska. These remarkable ghastly pictures of things, both imaginary and real, are mirrored on the surface of the waste plains instead of upon the clouds or in the atmosphere.

Mimic lakes and water courses fringed with vegetation are to be seen pictured as real as life on the surface of the snow, while grassy mounds, stumps, trees, logs, etc., which have an actual existence some place on the earth's surface, are outlined against mountains of snow in all kinds of fantastic shapes.

Some of these objects are distorted and magnified into the shapes of huge, ungainly animals and reptiles of enormous proportions. The fogs and mists are driven across these wastes by the winds, and as the objects referred to loom up in the flying vapors they appear like living creatures and seem to be actually moving rapidly across the plain.

At other times they appear high in the air, but this is a characteristic of the northern mirages that are seen near the seashore. When the vapors and mists are driven out to sea the images mirrored in them appear to be lunging through the waters at a terrific rate of speed, dashing the spray high in the air, while huge breakers roll over them and onward toward the mountainous islands beyond and against which they appear to be dashing.

Monstrous serpents, apparently several hundred feet long, sometimes with riders on their backs; men on horseback thirty to fifty feet in height, animals and birds of all kinds of horrible shapes and colors seem to be scurrying past, racing and chasing each other until they are lost in the twilight fogs or dashed to pieces upon the rocky islands mentioned above and which are twenty miles out to sea.

Structure of Fur.

Fur is a threadlike fiber which grows out of the pores of the skins of animals. It grows in length from the root and not from the top, as with vegetable productions. The lower portion merely lengthens out, and the top projects forward, consequently if once cut it will always remain blunt. It is tubular and filled with oil, which gives to the fiber its color. In addition to the oil it contains mineral matter, among which are sulphur and iron. A close examination of the fiber will, to a certain extent, show the section of the country the animal inhabits. The short and crisp, with an oval or angular cross section, indicates tropical growth; the long and soft, with circular cross section, a northern climate. The fibers from different parts of the same animal have a different structure and value, that which is taken from the back of a land animal being the finest, while the reverse is true of the animal which confines itself mostly to water, the under side being much finer than the back.

The Perfect Spanish Beggar.

There is a calm dignity about the Spaniard of every class which will strike a stranger. Even the beggars, of whom, goodness knows, there are plenty, seem to stand on a higher platform than their confreres in other lands. Here the statutory address is, "Could you spare me a copper?" but a Spanish beggar thus addressed us at a railway station, and we give his address as typical of his class, "O senorito, do me un alimosnita, y rogare por su feliz viaje!" which may be translated into English thus: "Oh, little gentleman, give me an alms, and I will pray for you a happy journey."

In Doubt.

An aged colored man was passing a fish store when he stopped to examine a huge turtle chained in the doorway as an advertisement. He had never seen a turtle before, and he prodded the strange creature curiously. Suddenly he popped his finger into his mouth with a howl of pain. After the finger had stopped bleeding he gazed at it ruefully, then eyed the turtle apprehensively.

"What's the matter, Rastus?" asked the fish dealer, with a grin.

"Nuffin', sah, nuffin'. Ah was jest wonderin' whether Ah had been bit or stung."

Mexican Courtship.

A Mexican girl is courted by a unique process. Her would-be lover walks up and down the street on the opposite side and stares at her window by the hour. If his appearance is agreeable she appears at the window after a few days of this performance. When the acquaintance develops he is introduced to her papa, and after the necessary marriage arrangements have been made he is introduced to her. The preliminary tramping and staring are called "doing the bear."

Average Amount of Sleep.

Usually the amount of sleep is in inverse ratio to the strength and development of consciousness. Thus children need more sleep than adults. Some men need very little rest, and the same may be said of women. However, eight hours is the average amount required by the human body to restore its vitality by complete rest. If less is taken one's health is apt to be impaired. A good night's sleep will do more toward building up general health than all the tonics known.

English Money Slang.

Slang names for money offer a bewildering variety. Henley and Farmer in their slang dictionary give twenty terms for money in general, most of them, such as "coliander seeds," "a lot of angels" and "king's pictures," being pretty well obsolete. The slang of specific sums is interesting. A sovereign has been known as a glistener, a goldfinch, a mouse trap, a remedy, a stranger and a new hat. The names for a shilling include blow, [illegible], northeaster, Manchester sovereign and peg. A sixpence, now called in slang little else than a tanner, has been a tester, a tizzy, a lord of the manor, a bender and a cripple.—London Standard.

No Procrastination.

"Ethel," he whispered, "will you marry me?"

"I don't know, Charles," she replied coyly.

"Well, when you find out," he said, rising, "send me word, will you? I shall be at Mabel Hicks' until 10 o'clock. If I don't hear from you by 10 I'm going to ask her."

A LAUGH THAT SPREAD.

It Saved Ferranti's Reputation and Fooled the Critics.

One evening Carlotta Patti sang in a large town. Just as Ferranti, the buffo, was leading her out of the door upon the platform some one in the anteroom behind cried out to him that his coat had burst at the seam in the back. It was too late to go back, for the audience had seen him, and the two singers advanced to the footlights. The knowledge of this mishap took all the fun out of Ferranti, and the duet, which was sung in Italian, was so dolefully devoid of its usual humor that Patti noticed it before they were half through, and, dropping the text of the duet, she fitted the following words to it, in Italian: "What is the matter with you tonight? I don't understand your nervousness. Nobody laughs at you!"

Whereupon Ferranti, in the mellifluous Italian, responded: "By the saints, I have burst my coat! Everybody will laugh when I go off the stage if they don't now!"

At this unexpected interchange of personal feelings Max Maretzek and his orchestra began to laugh. Then the people in the front seats, seeing the orchestra and the artists laughing, joined in themselves, and the merriment presently broke out into applause all over the house.

"Ah," said one of the papers next morning, "there is always something majestic in Ferranti's singing of that song. People burst into sympathetic laughter without being able to tell why!"

DRUG MANIA IN PARIS.

"Absinthes of the Rich" Which Menace the Future of France.

That "cocaine and opium are rotting the heart of Paris society" is the startling assertion made in a recent newspaper article by Alfred Edwards, founder of Le Matin, whose grief over the tragic death last summer of his beautiful wife, Mme. Lantelme, the actress, aroused the sympathy of even the most frivolous Parisian.

"These drugs," he states, "are now in full vogue, especially among the gilded youth of the capital, on whom they are working frightful havoc mentally, morally and physically."

The writer adds that he was induced to sound the cry of alarm in consequence of the statements of a number of medical friends, who see day by day a procession of victims, more or less irremediably injured.

Cocaine, he points out, from being of the greatest benefit to humanity in minor surgical operations, has now become one of its most frightful scourges — in Paris at all events. The facility with which it is taken has caused it to displace morphine altogether as a means of obtaining "Asiatic dreams." Young persons of both sexes, says M. Edwards, hoping to install a minor paradise of Mahomet at home, take cocaine in larger and larger quantities without any knowledge of its effects on the system. This result in fatal accidents of daily occurrence, while if those who become its slaves, are not killed at once, they become in many cases utterly demoralized or brutalized.

"To-day in Paris the opium mania also rages among society folk of the younger set. Enthusiastic young men have turned their bachelor apartments into opium dens of the latest fashion and there is hardly a night restaurant where one does not hear the question put among the diners, 'Where shall we smoke to-night?'"

The 5 o'clock tea, it is asserted, is completely supplanted and displaced by the 10 o'clock opium.

Some of these drug fiends, M. Edwards concludes, are in the habit of taking opium and cocaine alternately.

The article has caused a strong feeling that steps must be taken immediately to prevent the sale of these "absinthes of the rich," in view of the terrible menace which they form for the future of France.

They Never Go Out.

Many remarkable examples of fires kept burning for long periods of time are recorded in histories and books relating to travel. The best known instances are those of pagan people who keep up perpetual fires as a religious custom.

The oldest known fire in the world is that in a Buddhist temple near Bangkok, Siam, which has been burning without interruption for two centuries. A priest is always on guard to watch the sacred flame. Every four years a new flame is kindled, but this is always lighted in the great brazier from a brand of the old fire.

The life of a Grand Vizier in Persia was once saved by a Parsee trader, who discovered and exposed a plot to kill the royal official. In spite of the fact that the Persians are Mohammedans and hold fire-worshipers in contempt, a single flame has been kept burning continuously for 70 years at Sarhad in honor of the humble trader.

A Choice of Pleas.

"Sons of the Emerald Isle," says Mr. William Harvey in "Irish Life and Humor" (Eneas Mackay), a companion volume to "Scottish Life and Character," "have much faith in the practice of proving an alibi.

"An Irish barrister, who was evidently prepared for every possible contingency, is alleged to have addressed the presiding judge as follows: 'Your honor, I shall first absolutely prove to the jury that the prisoner could not have committed the crime with which he is charged. If that does not convince the jury I shall show that he was insane when he committed it. If that fails I shall prove an alibi!' One wonders how a jury could get away from a verdict of 'not guilty' in such circumstances, and yet it is probable that if the trial had taken place in Edinburgh the verdict would have been no more than one of 'not proven'."

Was It a Hiding Place?

A secret chamber in which were the remains of an unfinished meal has been found at the Fferm Farm, near Mold, Flintshire, built in the early part of the 16th century and once the Manor House of the Hartsheath Estate. Some workmen were engaged in repairing an ancient fireplace and chimney, when they discovered a revolving stone, which, upon being moved revealed a secret chamber. The apartment contained oak furniture of antique design, including a table on which lay antiquated firearms and feeding utensils, and the remains of a meal, reduced to dust. It is surmised that the chamber was utilized as a hiding place by Royalist fugitives during the Civil War of the reign of Charles I. from which time it had remained undisturbed.

Light Docket for Assizes.

It now looks as though a light docket will be presented at the Fall Assizes of the High Court of Justice, which opens here on Monday, September 23rd. So far as is known there are no Civil cases of any moment, and the only case on the criminal list up till to-day, was that of William Edward Leal, who is charged with attempted murder.

57th Regiment in Tactics.

On Tuesday night an interesting feature of the turn out of the 57th Regiment, was a lesson in practical war tactics. A detachment was sent to the west bank of the river whilst the balance of the boys in red were detailed to the boundary line, one mile to the west. An interesting lesson was conveyed as the city had to be defended from an imaginary enemy.

Pastry May be Higher.

Owing to the high price of eggs, butter, etc., it is said that local pastry makers intend to raise the price of their succulent goods. This may have a tendency to induce the Collegiate Institute students attending domestic science classes to take more copious notes, and also cause housewives to make their cakes and pies instead of buying them.

Open Verdict at Lindsay.

The inquest held at Lindsay to inquire into the death of the late Wm. Morrison, whose body was found in the river, on the 8th of September, took place last Monday. May Get Automobile Company.

It still looks as though the Canadian McIntyre Automobile Company may locate in this city. It was thought some time ago that a by-law would be presented to the citizens during the current month. This, however is impossible as such a by-law must be given three weeks' notice. There is reason to hope, however, that the company is still seriously thinking of locating here.

Mayor Bradburn on Hydro-Electric.

Mayor Bradburn, since his return to the city has expressed the opinion that a satisfactory solution of the Hydro-Electric power question had been arrived at between the City Council and the Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission. Water Connection for Omemee.

It now looks as though Peterborough and the thriving little village of Norwood will have direct communication by water. Mr. Joseph Knox of the Trent Valley Canal is busy, with a staff of men cleaning away the This waterway was at one time navigable for small steamboats, but through disuse for such purposes, has become clogged with weeds and other obstructions. The Department of Railways and Canals decided to give Omemee water connection. This will enable the tannery there to obtain its bark from the North country much cheaper.

Leal Committed for Trial.

Edward Leal will have to face a charge of attempted wife murder. Such was the decision of Magistrate Dumble when this man was brought before him, on remand from Sept. 12th. The first witness called was Dr. Mann, who testified to being called to the house in the morning of the 5th inst. He described the wound on Mrs. Leal's head after she had accompanied him to his surgery. A bullet was found just behind the woman's ear. A 22 calibre ball. Wilbert Regan, who was working in the bathroom at the time, said the quarrel between the Leals was about money. Percy Dunforh gave similar evidence. The Magistrate then committed Leal for trial at the Fall Assizes.

Mrs. Bowman Slightly Better.

We are pleased to state that the particulars as given concerning the condition of Mrs. W. H. Bowman, Charlotte street, were calculated to give a somewhat exaggerated idea of that lady's condition. Whilst our report, given from particulars received from apparently reliable sources, said that Mrs. Bowman was unconscious, we are gratified to learn yesterday that this portion of our item was incorrect. Enquiries made by The Times yesterday, at her place of business elicited the fact that she was resting easily and may recover. In fact, her son, William, who had been telegraphed for to Marmora, was able to leave the city yesterday on business. Mrs. Bowman's many friends will hope for a speedy recovery.

Health and Beauty Hints

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

B. Sister: It is right that the patrons of your "beauty parlors" should object to shampoos made from soap on account of the great danger of the soap alkali ruining the lustre of their hair. Try a shampoo made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water, and after shampooing rinse the hair as usual. Canthrox makes the most satisfactory shampoo imaginable and leaves no bad effects. It lathes splendidly and is the best and most thorough scalp-cleanser I have ever seen. It relieves scalp-irritation and leaves the hair bright, soft, fluffy and easy to do up. This shampoo permits the hair to dry quickly, is very beneficial and will not cause faded, streaky or discolored hair as soap and most shampoos are likely to do.

Mrs. L. G.: It is not necessary that your face reflect your age. You could easily have a much finer, clearer, smoother and more youthful complexion if you quit using powder and tried a good lotion. Dissolve four ounces spurmax in a half-pint hot water or witch hazel and add two teaspoonfuls glycerin. Apply this to your face, neck and arms, and it will improve your looks wonderfully. It will soften and whiten your skin and remove that shiny, greasy look. This inexpensive lotion will not rub off like powder, and is very beneficial in preventing and removing freckles and skin-pimples, and is a wonderful skin beautifier. You can get anything I recommend at almost any drug store.

"Weak Eyes": Wearing glasses is not likely to help your weak, dull, inflamed eyes. What you need is a good strengthening eye-tonic. The next time you go to a drug store get an ounce of crystos and dissolve it in a pint of water. Drop a few drops of this in each eye occasionally and you will be surprised how soon it will give you relief. It will not smart or burn the eyes and is a perfectlyreliable tonic for any one to use who has eye-troubles. It is splendid for treating watery, expressionless eyes or granulated lids. It makes the eyes bright, strong and sparkling.

R. K.: I would advise you to seek health first, before beauty. You say you are not sick, but that you feel tired always, look sallow and have simples and eruptions. Try this home-made blood-purifier and system-tonic: Get from your druggist one ounce of kardene, dissolve it in one-half pint of alcohol (not whiskey), and add one-half cupful of sugar, then enough hot water to make a full qt. Take a tablespoonful before each meal. This remedy should tone strength. It aids digestion, arouses a torpid liver and purifies the blood. When your blood is pure, your sallowness and pimples will disappear and you will have more strength and energy.

Grace: No, I know it doesn't add to your peace of mind when you are conscious that you are getting so fat that your dress is continually gaping in the back and you fear the constant strain will prove too much for the buttons. If you want to cut down your flesh without starving yourself or without tiring and futile exercise, go to your druggist and get four ounces of parnotis. Dissolve it in 1½ pints of hot water, then take a tablespoonful before each meal. Your double skin and shortness of breath will soon disappear, for I know several cases where parnotis took off superfluous fat at the rate of several pounds a week.

Jessie P. H.: Some sage dressings are beneficial to the scalp, but I never recommend them on account of the danger of staining or discoloring the hair. If you want a good dependable remedy for dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, try an ounce of quinzoin dissolved in one-half pint of alcohol (not whiskey) and add one half pint water. This will put your hair and scalp in a healthy condition. Apply the tonic twice a week, rubbing it gently into the hair-roots. It is free from oil and makes a fine dressing for the hair. I know of many who were troubled with "hopeless" cases of dandruff and falling hair that found this an ideal tonic.

Madge: For your hollow cheeks and wrinkled face, I recommend frequent applications of a good greaseless complexion cream-jelly, also brisk massaging. By stirring together one ounce almozoin, two teaspoonfuls, glycerine and one-half pint cold water, allowing to stand over night, you will have an extra good complexion cream. Use this also for massaging and it will clear up your fine fine, removing all dirt from the pores and soon you will find your complexion smooth, fresh-looking and unwrinkled. This is an excellent cream for treating blackheads, freckles and roughness of the skin and will rid your face of those very large pores.

Mary B.: Applying a delatone paste to the hairy surface for two or three minutes will remove every trace of hair from your skin. To prepare, mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the hairs not wanted. After it is removed the skin should be washed carefully. This method is unfailing and is not injurious to the

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Some fifteen members of the 57th Band left on the noon train for Lakefield, yesterday, to play at the Fair.

The Lakefield Fair was held yesterday under the auspicious weather and with the usual big attendance.

The sewing for the Children's Shelter will open to-day at 2.30 for the season. A good attendance of the ladies is requested.

The members of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church are requested to attend a sewing meeting in the church parlor this afternoon at 2.30.

The child bitten by a mad dog at Brantford has been sent to Toronto for Pasteur treatment. It's time some Peterborough canines were given the shotgun treatment.

The haughty drivers of the city garbage carts seem now to realize that even private citizens, whose taxes pay them, have rights. The drivers are now giving much less cause for complaints.

CHARGES OF PERJURY OVER THE BARBERS' PETITION

Magistrate Says the City Council Was Duped When Persuaded to Pass the Early Closing By-Law

Toronto, Sept. 19.—"I think the members of the Council will feel pretty small when they find how they have been duped in this matter," said Magistrate Denison this morning, referring to the granting of the by-law for the early closing of barber shops on a petition presented to them which assumed to be representative of the wishes of the barbers in the city. The remark came at the conclusion of the evidence brought by Mr. Curry in defense of Israel Sanderson, of 900 Bloor street west, and seven other barbers against whom the city is proceeding for having their shops open to business between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m.

He had been told that there was such a law, the magistrate asserted, but thought it incomprehensible. "It is a cruel injury to the barbers on the outskirts of the city whose business is in the evening," he said.

A Fraudulent List.

City Solicitor Johnston, who appeared to prosecute, contended that the Council should not be blamed as the barbers themselves asked for it.

"I can show that people's names were put on the petitions for the by-law who never signed it," said Mr. Curry. "Consequently it did not have the requisite number of proper signatures and I am going to contest it in the other courts."

Mr. Johnston said, that if the Council, under the act for the regulation of shops is satisfied with the petition as submitted the subsequent by-law could not be impugned. "My objection is that you cannot go back to the by-law," he said, "and it is not fair to scrutinize these lists."

Must Examine The List.

The magistrate, however, held that the petition should be examined and two witnesses were called from among those whose names had appeared as favoring the by-law, whereas they were in reality opposed to it.

DEAD SON WIRED FATHER TO BRING HOME HIS BODY

Unique Deception Practiced by Youth at Sudbury to Get Home—All Arrangements Made For Funeral

Montreal, Sept. 19.—After receiving several wires asking for money from his 16-year-old son, Albert, who had run away and who had been stranded in Sudbury, Ont., J. B. Soucherau of Verdun got a message purporting to be signed by the station agent at Sudbury, mentioning that Albert Soucherau was dead at that place.

The father made all preparations for the reception of the son's remains at home, having the house draped and beir installed. He also ordered a large quantity of flowers, while several friends sent in wreaths.

Mr. Soucherau himself went to Sudbury to get the body, wiring ahead to the undertaker there to place it in a casket.

Much to his surprise he was met at the depot by the boy, who had practiced this deception in order to get home after he had spent all his money which had been sent him.

BRUCE SENT TO TRIAL FOR THE MURDER OF MISS ZEIPE

Hamilton, Sept. 18.—James Bruce, charged with the murder of Rose Zeipe, was committed for trial today by Police Magistrate Jelfs.

The evidence on which Bruce was committed was similar to that given at the inquest, the only new point the Crown brought out being the evidence of Detective Sayers, who made the arrest, and said that Bruce told him his wife had asked him to get the candies for her.

Two men who were with Bruce when he bought the candies said that Bruce told them he was getting them for his sister's children.

Mrs. Bruce, in her evidence, told again of the quarrel she had with her husband over her delicate condition and how she had forced him to marry her. On the Sunday afternoon that Rose Zeipe ate the candy, supposed to have contained the strychnine since found in the girl's stomach, Mrs. Bruce said her husband was more pleasant with her that day than he had been in a long time, and coaxed her to eat some of the candy. She tried one, but it was bitter and she spat it out.

To the prisoner's council she admitted that Bruce ate candy freely from the same bag.

Bruce reserved his defence for the higher court.

IT IS COOLER OUT WEST

Harvesting is Nearly Completed in Prairie Provinces.

Winnipeg, Sept. 19.—It is generally cloudy throughout the Prairie Provinces to-day, but rain is not predicted, except scattered showers in Manitoba. Prospects are for cooler weather with local frost in Saskatchewan. Harvesting is being finished up and threshing has not been interrupted anywhere.

A MEMBER FOR THE CITY

Now that the Redistribution Bill is receiving consideration by the Dominion Government, it would seem but just that the City of Peterborough should have her political situation investigated. Whilst the growth of our population may not be so phenomenally rapid as that of some of the mushroom Western cities, its increase is insured by both past record and future prospects. The City of Kingston, with a population practically equal to that of Peterborough, already has a separate representative in the Commons. Why not the City of Peterborough?

GERMANY WAITS TO STRIKE FOR NEW EASTERN EMPIRE

Dream of Expansion Centres Upon China, and Eagle Awaits Confidently Expected Weakness

Berlin, Sept. 19.—Great wars often emanate from purely insignificant incidents, but underlying the trivialities are usually great issues. Reading some of the letters of Count Caprivi, just now being prepared for publication one is enabled to guage to a certain extent at least, the throbbing depths beneath the drama now being played at London and Berlin. A desperate colonial rivalry is at the very bottom of the suspicion manifested at almost every turn of Anglo-Saxon diplomacy. When in 1890, the Emperor William dismissed Bismarck and called Count Caprivi to the Chancellorship of the Empire this rivalry and enmity began. Curiously enough the pivotal point, then as now, lay in the far east. William saw little opportunity in the African possessions, since considerably extended, but like Napoleon, in the east he dreamed of a second empire. That was one of the reasons why he was so eager to seize the opportunity of parading the Teutonic might during the Boxer expedition by dexterously managing that a German officer of the first rank, Field Marshal Von Waldersee, should be in command of the allies.

Friendship cultivated by Bismarck was ignored. Germany's ambassadors were specially inspected to keep sleepless watch upon every move made by Great Britain likely to interfere with the Oriental aims of the Kaiser. Apparently, events so shapped themselves that both these European nations were relegated to a relatively minor position in the shaping of the future of Asia. But the dream remained, and with the falling of the Manchus, the playing of cards was hurried.

The editor of the Caprivi correspondence seems to credit William II. with little confidence in the capacity of the Chinese Republicans to withstand the pressure from without and within. According to his view the Kaiser is watching, waiting for the moment when China will appeal for help and a blow will have to be struck to save China.

"Then," says the Boswell of Caprivi. 'Germany's chance will come and Japan will find, instead of a Vladimir or Kuropatkin, with raw, untrained mutinous troops, the skilled marshalls of the fatherland to face, backed by clouds of tempered Krupp steel and a soldiery as indomitable and as unfaltering as the legions of Nogi and Kuroki."

JOHN BULL—"It would be bad manners to disturb Sam just now."

BRITISH JACK GOOD ENOUGH

Confederated Canadian Clubs Discuss the Banner of Canada

Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 19.—The Federation of Canadian Clubs completed its sessions at noon to-day, and will meet at Hamilton, Ont., 1913. The question of a flag for Canada was discussed at considerable length, and at one time the delegates got down to designing flags.

During the discussion many of the delegates expressed the view that the Union Jack was good enough for any place in the British Empire.

One delegate, Mr. E. A. Smith, of St. John, declared that the present Canadian flag had no legitimate right on any flagpole.

Some laughter was caused when Mr. Guy M. Drummond of Montreal, said that he was representing the Montreal Women's Club. However, Mr. Drummond said he was serious and his vote against the resolution to take the matter up made the result a tie, and the resolution was then withdrawn.

NO SCARCITY OF COAL MINE WORKERS DECLARE

United States Government to Begin an Investigation at Once Into the Situation

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 19.—A telegram received here from the acting Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor in Washington gives assurance that the United States Government intends to begin at once in detailed investigation of the causes of the short supply of anthracite in New York and New England. The investigation will be a part of the inquiry into certain other aspects of the coal situation now being conducted by the Bureau of Labor.

Local leaders of the United Mine Workers declare that there is no necessity for a scarcity of coal and that large quantities of anthracite are now being stored in this region, particularily at Landigville, where there is said to be enough coal piled up to last New York City all winter.

TWO VETERAN LEGISLATORS ARE SERIOUSLY SICK

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Word has been received at Ottawa that Hon. John Haggart, the veteran member for South Lanark, is seriously ill at his home in Perth. As he is 76 years of age, it is a question even if he recovers, whether he will ever be able to take his seat in the House again. Mr. Haggart was very feeble during the last session. Mr. Haggart is the oldest member of the House, having been elected first in 1872. He has continuously represented South Lanark.

Sir Richard Cartwright, the veteran statesman, who was operated on this morning at the Kingston General Hospital for hernia. The aged patient came through the operation all right. The operation was performed by Doctors Garrett and Anglin and took considerable time. It was stated at the hospital that Sir Richard would recover. He is in his seventy-seventh year.

DEPT. OF TRADE AND COMMERCE SEES GREAT CHANGES AHEAD

Greater Efficiency in Administration Brought About by Hon. George Foster in a Year

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—One of the departments at Ottawa which has been completely re-organized since the Conservatives have come into power is the department of Trade and Commerce. Under Sir Richard Cartwright the department had gone to seed; the officials simply marked time and initiative was discouraged. Hon. George E. Foster was made Minister of Trade and Commerce. He has brought to the department years of parliamentary experience and the energy for which he is noted. With enthusiasm he has set himself to the task of making the department of real value not only to the commercial world, but to Canadians as a whole. His department is rapidly becoming one of the most useful at Ottawa.

Extending Trade.

One of the ideals which Mr. Foster set to attain was closer trade relations throughout the empire,—imperial reciprocity. Immediately on assuming office he opened negotiations with the British West Indies and Australia. In March representatives from the Indies visited Ottawa, and after a series of conferences a treaty was signed which it is believed will be mutually beneficial. The agreement has already been ratified by all the West Indian governments, and as soon as the Canadian Parliament assembles it will be approved and will come into effect early in 1913.

Steamship Communication.

Faster steamship service and cheaper cable rates are necessary to make the agreement a success and both are being provided for by Mr. Foster. Negotiations with Australia are already under way and Mr. Foster will visit the Antipodes in February, when a treaty will be discussed.

Improving the System.

Mr. Foster, on assuming office, at once started a re-organization of the Canadian trade Commissioner service, with a view to making it more effective in developing the Dominion foreign commerce. Richard Grigg, formerly representative in Canada of the British Board of Trade, and universally regarded as one of the best infoemed men on commercial questions in the empire, was appointed Commercial Commissioner. A re-adjustment and re-arrangement of the trade commissionerships with a view to greater economy and efficiency is in progress. Mr. Foster is also making arrangements with the British government so that the extensive British consular service of the United Kingdom will be placed to some extent at the service of Canada.

As TO Statistics.

There was transferred to the department of Trade and Commerce shortly after the change in government the census and statistics branch Formerly it was under the Minister of Agriculture, although just what was its connection with agriculture was always a mystery. To leave the Minister of Agriculture free to devote all his energies to agriculture, the branch was transferred to where it properly belonged—Trade and Commerce. Mr. Foster found that statistics of Canadian development and commerce were kept in a more or less haphazard manner. Each department gathered its own statistics. There was much over-lapping. A commission was appointed to investigate and report on a plan to systematize the gathering of data. They were also asked to make arrangements to collect information on inter-provincial trade. The report of the commission will be made very shortly, when important recommendations it is expected will be made.

HORSE ON GEORGE ST. GETS ELECTRIC SHOCK

Animal Described Complete Summersault—No Damage Done.

Last night at nine o'clock a horse belonging to Mr. Forrest turned a complete summersault on George street, just to the north of the Peterborough Music Company's store. It seems that the horse attached to an empty buggy had been left tied to an electric light pole. At the foot of the pole was a puddle of water. The animal placed one of its front feet in the water. Then the fireworks began. The animal seemed to have no interest in voltage or kilowatts, but attempted to avoid them. In its haste to get away it described a full fledged parabola. Fortunately no damage was done and the animal was caught before it could get away. Strange to say neither harness or buggy were damaged.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida lapsed into a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundreds of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. IRVING'S STAGE EFFECTS.

Silence, Light and Just One Other Essential Produced Them.

Wendell Phillips Dodge relates in the London Strand Magazine an incident growing out of the first meeting of Robert Mantell with Sir Henry Irving back in 1882, when both were playing Romeo in London. There were reviewers who found Irving too old for the youthful Romeo, and one advised that he should make way for "the young fellow over at the Olympic."

Irving prepared a special afternoon performance in the Lyceum, to which all the players in London were invited. After it was over Mantell went back of the stage, and Irving asked him how he liked the performance. "It has been like an afternoon at school with congenial lessons," replied Mantell. "How do you do it? How do you manage effects? How do you get such atmosphere, such a realization of the glory of the tragedy, with such little effort? Is there no recipe?"

"There is—indeed, there is," answered Irving; "simple, too—only three things to remember. The first is silence and plenty of it behind the scenes, so that the actor may be at ease, with nothing to distract when striving for his shadings. The second is light, regulated so far as possible—so that nature is counterfeited, and that, young man, is the recipe."

"But," protested Mantell, "you said there were three things to remember. You have mentioned but two. Is there a third?"

"Did I say a third?" asked Irving. "Um—perhaps I did, perhaps I did, but what could I have had in mind? Let me see. Ah, yes, silence, light and—um, shall I say—actors? Remember that, my boy, actors. Silence, light and—actors, that is the third."

A BULL RING BEGGAR.

The Intruder Wanted Bread, but He Got "Thumbs Down."

Sometimes the bullfight in Spain is used to compel the attention of the authorities to grievances that would otherwise go unnoticed, as is seen in the following incident described by Harry A. Franck in "Four Months Afoot in Spain:"

"The newcomer will long remember his first bull—certainly if, as in my own case, the first banderillero slips at the moment of thrusting his barbed darts and is booted like a soccer football half around the ring by the snorting animal. Still less shall I forget the chill that shot through me when, with the fifth bull at the height of his fury, a gaunt and awkward boy of fifteen sprang suddenly over the barriers and shook his ragged blouse a dozen times in the animal's face. As many times he escaped a goring by the closest margin.

"The toreros did not for a moment lose their heads. Calmly and dexterously they maneuvered until one of them drew the bull off, when another caught the intruder by the arm and marched him across the ring to the shade of the mayor's box. There the youth, who had taken this means of gaining an audience, lifted up a mournful voice and asked for food, asserting that he was starving—a statement that seemed by no means improbable. The response was thumbs down. But he gained his point, in a way, for he was given a fortnight in prison.

"Incidents of the sort had grown so frequent of late in Seville as to make necessary a new law, promulgated in large letters on that day's program. Printed words in all probability meant nothing to this neglected son of Seville."

Impatience.

"Some of the problems of human existence are becoming more and more complex."

"Yes," replied the admiring parent. "I can hardly wait for my daughter's graduation essay to let us know what is do about them."—Washington Star.

Ozone and Air Sewage.

Ozone is a particularly active or concentrated form of oxygen. One molecule of oxygen contains two atoms; a molecule of ozone contains three atoms. As only two atoms of oxygen balance harmoniously in a molecule when there are three of them together in a molecule the third atom will cut loose and seek a union elsewhere. The oxygen atom has a remarkable affinity for carbon, of which decaying organic matter is a common form, and as the greater part of the organic matter in the air is in process of decay the third atom at once attacks and oxidizes it, burning it up.—Cassier's Magazine.

Unconsciousness.

"She's the most unconscious girl I ever saw."

"Well, why shouldn't she be? She's pretty and knows it. She's clever and knows it, and she's good and knows it. What has she to be conscious of?"—Exchange.

Friendly Suggestion.

Borem — That five-year-old boy of mine gets off some good things. This morning at breakfast he said— Knox (interrupting) — He should have them copyrighted. Borem—Why? Knox—To keep you from reproducing them.

Motherly Advice.

"My dear, you mustn't be so sharp with strange young men. You know you may give them a wrong impression."

"What's the matter now, mother?"

"You scarcely spoke a word to that young man you were introduced to last evening."

"I didn't like his way, mother."

"Did you know him?"

"No; I'd never met him before."

"Do you know anything about him?"

"Nothing, except that he seemed to me to be very impertinent."

"Still, you shouldn't have snubbed him, at least until you had learned more about him. Once I snubbed a young man that way without knowing who he was, and I regretted it ever after, because I found out later that he was very rich. I might have married him if I had been more careful."—Detroit Free Press.

Why Bruises Become Black and Blue.

The color of blood is due chiefly to iron in the little blood cells. When the iron is kept in these little blood cells, which are living and traveling around in the blood vessels, the color is red. Hit the skin hard enough to break some of the little blood vessels beneath the surface and the little red cells escape from the injured blood vessels, wander about for awhile in the tissues and die. When they die the iron that made them red before then changes to black and blue coloring. After awhile this iron is taken up by the glands called the lymphatics and made over again into nice red cells. The iron is taken up very much more quickly by the lymphatics if the black and blue spot is rubbed and massaged. —St. Nicholas.

An Ancient Canoe.

While making alterations in connection with a new curling rink at Kirk Loch, Lochmaben, a workman unearthed an ancient canoe of the prehistoric type. It was found in about three feet of soil, about twelve feet from the water's edge. The canoe measured eight feet in length, and at the broadest point is two feet one inch. It is not pointed at either end, and appears as if it had been hollowed out of a tree trunk. On the outside it seems as if blunt implements had been used in taking off the bark and making it into the canoe shape. The canoe was found a few days ago, but was at first not taken notice of, and in fact was to have been made firewood of by the workman who excavated it.

POWER OF THE OCTOPUS.

The Force Exerted by Its Formidable Sucker Lined Arms.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers, which are wonderful pieces of mechanism. When the sucker comes into contact with an object the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 100 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim, unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe inspiring looks the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels. In fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and when found proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color to correspond with that of its surroundings.

A Ship's Speed.

A ship's speed is reckoned by knots, a knot being a geographical mile or one-sixtieth of a degree. Six geographical miles are about equal to seven statute miles, and a ship that sails twelve knots therefore is really moving at the rate of fourteen statute miles an hour. It should be remembered that it is incorrect to say so many "knots an hour," simply so many knots, for a knot means "one mile an hour."

Lots to Learn.

"I have just been talking to a youth who claims to have done everything."

"Has he ever wrapped a motorcar around a telegraph pole at 3 o'clock in the morning?"

"I think not."

"Then he has a great deal to learn."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Putrid Sea.

There is a body of water called Sivash or Putrid Sea. It is really a lagoon on the east coast of the Crimea, separated from the sea of Azov by a narrow sand bar called the tongue of Arabat. The lagoon is sixty-eight miles long, varying in width from two to fourteen miles. The water is very shallow, stagnant and exceedingly salt.

Result of His Joy.

"I have here a reprieve for you from the home secretary," said the governor of the prison to the callous murderer.

"Ah!" replied the latter. "No noose is good news, as the proverb says." —London Answers.

Judged by Their Faces.

Burne-Jones held original ideas as to the administration of justice. After a visit to the Parnell commission he wrote: "Legal testimony doesn't affect me at all. I want people tried for their faces, so I spent the time in court settling things all my own way. I tried the judges first and acquitted one, so that he sits in court without a blemish on his character, and one I admitted to mercy, and of the other I postponed the trial for further evidence. Then I tried the counsel on both sides, and one of them, I am sorry to say, will have to be hanged for his face."

They Get an Appetite For Work.

In Denmark, as in other countries, they are troubled with men born tired, men who are "snow shovelers in summer and haymakers in winter." Denmark takes them firmly, but kindly, and puts them to bed. In bed it keeps them as long as may be necessary. Four days are, as a rule, sufficient for the most obdurate cases. At the end of that time the idler is found to be feverish for work.

A Boswell and Johnson Story.

Boswell once asked Johnson if there were no possible circumstance in which suicide would be justified.

"No," was the reply.

"Well," says Boswell, "suppose a man has been guilty of a fraud he was certain would be found out."

"Why, then," says Johnson, "in that case let him go to some country where he is not known and not to the devil, where he is known."

EDITORIAL NOTES

It frequently happens that a man who clamors for people to patronize home industry marries a girl from another town.

The Czar of Russia has a nerve-wracking job beyond a doubt. Every time he turns his head away his navy takes a shot at him.

This coast-to-coast stone road with 25,000 motor tourists whirling over it for the Panama Exposition would quite delete the memories of prairie schooner and Oregon trail.

A Kingston contemporary has a long editorial on "Women Thieves." As long as Peterborough women are content to steal nothing worse than masculine hearts, why, bless them, they will never be troubled.

A peculiar situation has developed in London, where unionists, employed by a union, are on strike for the union wage, with pickets thrown around headquarters. How will the medicine taste to the doctor?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's worst enemy would not accuse him of lack of courtesy. He is at all times a cultured and refined gentleman. His participation in Ottawa's welcome to the prime minister is in keeping with his chivalrous spirit.

Get public opinion on your side," said the minister of labor at Guelph, "and you will get almost anything you want." This was a bit of excellent advice that may well be taken by those who seek to win some cause. Strike leader and suffragist alike may learn the lesson to advantage.

Bishop Grafton, of Wisconsin, gave away $700,000 during his lifetime and died leaving an estate of only $1,000. The good bishop found a way to die poor without making a fuss or advertising the matter. Andrew Carnegie and other limelight philanthropists please take notice.

All this newspaper talk about the suffragette movement does not faze the average Peterborough man. It has his vote and woe betide him if that vote goes contrary to his wife's idea, even if the other candidate is the handsomer man of the two.

Professor Carlton B. Wells, a brain specialist of Paris, says that the whole human race will be bald within five hundred years. That is a long time to wait to watch how the bald headed man in front of one will act in church or theater when two persistent flies play tag just over his cerebellum.

THE DISCOVERY OF LOST TREES

The discovery by Professor Stefansson, of the American Museum of Natural History, of thirteen unknown tribes of presumed Norsemen on Victoria Island in the Arctic region, is a matter of much interest to the students of ethnology. According to Stefansson ten of these tribes have never seen nor heard of a white man except of their colony, but some of the other tribes had seen members of the Franklin expedition.

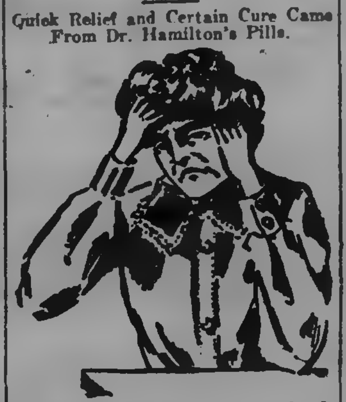
It is said that the people of these tribes are of fair complexion, possess none of the racial characteristics of the Esquimaux, and observe in their daily lives many of the habits of the ancient Norsemen and that their weapons of offense are of the most primitive character, being made of flint and native copper. They use the bone needle, wear only clothing made of skins and live on fish and caribou that abound in the waters and on the island.

Stefansson has been within the Arctic circle for five years and traveled on foot more than 1000 miles. He is able to trace the tribes he found back in almost a straight line to the Norsemen who first came to Greenland in the year 982. The fact that it has taken so long to unearth these tribes inclines one to the belief that the world is very much larger than some people would have us believe.

DIZZY HEADACHES CURED IN ONE NIGHT

IF TROUBLED WITH HEAD-FULLNESS, RINGING NOISES, AND SPECKS BEFORE THE EYES THE STOMACH IS AT FAULT.

Quick Relief and Certain Cure Came From Dr. Hamilton's Pills.



"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes, and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made as strong ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

ENGLISHMEN BEWILDERED

"Midlothian is the heart of Liberalism. Shall that heart cease to beat?" cried a member of the local party organization indignantly, when the retiring member, the master of Elibank, wrote advising united support of the Labor nominee in the Scottish constituency, the provost of Delkeith. The Liberals chose Mr. Shaw as their standard bearer, and, after a three-cornered fight, the seat which had been Liberal since Gladstone captured it in 1880, which the master of Elibank carried a year and a half ago by 3000 odd, fell to the Unionist candidate, Maj. Hope, by 32 over Mr. Shaw. The Labor party polled 2300 votes, so it is not to be doubted that in a straight fight, Mr. Shaw would have won.

Unionists exultation, which is reported to have been unusually exuberant, is not quite easy to understand. Of course, it is a sad blow to the Asquith government. Sentiment clung to Gladstone's old faithful constituency. But the loss is largely sentimental. The result does nothing to support the Unionist claim that the Asquith government's policies are disapproved by the electorate. The Labor party, despite the ever widening breach, will continue to support home rule and the other cabinet measures.

This is not to say that the Asquith government has not lost ground elsewhere. Other bye elections—particularly two in Manchester—have had far greater significance than Midlothian. There had been a steady succession of reverses, all of which cannot be explained by the presence of a third candidate. Still, it is at least open to question whether, if a general election were held tomorrow, victory would crown Unionist efforts. Whether the government ought to go to the country before proceeding further with its program is another matter. Some, who are friendly, wish it would. Whatever may be said for or against the complaint that the home rule issue was not before the electorate in the last campaign, it cannot be denied that the country at large was never prepared for the headlong pace which Mr. Lloyd George has set. One great measure is usually enough for one parliament; the present government has one—the insurance bill — already launched; three—home rule. Welsh disestablishment and manhood suffrage—on the stocks and others, including a trades union bill and a mighty scheme of land law reform in preparation. No wonder the country is bewildered.

WOMEN AS LAW-MAKERS

Students of world politics have given Finland a great deal of their attention of late, principally on account of that country's struggles with Russia. "The English-speaking peoples have had an opportunity of looking from all points of view at the wrong done to this exemplary little country by a barbaric tyrant," writes V. Palen-Kordes in The Contemporary Review.

"But there is one extremely important fact in Finnish history which has never been sufficiently illuminated, and that is the emancipation of Finland's women."

"These women have secured for themselves a place in the world's history as pioneers, and our descendants will find them in their school-books; but in the meantime a great many know only a very little about them, and I meet people daily who are quite ignorant on this subject.

"Finland was the first country in Europe to give women the same rights as men. Only Norway has yet followed her example, and with the same success. In 1906 Finnish women were admitted to the Seim (parliament), and they regarded their new rights so seriously that at the first election, in 1907, sixty of them went to the poll.

"Up to the beginning of last year the women brought in twenty-nine different legislative bills, of which the Seim passed the following'

(1) The establishment of laws for child protection against ill-treatment

(2) The complete freeing of the wife from the legal guardianship of her husband.

(3) The raising of the marriage age from fifteen to eighteen.

(4) The organization of colonies for youthful criminals.

(5) The right of women to assist in the department of public medicine.

(6) The abolition of police observation over red-light districts; namely, making it an illegal practice.

"In addition to this, all the women deputies brought in a petition for the protection of women in the streets from assault, thus indicating the necessity for adding a new clause to the criminal laws dealing with this matter.

"Among other women's bills awaiting decision were the following:

"Concerning the interests of both men and women.

"Bills to separate the highest court of law from the Senate, making it an independent institution; to give Jews equal rights with Christians; a universal adult suffrage bill to regulate the relations between workers, servants and employes, to increase the punishment for ill-treatment of animals; granting free meals to school-children; for improving the position of illegitimate children, and for the establishment of home for them.

"Concerning the interests of women.

"Bills for maternity insurance; establishment of government midwives; giving wives the right to dispose of their children (formerly the husband had this right exclusively); the improvement of domestic economy schools; the appointment of women as factory inspectors; enabling women to serve in public institutions on equal terms with men.

"The deputies have been members of all committees of the Seim, and have taken part in even the principal one, the Grand Committee, which is elected by the whole House proportionately, and gives its decision on the most important questions being worked out previously in special committees. On this grand committee four women assisted; Dagmara Neoius, school teacher, and editor of a journal; Hedwiga Solberg, headmistress of a teachers' training college; Mimi Turinen, the daughter of an artisan; and Ora Kiskinen, a dressmaker.

FEATURES OF THE ISSUE

Included in the general debenture debt of $3,399,000 are $1,350,000 long term Bonds, which the municipality is holding in its treasury. The present issue of short term notes is made to avoid disposing of these Bonds in the present unfavorable market for long-term securities.

Point Grey immediately adjoins the present city limits of the City of Vancouver on the south and west, and has a population of 8,000 and an area of 12,000 acres—twice the area of the city of Vancouver proper:

Vancouver is rapidly outgrowing its present limits and the question of annexation is being discussed seriously.

Point Grey is regarded as the choicest residential section in "Greater Vancouver," and includes "Shaughnessy Heights," an exceptionally desirable residential section, recently opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Point Grey has been decided upon as the location for the new Provincial University of British Columbia.

We recommend these Notes as a high-yield municipal security and point out that, in addition to being a first charge against the municipality, they are additionally secured by the $1,350,000 Treasury Bonds.

IRVING'S STAGE EFFECTS.

Silence, Light and Just One Other Essential Produced Them.

Wendell Phillips Dodge relates in the London Strand Magazine an incident growing out of the first meeting of Robert Mantell with Sir Henry Irving back in 1882, when both were playing Romeo in London. There were reviewers who found Irving too old for the youthful Romeo, and one advised that he should make way for "the young fellow over at the Olympic."

Irving prepared a special afternoon performance in the Lyceum, to which all the players in London were invited. After it was over Mantell went back of the stage, and Irving asked him how he liked the performance. "It has been like an afternoon at school with congenial lessons," replied Mantell. "How do you do it? How do you manage effects? How do you get such atmosphere, such a realization of the glory of the tragedy, with such little effort? Is there no recipe?"

"There is—indeed, there is," answered Irving; "simple, too—only three things to remember. The first is silence and plenty of it behind the scenes, so that the actor may be at ease, with nothing to distract when striving for his shadings. The second is light, regulated as far as possible—so that nature is counterfeited, and that, young man, is the recipe."

"But," protested Mantell, "you said there were three things to remember. You have mentioned but two. Is there a third?"

"Did I say a thing?" asked Irving. "Um—perhaps I did, perhaps I did, but what could I have had in mind? Let me see. Ah, yes, silence, light and—um, shall I say—actors? Remember that, my boy, actors. Silence, light and—actors, that is the third."

A BULL RING BEGGAR.

The Intruder Wanted Bread, but He Got "Thumbs Down."

Sometimes the bullfight in Spain is used to compel the attention of the authorities to grievances that would otherwise go unnoticed, as is seen in the following incident described by Harry A. Franck in "Four Months Afoot in Spain:"

"The newcomer will long remember his first bull—certainly if, as in my own case, the first banderillero slips at the moment of thrusting his barbed darts and is booted like a soccer football half around the ring by the snorting animal. Still less shall I forget the chill that shot through me when, with the fifth bull at the height of his fury, a gaunt and awkward boy of fifteen sprang suddenly over the barriers and shook his ragged blouse a dozen times in the animal's face. As many times he escaped a goring by the closest margin.

"The toreros did not for a moment lose their heads. Calmly and dexterously they maneuvered until one of them drew the bull off, when another caught the intruder by the arm and marched him across the ring to the shade of the mayor's box. There the youth, who had taken this means of gaining an audience, lifted up a mournful voice and asked for food, asserting that he was starving—a statement that seemed by no means improbable. The response was thumbs down. But he gained his point, in a way, for he was given a fortnight in prison.

"Incidents of the sort had grown so frequent of late in Seville as to make necessary a new law, promulgated in large letters on that day's program. Printed words in all probability meant nothing to this neglected son of Seville."

Impatience.

"Some of the problems of human existence are becoming more and more complex."

"Yes," replied the admiring parent. "I can hardly wait for my daughter's graduation essay to let us know what to do about them."—Washington Star.

Ozone and Air Sewage.

Ozone is a particularly active or concentrated form of oxygen. One molecule of oxygen contains two atoms; a molecule of ozone contains three atoms. As only two atoms of oxygen balance harmoniously in a molecule when there are three of them together in a molecule the third atom will cut loose and seek a union elsewhere. The oxygen atom has a remarkable affinity for carbon, of which decaying organic matter is a common form, and as the greater part of the organic matter in the air is in process of decay the third atom at once attacks and oxidises it, burning it up.—Cassier's Magazine.

Unconsciousness.

"She's the most unconscious girl I ever saw."

"Well, why shouldn't she be? She's pretty and knows it. She's clever and knows it, and she's good and knows it. What has she to be conscious of?"—Exchange.

Motherly Advice.

"My dear, you mustn't be so sharp with strange young men. You know you may give them a wrong impression."

"What's the matter now, mother?"

"You scarcely spoke a word to that young man you were introduced to last evening."

"I didn't like his way, mother."

"Did you know him?"

"No; I'd never met him before."

"Do you know anything about him?"

"Nothing, except that he seemed to me to be very impertinent."

"Still, you shouldn't have snubbed him, at least until you had learned more about him. Once I snubbed a young man that way without knowing who he was, and I regretted it ever after, because I found out later that he was very rich. I might have married him if I had been more careful."—Detroit Free Press.

Why Bruises Become Black and Blue.

The color of blood is due chiefly to iron in the little blood cells. When the iron is kept in these little blood cells, which are living and traveling around in the blood vessels, the color is red. Hit the skin hard enough to break some of the little blood vessels beneath the surface and the little red cells escape from the injured blood vessels, wander about for awhile in the tissues and die. When they die the iron that made them red before then changes to black and blue coloring. After awhile this iron is taken up by the glands called the lymphatics and made over again into nice red cells. The iron is taken up very much more quickly by the lymphatics if the black and blue spot is rubbed and massaged.—St. Nicholas.

An Ancient Canoe.

While making alterations in connection with a new curling rink at Kirk Loch, Lochmaben, a workman unearthed an ancient canoe of the prehistoric type. It was found in about three feet of soil, about twelve feet from the water's edge. The canoe measured eight feet in length, and at the broadest point is two feet one inch. It is not pointed at either end, and appears as if it had been hollowed out of a tree trunk. On the outside it seems as if blunt implements had been used in taking off the bark and making it into the canoe shape. The canoe was found a few days ago, but was at first not taken notice of, and in fact was to have been made firewood of by the workman who excavated it.

The Force Exerted by Its Formidable Sucker Lined Arms.

Both the octopus and the cuttlefish have arms that are clothed with a formidable array of suckers, which are wonderful pieces of mechanism. When the sucker comes into contact with an object the central piston, having previously been raised so as to completely fill the cavity of the sucker, is at once withdrawn and a perfect vacuum produced, explaining the great tenacity with which the suckers cling. They number upward of 160 pairs to each arm of the octopus, and once they obtain a grip on the victim, unless the arm is actually torn away from the body of the octopus, it is practically impossible for its prey to disentangle itself.

In addition to these suckers the octopus has a powerful pair of jaws, shaped like the beak of a parrot, behind which is a formidable armor plated tongue used as a rasping organ. The octopus will attack and kill crabs and lobsters of considerable size, ripping open the body by means of its powerful jaws and devouring the contents. In spite of being a creature of such awe inspiring looks the octopus has several enemies in various species of whales, sharks and conger eels. In fact, the latter are particularly fond of devouring the smaller octopuses.

Conger eels hunt for the octopus and when found proceed to browse on its limbs. The octopus tries to hug the slippery, slimy conger tight, but in vain, and, finding its limbs growing less, discharges its ink in the face of the foe and under cover of the turbid water beats a hasty retreat. It is to escape the too pressing attention of its foes that the octopus possesses the power of changing its color to correspond with that of its surroundings.

A Ship's Speed.

A ship's speed is reckoned by knots, a knot being a geographical mile or one-sixtieth of a degree. Six geographical miles are about equal to seven statute miles, and a ship that sails twelve knots therefore is really moving at the rate of fourteen statute miles an hour. It should be remembered that it is incorrect to say so many "knots an hour," simply so many knots, for a knot means "one mile an hour."

Lots to Learn.

"I have just been talking to a youth who claims to have done everything."

"Has he ever wrapped a motorcar around a telegraph pole at 3 o'clock in the morning?"

"I think not."

"Then he has a great deal to learn."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Putrid Sea.

There is a body of water called Sivash or Putrid Sea. It is really a lagoon on the east coast of the Crimea, separated from the sea of Azov by a narrow sand bar called the tongue of Arabat. The lagoon is sixty-eight miles long, varying in width from two to fourteen miles. The water is very shallow, stagnant and exceedingly salt.

Result of His Joy.

"I have here a reprieve for you from the home secretary," said the governor of the prison to the callous murderer.

"Ah!" replied the latter. "No news is good news, as the proverb says."—London Answers.

Judged by Their Faces.

Burne-Jones held original ideas as to the administration of justice. After a visit to the Parnell commission he wrote: "Legal testimony doesn't affect me at all. I want people tried for their faces, so I spent the time in court settling things all my own way. I tried the judges first and acquitted one, so that he sits in court without a blemish on his character, and one I admitted to mercy, and of the other I postponed the trial for further evidence. Then I tried the counsel on both sides, and one of them, I am sorry to say, will have to be hanged for his face."

They Get an Appetite For Work.

In Denmark, as in other countries, they are troubled with men born tired, men who are "snow shovelers in summer and haymakers in winter." Denmark takes them firmly, but kindly, and puts them to bed. In bed it keeps them as long as may be necessary. Four days are, as a rule, sufficient for the most obdurate cases. At the end of that time the idler is found to be feverish for work.

A Boswell and Johnson Story.

Boswell once asked Johnson if there were no possible circumstance in which suicide would be justified.

"No," was the reply.

"Well," says Boswell, "suppose a man has been guilty of a fraud he was certain would be found out."

"Why, then," says Johnson, "in that case let him go to some country where he is not known and not to the devil, where he is known."

His Orders.

Blink (the wholesaler)—Well, how many orders did you get yesterday? Gink (the salesman)—I got two orders in one store. Blink—What were they? Gink—One was to get out, and the other was to stay out.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Messrs. Hardill and Doughty, representing T. Kinnear & Co., and Peterborough Hardware Co., called on Apsley merchants, Wednesday, 13th, and secured good orders for their firms.

Mrs. Robbins, of Pittsburgh, U.S., has arrived at her cottage, Jack's Lake, and intends spending a few weeks there. This is the most pleasant time of the year for an outing.

Our village was almost deserted last week, so many were away taking in the sights of the Peterborough Exhibition. Among the villagers who went down were: B. F. Coons, D. Brown and Simon Windsor. Several others were away fishing.

Mr. Wm. Tucker and Mrs. Tucker have returned from the Toronto Exhibition, and while away visited Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Mr. James Roberts, of Clanricarde, was taken suddenly ill while working in the harvest field on Saturday, 7th, Dr. Blakeman, Lakefield, was summoned by phone and was on hand promptly and we are pleased to hear that he is recovering and will soon be out again.

Mr. John Rickles met with a serious misfortune last week. While taking a load of young pigs to the lumber camp, his team got away, and in turning off the main road upset and the box containing the pigs was broken; one was killed and the rest got away in the woods. The team ran about two miles before he caught them. The wagon was badly wrecked, but fortunately the horses were not hurt. He found all the pigs next day.

A large drove of cattle and sheep were taken to Coe Hill last week. Buyers had been busy during the past month.

Miss Annie McIlvena has returned to Toronto after spending a two months' holiday at her home in Apsley; her sister, Miss Millie, accompanied her as far as Peterborough and attended the exhibition. Mrs. Isaac Lean was also down at the exhibition.

Dogs are getting in their work again this summer at killing sheep. Mr. Henry White lost two last week and Archie Downey one, no doubt killed by dogs. However, there is a tax on dogs this year and some who keep dogs and have to pay from one to six dollars for that privilege will begin to think they are not a profitable investment.

The Burleigh stage has commenced running the tri-weekly trip to Lakefield, after being on the Mt. Julian route for three months.

A communication was received from Mr. A. E. Dixon, asking that the Council bear a part of the expense of a break water which he had constructed in front of his property in Chemong Park.

Moved by Mr. Cann and Mr. McKee that the Reeve and Mr. Telford be a committee to investigate the matter.—Carried.

A communication was received from the City Board of Works requesting that the council meet them on Saturday, Sept. 28th, at two o'clock, with reference to the boundary roads between the township and the city.

Moved by Mr. Telford and Mr. McKee that the communication be received and that the clerk be instructed to forward a letter to Mr. S. R. Armstrong stating that the council was willing to meet the Board to discuss the matter.—Carried.

The Modern Way of Cleaning House

¶ A greater invention than the vacuum cleaner—which only removes loose dirt—vastly more effective than soap and water, is RE-NU-ALL.

¶ Dirt, Dust and Grease vanish at the touch of the magic fluid.

RE-NU-ALL

A little RE-NU-ALL used as directed on a cheese cloth duster produces astonishing results. Just a wipe—and behold life and shine take the place of grease and smear—in the twinkle of an eye the original finish of wood work returns — clean, bright — RE-NU-ED.

RE-NU-ALL is a preparation of liquid wax and wood oils, combined in exact proportions. Dust, dirt and grease are instantly absorbed—not scattered—and the polished surface is restored, not coated over.

RE-NU-ALL feeds woodwork—it gives back that which exposure to the air evaporates—it genuinely and unfailingly RENEWS all finished surface. Go right through your house with your RE-NU-ALL duster in hand—RE-NU your painted walls and wood work—RE-NU your furniture—RE-NU your hardwood floors—RE-NU your picture frames—brass and enamel bedsteads. RE-NU-ALL your household effects in a quarter the time with a quarter the trouble—at less than a quarter the cost.

Is'nt it worth 25 cents to verify the truth of our claims for RE-NU-ALL?

Your grocer or hardware dealer keeps it in sizes from 25 cents to $1

RE-NU YOUR PIANO
Prepare your duster as directed and just wipe over your piano—presto—the piano looks brand new—not a smear—not a trace of dust. Try it.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—There was a good enquiry from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, but cables from the United Kingdom were poor, while those from the continent were firmer and 1½d higher in some cases, consequently a little business was worked to the latter ports. American corn is weaker and lower, with sales of car lots to arrive at [illegible] to [illegible]c. The oats situation is becoming very strong, owing to the limited supplies available on spot and in the west, and in consequence some millers have been obliged to close down their oatmeal mills for want of stock. On spot the demand is good, with sellers now asking [illegible]c for sample oats, and buyers bidding [illegible]c. Graded oats are scarce and [illegible] higher. The demand for Ontario malting barley is fair, and sales of some round lots of choice quality were made at [illegible]c. A steady business is passing in new crop spring wheat flour for export, and the local demand for old is fair. The demand for millfeed is in excess of the supply. An easier feeling prevails in the butter market, but prices show no change. In cheese a fair amount of business is doing at firmer prices. Dressed hogs advanced [illegible]c on small supplies and good demand.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were 12 cars, 154 cattle, 262 hogs, 253 sheep and 8 calves.

J. B. Dollane bought 16 stockers, 800 lbs. each, at $4.50 per cwt.; 8 heifers, 770 lbs., at $4.75.

Messrs. Sparkhall & Talbot bought 6 butchers, 780 lbs. each, at $5; 2 springers, at $55 each; 1 bull, at $3.50 per cwt.

Joshua Ingham bought 90 lambs, at $6.25 per cwt.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Sept. 14 were 1350 cattle, 2700 sheep and lambs, 2250 hogs and 950 calves, while the offerings on the market this morning amounted to 1000 cattle, 1300 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs and 400 calves.

A weaker feeling prevailed in the market for cattle and prices declined owing to the increased supplies of common and medium stock coming forward, which have also had a depressing influence on the market for choice beeves. At the reduced prices there was a good demand from butchers and a fairly active trade was done. The top price realized for choice steers was $6.50, while medium sold at $5 and $6 and inferior to common at $3.50 and $4.50 per 100 pounds.

There were no choice butchers' cows on the market, but the best brought $5 and the lower grades from that down to $3.50 per 100 pounds. The quality of the bulls offered was inferior and only fit for canning purposes, for which the demand was fair at $2.75 to $3 per 100 pounds.

There was no change in the condition of the market for small meats. The offerings of lambs were fair, for which the demand was good, and sales of Quebec stock were made at $5.50 to $[illegible] per 100 pounds, and there were

INVENTION THAT LIGHTS THE HUMAN STOMACH

Is Small Cylindrical Affair, Carrying Electric Bulb at One End, Used in Locating Pennies, Nails, Etc., That Have Been Swallowed.

Niagara Falls, Sept. 19.—An invention that greatly interests the X-ray men, in convention at the International hotel, is one conceived by Dr. I. Jackson.

It is a small cylindrical affair, carrying an electric bulb at one end, by which the interior of the stomach is lighted and foreign substances easily located. The value of Dr. Jackson's invention has been its aid in the treatment of diseases of the esophagus, thorax, etc., but its chief purpose is the locating of pennies, nails or other metallic substances that have been accidentally swallowed, and determining whether these substances have caused injury to the organs.

Dr. Jackson is at the head of the surgical staff of seven hospitals.

Dr. Alfred Ekstrom of Stockholm, Sweden, one of the most distinguished X-rays surgeons in Europe, joined the delegates yesterday. His coming was unexpected. He addressed the convention.

Riches and Contentment.

"Contentment is better than riches," said the ready made philosopher.

"True," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "but my observation is that a man who is rich has a better chance of becoming content than a man who is contented has of becoming rich."—Washington Star.

Alike, Yet Different.

Mrs. Youngbride—My husband is very determined. He never gives up. Mrs. Klosefist (sadly)—Neither does mine.—Boston Globe.

You can do in a second what it takes years to get over regretting.—New York Press.

Precautionary.

Blobbs—Why do you strike Harduppe for a loan every time you meet him? You know he never has any money. Slobbs — Merely in self defense, my boy. If I didn't strike him he'd strike me.—Philadelphia Record.

The highest compact we can make with our fellow is. Let there be truth between us forevermore.—Emerson.

Taking!

Actor—What, back so soon? Didn't the play take?

Actress—Yes, the play took, the manager took the receipts, the sheriff took the scenery, the landlord took the trunks, and the author took to drink!

Animal Species.

Geologists declare that in prehistoric times there were on this planet 31,000,000 different animal forms. Naturalists have classified 312,000 species, and there are now 470,000 forms, of which 60 per cent. are insects.

The Great Ice Age.

It has been known during a long time that in western Europe man existed during the glacial epoch. We now know that the great ice age consisted of different glacial times separated by interglacial times. In glacial times the snow line dropped 3,000 feet or 4,000 feet below its present level in the Alps, whereas in interglacial periods it lay about 1,000 feet higher than at present. Thus the temperature seems to have been higher in the interglacial periods than it is now.

ALPINE LIFE LINES.

The Ropes Are Selected For Strength, Flexibility and Lightness.

The ropes used by Alpine climbers is of special manufacture, combining as far as possible the differing qualities of strength, flexibility and lightness.

Three qualities are in general use, being made from sisal, Italian and Manila hemps respectively, and occasionally, when cost is not a consideration, of silk. The latter, though very light and strong, is not so durable as the others. That which finds most favor among British mountaineers is known as Buckingham's Alpine rope. It is made of the best Manila hemp.

In the year 1864, Mr. McLeish recalls, a committee of the Alpine club made tests upon a number of ropes suitable for mountaineering. Of the two that were approved one was made of Italian hemp and the other of Manila. They both had a breaking strain of two tons and sustained the weight of a twelve stone man after falling from a height of ten feet.

Nonmountaineers have sometimes considered this insufficient, but it is highly problematical whether the human anatomy could survive the sudden compression of a thin rope arising from any greater fall.—Fry's Magazine.

A Poetical Feat.

"That writer is a pradoxical poet."

"In what way?"

"I called to see him one day and found that his idyl moments were keeping him busy."

Portraits.

"I don't think your portrait is much like the original, old man."

"Only once have I painted a portrait that was really like my sitter, and she sued me for libel afterward."

KEEPING THE LOG.

Simple System by Which the Mariner Records Weather Conditions.

How many landsmen know how a logbook is written up? It seems just as complicated as double entry bookkeeping when one does not know, but after a little careful attention and study it's as easy to keep a logbook as to eat hot gingerbread. There is a list of letters arranged, and they look like so much Greek to the uneducated.

The letter b, for instance, stands for blue sky, whether there be clear or hazy atmosphere. C means cloudy or detached, opening clouds; d denotes drizzling rain; a small f, fog; capital F, thick fog; g, gloomy, dark weather; h, hail; l lightning, and m, misty or hazy so as to interfere with the view.

The letter o represents overcast or when the whole sky is covered with one impenetrable cloud. Passing showers are noted by the letter p, and q indicates the weather to be squally. Continuous rain is indicated by an r, snow by an s and thunder by a t. Any ugly, threatening appearance in the weather calls for the letter u, and visibility of distant objects, whether the sky be cloudy or not, is represented by the letter v. A small w is wet dew. A full point or dot under any letter denotes an extraordinary degree.

As an example of how the letters are used take q p d l t. This reads very hard squalls and showers of drizzle, accompanied by lightning, with very heavy thunder. Numerals denote the force of the wind.

A cipher indicates calm, 1 light air, 2 light breeze, 3 gentle breeze, 4 moderate breeze, 5 fresh breeze, 6 strong breeze, 7 moderate gale, 8 fresh gale, 9 strong gale, 10 whole gale, 11 storm, 12 hurricane. This system of abbreviation is generally adhered to on all merchant vessels.

England's Merchant Fleet.

An idea of the rapidity with which the sailing fleet is disappearing is conveyed in figures recently made public in London. The world's sailing fleet now totals little more than 4,000,000 tons, whereas the merchant steamers of the globe are in excess of 40,000,000 tons. On the assumption that one ton of steam is equal to three of sail, steamships now do 30 times as much of the carrying trade of the world as sailing ships.

Of this huge total of steam shipping the British flag boasts practically one-half, as much as 17,700,000 tons being registered in the United Kingdom, and 1,600,000 tons in British colonies. It may be conjectured too that the British half comprises the newer and more economically worked moiety.

While 340,000 tons of shipping has been added to the United Kingdom register since 1911, Germany has increased her tonnage by 162,000, Japan by 141,000 and Norway by 138,000.

WOMEN IN PORTUGAL.

They Do All the Hard Work While Lazy Men Loll and Smoke.

The lot of women in Portugal is not an enviable one, according to Mr. Aubrey F. G. Bell, who in his book, "In Portugal," thus describes the labor that falls to their share:

"Portuguese men are so notoriously indolent that it is no exaggeration to say that two-thirds of the work of Portugal is done by women. To them the Portuguese word mourejar is really applicable, since, in fact, they work like Moors or slaves. They work in the fields and appear to bear the brunt of the labor.

"In one field the woman in the heat of the day draws up bucket after bucket of water while the man sits perched in a shady olive tree. In the neighboring field a man watches six women at work among the maize. In a third a group of women stand working in the summer sun while a group of men sit at the same work under a vine trellis.

"Everywhere are to be seen women with huge loads of immense weight, while the men accompany them empty handed. The man lies in his ox cart and must have a cigarro and a copo of wine or brandy after his hard day's work, or he sits at his counter and bids his wife go out into the cruel sunshine to fetch a heavy bilha of water or other provisions. Women work in the quarries. Women row heavy barges. Wherever there is hard work women are to be found."

NEATER AND MORE OBEDIENT.

Girl Messengers In London Are Leaving Their Brothers In the Shade.

In London little rosy-cheeked, pigtailed English girls are threatening to oust from their time-honored field of endeavor the messenger boys whose good-natured slackness has become a tradition and proved their undoing, at last. No longer are telegraph agencies expending their energy in seeking to instil into the sanguine and unsettled minds of youths anywhere from 12 to 16 the precepts of success. Rather, they are basking in the contentment which comes of hiring placidly obedient little girl—damsels who have no desire to wander from the paths of duty and to whom craps and marbles and top-spinning offer not the slightest temptation.

"Our girl messengers are certainly all that can be desired," said a London telegraph agency manager, not long ago as he gazed complacently at a row of grave-eyed lassies waiting for orders. "The boys aren't in it. Street accidents and road mending operations have no fascination for them but our girls may be trusted to pass calmly and quickly by such inducements to loafing. Leapfrog helps the boy messengers to banish the monotony of delivering messages and sometimes a good thrilling penny-dreadful, perused while sauntering along Fleet street, stimulates a boy messenger's brain, but does not quicken his footsteps.

"But the girls—they have none of these pernicious habits. They go straight about their business without talking or idling. They even refuse to linger at the beautiful hat shops in St. Paul's churchyard, they are so conscientious. We have three dozen girl messengers at work during the day. Of course, we employ boy messengers for night work.

"The girls wear neat blue uniforms and plain straw hats with black bands and at their waists they carry telegram pouches.

"The girls are neater, quicker and more obedient than the boys. That is why I prefer them," the manager said.

CELEBRATED RETORTS

WITTY REPLIES IN PARLIAMENT AND ON STUMP.

The Repartee of the Sons of Erin Very Frequently Enlivens the Debates of the British Commons—Mixed Metaphors of Speakers Also Contribute to the General Gayety From Time to Time.

More often than not it is Irish wit which scores in the House of Commons, and many a time during an exciting debate both Conservatives and Liberals have been nonplussed by the ready repartee of M.P.'s from the Emerald Isle. There was one memorable occasion, however—and it is recalled by George W. Smalley in "Anglo-American Memories" — when Irish members were for the moment stricken dumb by the retort of a member who could not afterwards be identified. Mr. Chamberlain, while speaking on the home rule question, said something regarding the Duke of Devonshire, whereupon a Nationalist member asked, "How long is it since the Duke of Devonshire has been in Ireland?" and from across the floor came the answer, like a flash of lightning, "Not since his brother was murdered in Phoenix Park."

Mr. Smalley considers this retort worthy to rank with Col. Sanderson's answer to a demand for his reasons against home rule. "There are," answered the gallant colonel, promptly, "in this House sixty-nine good and sufficient reasons against home rule, and there they sit."

Against this one might set the retort of Major O'Gorman, a genial and burly Irish member, who is said to have been the only man who could be relied on to make "Dizzy's" Sphinx-like face relax into a smile! "Why are the Irish always laying bare the wrongs of their country?" querulously demanded a member in the House. "Because," thundered O'Gorman, "they want them redressed."

And apropos of the great Irish question one might recall the retort to a speaker at a public meeting in Ireland in 1881, when Parnell and other Irish leaders were arrested. "How would you retaliate?" the speaker asked a crowded audience, and, after a dramatic pause, answered his own question thus: "I'll tell you. The landlords will never get a penny of rent from you until your brave leaders are released." "Well, may they never be let out, then!" cried someone who could conceive no better prospect than that of never paying rent.

It was the irrepressible Mr. Tim Healy who provided another illustration of his witty sarcasm during a debate on the South African War, when the Boers were winning battle after battle. There was much criticism regarding the capabilities of officers and leaders, and some member put the question to Mr. Brodrick (now Viscount Midleton), then Minister for War, as to how many horses he had despatched to South Africa. He gave an answer, whereupon Mr. Tim Healy got up and put a supplementary question: "Would the honorable gentleman kindly inform the House how many asses he has sent to South Africa?"

Mention of asses reminds one of the Irish M.P. who once interrupted the oratory of an enemy of his country by ejaculating "Ass!" "The honorable member," came the lightning retort, "flatters me too much in claiming me as kinsman." And then there was the occasion when a scion of a noble house, defending his order, asked, "Is it not right that, in order to hand down to posterity the virtues of those who have been eminent for their services to the country, their descendants should enjoy the honors conferred on them as a reward for such services?" "By the same rule," chimed in the late Mr. Labouchere, "if a man is hanged for his misdeeds, all his posterity should be hanged too."

At election times the strenuousness of political strife is considerably enlivened by apt retorts from the crowd and the platform. The heckler, of course, is much in evidence. Sometimes he scores, but usually the candidate comes off best in the bandy of words. The apt retort of Mr. Winston Churchill, who, during the first election he fought, was asked by one of the crowd, who intended to ridicule Mr. Churchill's youthful appearance, "Does your mother know you're out?" To which the future Cabinet Minister retorted, "Yes, and by Thursday she will know I'm in!" has often been quoted, and it reminds one of the retort of the Hon. Neil Primrose, who, when he was putting up for the Wisbech division of Cambridgeshire, was heckled at one meeting by a man in the crowd, who suddenly reminded him that he was supporting Lloyd George's budget, which his father, Lord Rosebery, opposed. Ultimately the candidate was asked whether this action on the part of his father did not amount to hitting below the belt. "Exactly," said Mr. Primrose; "but when one's father does hit one, it generally is below the belt."

It was during an election, when a leading member of the Irish Bar was putting up as candidate, that, during an eloquent speech upon the wrongs and injustices of his native land, he sought to impress his audience still further by squeezing out a few tears, which trickled over his extensive cheeks. But the sublime was turned to the ridiculous when one of the gallery remarked, "Shure, bhoys, there's a fine field for hydraulics." This was as disconcerting as the reply made to Sir Richard Temple, who on one occasion returned post haste from his duties in India to contest a seat. In the course of a speech he remarked that he had traveled 8,000 miles and surrendered $20,000 "for the privilege of representing this great constituency," and the audience was impressed until a remark, in a loud voice, came from the crowd, "Oh, what a fool!"

Sir William Hart Dyke once said that "Mr. Lowther had caught a big fish in his net, and [illegible] of the tree fit."

The Unexpected.

Prizefighter (entering school with big son)—You give this boy o' mine a thrashing yesterday, didn't yer? Schoolmaster (very nervous)—Well—I—Er—perhaps— Prizefighter—Well, give me your 'and. You're a champion. I can't do nothin' with 'im myself.—London Punch.

Its Characteristics.

"The principal characters in the play are a baby and a horse."

"That dramatist is evidently doing things with mite and mane."—Baltimore American.

Blue Blood.

An Irish chauffeur, when near the House of Lords, had the misfortune to run his car over an old man who had a bottle of blue inside his coat. Jumping from his car, and seeing the fluid rapidly staining the old fellow's breast, he cried to his friend:

"Finnegan, it'll go harrud wid us! We've killed won o' thim blue-blooded aristocrats that Lloyd George is always talking about!"

Nipped Himself.

A political speaker accused a rival of "unfathomable meanness" and then, rising to the occasion, said, "I warn him not to persist in his disgraceful course or he'll find that two of us can play at that game."

THE RISE OF NEW YORK.

It Dates From the Time That the Erie Canal Was Opened.

If we seek the original creator of landed wealth in New York we must look over the heads of Astor and the Goelets to De Witt Clinton, the man who in 1825 pushed to completion the Erie canal.

Up to that time New York was not inevitably marked out for the American metropolis. In 1800 Philadelphia was actually a larger city, and Baltimore, with its splendid harbor and its inland river communication, confidently expected to grasp the nation's commercial leadership.

But the Erie canal changed the situation in a twinkling. It placed the city in communication with inland New York—an agricultural empire in itself, whose wealth had previously flowed by way of the Susquehanna river to Baltimore—and New York became the seaport for the agricultural states bordering on the great lakes.

Until the Erie canal was opened it had cost $88 a ton to transport wheat from Buffalo to Albany. With this new waterway the cost fell to something more than $5. A string of cities, several of which became large ones, sprang up along its course, all tributary to New York.—Burton J. Hendrick in McClure's Magazine.

Unconscious Bravery.

At a place called Anghip, about forty miles south of Bangkok, a Chinaman and his wife cultivated a small sugar cane plantation. The man had been greatly annoyed by having his cane eaten by his neighbors' buffalo calves. Coming home one evening just at dark, he saw what he thought was one of the marauders at work on the cane. Stealing silently up behind it, he struck it a mighty blow with a heavy club. The animal dropped without a sound. The Chinaman told his wife what he had done and added, "That calf will steal no more of my cane." In the morning he found that the "calf" was a full grown tiger. He had killed it by breaking its neck, just as the woman of Nam had done. And John was so much impressed with his own narrow escape that he took to his bed and was sick for a week.—Youth's Companion.

A Glass Needle Stiletto.

As diabolical a specimen of murderous ingenuity as ever was discovered by the police was found one day in the possession of a Chinaman who had been working in a laundry in New Orleans and who was believed to have intended using it upon his employer. It was a tiny stiletto, with a handle about as thick as a carpenter's pencil and a blade four inches long of glass, pointed as keenly as a needle. A tiny groove had been filed around the blade close to the hilt. Suppose it was driven into a man's body. It would be certain to break off at the groove and leave three inches of glass deep in his flesh. What is more, the puncture would be so tiny that it would probably close at once and show no mark, not even a single drop of blood.

Brazil Nuts.

The Brazil nut is a rich food, 60 per cent of it being oil.

A Hungarian Fire Eater.

A famous Hungarian duelist celebrated in 1886 his thirty-fifth encounter. He gave a banquet to which only those were bidden who could prove six duels. An exception was made in favor of a woman who had met and killed her man.

CAMP LIFE AT BISLEY

SURREY TOWN IS ONLY ALIVE TWO WEEKS EACH YEAR.

It Was In 1890 That the Drowsy Little Place Became Famous and Wimbledon Lost Her Glory—Armies of Marksmen Are Provided For Luxuriously as if by Magic When the Time Comes—Tables on the Sward.

For centuries the little Surrey village of Bisley had its sleepy being, remote from the tide of men. Then, in the year 1890, came a dramatic revolution in its unchronicled life. Bisley awoke from her long slumber to find herself famous, her name as familiar almost at the other end of the world as that of London itself. The mantle, removed from Wimbledon, was placed on her diffident shoulders; and thousands of stalwart soldiers were drawn to her from the four corners of the earth. She had become the Mecca of the Empire's marksmen, with a proud place in the map of England.

Even now, however, in her changed guise, Bisley is still allowed to slumber for fifty weeks of every year. If you take the train from Waterloo to Brookwood in any one of these somnolent weeks, and continue your journey to Bisley, you will see little on her famous common to suggest her glory. In High street, it is true, you will see a stately and desolate pavilion, staring blankly at the offices of the National Rifle Association over the way. You may wander past rows of empty and dreary wooden huts and explore a few bungalows, the local headquarters of certain shooting clubs.

But of human life you will probably see scarcely a trace beyond a straggler or two, rifle in hand, making their way to the ranges from which comes to your ears the intermittent crackle of firing. Collect these scattered pilgrims to Bisley, and you may perhaps, if you are in luck, count a round score of them.

Bisley has not come to its annual awakening. But when each year brings round this dramatic moment, the revolution is such as may well make the least impressionable gasp with amazement. One day all is emptiness and desolation; a few days later a city has sprung into being as if by the touch of a magician's wand—a city of canvas, on which the eyes of the world are focussed. Once more Bisley is on millions of tongues, from Scotland to the Cape and the Antipodes;; and thousands of the Empire's deadliest marksmen are flocking to its tented streets, every man of them bent on winning laurels for himself or the land of his home.

Within a week the solitudes of the common are humming with the coming and going of armies of uniformed men. It is no mere soldiers' camp that has sprung thus swiftly into being; its is a well-ordered, miniature city, with every equipment, not only for comfort, but for luxury. There are seductive restaurants, where any thirst can be quenched and the palate, even of the modest epicure, satisfied. There are billiard rooms and clubs, with every temptation to recreation, from a game of bridge to a "hundred up." There are streets of shops, each with its tempting array of goods to meet almost any reasonable want, and to lure money from the pocket. There are hair-dressing saloons to provide the luxuries of a shampoo and a comfortable shave; and there are even boot-blacks, whose cry of "Shine, sir?" falls pleasantly on the ear.

Far and wide the eye ranges down avenues of glistening white tents, and is caught by the flutter of hundreds of flags of all the hues of the rainbow; while, that nothing may be lacking to please the senses, the air is musical with the tramp of marches played by the town band, or the lilt of dance melodies which stir the pulses and set the feet unconsciously a-jigging. And through every flag-decked, flower-decorated avenue of Canvas-town are streaming hundreds of sun-tanned soldier men, each carrying his cherished rifle, the winner of laurels to come.

And still they come in their thousands to this Mecca of tents. Watch the trains (or, more accurately, trams) as they disgorge, one after another, their human freight to swell the thousands already there—keen-eyed men from many points of the compass, hungry as hunters after their journey, and eager to show that the British marksman can eat as well as he can shoot.

If you are there about two o'clock in the afternoon you will see a sight that is good for the eyes and stimulating to the most jaded appetite. You will see tables by the furlong, spread on the greensward, and an array of steaming, succulent joints—baked meats, whose odor comes gratefully to the nostrils—and over which a white-clad chef flourishes a gleaming carving knife. A small army of police are squatting or lying on the grass; for there is little work for the civilian arm to do in keeping Mars in order.

But, in spite of the general atmosphere of luxury that Canvas-town presents, our marksmen are no Sybarites; and each man of them all, from officer to private, has his equipment rigidly prescribed, down to the water can and metal basin in the case of the latter, and the bath and tripod washstand in the case of his superior. But all that is necessary for comfort he has; and, after all, he has come on serious work, and not to play—although facilities for play are abundant when his work is done.

Balls are tabooed, it is true; and midnight is the signal for all lights out. And when the last shot is fired, and the King's prizewinner has been chaired amid tumults of cheers, there are few who do not regret that the time has sped so quickly, whether or not they have found a place on the roll of honor.

Then comes the dismantling of Canvas-town. The tide of humanity has once more receded and left it desolate the far-spreading tents vanish as if by magic; and Bisley Common again slumbers.

No Changes.

"Why don't you work up some improvements in this department?" demanded the proprietor.

"Well, sir, the work has always been done this way. Could I have an increase of salary?"

"Why should you? This job has always drawn $8 a week."

She Had Retired.

"Is that hair restorer any good?"

"Fine! I put a bottle of it on my wife's dressing table the other night and when I got home from the club the dressing table was covered with hair."

MERELY COINCIDENCE?

CURIOUS EXAMPLES OF THINGS THAT CAME TRUE.

Flamsteed Was an Astronomer, But His Astrology Worked Out All Right—Mr. Williams' Dream of the Murder of Mr. Perceval In British Commons Was Fulfilled—Story of Lord Lyttleton's Ghost.

Most of us have had more or less striking coincidences happen within our own personal experience. Some of the most memorable instances published are to be found in these remarkable series of circumstances which form chains of evidence, on the strength of which many innocent men have been convicted.

Humor is to be found in coincidence, too. In the days of Flamsteed, a former Astronomer-Royal, astrologers were much in request by the public, who looked upon the Astronomer-Royal as the most potent of them all, and often consulted him in time of trouble. One day an old lady called on Flamsteed and asked him to exercise his art by discovering the whereabouts of a basket of linen she had lost. Flamsteed pretended to consult the stars, and then told his visitor that if she went to a certain field she would find her belongings. The woman went to the place indicated, and, much to the astronomer's astonishment found her basket of linen intact.

One of the most remarkable instances of this kind—a vision prior to or simultaneous with an historical occurrence represented in the vision—was Mr. Williams' dream of the murder of Mr. Perceval in the lobby of the House of Commons on May 11th, 1812. Mr. Williams was a native of Redruth in Cornwall. On the night of the 2nd or 3rd of May he dreamt that he saw a little man whom he afterwards learned was Mr. Perceval, the Prime Minister, shot by another man whose dress he described, and who took a pistol from under his coat. The tragedy took place in the lobby of the House of Commons, and the murderer was laid hold of by several gentlemen present. Such in brief, was Mr. Williams' dream, and he dreamt it no fewer than three times that same night. This made such an impression on him that he wished to journey up to London, to warn Mr. Perceval. But his friends dissuaded him, pointing out that he would probably be laughed at for his pains. Williams yielded, but watched the newspapers. He wrote afterwards:

"On the evening of the 13th of May . . . . my second son, returning from Truro, came in a hurried way into the room where I was sitting and exclaimed, 'Oh, father, your dream has come true! Mr. Perceval has been shot in the lobby of the House of Commons; there is an account come from London to Truro written after the newspapers were printed." Mr. Perceval, as we know, was assassinated on the 11th. Another very curious circumstance in connection with this affair was that a rumor or report of the assassination of Mr. Perceval reached Bude Kirk, a village near Annan, in Scotland, on the night of Sunday, May 10th, the day before the crime was committed! This was mentioned in The Times of May 28th, 1812, and was confirmed by Rev. Mr. Yorstoun, of Hoddam, who visited Bude Kirk a short time afterwards.

A somewhat similar affair which was generally known as Lord Lyttleton's ghost — although nobody knew what the ghost was or whether there was any spectre at all—was said by Dr. Johnson to have been "the most extraordinary thing that has happened in my day." Thomas Lord Lyttleton was born in 1774. As a young man he played the prodigal at home and abroad, until at the age of 30 he took his seat in the House of Lords. In November, 1804, his party went into Opposition. On Thursday, November 25, he denounced the Government in a notable speech. Referring to a sinecure which he held, he said, "Perhaps I shall not keep it long!"

On the previous night Lyttleton had seen the ghost, or apparition, or whatever it was, and had been told that he would die in three days. He mentioned it to Rowan Hamilton on the 26th, and also to a Captain Ascough, through whom it reached Mrs Thrale, who chronicled it. On the same day he went to Epsom with some friends and mentioned the visitation to them. About midnight on the 28th November Lord Lyttleton died suddenly in bed, his valet having left him for a moment. The cause of death was not stated and there was no inquest. Most of the narrators, including Mrs. Thrale, who recorded the warning before news of his lordship's death reached her, called the affair a dream, but the coincidence of its fulfilment is the mysterious and significant part of it.

Still another example of the long arm of coincidence is given by Dr. Ebers, the head of a great lunatic asylum. He had been waiting at the station for a friend who had not arrived when an old Scotchwoman rushed up to him, "Oh, sir!" she cried, "Thank God you've come. Now take me to him."

The doctor was naturally astonished, and the woman explained that she had not heard of her sailor son for months. She had been warned in a dream to go to London and wait at the station, where an old gentleman would meet her and take her to where her son was. "And you are the old gentleman," she concluded.

Still Dr. Ebers was no wiser. He took her story to his wife. Suddenly he recollected that some months previously a man was sent to the asylum. He had fallen from aloft, cracked his skull and was then only recovering from an operation. Next day a meeting was arranged, and sure enough the injured man was the old lady's sailor son. In a very short time they both returned to Scotland, both convinced that their reunion was a special dispensation of Providence.

Very Young.

A new member of the harbor board in a New Zealand town was attending its meetings for the first time, and the board was discussing a proposal to place two buoys at the entrance to the harbor. "I beg to propose an amendment," said the new member, "that one man should be placed there instead of two boys, as the latter are too young for such a responsible position!"

A Dangerous Precedent.

"I know a girl who made a two dollar graduation gown and captured a husband on the strength of it."

"There's a good argument for two dollar gowns."

"The trouble is she caught a two dollar husband. He has expected her to dress on that precedent ever since."

Throat Becomes Diseased From Neglecting Colds

When Catarrh Sets in, Mucous Drops Into the Stomach, Coughing, Headaches and Debility Follow

That the best method of curing Catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough medicines contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs — you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing, healing vapor and relief and cure follow promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone inhaler — it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary, of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Lindsay Men Drowned?

A despatch from Elphes, Man., would indicate that two Lindsay men were drowned in the recent accident at Cross Lake. Their names Hugh McCochrane and W. McMillan, were with a survey party and their canoe was found floating wrong side up.

Boy Killed at Kinmount.

A sad accident occurred at Kinmount last Friday when 12 year old Angus Brown was crushed to death beneath a waggon load of bricks, as result of a runaway. The team attached to the waggon took a complete summersault.

Local Electrician Busy.

Mr. John Miller of the electrical firm of Alexander & Miller leaves on Monday for a two weeks business trip. During his absence, Mr. Miller will superintend the firm's contract of wiring the English church at Millbrook and installing an electrical plant in a big house at Newcastle.

Re-elected on G.T.P. Board

Messrs. Geo. A. Cox and E. R. Wood were, last Wednesday re-elected directors of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. As both of these gentlemen, who have carved out so large a slice of life's success are former Peterborough citizens, the news will be gratifying to our townsmen.

Rev. Mr. Rollins at Lindsay.

Rev. Jas. Rollins, B.A., of Peterborough, was present at the Lindsay session of the Presbytery held in St. Andrew's church, and spoke in behalf of the movement on foot to establish a fund to have the assembly pay the travelling expenses of all delegates. The matter was laid on the table for further consideration.

Work on Canal at Hastings.

The work on the dam has gone ahead during the past week in better shape than ever before and if the present pace is kept up its early completion is assured. The breaking of the cable on the stiff leg derrick on Monday dropped the boom in a hurry, but no one being under it no accident occurred.—Hastings Star.

Mr. Jas. Snyder Hurt by Auto.

It was currently rumored yesterday that Mrs. James Snyder has written that her husband had been knocked down by an automobile at Saskatoon, and was pretty badly injured. The date of the accident was not given, but the information was added that he was resting easier.

Sanitary Inspector Gets Busy.

Sanitary Inspector Spence seems bound to do all in his power to keep the city's health good. He is authority for intimating that a crusade is to be inaugurated against local fruit dealers who do not comply with the regulations of the Health Act. The dealers must provide properly covered and approved receptacles far their garbage.

St. Luke's Harvest Festival.

Last night Rev. J. S. Broughall, rector of Grace Church, Toronto, preached an eloquent sermon at the Harvest Festival held in St. Luke's church. Special and inspiring music was provided. The Harvest Festival services will be continued on the following Sunday when Rev. J. Price will preach in the morning and the rector in the evening.

Fishermen Blocked by Logs.

A number of young men yesterday paid a small boy for some bait and hired a canoe. They were going fishing north of Smith street bridge. However, on their arrival at the contemplated point of embarkation, they found their course stopped by logs. The live bait, minnows were turned loose and allowed to run the gauntlet of such bass as might see them.

Mr. Rush's Art Treasure.

Mr. Thos. Rush, the well known local insurance agent, yesterday showed The Times a curio that he claims is of great antiquity and value. This is a copper card tray with a raised fluted edge and a Roman galley stamped on the bottom. Mr. Rush is very optomistic over this art treasure and claims that conniseurs in New York or Boston would pay a large price for his acquisition.

Employe of Pappas Bros. Stabbed.

At the Kingston, Ont., Police Court, on Wednesday, a boot black, employed by Pappas Bros., of the Limestone City accused a confectioner with having stabbed him. The manipulator of Dauber and polish had been wounded in the forehead with some sharp instrument which he would not swear was a knife. The assaillant was fined $3 and costs for assault, but dismissed on the stabbing charge.

Col. Miller Gets Hand Hurt.

Col. Miller, the Division Court Clerk, is nursing a few badly burnt fingers on his right hand. It seems that a day or two ago, this former local infantry commander heard a kettle water boiling over his gas stove. He picked up a piece of cheese cloth, that hung above the stove and took the kettle off. Unfortunately the inflammible cheese cloth caught fire from the gas and the flames caused some severe burns to Col. Miller's hand.

Autos and Local Liveries.

A local liveryman when asked yesterday by a Times representative how the numerous automobiles affected his business replied, "If anything, the autos help the business. Horses are so expensive now, that when a man wants to take a long trip, say to Apsley or Bobcaygeon, it does not pay to give him a horse or team. The horses are played out next day. Again, if we have to send a driver he is no good next day. On the other hand what a man pays extra for an auto on a long trip, he saves in time and hotel bills."

Toronto Union Barbers Lose.

Peterborough union barbers will learn with regret, if they are union men, that the Toronto by-law impelling early closing by the tonsoralists of the Queen City is a dead letter. This was the decision handed out by Magistrate Denison, when some of the craft were charged before him with failing to close their respective places of business at 8 p.m. on week days. It is alleged that a petition signed by the Toronto barbers claimed to be a request for a civic early closing by-law, was represented to them as a request for higher wages.

It looks as though our Protestant friends, who favor the policy of The Times, are getting right down to business in the matter of increasing the list of subscribers to this paper. New names are being daily added to the list, and the outlook is very bright. We want every subscriber to try and send us another at least; some will do much better than this. We want to reach the five thousand mark as quickly as possible, and when this point is secured, we promise to produce a newspaper that will have all the features of a Metropolitan daily. New Dictionaries To Be Distributed

POPULARITY INCREASES

"Battle-scared heroes."

That phrase once brought unpleasant notoriety to a well-meaning man who failed to write what he meant and found through bitter experience what the omission of one letter may mean in a written word.

Could the same thing happen to you?

If so, why?

With the NEW ILLUSTRATED WEBSTER DICTIONARY at your elbow you can avoid such pitfalls as writing "angle" when you mean "angel." Some person might take offense at being called "a perfect angle."

Think of what a vast difference there is between "stationery" and "stationary," "planning" and "planing," and the hundreds of other comparisons which can be culled from a dictionary. Then clip six consecutive coupons from issues of THE PETERBOROUGH TIMES and prepare yourself to avoid mistakes and trouble.

Dictionary Demand Credit To Citizens.

Peterborough has apparently gone "dictionary daffy," and the surprisingly rapid rate at which the craze to secure copies has spread is a creditable comment upon the high average intelligence of the citizens.

A new shipment of books has arrived and they are now ready for distribution. For the accommodation of the public the doors of the Dictionary Department will not close until 7 o'clock each evening and will be kept open until midnight every Saturday.

The intelligence of the public is but one of the principal elements which have made the distribution of the entire edition of the Webster's New Illustrated Dictionary seemingly a most simple task.

The other element is the sterling worth and beautiful appearance of the book itself. A restaurant cashier in one of the best patronized business men's lunch rooms in the city testified to this the other day when it was remarked that she had a Times dictionary lying beside her cash register.

"I was one of the first to get one," she said, "and I want to tell you that that book has started many persons clipping coupons. They are surprised as soon as they see it.

"Some of them, you know, think it is my Bible, and one glance through it is enough to convince them that they have just got to get busy and get one, if not for themselves, for the children at home.

"I am coming around to get another one for my sister and I think I'll just let one stay here for the present, because I surely wish THE TIMES all the luck in the world."

The describer of dictionaries thanked the young woman for these few kind words and went on his way, thinking how poor his powers of description were as compared to the convincing influence of exhibition of the dictionary itself.

Read the display advertisement on another page.

If you don't believe every word of it, come to the Dictionary Department and be convinced.

You may examine the books all you want, without taking one.

We want you to start clipping coupons.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

The Police Court of Port Hope has had a three weeks' absence from "customers."

The Bessie Butler left yesterday morning with a scow load of anchor stones for Pigeon Creek.

The funeral of the late John Whyte killed by the Montreal express at Norwood, was held in that village yesterday.

The Rev. Mr. McMullen, of Snow Road, formerly pastor of Springville Church, will preach in Springville both morning and evening on Sunday next.

Word was yesterday received here from a former Peterborough lady, now residing at Stauffer, Alta., that her husband has successfully harvested his oat crop.

Speaking of sobriety and morality, where on the American continent can a city of 18,000 population be found without at least one police cell in active commission, excepting Peterborough.

The election of officers which was to have been held Wednesday evening at the annual meeting of the Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S., was postponed and will be held on the evening of Monday next.

Contractor Rutherford in reply to a question put by The Times yesterday, stated that he has, as yet, received no definite reply from the Council regarding the Eastwood building wall on Hunter street.

The merry tingle of the machine phone in the police station yesterday afternoon, kept P. C. McGinty busy. Unfortunately, only the bell of the instrument seemed in working order, as no voice could be heard through the receiver.

When a Lindsay "blacklister" now tells the police magistrate of that town he was "given liquor by a stranger," he runs up against a warrant for commitment to jail for three months. Thus does skepticism breed in the minds of those given too much "hot air."

WEDDING BELLS.

Goselin—Evans.

Mr. Isadore Goselin, of this city, last Tuesday entered into the great army of benedicts, leading a charming bride to the altar, in the person of Miss Gertrude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Evans of Trenton. The nuptial knot was tied at Trenton by the Rev. Father Connolly. The bridesmaid was Miss May McMahon, and the best man Mr. Francis Goselin, brother of the bridegroom.

The bridal couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents from Ottawa, Trenton, Port Hope, Toronto and Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Goselin will reside at 515 Romaine street.

Deyell—Hooper.

A wedding that interested local society was celebrated yesterday afternoon at All Saints Church, when Miss Mabel Beatrice Hooper, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Hooper, became the charming bride of Mr. Arthur Rutherford Deyell, of Cobalt. The ceremony was one of the prettiest seen in the city for many a day. Mr. Deyell, the groom, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deyell, of Port Hope. The girls of the W.T.S. Club had decorated the church most beautifully for the auspicious event. Some eighty guests witnessed the ceremony which was solemnized by the Rector, Rev. Mr. Grobb. The bride was given away by her father; Mrs. McClelland presided at the organ and played the wedding march, while Mrs. Cunningham, of Orillia, sang in splendid voice "Beloved, It Is Morn."

Miss Geraldine Hooper, the bride's youngest sister, was the maid of honor, while little Miss Edna Cheveril was a charming flower girl. The bride was prettily attired in a gown of white satin trimmed with lace, and seed pearls. She wore orange blossoms and a veil of Brussels net, and carried a bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley. The maid of honor wore a charming gown of pink silk with pink ninon, and trimmed with shadow lace, while her bouquet was of pink roses. The little flower girl who carried the ring in a floral basket, wore a pretty white marquisette dress, with pale blue sash.

Messrs. Percy and Fred Hooper, the bride's brothers, officiated as ushers.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a recherche reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, Dalhousie street.

Mr. and Mrs. Deyell left on the 4.19 C.P.R. train on a wedding tour to Toronto and other points, and will take up their residence in Haileybury.

The groom's gift to the bride was a splendid diamond pendant, to the maid of honor, a signet ring, to the flower girl, a pearl ring, and to the ushers pearl stick pins.

ELECTION RIOT HEARD

RIOT AND MURDER IN POLLING BOOTH--BALLOTS WERE BURNED

Extraordinary Story Contained In Bluebook Returns From Edmonton At Last Election

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—Buried in the depths of the blue book giving the official figures of the last election, is the story of an extraordinary affair in one of the distant polls of the Edmonton constituency. There is no returns from Leamen, which is poll 164, and in a matter of fact dry as dust official way it is explained that owing to a riot in which one man was murdered and the subsequent burning of the ballots, no returns could be made, although the returning officer reported Hon. Frank Oliver got 79 votes and his opponent Major Greisbach, none.

As far as known here, no investigation was made, or no one was brought to time for the murder. The official statement is as follows:

"Poll No. 164, Leaman poll, was held and 79 ballots were cast, and 79 were cast for Hon. Frank Oliver, but owing to a riot and death of one man in the polling booth, and the alleged burning of ballots as substantiated by the affidavit of the deputy returning officer, Frank Van Cannegt, the returning officer did not count the said 79 ballots on his recapitulation."

SUFFRAGETTE ON HER WAY TO CANADA TO INTERVIEW BORDEN

London, Sept. 20.—Miss Barbara Wylie left to-day on the Empress of Ireland on a Suffragette mission to Canada. Miss Wylie was one of the deputation to interview Mr. Borden here three weeks back. Her speedy departure for Canada is assumably a response to the Premier's careful and non-committal attitude on the question. Miss Wylie to-day refused to disclose the plans of her campaign, beyond announcing that she intended to seek further interview with Mr. Borden, which she anticipated would be readily granted. She described as folly the report that she may be refused a landing. Her airy comment in a double sense was: "Even if we are refused a landing, we will still have aeroplanes."

At Easton Station, about twenty women," including Mrs. Pankhurst, bade her farewell, one lady in the extremity of her enthusiasm waving a paper flag.

May Be Allowed to Land.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—It was stated at the Immigration Department today that no instructions had been issued to prevent the landing of Miss Wylie, the English suffragette who is coming to Canada. At the Interior Department the same statement was made.

"I will not say what I am going to do in Miss Wylie's case," said Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Interior, "She must be, however, quite a girl."

The Ottawa suffrage association will hold a meeting to decide what attitude to adopt when Miss Wylie arrives in the capital.

RAILWAY ALLIANCE TO MAKE C.P.R. THE WORLD'S STRONGEST

Canadian Line to Link Up With the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul Road and Fight the Hill Lines

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 20.—A local paper says: "Canadian will wake up some morning in the near future with the news of two of the greatest railroad alliances that have ever been formed, and one of these alliances will make the Canadian Pacific Railroad the strongest in the world, according to rumors now floating around in railroad circles.

"Behind the rumors is a story of the invasion of Canada by American roads, and the story going round is that the Great Northern Road, already into Portage La Prairie and Brandon, and heading for Regina, contemplates coming through Manitoba and Saskatchewan, heading up with the Grand Trunk Pacific, and at the same time coming from the Montana boundary line into Alberta, and meeting with the G.T.P. in this Province, practically networking Western Canada with branch roads and trunk lines.

"To offset this, the Canadian Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Roads are contemplating an alliance, and although it will not be an amalgamation, they will work together and invade the Jim Hill territory in the United States, part of which is already invaded by the C. M. and St. P., together making the strongest combination in the world.

"The heads of all the big roads of the American continent realize that Western Canada is going to be the big railroad field of the future, and amalgamations being formed are the result of this realization."

URGED STRIKERS TO SURRENDER

Bingham, Utah, Sept. 19.—An army of miners, fortified and determined held undisputed possession of the copper, lead and silver mines of Bingham, when the second day of the miners' strike for a further 25 per cent increase in pay and recognition of their union dawned.

While the army, thousands strong, and speaking many tongues dug breastworks, strengthening its picket lines and worked out a rough form of military discipline, there was activity in the office of the mining companies and the headquarters of the county and state officials.

Developments seemed to depend almost entirely upon the success of Governor Spry who has been asked to urge the strikers to surrender the mines, give up their arms and wait in patience the success or failure of the mine managers' efforts to figure out means by which their demands can be granted.

COVENANT TO BE SIGNED BY ALL PROTESTANT UNIONISTS

Covenant Is Hailed With Enthusiasm and Sir Edward Carson To Lead the List

Liberal Papers Attempt To Pour Ridicule Upon Unionist Campaign

New York, Sept. 20.—A London cable to the Tribune says: The terms of the solemn league and covenant of Irish Unionists against Home Rule, which were made known last night caused great enthusiasm throughout Ulster.

The Liberal papers of London are naturally trying to pour ridicule upon this latest development of the Unionist campaign, but the covenant will certainly be hailed by all Protestant Unionists with enthusiastic approval. The document will be signed on Ulster day after most impressive religious services in the various Protestant places of worship.

Sir Edward Carson, Solicitor-General in the last Conservative Ministry, who has been the leading spirit in drawing up the covenant and who is probably responsible for most of its phrasology, will be the first to sign in Belfast at the city hall and after him will come other Irish Unionist members of Parliament and the members of Belfast corporation and other civic dignitaries.

Oscar Hammerstein, commonly known as the greatest American impresario, is arranging a scheme to build a chain of forty new opera houses throughout the United States, forming a chain in which, by co-operation, he expects to produce grand opera on a scale equal to that given in New York, London, Paris, Berlin and Milan.

REPORTS TRENT CANAL WATERS WELL KEPT

Hydraulic Engineer Returns From a Trip to Gull River and Tributary Waters.

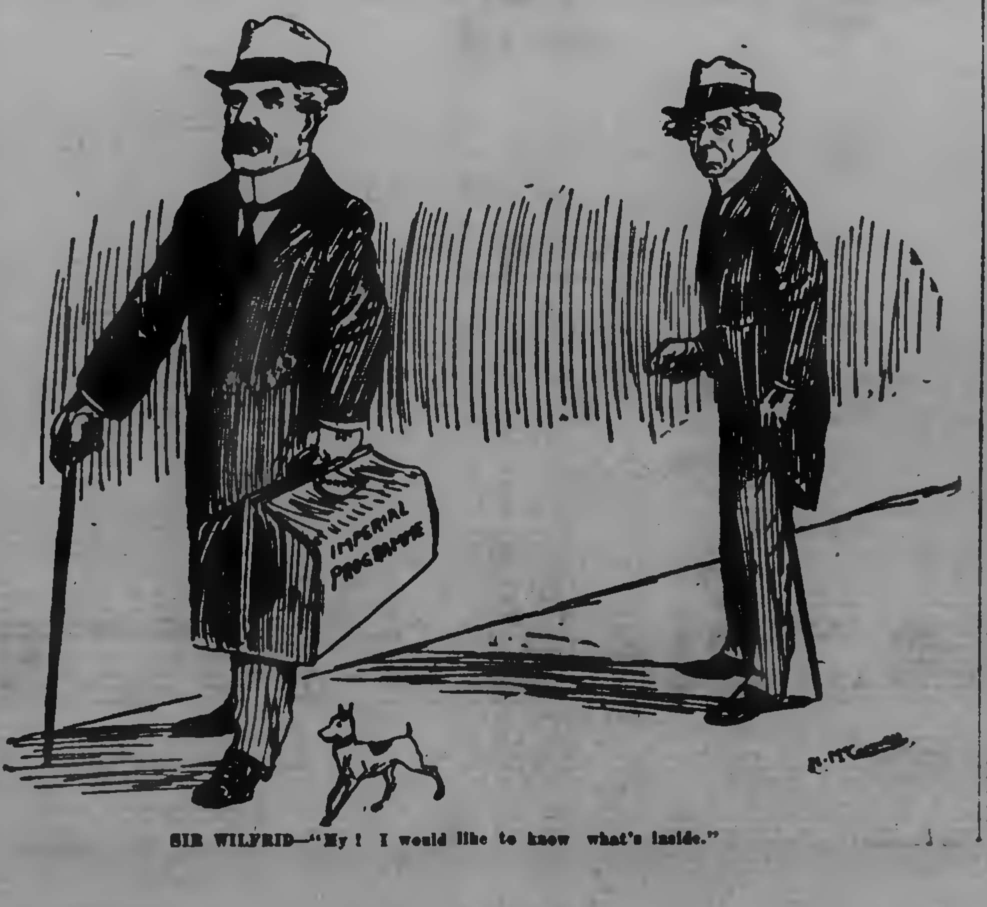
Mr. Charles Robertson, Hydraulic Engineer of the Department of Railways and Canals, returned to the city yesterday morning after a two weeks' trip on Gull River, Burnt River and other feeders of the Trent Canal system. Mr. Robertson reports that the flow of these rivers is about equal to what it was last June, showing the excellent work done in conserving these waters. This is a matter of great consequence to the city having a direct bearing on the power available, only to be procured by such conservation. This goes to prove that the Dominion Government is fully alive to the necessity for an ample and sufficient conservation of the waters tributary to the Trent Canal. The work already done in the construction of dams is by no means final, the water in other lakes will be bottled up and conserved.

LOCAL CIVIL SERVANTS

Applicants For Government Employment May Perhaps Be Examined Here.

Persons who contemplate entering into the employ of the Dominion Government, in Peterborough, or elsewhere, should remember that they are now required to pass the qualifying examination of the Civil Service Board.

This applies to clerks in the Post Office, Customs, Inland Revenue and others on outside employment. Should a sufficient number of candidates present their names to Mr. Edgar, Postmaster, an effort will be made to have those writing on this test of ability examined in Peterborough next November, simultaneously with those writing in other cities of the Dominion.



SIR WILFRID—"My! I would like to know what's inside."

WHERE IS MONEY TO COME FROM FOR BD. OF WORKS OPERATIONS

Appropriation of $19,000 Already Overdrawn, But Many Improvements Are Still in Demand—Council Will Be Asked To Grapple With The Situation

The City's Board of Works met last night, chairman Ald. Buller, presiding. There were also present Mayor Bradburn, Aldermen Anderson Graham, Gillespie, Duffus and Johnston.

The Board faced a crisis in its activities created by a warning from the City Treasurer, that its appropriation had already been overdrawn. Mr. Adams' statement showed that

On the 31st August the amount expended chargable against the appriation of $19,000 for the year 1912 is as follows:—

Streets and Bridges	$15,702.62
Romaine St. Sewer	1,969.95
Total expenditure	$17,672.57
This leaves a balance at 31st August at the credit of this account of	$1,327.43
Add Receipts from various sources	539.33
Total	$1,866.76

Since August 31st, $2,620.27 has been paid to date on this account, so that the Board's account is overdrawn at the present time.

Will you be good enough to arrange for financing the work of this department for the remainder of the season.

Chairman Ald. Buller drew a long breath and enquired what was to be done.

The Mayor—"Call a halt right here, and submit the situation to Council for advice."

Ald. Buller replied that he could see no other course. Still he took exception to the present Board being assessed in the neighborhood of $2,000 on account of the Romaine St. sewer, for which it was not really responsible. In regard to this item, he hoped that the expenditure on making good the present defective section under treatment would have permanently effective results. This, however, is questionable. Then property had been purchased from Curtis in East City, from which gravel had been obtained for road purposes. And as the drawing of gravel therefrom had brought the property down to street level, thus enhancing its value to the city up to a figure away beyond what was paid for it, that item might be considered as a general expenditure nature. These items should be taken into consideration and not credited to the Board of Works as a portion of its appropriation. He would suggest that the Engineer report fully to Council the work done this year by the Board and the cost thereof.

Moved by Alderman Johnston, seconded by Ald. Anderson,—That the Board of Works submit to the Council at next session, a report, endorsed by the City Engineer, of the monies actually expended in the work that legitimately applies to this department, setting forth any expenditure that may be consistently considered of a nature chargeable to other interests.—Carried.

Will Clean Up.

W. H. Hill, of the Sun Life, wrote in reference to the disgraceful condition of Bethune street from Edinburgh to Reid street, and suggesting that loose stones upon it be removed. He also stated that a man complained of damage to his buggy by driving over the stones.

This suggestion will be carried out.

Automobile Entrance.

L. M. Hayes applied for permission to construct an automobile approach to and entrance across the sidewalk to the rear of his premises 335 Reid street, such work to be done at his own expense. This was granted, subject to the City Engineer's supervision.—Granted.

Crossings Granted.

The matter of crossings at the corner of Division and Dublin, Stewart street north opposite the Dennistown residence and on Park street, opposite Malloy's, was granted.

Drain Improvements.

The Engineer was instructed to bring in a report as to piping and filling in the ditch on Concession street, East City.

Concrete Sidewalks.

D. W. Wilder wrote the Board asking them to build concrete sidewalks and put sewer extension down Park street in consideration of him building a four or six house terrace on that street. As soon as these buildings are up the conveniences asked for will be supplied.

City Engineer Hay reported re a concrete walk on south side of Crescent street, stating that there are 54 trees on the street, and that a number of them were small enough to be moved out a few inches, and the larger ones that were closer would have to be cut down.

This proposition will be advertised in the usual way. Later on a decision will be reached as to removal and cutting down of trees necessary to the construction of the new sidewalk, and removal of electric light poles to the other side of the street.

Petitions were received asking for the construction of sidewalks upon the following streets:—South side of James street, south side of Sophia street, south side of Wolfe street, west side of Mark and upon Benson avenue, from Stevenson street to Manning avenue—Granted subject to usual conditions.

Mr. Geo. Benton, Sr., 273 Dalhousie street requested the construction of sidewalk on the south side of Dalhousie street.—This petition was granted.

The sidewalk from the east side of Smith street bridge up the hill to a point west of Concession street, petitioned for some time ago, will be advertised.

Corporation Work.

J. W. Kelly, Clerk of Smith, wrote the Board, expressing the willingness of the Smith township council to be present at a joint meeting of the city and township councils to be held Sept. 28, Saturday, in Peterborough, at 2 o'clock.—Received pending action of other adjacent townships.

New Bridges.

The City Engineer reported that Mr. J. T. Arundel, of the C.P.R., had written that when his company rebuilds their bridge across the river the city could get a right of way across the structure for a footbridge on the north side, the city to pay for the expense incurred in providing for such pedestrian accommodation. This proposition will be seriously considered.

GIRLS WANTED.

THE WATERLOO OF 1911

This is the anniversary of the victory of the spirit of Canadian nationhood over the spirit of crude materialism. One year ago to-day Canadians without regard to party voted to keep Canada free and a part of the grand old British Empire. If we have treaties to make let them never be to the prejudice of our kith and kin. Have we no family feeling? Are our traditions and our freedom not worth preserving? Other nations have their aspirations their pride and their ambitions. Are we less brave and hopeful than they? But what means this cry—this sorrowful wail that rises at unearthly hours even now in the midst of our overflowing general prosperity? Are the wailers crazy or only doped with the lust of power?

SIR WILFRID LAURIER having consented to give a Meeting in this District, you are Cordially Invited to be present at the OPERA HOUSE on TUESDAY NIGHT, October the First, at Eight p.m., to hear him and other leading Liberals.

GO TO FLORIDA FOR HEALTH AND wealth.—The question is asked me repeatedly: Why, if all that is claimed for the climate and earning capacity of the land in Florida is true, how is it that only a percentage of the States area is under cultivation? It is a fair question, and the answer is a simple one. After the war between the North and the South Florida found herself in a deplorable condition financially. The State Government leased hundred of thousands of acres of its best prairie and timber lands for periods running as high as 99 years. This latter period tied up the great Kissimmee Prairie until recently. It is now, however, in the hands of a splendid colonization company, whose selling agent is the Hunter Land Company. Kissimmee Prairie is in the Southern portion of Osceola County, and is noted for its fertility and uniformity of soil. It is the healthiest spot in North America, and every day in the year is a growing day. Write for maps, illustrated literature, excursion particulars and any desired information. Address Alf. Law, Ontario Manager, 46 Cecil street, Toronto. D-6 in J4

PINE TAR CORDIAL

NUGENT'S SARSAPARILLA—PRICE FOR large bottle, 100 full doses, 50c, and well worth it, too. It's better to take no medicine at all than to depend upon cheap concoctions that are compounded to sell at a low price and a big profit just because there is a large demand for certain remedies at certain seasons of the year. There are so-called Sarsaparillas offered to us to sell to our customers at 9c a bottle that would bring us a larger profit than Nugent's Sarsaparilla sold at 50c. Nugent's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, arouses the torpid liver, drives out all impurities, cleanses and tones up the system, and helps Nature throw off the dullness that comes from the indoor life of winter. It arouses energy, brightens the eye, clears the brain, gives lightness to the movements. Nugent's Sarsaparilla is not the only thing you will find in this drug store. We make a specialty of Nugent's Remedies. Nugent Drug Co., 386 George St. directly opposite Cressman's store.

War Experiments.

Near Okehampton the other day a dummy village that had been especially built for the purpose was blown to pieces by shell fire from a battery of heavy guns placed some distance away, the object of the curious and costly experiment being, of course, to find out exactly what would happen to a real village in similar circumstances. Says Pearsons Weekly:

The idea, which is not exactly a new one, was borrowed originally from Germany, where some very elaborate experiments on similar lines have been conducted.

Sir James' Humor.

A well-known newspaper man who writes the political leaders for a Bay street daily in Toronto tells the following story on himself:

The editorial writer has a familiar surname of the same class as Brown, but he has enough given names to fill a small clothes line. During the last provincial elections he had occasion to call up Sir James Whitney over the 'phone. Sir James is celebrated for his blunt, brusque manner of speech, and in the conversation which follows he was true to his reputation.

"This is Brown speaking," the editorial writer began—"Brown, Sir James, Mr. H. D. Y. P. Brown, Brown of The ——."

"What's that, what's that?" inquired the Premier, in rapid, sharp, brusque tones.

"This is Brown, editorial writer of The ——, Mr. H. D. Y. P. Brown, editorial writer—you know—H. D. Y. P. Brown, of The ——, you know," the newspaper man explained repeatedly and slowly.

"Brown, a-a-hem—Brown, you say—let me see, Brown, editorial—Oh, yes, Brown, of The ——, yes, yes, yes," said Sir James. "I suppose you use all your other names to DISINFECT the Brown, eh?"—Toronto Star Weekly.

Help With a String to It.

In an office on upper Wall street, where they make a specialty of the "coppers," a cousin of the head of the firm, after several bad "breaks," found his balance reduced to a very low figure. The Wall street man felt bad about it and offered to take the account in hand himself, the relative naturally agreeing. The first transaction was the short sale of a lot of Reading. Before 3 o'clock that day the stock had jumped up six points and the account was wiped out.

It reminds one of what happened on an East river ferryboat the other day when a passenger fell overboard. The man was strong and well able to swim—that is, he was well able to swim until a well meaning but excited deck hand threw a twenty pound life belt down on the top of his head.—Puck.

Tailors as Literary Men.

One does not look for literary men among tailors, but none the less the trade can claim some illustrious names. John Stow, the antiquary and author of the "Survey of London," for instance, began life as a tailor, and another famous tailoring antiquary was John Speed, one of England's early map makers and member of the Society of Antiquaries. And then there was Robert Hill, "the learned tailor" of Birmingham, who contrived to teach himself Greek and Hebrew and became famous as a writer of theological treatises. And George Meredith was born over a tailor's shop.—London Globe.

The Largest Described Snake.

Speke in his narrative of the journey to the source of the Nile describes the largest snake that has ever been seen by man. "I shuddered," he says, "as I looked upon the effects of his tremendous dying strength. For yards around where he lay grass, bushes and saplings—in fact, everything except full grown trees—were cut clean off, as if they had been trimmed with an immense scythe. The monster when measured was fifty-one feet two and one-half inches in extreme length, while around the thickest portions of its body the girth was nearly three feet."

Combining Novelty With Realism.

Mr. James Welch, who made a nice little pile out of 'When Knights Were Bold,' is looking round for another big winner.

He is conscious of the fact that it is not easy to come across something new that will capture the public, but at any rate he once met an author who was full of confidence. Said the author:

"I've thought of a novel effect for my new melodrama."

"Hard to find anything new."

"This is new. The villain lights a cigar in the midst of the snowstorm, thus setting the snowstorm afire."

Thermometers.

In England, it is stated, is used the thermometer of Fahrenheit, a German; in Russia that of Leslie, an Englishman; in France that of Celsius, a Swede, and in Germany they use that of Reaumur, a Frenchman.

GERMANY AND ALSACE.

A Very Suspicious Doll and a Ruse That Saved a Life.

For many years after it was taken over by the Germans the province of Alsace had many difficulties. Every possible precaution was taken to guard against any demonstration of the French national spirit, and, though the children were allowed to learn the language of their ancestors, they were not allowed to be taught it by French instructors. The following instances indicate the extent to which the Government carried its practice of watching the people:

A little girl was seen playing with a doll which was dressed in red, white and blue. The suspicions of the official were aroused, for it certainly was dreadful to see the power of the German empire so boldly threatened. The child was tracked to its home, and there the officer learned that the doll was a present. He immediately proceeded to the woman who had given it to the child and obtained the address of the shop where the dangerous plaything had been bought. It was a modest little establishment, but the officer found it at last and then discovered that the doll had been made and dressed in Leipzig. This was a surprise, but the matter did not end here, for the manufacturer in Leipzig was officially requested not to send any more red, white and blue dolls to Alsace.

The other story is that two Germans were walking one cold day on the banks of a large pond when one of them fell in. He could not swim and screamed for aid. The other, who was an officer, did not feel inclined to take so cold a plunge and calmly watched the struggles of the sinking man. All at once the man in the water began to sing a verse of the "Marseillaise," and the officer jumped in forthwith, for his strict orders were to arrest any person whom he heard singing that famous song. The unfortunate citizen was imprisoned for eight months, but that was better than drowning.

Refined Rooting.

The English root very politely. When a cricketer lands a fly the bleacherites yell: "Oh, jolly well caught! Oh, very well caught indeed!" Sometimes when a player plays unusually well they write him a note the next day.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Well Satisfied.

First Negro—I heah that Andrew Jackson Jones am run over by an automobile. Did he get any satisfaction? Second Negro—He suttinly did. He took de machine's number, played policy wif it an' won $10!—Satire.

Mary's Little Ring.

Mary had a little ring; 'twas given by her beau; and everywhere that Mary went that ring was sure to go.

She took the ring with her one day when she went out to tea, where she might display it to the girls, who numbered twenty-three.

And when the girls all saw that ring, they made a great ado, exclaiming, with one voice, "Has it at last got round to you?"—London Tit-Bits.

THE REGENCY BALL.

London For a Night Went Back to Good Old Days.

English society witnessed a brief reincarnation of the joyous extravagant days of the Regency, last month, when the Albert Hall, London, was the scene of the greatest and most brilliant ball of the season—a most successful attempt to revive the sartorial glories of the age of the Dandies, of "bucks" and beaux, of mincing macaronis and wonderfully-dressed fops, of powder and patches and poke bonnets. The "Hundred Years Ago" ball, as it was styled consisted of a series of beautifully-schemed quadrilles such as were danced in the days when the vicious, heartless, and grossly licentious Prince Regent, afterward George IV. of infamous memory, "the first gentleman in Europe," held his dissolute and drunken court at the Pavilion, Brighton, with his morganatic, but excellent wife, the beautiful Mrs. Fitzherbert. His life has supplied as much foul material for scandal as any in English history. Thackeray bitterly describes a buckle he invented as his single contribution to the riches of the world. But there was a certain charm about those hazy illusive days of a century ago. Society was virile and on the whole wholesomely gay, notwithstanding the prodigacy of "the fount of honor" and the arbiter of fashion. Waterloo was three years distant in the future, but the long life-and-death struggle with Napoleon had cast over the land a tinge of chivalry and of heroic patriotism.

The waltz had just made its appearance in the salons of London but had not become popular. The stately minuet and the ancient English gavotte were departing into oblivion. The quadrille was supreme. The presentation of the life of a hundred years ago, correctly staged as to dress, manners, and environment, formed a great and delightful spectacle. The dresses rivalled one another in splendor. Among the richer types the most beautiful were the regal-looking Napoleonic dresses, with rich gold embroidery and ermine trimming, but the charm of Arcadian simplicity was not missing. Naturally in that period of strife, social gatherings took on a military aspect, and, at the Albert Hall, the beautiful costumes of the ladies mingled with the brilliant uniforms of every nation in Europe and the extravagant modes of the Dandies. The famous gardens at Vauxhall, the celebrated Almack's, the club where Pitt and Sheridan and Charles Fox and many more drank deep and gambled recklessly, the splendid regiments of the time and other characteristic features of the "merry past," were commemorated in the naming of the different quadrilles. The famous men and women, who cast lustre on that period of England's history, were represented to the life. The "Iron Duke" of Wellington was a prominent figure in the "Waterloo" quadrille, as were also the intellectual Madame de Stael, the "Rousseau in petticoats," and the Duchess of Richmond, who gave the celebrated ball at Brussels, two nights before the battle of Waterloo, when "there was a sound of revelry by night," interrupted by the note of dread reality, "the cannon's opening roar." The energy and good haste of the organizers of this memorable ball and the enthusiasm of the participants resulted in an unqualified success.

Dickens' Den.

Dickens' care for his material surroundings did not end with his bedroom. His favorite writing place at Gadshill was a Swiss chalet in the shrubbery, and this he fitted up in a most ingenious fashion. "I have put mirrors in the chalet where I write," he says in one of his letters, "and they reflect and refract in all kinds of ways the leaves that are quivering at the windows and the great fields of waving corn and the sail dotted river. My room is up among the branches of the trees, and the birds and the butterflies fly in and out, and the green branches shoot in at the open windows, and the lights and the shadows of the clouds come and go with the rest of the company. The scent of the flowers and indeed of everything that is growing for miles and miles is most delicious."—London Chronicle.

STANDING UPRIGHT.

Easy Only Because of Our Complex Muscular Mechanism.

We are so accustomed to standing upright as a natural attitude that few of us think what a special complex mechanism is required for this purpose. A moment's consideration will show that the ordinary explanation of the erect position (the center of gravity to be directly above the feet) is insufficient. When a man is suddenly shot, whether from the front or behind, he drops on his face, for the truth is that there is much more weight in the front of the spinal column than behind it.

The fact is that when we are standing a large number of powerful muscles (both front and back) are simultaneously at work, the effects of their action being to neutralize each other. Thus the legs would fall forward were it not that they are kept vertical on the feet by the strong tendon (the Achilles) at the back of the heel. At the same time the muscles of the thigh are tightened so as to prevent us taking a sitting position, and the muscles of the back are pulled tense so that the trunk does not stoop forward. The head is prevented from dropping on the chest by the ligaments in the nape of the neck.

That the upright is not its normal position is easily shown by the fact that a man nods as he is falling asleep, for as soon as the controlling nervous force is deadened the head drops forward by its own weight, only to be pulled back into position again with a jerk when the brain becomes suddenly aware of an unusual attitude.

"A Progressive Peterborough."

EDITORIA NOTES

As a rule time makes changes, but it has failed to make any change in Hon J. R. Stratton's opinion of Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P.

Sir Wilfrid is to be in Peterborough on October 1st. It is not likely, after all the soaking rains that we have had, that he will be able to set the city on fire.

The Examiner says it has never been discovered what use nature makes of the Vermiform appendix. This great family journal is inclined to believe, from reading the hospital reports, that the appendix was placed by nature in the human body to enable the surgeons to make a good living.

It is claimed that airships and their terrible possibilities for creating destruction to life and property, will end international war. By passing laws to compel those at the heads of the various European Governments to take seats in the airships, war would become as dead as lilies-of-the-valley in December.

The latest report of the physical condition of the Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain causes the gravest anxiety. He must be prostrate indeed if he has "ceased to take an interest in politics," and if that be true the end cannot be far off. We need the perspective of history to rightly judge the career of Joseph Chamberlain.

Judge M. W. Pinckney at a recent banquet, recalled an incident to show that there is some humor associated with such a thing as the law. In Dawson City a colored man, Sam Jones by name, was on trial for a felony. The judge asked Sam if he desired the appointment of a lawyer to defend him. "No, sah," said Sam "I'se gwine to throw myself on de ignorance of the co't."

A director of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition yesterday called our attention to the great success of the Kinmount Fall Fair. "If they can get such a crowd in the back woods, the city would, with its own grounds and modern buildings, absorb all the attendance that is now diverted to the little surrounding villages." He was told that the purchase of the grounds was a matter for the citizen to decide at the polls.

A GERMAN PEACE MESSAGE.

Rev. Dr. Julius Richter, of Berlin, Germany, is one of the leaders of the peace movement in his own country—a good man who desires to promote international good-will. He is now visiting Canada, partly for the purpose of interpreting German sentiment to Canadians. Dr. Richter has given reasons why there is but little danger of war between Britain and Germany in the near future. He admits that there is a German war party; but he says that the bulk of the German people, including the mercantile and industrial classes, do not want want now because they realize that Germany is not sufficiently prepared for it. Their position (which is supported by "the big and influential morning newspapers all over the country"), Dr. Richter states, is as follows: "It would be to the advantage of Germany to postpone and push back into the distant future any war with England. The more such an event can be postponed the more we shall gain by our commerce from year to year, so that we shall be better able to pay for way should it come."

This German pastor is to be thanked for his frankness, says the Hamilton Spectator. What he tells us means simply this—that the German people desire to postpone the clash with Britain until their country is so thoroughly prepared that victory for Germany will be assured. Meanwhile the preparations will go on with that admirable system and far-sightedness, which have made Germany the most efficient nation in the world. If Britain should slacken her efforts to maintain her naval strength it will not be long before Germany has attained that stage of preparedness where it would be safe to precipitate the struggle—and the struggle would be precipitated.

There is only one thing for Britain and her daughter nations to do in this matter of naval competition, and that is to keep the imperial navy at a point of strength and efficiency so far in advance of Germany's naval power that Germany will never be adequately prepared for the prospective struggle for supremacy at sea.

MEN WHO DON'T EXERCISE

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigous, as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork are the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock

In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of every getting well. I

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old time vigor and spirits. To-day I am well, thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort, and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes, and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for the opinions of its correspondents

THE CHIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—I do not wish to take part in any controversy, but will you permit me to place a certain class of people in a correct position? Continually one is hearing such language as the following: "The Chimes are to all intents and purposes the chimes of St. John's Church, but there must be a scheme to get the money and so they were to be called "The People's Chimes," to secure subscriptions from the citizens generally," and there is added, "What fools the people were made; wasn't it a slick game to get their money?" Now, Mr. Editor, I have nothing to say about the "game played in calling them "The People's Chimes," or the motive which suggested it. But what I want to question is whether all were fooled. I for one subscribed to Canon Davidson for the chimes, but at the same time I believed it to be a scheme and I felt that the name given was simply a trick to get money, and so I had my bookkeeper charge my subscription up to advertising. I don't care whether the chimes ring for Catholics or Orangemen or for neither. But I don't think so many of us were fooled as some may think, for we saw through what we believed to be a dodge. Thanking you for space.

—Merchant.

MUSICAL AUDITORIUM NEEDED.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—The citizens of Peterborough are proud of the fact that they have assisted in the musical development of the city. They are also proud of the fact that the city has developed a talented soloist, who is now studying in Europe. I refer of course, to Miss Halahan, whose splendid voice did so much to aid in the successful production of The Geisha.

It is understood that local talent are to produce Handel's "Messiah." I believe that only two cities in Canada have as yet produced that famous masterpiece, Toronto and Montreal. The opportunity is now up to Peterborough.

The Examiner came out last Saturday with a splendidly written article as to the duty of our citizens to an educational movement of the highest order. May I suggest to the worthy gentlemen of the Board of Education that they have an excellent opportunity to assist in this higher musical education by assisting the Choral Society to locate a suitable auditorium for practices. The society will not stand in the way of minor expenses, but if they have to make a heavy outlay for a practice hall it will crimp the efforts of the Society indefinitely.

I trust that all musically inclined persons will give this matter consideration, and if an opportunity should present itself to them to take a personal interest in the Choral work, that they will do so.

—R. G. Sturgeon.

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN GERMAN PERIL

British M. P. Thinks, However, That Canada Should Contribute To Navy.

Montreal, Sept. 20.—"I do not believe in the German peril, as it has been exploited in the jingo press of England and Canada," said J. Allan Baker, a Canadian member of the British Parliament, who with his son Philip J. Baker, one of the British representatives at the Olympic games is touring Canada.

Mr. Baker further remarked:

"The peril lies in the familiarity with the idea of war which is created by all this talk of arnaments and of danger coming from the North Sea. The Germans do not want war but protect their commerce and to prevent Britain or any other nation from bottling them up in case of hostilities.

STRONG NAVY NEEDED

In reply to a question, Mr. Baker says he did not deny the necessity of a navy strong enough to get good police work, but he strongly opposed the policy of building so many ships. He would not say that the Dominion should not contribute something towards the naval defence of the Empire, but he thought Canadians should not be carried away by the hysterical shrieking of a subsidized press.

Mr. Baker has been visiting Trenton, Ont., where he has a fruit farm. In company with his son he will visit Saskatchewan before returning home.

Included in the general debenture debt of $3,399,000 are $1,350,000 long term Bonds, which the municipality is holding in its treasury. The present issue of short term notes is made to avoid disposing of these Bonds in the present unfavorable market for long-term securities.

Point Grey immediately adjoins the present city limits of the City of Vancouver on the south and west, and has a population of 8,000 and an area of 12,000 acres—twice the area of the city of Vancouver proper:

Vancouver is rapidly outgrowing its present limits and the question of annexation is being discussed seriously.

Point Grey is regarded as the choicest residential section in "Greater Vancouver," and includes "Shaughnessy Heights," an exceptionally desirable residential section, recently opened by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Point Grey has been decided upon as the location for the new Provincial University of British Columbia.

VERDI'S COOL CRITIC.

A Chap Who Liked to Eat His Cake and Still Have It.

When Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Aida" was first being presented to Italian audiences the composer received the following letter, dated May, 1872, from a man residing in Reggio, a town near Parma, and about 100 miles from Milan:

"Much Honored Signor Verdi—The 2d of this month I went to Parma, drawn there by the sensation made by your opera 'Aida.' So great was my curiosity that one-half hour before the commencement of the piece I was already in my place, No. 120. I admired the mise en scene, I heard with pleasure the excellent singers, and I did all in my power to let nothing escape me. At the end of the opera I asked myself if I was satisfied, and the answer was 'No!' I started back to Reggio, and listened in the railway carriage to the opinions given upon 'Aida.' Nearly all agreed in considering it a work of the first order.

"I was then seized with the idea of hearing it again, and on the 4th I returned to Parma. I made unheard of efforts to get a reserved seat. As the crowd was enormous I was obliged to throw away five lire in order to witness the performance with any comfort.

"I arrived at this conclusion about it: It is an opera in which there is absolutely nothing which causes any enthusiasm or excitement, and without the pomp of the spectacle the public would not stand it to the end. When it has filled the house two or three times it will be banished to the dust of the archives.

"You can now, dear Signor Verdi, picture to yourself my regret at having spent—on two occasions—32 lire. Add to this the aggravating circumstances that I depend on my family, and this money troubles my rest like a frightful specter! I therefore frankly address myself to you in order that you may send me the amount. The account is as follows:

	Lire.
Railroad—going	2.60
Railroad—returning	3.30
Opera tickets	8.00
Detestable supper at the station	2.00
	15.90
Twice	2
	31.80

"Hoping that you will deliver me from this embarrassment, I salute you from my heart. Bertani.

"P. S.—My address: Prospero Bertani, via San Domenico, No. 5."

Verdi happened to be more amused than offended at the cool impertinence of this amateur critic, and he instructed his publisher to forward Signor Bertani the sum demanded minus 4 lire. By way of justifying this deduction he wrote, "The sum is not quite so much as the gentleman demands, but I think he might have taken his supper at home!"—Exchange.

How It Affected Him.

A young lawyer asked a veteran at the bar if a lawyer ever got used to losing cases.

"I can't say, sir," responded the veteran. "I really can't say; but, as for myself, I am very much in the same fix as the man from Osceola who had been defeated for office. He was telling me about it and, in order to acquit himself of the charge of being a bad loser, kept interjecting the remark that he was not complaining. 'It doesn't pay to complain,' I said, agreeing with him.

"'No, sir, it doesn't,' he exclaimed, 'and I won't complain, but at the same time I want you to understand, sir, that it makes me durned sick.'"—Kansas City Journal.

Just a Jolt.

"What's the matter?"

"Oh, nothing."

"No, no; don't tell me that. Something disagreeable or discouraging has happened. Your look shows it."

"Well, if you insist on knowing, I started out this morning feeling as gay and chipper as a boy of twenty, but a little while ago I met a former sweetheart of mine, and she told me that her second daughter had just graduated from high school. Say, are the wrinkles around my eyes very noticeable?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Downtrodden Farmer.

A city man heard that a farmer wanted to sell a motorcar. He sympathized with the poor farmer and his family because they were forced to part with the machine for financial reasons, he believed, and went out to the farm to buy it. The farmer was not at home, but his daughter was there. "I came out to buy your motorcar," he said. "Which one?" asked the girl.—Kansas City Star.

Two of a Kind.

Pecunious Father—So you dare to say you are an ideal match for my daughter? Impecunious Youth—I do, indeed, sir! Pecunious Father—Why, you have never earned a dollar in your life. Impecunious Youth—Neither has she.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Established a Record.

"What did mother say when you proposed to her, daddy?"

"She hung her head and was silent for several minutes. And that is the only time I have ever known her to be silent for several minutes."—Detroit Free Press.

Missed the Story.

"Say, what was that story about Elvira?"

"Well, can you keep a secret?"

"Sure."

"So can I."—Ulk.

The stone sharpens knives, but is dull itself.—Plutarch.

GIRLISH, WRINKLE-FREE SKIN EASY TO HAVE.

(From Pilgrim Magazine.)

Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women all over the world have been using the saxolite face bath to "tone up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly, gradually, all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagginess. The formula is: Powdered saxolite, 1 ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint.

Another wonderful facial beautifier and rejuvenator that has become quite a rage in the United States, as in Europe, is mercolized wax. Druggists report a great demand. The wax literally absorbs a sallow, blotchy or withered complexion, giving the fresh vigorous, healthy-hued young skin underneath a chance to "breathe" and to show itself. Apply the wax at night, like cold cream, washing it off mornings, will completely renovate a poor complexion in a week or ten days. One ounce usually is sufficient.

PATENTS IN GERMANY.

There Inventors Are Looked Upon as Teachers to the Nation.

In Germany a patent is regarded to be equivalent to a promotion of national knowledge by the disclosure of a heretofore unknown art, writes H. F. Wertheimer in Paper. The inventor is judged to be some kind of teacher to the nation: therefore the patent office does in no way care for the real father of an invention. To the first applicant is allowed the patent, and lack of first and true inventorship does not invalidate or bar the grant of a patent unless the invention has been fraudulently obtained or stolen. If the person from whom a patent has been stolen files an opposition at the proper time or starts an annulling suit against the granted patent the patent is refused or annulled. Moreover, under certain conditions a fraudulent patentee may be compelled by a lawsuit to assign the patent or even the patent application to the rightful owner.

This broad principle regulates easily the status of persons who have actually carried out the invention previous to a patent application by another, as well as the question of interfering applications. Such persons are not affected by the patent, for they have not been instructed by the inventor. In other words, they have not derived any new or useful knowledge by the disclosure of the patent; therefore they have a legal right to use the patent for their own business, but this right can only be assigned to others, together with the transfer of their whole business. In other terms, they are entitled to a limited free license.

Infringement suits are relatively rare and by no means so frequent as in the United States. Furthermore, they are considerably less expensive.

For His Own Pleasure.

"I suppose your wife was more than delighted at your raise of salary, wasn't she?" asked Jones of Brown.

"I haven't told her yet, but she will be when she knows it," answered Brown.

"How is it that you haven't told her?"

"Well, I thought I would enjoy myself a couple of weeks first."—Judge.

Cupid's Recall.

"Father, what do you think of the recall?"

"Well, my dear, I hardly know. Some people think it is dangerous. But why do you ask?"

"I sent Ferdy away last night, and now I'm sorry."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Long, Long Run.

"I believe honesty pays in the long run."

"So do I, but I often wish it were not such a mighty long run."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Main Thing.

Actor—I can bring tears to the eyes of the audience. Theatrical Manager—Huh! We want somebody who can bring the audience.—Puck.

WHERE IS THE MONEY TO COME FROM

Another letter from City Engineer Hay was read re proposed Dalhousie street bridge, reporting that the estimated price of building a bridge across the river at that point without track was $69,700. The original statement with provision for carrying a street railway track was $87,875. This report will be submitted to the council.

Removal of Trees.

City Engineer Hay reported on the trees in front of the Salvation Army Temple and recommended the removal of the two centre trees and the trimming of the other two. This report was received and the Army allowed to do the work of removing the trees in question.

Removal of Poles.

From W. Marshall, superintendent of the C.P.R. Telegraph Company, stating that he had taken up the matter of removing the company's poles on George street, and stating that when the G.N.W. Company had removed their poles the C.P.R. will then consider what disposal to make of their poles.—Received pending activity by the G.N.W. Company.

Sewer Work.

From J. W. McCollough, Chief Health Officer, approving of sewer to be constructed in the city as follows: Between Manning avenue and Stevenson street.—This will be acceded to.

The construction of a sewer on Edinburgh street, from Rubidge to Stewart streets, will be advertised.

Street Railway Work O.K.

City Engineer Hay reported that the extension of the street railway to Byersville is satisfactory, the poles, however, should be painted according to agreement. Mr. Munro will be asked to have the poles on this extension treated as agreed upon.

Request Not Granted.

Mr. H. M. Moore's request that the city construct a crossing and steps to his property, 665 Aylmer street was not granted. It appears that Mr. Moore has created out of city property in front of his premises a pretty terrace boulevard, but the Board does not feel justified in building a concrete crossing and steps for petitioner's exclusive benefit.

Approved of G.T.R's Plans.

The Board approved of the G.T.R's plans for new sidings, gates, switches and frogs on Bethune street, east of the station, on condition that the present position of the main line is not changed in any respect, and that switches and frogs are constructed on the crossings of Sherbrooke and King streets.

Cost of Paving.

The City Engineer reported that the cost of street paving contem- and excavating would be as follows:

Chambers street	$1,448.69
Hunter street, from Park to Belmont avenue	1,574.84
Total	$3,023.53

The Board decided to proceed with the paving of Chambers street with concrete pavement as soon as practicable. A by-law will be prepared to authorize this work.

The City Clerk was instructed to write the Canada Cement Co., Montreal, and request the presence of their road expert at the earliest moment to superintend the laying of the concrete pavement on Chambers street by city labor.

The Hunter street section was left in abeyance owing to the insistent opposition of Aldermen Anderson, Johnston and Graham, who offered that the present roadway there is a good one, not warranting the rushing through of such a small section of new concrete work at this late day in the season. It would be policy to await the test of this concrete paving on Chambers street, argued the opposition, before prosecuting its adoption elsewhere.

An Ancient Conduit.

Pointing out how often ancient monuments are lost, Mr. W. Martin, honorary secretary of the Congress of Archaeological Societies, told the joint Parliamentary committee on the preservation of ancient monuments that the White Conduit, which has recently been destroyed, had existed in Queen's square, Bloomsbury, from the time of Henry III. The conduit was part of the water system which supplied the Grey Friars of Newgate street. Owing to the extension of a big hotel in Bloomsbury the pipe had gone entirely within the last few months. He had received a letter from the secretary of the Derbyshire Archaeological and Natural History Society quoting the case of a disused church in Derbyshire which in all probability would go to ruin and disappear unless its preservation was shortly taken in hand. The curator of the Maidstone Museum had also informed him that the ancient hall of the Corpus Christi foundation in Maidstone, which dated from about the year 1,473, was now desecrated by being used as part of a brewery, although it was at present in good hands so far as its preservation was concerned. He also mentioned the case of an old tithe barn in the district, which was now in the open market.

Pedestrians.

A teacher in a primary school was endeavoring to make clear to her class the meaning of the words "equestrianism" and "pedestrianism" when she put this query to one small boy:

"What is a pedestrian?"

"He is one of those fellows," said the boy, "who makes an awful kick when an automobile runs him down."—New York Press.

No Further Delay.

Abner Slopoak (desperately)—M-may I name the day? Jemima Jones (decisively)—No! Abner Slopoak (in alarm)—Why? Jemima Jones (frankly)—Because if you put it off as long you did your proposal we never will be married. I'll name the day myself!—Cleveland Leader.

Stock Exchange Strike.

There are just 18,000 seconds in a day's work on the London Stock Exchange, during every one of which thousands of pounds change hands. The Stock Exchange is always feverishly impatient to hear news of itself, and is, therefore, connected by thousands of private telephone wires with all parts of the kingdom. In addition it has a wonderful little newspaper issued two times an hour. This, of course, contains the most recent financial quotations. About fifty special newsboys are employed to dash with lightning speed with copies immediatey they leave the machine to various financiers, stockbrokers, etc.

On one occasion a well-organized strike of these lads completely paralyzed the working of the Exchange for over an hour. As a delay of seconds in distributing news bearing upon the market often causes serious fluctuations in prices, the lads' terms were accepted. Members have, however, provided very effectually against a second strike taking place, by keeping a double relay of lads, neither of the shifts ever being allowed to know the other. So if one struck, the other could be immediately requisitioned.

Quebec's Minerals.

The report of the Mines Branch of the Province of Quebec, showing that last year the value of the production of the Quebec mines amounted to $8,679,786. This is an increase of $1,280,505 as compared with the preceding year. From about $2,000,000 in 1899, the value of minerals has climbed to over $8,000,000—an increase of more than 300 per cent. In 1911 the mines of the province produce asbestos, copper ore, iron ores, mica, graphite, magnetite, and all kinds of articles for structural materials.

GOLF TWO MILES UP.

Thibet Has the Highest Course In the World.

The chief claim to fame that Gyantse possesses is the part played in the Thibetan mission of [illegible] in time, perhaps, this fame may be eclipsed by the fact that it boasts the highest golf course in the world. The next highest is the course of Gulmerg, in the Himalayas, which is only 8,800 feet above the sea level, but Gyantse, standing at a height of 13,100 feet, easily bears off the palm for golf at a high altitude. Gyantse does not, to the casual observer, suggest golf, nor does it even appear to be able to furnish room for golf courses; but where Scotchmen congregate, though their total number be only three, a course had to be made, and it has been.

Provided the caddies are willing, golf is possible all the year round, the unsuitable months being January, February and March, these being the months of the famous, or rather infamous, dust storms. The course is one of nine holes, situated on the right bank of the Niang Chu River; the average length of the holes is 260 yards, the longest being over 500 yards and the shortest 120 yards. There is no grass on the course, the whole surface being a hard baked clay, over which, especially in winter, a film of sand is blown; where this sand drifts a "bunker" is formed. The chief hazards are collections of stones, pits, withered trees, wild irises and sand out of the two last named not even a Braid could play, and it is here that the advantage of the local rules is seen. Some of these may be of interest:

No ball can be lost in Gyantse; if not found within a reasonable time another is put down where the first one is thought to have been lost, without penalty.

The lie of the ball in sand can be improved by scraping round it with hand or club. (Even then the difficulty of the shot has to be experienced to be appreciated.)

All thorns may be removed from the ball.

Bath Day In Agra Jail.

One of the humorous sights of India, says a contributor to the August Wide World Magazine, is the daily bathing parade in a native prison. In the one we witnessed were youthful habitual criminals, varying in age from 9 to 15 years, taking their daily dip at Agra jail. While the governor watches proceedings from the shade of a tree, the prisoners, each man fettered and carrying a bowl of beaten brass or steel, are led out in double file to a stone pavement, on each side of which runs a shallow trough of water. At the command of a native warder, bowls are filled and waistcloths are washed. At a second order the prisoners scoop water over themselves and then sink smartly to their haunches, one behind another, in parallel lines. Again comes a snappy order from the warder, and each man begins vigorously to rub the back of the fellow in front of him. When the warder judges the "massage" is complete his voice brings the two lines to a smart right-about-face, still on their haunches, and the vigorous rubbing begins again, each man doing for his fellow what his fellow did for him. The process, while comical, is a genuine illustration of the saying, "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," except, of course, to the prisoners whose fate brings them to the head or tail of the line, where they receive only half the "treatment" of their fellows.

LIFELESS RIDERS.

Thrilling Episodes Culled From the Horrors of War.

A veteran of the British army in India once saw a strange sight on a battlefield. As he tells the story a squadron of cavalry had been held in reserve under cover of a field battery and an infantry regiment. The artillery duel had ended. The assault of the enemy in overwhelming numbers had been repulsed by the steadiness of the infantry. While a cloud of smoke hung over the field the cavalry received an order to charge with drawn sabers.

The troopers started in close order for the enemy's line. Midway they met a destructive fire from earthworks in front of them and from the woods on their flank. A young cavalryman, with his saber drawn, was shot in the heart while leading in the first file. The horse halted, swerved to the right and turned back, but the rider kept his seat without flinching. The other troopers went on, carried the earthwork by storm, rode at full gallop after the retreating force and converted defeat into rout.

The dead trooper meanwhile was returning with white face and with the blood streaming from his wound. Under his nerveless hand the horse received neither check nor leading and made its own way toward the infantry, which was now advancing rapidly. As the smoke lifted the soldiers saw the solitary rider coming, with one hand in a death grip upon the saddle, while the other still held the sword rigidly clasped.

It was a sight never to be forgotten—the galloping horse, with the dead cavalryman still mounted and looking grim and fierce. It was not until the rider had gone fifty yards from the spot where he had been killed that he rolled off the horse.

A similar story is told of Captain Nolan, who delivered the fatal blundering order for the charge of the famous Light Brigade. He was seen on the field of Balaklava, riding from the hills where the staff officers were drawn up to the quarter where the brigade was stationed. The charge began, and what was left of the brigade returned in broken groups.

At last Captain Nolan was seen galloping rapidly toward the centre of the field. He was firmly seated, straight as an arrow and riding well. Suddenly the horse swerved and the rider toppled over.

The officers who were nearest rushed forward, but when they lifted him from the ground they found him lifeless. Like the Indian saberman, he had been shot and instantly killed, but his horse had carried him safely across the field, out of the reach of the pursuing Cossacks.

A Definition.

The teacher was explaining the meaning of the words "ex-president" to the little folks and told them that it was a man who was formerly president, but had retired to private life. The next day the class was asked the meaning of the word "export." A little hand went up. "Well," said the teacher, "what is the meaning of the word export?" "It's a feller that used to be a sport," replied the young American.—Kansas City Star.

TIED UP IN RED TAPE

SOME BLUNDERS THAT COME FROM TOO MUCH SYSTEM.

Army, Navy and Other Services In the Empire Have Occasional Farcical Episodes Arising Out of Absurd Actions at Officials—Lists of Spare Parts Hard to Secure — Had to Prove He Was Alive.

An example of army red-tape has come to light so extraordinary that it is worthy of comment, not because any issue whatever is concerned, but on account of the fine sample it affords of the brand of tape still kept in stock. In the matter of red-tape the Ordinance Department have always been hard to beat, and it is only seemly that the present choice piece should emanate from the Ordinance yard at Woolwich.

Each Territorial unit that possesses a Maxim gun is supposed to be also in possession of a spare-part box. Inside the lid of this box is pasted a paper, on which the contents thereof are set forth in print. From time to time additions and erasures have had to be made to this list to keep it up to date. Recently the Ordinance people were beset with the happy inspiration of printing a revised list. All that was necessary was to send this bit of paper round to each unit in possession of a spare-part box, so that it might be pasted in position.

But that is not the way they do things in the A.O.D. They prefer to publish abroad in Army Orders that such a list has been printed, and that units must apply—through the usual channels and in triplicate—for the bit of paper.

First of all in the orderly-room the requisition has to be made out in triplicate and signed (in triplicate) by the colonel, it must then be forwarded, with a covering official letter, to the brigadier, who, after minuting it, sends it to the divisional commander, who also minutes it, and sends it to the General Officer commanding the district, who sends it (with a minute, of course,) to Woolwich. Then the paper indented for is sent back through the same channels, and duly get stuck inside the lid of the spare-part box. Cost in stamps 8d., and in labor some ninety minutes of various clerks and senior staff officers.

The whole thing could have been done better and in infinitely less time by sticking the paper in a halfpenny envelope and posting it direct to all units possessed of spare-part boxes.

This, of course, is by no means the first occasion upon which the army officials have so distinguished themselves; they have a glorious record of comic absurdities!

That, for example, was a smart piece of work which happened in Dublin a year or two ago. A certain cavalry regiment stationed there was conducting one of their annual pioneer instruction classes. Part of the week consisted of building temporary bridges, the material used being principally poles, lashed together by rope.

At the commencement of the class no poles were in stock, so some were applied for from the Engineer Department, Chatham. This department replied that poles were to be purchased locally, which was accordingly done; but the articles so obtained had to be shipped to Chatham for issue to the troops. So that after they were received in Dublin they were shipped at the North Wall for Chatham, and there transhipped and sent back to Dublin for use, arriving a week after the class for which they had been intended had been dismissed.

The last South African war was responsible for an enormous display of red tape. One of the most amusing instances concerned the fitting up of troopships to take "Tommy" to the front. A certain amount of air-space was specified for each man, but in some of the ships utilized the space in the cabins and steerage slightly exceeded the specifications. One would imagine that this was a fault on the right side, but for some reason for which nobody understood, false ceilings had to be put up to reduce the air space to Government allowance per man.

An Indian Government official once had a most extraordinary experience of red-tape methods, and which he thought was "going a bit too far." He had been "on leave to the hills," invalided, for over three months, but owing to the exacting formalities of the Accounts Department he had been unable to procure the necessary requisites to complete the forms for drawing his salary for that period.

These being at last sent in for sanction, imagine his chagrin when, in course of time, an order for June's pay only was received, accompanied by the information that he had only sent in a certificate stating that he was alive on the 1st of July, and that, before sanction for the drawing of his salary for the previous two months, a certificate signed by the medico of the station must be submitted, proving that he was alive on the 1st June and 1st May respectively!

A gallant officer in a famous corps managed to get even with "the powers that be" upon one occasion. Having been despatched by the authorities on important business, he sent in a claim to Whitehall for about $200. Among the items appeared, "Cab 2s. 6d.; porter, 3d." After much delay and the bandying of many documents, he was told that his claim could not be paid as it stood commissariat expenses not being allowed.

The officer explained that "porter" referred to a man, not to drinks; then after more delay, he received another red-tape missive to say that the item in that case should have been entered as "porterage," and that his only course was to make out another and correct list. Determined to be in the right this time, the officer's next claim appeared before My Lords as: "Porter or porterage, 3d.; cab or cabbage, 2s. 6d."

Judging the Colt.

The Arabs have two methods of estimating the height to which a colt will grow, the first being to stretch a cord from the nostril over the ears and down along the neck and compare this measurement with that from the withers to the feet and the other method being to compare the distance between the knee and the withers with that from the knee to the coronet. In the first method it is considered that a colt will grow as much taller as the first measurement exceeds that of the second, and in the second method, if the proportion is as two to one, the horse will grow no taller.

Incongruous.

A clerical correspondent of one of the London church papers relates that a certain prelate had great difficulty in suppressing his laughter at the consecration of a church the other day owing to the device on one of the school banners which were carried in the procession before the service. This banner was adorned with a very fierce looking lion, with terrible claws and teeth, while underneath him was the legend, "Suffer little children to come unto me."

The First Knitting Machine.

Historic mention of hand knitting is first found in the books of the time of Queen Elizabeth, though it is known that it was one of the arts of the Pompeians. The first machine for knitting was the invention of William Lee, who made application for a patent in England in 1528. On being refused a patent by the English authorities he departed for France and soon afterward set up a large factory at Rouen.

A CHANCERY ROMANCE.

Helping a Friend, He Unearthed a Fortune For Himself.

Perhaps there is no more curious chapter in the history of the chancery courts than that of two Pittsburgh men. The first had a claim to a small estate abroad, but he did not have the money to pay the claim agency to make a search, so he got a friend to back him.

This friend's name was Peterman, and the money he advanced was like a grub stake—he was gambling on his friend's claim proving up.

One day when Peterman was at the claim agency office he came upon this advertisement in the agency files: "Peterman (Albertus), musician, born in Amsterdam in 1820, son of Charles Frederick and Henrietta Susanna Gasman. Left for Liverpool in 1856. He is sought for inheritance by M. Cortot, avocat, 21 Boulevard St. Germain, Paris."

That was the inception of the famous "Kinsey docks" case, the name coming from the fact that the original Peterman was last seen at Kinsey docks, in Liverpool. The claim agency took the matter in hand, traced Peterman's lineage back and enabled him to establish a good claim to an inheritance of $200,000.

That was a case of fortune being thrust upon a man. — Lewis Edwin Theiss in Harper's Weekly.

JOBS FOR THE INDIGENT.

Swiss Method of Solving the Problem of the Unemployed.

In Switzerland the people act upon the theory that a man who is unemployed is, if left to himself, liable to become a waste by being a subject of charity and a tax upon the community. Therefore the problem is considered as an economic question.

The purpose is to assist the unfortunate unemployed to secure work, not only for the sake of his family, but in the interests of the state. There is no toleration for the loafer. Begging is prohibited by the law, and vagrancy is classified as a crime.

If an unemployed person does not make a serious effort to find work the authorities will find it for him, and he is compelled to perform it. If he refuses he is placed in the workhouse, where strict discipline is maintained and every inmate is required to work to his full capacity, receiving therefor his board and lodging and from 5 to 10 cents a day in wages.

There are also institutions where temporary employment is furnished to persons out of work, through no fault of their own, and comfortable accommodations and some money compensation given until they can find more remunerative wages.—Chicago Tribune.

Hindu Caste.

The four grades of society among the Hindus are the Brahmans or sacerdotal class, who are said at the moment of creation to have issued from the mouth of Brahma; the Kshatrya or Chuttree or military class, sprung from the arm of Brahma; the Vaisya or Bais or mercantile class, from the thigh of Brahma, and Sudras or Soodurs or servile class, from the foot of Brahma. The business of the Sudras is to serve the three superior classes, more especially the Brahmans. Their condition is never to be improved. They are not to accumulate property and are unable by any means to approach the dignity of the higher classes. These divisions are hereditary, impassable and indefeasible.

THE WHITE RABBIT.

Lord Pelham Had to Wait For His Chance to Sell.

Lord Pelham lived in a castle not very far from London, near the banks of the Thames. He had the habit of walking quite often, all alone, to the city. One day, in the year 1811, when on his way to London, he saw a man coming towards him.

"My lord," said the man, "can't you buy a white rabbit from me?"

Lord Pelham shook his head and went his way without another word.

The unknown followed him and said, "My lord, you must buy my white rabbit."

"What shall I do with it?" replied the lord in surprise.

"I am certain, my lord, that you will buy my white rabbit," said the man, placing a revolver on my lord's breast.

"Well, I see I am in your power, and must buy the rabbit. How much do you want for it?"

"One hundred pounds sterling, my lord."

"One hundred pounds for a rabbit!"

"Not a shilling less! And I am sure you will give it to me."

"You shall have the money, but I don't carry so much cash with me."

"I believe it, but your signature is sufficient; I know your banker."

"But I must have—"

"Paper, pen and ink. Here it is, my lord. I thought of everything."

Lord Pelham, who saw only too well that there was no escape from this man, sat down and wrote the check. Then he wanted to continue his walk to the city, but the unknown stepped in his way with the revolver and said: "You are mistaken, my lord, this is the road that leads to your castle. You must now bring your purchase home. Good-bye, my lord. There is your way and this is mine."

Pelham did not consider it advisable to continue this discourse. He took the rabbit, returned to the castle, and never said anything about the price he had paid for it.

Ten years later, in 1821, shortly before his death, Lord Pelham took a walk through one of the liveliest streets to a suburb of London. His attention was drawn to a large brilliantly lighted meat market. The owner stood behind the counter. Pelham thought he had seen that face before. He stepped into the shop, heard the man talk, and, after a few unimportant questions, retraced his steps and went home.

Next morning Lord Pelham, very plainly dressed, and with a basket on his arm, entered the meat market again and demanded to see the proprietor. He was shown into an adjoining room, where the man sat at his desk. As soon as they were alone, Lord Pelham said: "My dear sir! Don't you want to buy a white rabbit of me?"

The man was terrified and stared at Lord Pelham.

"I am certain you will buy my little white rabbit this moment," said the lord.

"Oh, with the greatest pleasure," said the butcher who had recognised his former victim.

"What is the price of it"

"What I had to pay you for it once—a hundred pounds."

"In cash or in a check?"

"I prefer cash."

The butcher counted out the money on the counter. Lord Pelham put it in his pocket, placed the basket with the rabbit on the counter and—their bills were evenly settled.

"Three Bloomin' Knights."

In addition to painting many famous pictures, Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema designed scenes and costumes on several occasions for some of the leading actors and actresses of the day, and there is a story of a stage hand who was reading a preliminary announcement of a production of "Coriolanus" at the Lyceum. The following words appeared in the notice: "Coriolanus—Sir Henry Irving. Incidental music by Sir A. C. Mackenzie. Scenes designed by Sir L. Alma-Tadema." "There y'are," remarked the stage hand, in a disdainful tone, to a fellow-employe; "three bloomin' knights, and that's about as long as it will run."

Albanians' Queer Duels.

Albanians used to practice a peculiar form of dueling. Sir Richard Burton, who once commanded a corps of bashi-basouks, writes that "the Albanian contingent, who generally fight when they are drunk, had a peculiar style of monomachy. The principals, attended by their seconds and by all their friends, stood close opposite, each holding a cocked pistol in his right hand and a glass of raki or spirits of wine in the left. The first to drain his draft had the right to fire and generally blazed away with fatal effect. It would have been useless to discourage this practice, but I insisted on fair play."

Real Literary Crumbs.

The librarian opened the book wide and shook it hard.

"Looking for possible love letters and mementos?" a visitor asked.

"No; breadcrumbs," said the librarian. "Subsequent readers do not mind love letters, but they do object to breadcrumbs. Half the books brought back have crumbs tucked away between the leaves. That shows what a studious town we are. Our people are so enamored of literature that they can't stop reading long enough to eat; also it shows what a lonely town we are. Only people who live alone a great deal read anything except the newspaper at mealtime. And it shows what a slovenly town we are. In the interests of hygiene and aesthetics those voracious readers who cram their heads and their stomachs at the same time ought to clean their books of crumbs, but they never do."—New York Press.

What "Gold Filled" Means.

There is a notion largely held by purchasers of "gold filled" watches that the cases are, in some mysterious fashion, impregnated with gold. As a matter of fact, the term is very misleading. Gold filling consists in the employment of two sheets of gold between which is placed a section of solder coated base metal. This metallic sandwich is beated and pressed so that the three parts are welded, with the gold outside.

One Woman's Way.

Husband—Why are you buying such an expensive present for Mrs. Shoddy? I thought you told me that you hated her.

Wife—So I do, but I know she can't afford to give me a return one as handsome, and it will make her perfectly furious.

BANK OF ENGLAND

Tragic and Romantic Episodes In Its Historic Career.

DEADLY BATTLE WITH A MOB.

The Bloody Climax to the Attempted Raid by the Lord Gordon Rioters—A Financial Coup That Was Spoiled by the Duchess of Marlborough.

No other banking institution has so romantic a history as that pertaining to the Bank of England, the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street."

One of the bloody episodes in the history of the bank is that embraced in the story of Charles Walter Godfrey, one of its early partners in the bank. It appears that Godfrey while crossing the channel in the midst of a terrific storm and laden with £60,000 in drafts for the aid of King William, who was just then besieging Namur against the forces of Louis XIV., insisted upon his right to deliver the warrant for the money into the hands of the king, then in the trenches under hot fire. As he handed the document to the king, saying, in response to William's growl of remonstrance, "Am I, then, more exposed to danger than your majesty?" a cannon ball swept away his head.

Not so very many years ago there stood over the massive fireplace in the directors' room of the bank three rusty specimens of the old "Brown Bess," together with a number of roughly shaped bullets. In these relics was embodied a picture of the November night in 1780 when the mob of Gordon rioters marched down from Newgate, setting fire to every Catholic chapel on the way and advancing with a force of 5,000 upon the bank itself.

The clerks, armed with muskets, were unprovided with shot. Before them lay rows of leaden inkstands, suggesting the possibilities of a new use. In less than half an hour the inkstands had been melted and turned into bullets. The muskets were loaded. At every window of the bank stood two marksmen, their guns trained on the mob below. Yet the rioters came on until they were within ten yards of the bank gates. Then sharp and clear above the frightful din rose the order to fire, and from the windows poured a deadly volley. When the smoke finally cleared away 250 lay dead or dying in the open space now covered by the esplanade of the Royal Exchange. The attacking army wavered, stopped, broke line and fled, and the Gordon riots were at an end.

During the first part of the reign of George II. it was the practice of all banks to give a receipt in payment of a deposit, the receipts being passed from hand to hand and serving the same purpose as the check of today.

At that time Childs' bank, a private concern, which had the backing of a great part of the English nobility, exhibited such signs of future greatness that the Bank of England became greatly alarmed, especially in view of the fact that the "Old Lady's" notes were at a discount of 10 per cent. So little by little, through their agents, the managers of the Bank of England bought up every receipt bearing the Childs signature, allowing the collections to accumulate each year until the time should be ripe, during a shortage of gold, to present the receipts in one great mass for payment. It was deemed a certainty that Childs' would not be able to meet the demand and would thus be ruined.

The principal figure in the drama that ensued was no other than the famous Sarah Jennings, in whom Childs' bank found its stanchest supporter. One night there came a wild clanging at the bell of the great gate of the town of Blenheim—a clanging that soon awakened every one in the town. A white faced, travel stained man staggered into the ducal hall, begging an audience with her grace. When the duchess, in her dressing gown, appeared, demanding to know the reason for this unseemly visitation, the man explained that the Bank of England held the Childs' receipts in the amount of £620,000, that those receipts would be presented for payment at noon following, that there was not at Childs' enough gold to meet them, that unless the demand could be satisfied within eight hours Childs' was ruined and that there was but one person in the world—her grace—to whom they might turn.

Whereupon the redoubtable duchess sat down and wrote out a check, which she handed to the agent. It was an order on the Bank of England for the payment of £700,000. He was instructed to take this check to the Bank of England and to say that if it hesitated for a single instant in paying it the duchess would proclaim it as a defaulter.

At 12 o'clock that day there appeared at the Childs' counter an agent of the Bank of England bearing a big bag ful of receipts and blandly suggesting immediate payment. At the same moment the Childs' agent was in Threadneedle street receiving cash on the check of the duchess.

The cashiers at Childs' naturally took their own time in scrutinizing the receipts, spending fully half an hour over the first batch alone. They were at the end of the first hundred when their messenger arrived. Then they quickened the procedure a little, and within ten minutes the Bank of England had been paid in its own coin. The net result was that Childs' was many thousands of pounds richer.—Harper's.

We never see the target a man aims at in life. We see only the target he hits.—Jordan.

A Modest Judge.

Alve Yusuph, chief judge of Bagdad, was remarkable for the modesty which accompanies wisdom. Once, after a long investigation of the facts of a case, he publicly confessed that his knowledge was not sufficient to enable him to decide it. "Pray," said a pert courtier, "do you expect the caliph to pay you for your ignorance?" "I do not," meekly answered the judge. "The caliph pays me well for what I know. If he were to attempt to pay me for what I do not know the treasures of his empire would not suffice."

Why Sniffle And Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold?

By Breathing the Healing Vapor of Catarrhozone You Get Relief in Ten Minutes.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrozone. You inhale it balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold, sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple, remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910 "I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At the time I was living in New York state and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow sufferers."

EYE GLASS MOUNTING

With the curved top guards is the only mounting that will hold your lenses in place firmly with a slight pressure; and that is the better half of eye glass comfort. No matter how well-adapted your lenses may be, if the mounting is ill-fitting and hurts the nose, imperfect vision is certain to be the result.

The Dump on Fire.

Flim-Flammed out of $5.

Alex McCrae has only been in Canada a short time. With the confidence bred by an old country training he exchanged his handkerchief with that of a total stranger, as they stood at a local bar. The stranger's handkerchief ostensibly contained a considesable sum of money in bills. McCrae, "good, easy man," put up $5 as security whilst he retained the strangers wealth. McCrae still has the stranger's handkerchief and some little experience.

INSPECTOR MOWAT SAYS SCHOOLS ARE CROWDED

Below is given School Inspector Mowat's opinion regarding conditions in the local schools, which speaks for itself. Mr. Mowat's letter is as follows:

Dr. Morrison, Chairman of the Supervision Committee, Board of Education.

Dear Sir,—I have to report that the lower forms of the South Central and West Ward Schools are badly overcrowded. The upper forms of these schools also, were overcrowded at the beginning of the term, but relief was obtained by transferring a number of the pupils from these forms to the Central and King Edward Schools.

In the Primary room of the Park street school there are sixty pupils seeking admission, and there is accommodation for not more than 45, and in the corresponding grade, in the South Central there are over sixty pupils crowded together.

Children in the Primary grades require much individual attention and a Primary teacher cannot be expected to do effective work with more than forty pupils. The regulations of the Education Department do not permit more than forty-five in a grade, and recommend smaller classes.

To relieve the overcrowding in both the South Central and Park street schools, I would recommend that a half day class be organized in the kindergarten room of the South Central school. This class would not contain a large number of pupils and with the greater attention that they would thereby receive their progress would be more satisfactory than it would be under the present overcrowded conditions.

The half-day system has many advantages for small children, and it is being adopted in many of our towns and cities.

Hoping that this recommendation may meet with approval, I remain,

Yours truly,
A. MOWAT, I.P.S.

NON-PARTISAN SOLUTION OF NAVY QUESTION IS URGED

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—A largely signed memorial, asking that the naval question be settled out of politics, has reached the Prime Minister from the West. It bears hundreds of names of the best known men of both political parties in Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Calgary.

The memorial states that the people of the West want a naval policy which will probably represent the strength and resources of Canada, and that they are willing to support an emergency contribution if it is found necessary. Those whose names appear on the list of signatories include the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, Sir Rodmond Roblin and members of the Manitoba Government, the editors of the three Winnipeg dailies, Conservative, Liberal, and Independent, and a large number of professional and business men. The memorial was forwarded, accompanied by a letter, from Sir William Whyte.

It is understood that the suggestion was made that the memorial and list of signatures be shown to the leader of the Opposition, and that this will be done.

BRITISH ARMY MANOEUVRES SHOWED AMAZING ADVANCE

England's Army Now Said To Be Best-Equipped and Among the Keenest in Europe—General Grierson's Great March Was the Feature of the Mimic War

London, Sept. 22.—The British army manoeuvres this week have amazed every foreign observer by the evidence of the amazing advance in soldiery since the Boer War. Our army is now the best equipped and among the keenest in Europe. General Grierson's amazing feat when he threw a division of twelve thousand men with guns and material two days' march towards the enemy's flank unperceived, despite elaborate cavalry scouting and aircraft observation by the enemy, will remain among the most noteworthy events in the mimic war. Grierson's men marched single file along sheltered roads, hid in the woods when aeroplanes were heard, and disguised their guns with bracken so as to appear like farmers with their carts. effects of aeroplane scouting on the Experts are still hotly debating the operations. Admittedly aeroplanes were of great service, but it is an exaggeration to say, as some of the observers did, that they have revolutioned modern war. The manoeuvres tended to prove the superiority of biplanes over monoplanes in military work.

NOT A BLUFF

Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—The Earl of Stanhope, who has returned to Winnipeg from the West, declares in an interview that "The noise in Ulster is not a bluff."

"Study history," he said, "and you will see that since the days of Cromwell Ulster men have always have been serious in their convictions. Their attitude at this time means business to my mind." The Earl found the expansion in the Prairie Provinces during the four years since his last visit almost beyond belief.

LIBERAL EX. MINISTERS WANT TO GET BACK INTO PARLIAMENT

Strange Counsel Prevails in Liberal Party These Days—Same Men Same Old "Adjunct" Policy

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Most people, individually and collectively, object to being smitten in the same place twice. There are exceptions, as is the case with every wise and wholesome rule. The notable exception to this particular rule is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who continues as leader of the Liberal opposition despite his emphatic assurance to the people of Canada a year ago that he would never again lead an opposition. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's lesson, which would be and was fairly instructive to most people, has not been learned by him. He is allowing those of his former lieutenants in whom the people unmistakably showed an utter lack of confidence to reassert themselves in the Liberal party councils.

Look Who's Here.

While Hon. Chas. Murphy and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux acting as the immediate advisors of the Liberal leader in Ottawa — with what success may be gathered from the blunders already evident — Hon. Sydney Fisher is becoming mightily busy in Quebec. Mr. Fisher, it will be recalled, was Minister of Agriculture during the long period in which many of the once flourishing and prosperous agricultural industries of Canada were allowed to decline, industries which the present head of the department, Hon. Martin Burrell, is already encouraging by vigorous methods. Mr. Fisher was always a persistent volunteer, making up in self-confidence for the lack of confidence in himself and his administration shown by others.

Wants To Get Back.

This ex-Minister, who lost not only his portfolio but his seat in the political avalanche of last September, wants to get back. Sir Wilfrid Laurier for some mysterious reason which can hardly be related to the future success of Liberalism in Canada, seems willing to let him try, or unable to keep him off. Mr. Fisher is reported to have bobbled up as a sort of Liberal prophet in Quebec with a good deal to do with the party organization in those parts.

And Fielding Too.

But that is not all. Hon. W. S. Fielding, the one man of all others, who, with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, sought to draw the Dominion of Canada into the "adjunct" agreement with the United States, is said to be another of the forlorn hopes of the party. From Nova Scotia comes a message that the ex-Minister of Finance is to be brought back, if a seat can be found for him in Nova Scotia. Those responsible for this stroke seem to despair of success in what was for so many years Mr. Fielding's own riding, and part of the province. The idea is that the ministers who were chiefly responsible for the disaster which overtook the Liberal government and party in the general elections a year ago are able to restore the party to its former position of power. The reasoning is obscure. The plan is the more difficult to understand in view of the avowed unwillingness of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his little group, to break away from those marvellous mistakes of policy which brought them back to defeat. The chief reason for the movement to get these men back into the ring at Ottawa is perhaps to be found in the personal feelings of the individuals themselves, rather than in an altruistic regard for the welfare of Liberalism.

RIOTS START LONDONDERRY

Anti-Home Rule Paraders Stoned and Five Houses Were Wrecked

Coleraine, Ireland, Sept. 22.—Sir Edward Carson and the other Unionist leaders who are continuing their anti-Home Rule campaign in Ulster, received and enthusiastic reception here to-day. The town had been gaily decorated for the occasion and the Unionist clubs, headed by their bands, escorted Sir Edward and his party from the railroad station to the grounds where a great demonstration was held.

Serious rioting occurred in Londonderry early this morning. As the big meeting at the Guild Hall, which was presided over by the Duke of Abercorn, ended last night, Nationalists stoned the torch bearers and the bandsmen. In the rioting which followed five houses were wrecked.

MEXICAN REBEL LEADER AND HIS FATHER CAPTURED BY AMERICAN

REBELS UNDER SALAZAR IN SONORA COPYRIGHT [illegible] COMPANY

Advices to army officials received from Marfa, Texas, report the capture by Captain Thomas F. Mitchell, U. S. A., of Pascual Orozco, Jr., leader of the revolution in Northern Mexico, and his father, Pascual Orozco, Sr., a colonel in the revolutionary army.

After being defeated decisively by federals under General Jose de la Cruz Sanchez, both Orozcos, together with a small body of insurgents, escaped the federals, but were taken in custody by the United States border patrol, Captain Mitchell commanding.

Colonel Jose Orozco, a cousin of the rebel leader, is still at large with a small command, with Ojinaga in possession of the government troops.

LIBERALS WILL ASSIST BORDEN IN EMERGENCY GRANT TO NAVY

With Proviso That Ships Shall Ultimately Form Part of Canadian Navy

Montreal, Sept. 22.—A number of prominent men here have been trying to take the naval question out of politics and have had correspondence and interviews with various public men, newspaper editors and others to that end.

One proposal is that the political leaders should get together and be committed to a united policy before anything is announced by the Government at Ottawa. Whether such an understanding has been reached cannot be said until some definite statement is made by either or both of the political parties.

Your correspondent was informed that a number of Liberals were willing to support a generous vote in the way of an emergency contribution to the mother country at the present time with one condition only and that is that the money or rather the ships so voted should ultimately form part of a Canadian navy. It is even said that the Liberals were willing to support the gift of two Dreadnoughts, six battleships and a small fleet of torpedo boat destroyers, provided, however, the idea of a Canadian navy was not discarded. It is also believed that Sir Richard McBride is strongly in favor of a Canadian navy, specially on the Pacific Ocean.

This confirms more or less the special in the World from London the other day that well informed circles in England say that Canada's contribution will be in the shape of a fleet of battleships, eight or ten in number, and of the very latest type. It is understood here in Montreal that the Conservatives are willing to vote this fleet of battleships without any conditions and that the announcement of Mr. Borden will be more or less in this direction. Efforts, however, are still being made to reach some kind of unity of action and the gentlemen engaged on the proposition are now in active negotiations with prominent men in Toronto with the idea of attaining harmony. But it is well understood here that if unity can be secured the contribution of Canada will be large, substantial, and immediate, and be in the way of building a fleet of the very best battleships and making this contribution altogether additional to anything the British Admiralty already have under way, thus adding very materially to the fighting strength of the navy.

PLENTY CARS

Sir Thos. Shaughnessy Says C.P.R. Has Cars Lying Idle Owing to Delay in Harvesting

Winnipeg, Sept. 22.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy on his way east declared here that the Canadian Pacific had plenty of cars for moving the grain eastward though they were lying idle now owing to delay in harvesting and threshing. He found conditions satisfactory on the line between Montreal and Vancouver, all of which he inspected by daylight.

He was unable to say if the company would build a tunnel through the mountains, calling it one of the difficult problems which need solution.

STRIKERS ARE READY TO FIGHT

Bingham, Utah, Sept. 22.—Rumors that a large army of strike breakers was being recruited in the nearby towns to take the places of the foreigners who laid down their tools Wednesday, has aroused the Greeks and Cretans to action and to-day they were again taking up positions in their fortifications overlooking the mines. There was no serious disorder however.

The report that the Utah Copper Co. would begin operations last night proved untrue. In case an attempt is made to open the mines to-day a battle with the Greeks and Cretans is expected.

The Utah Copper Co. imported 20 white and Japanese laborers into the camp yesterday and although their arrival was witnessed by the strikers, no attempt was made to interfere with them.

WEALTHY CHINESE IN SLAVE TRAFFIC

Cleveland Police Make Raid On Alleged Clearinghouse.

Cleveland, Sept. 21.—An after-midnight raid on a Prospect avenue house, constituting a portion of police war against the alleged white slave "clearinghouse" here, resulted in the arrest of Ida Phillips, early this morning on a white slavery charge. Blanche Vernon, an eighteen-year-old girl, is held as a witness. Two other women escaped by jumping from upper story windows.

The police say they have discovered a wealthy Chinese of Cleveland and Pittsburg to be at the head of an organized clique which is working in the interest of the white slave trade. They say, too, that a Cleveland banker is implicated in the ring.

IS ULSTER TO VOTE ITSELF OUT OF HOME RULE IRELAND?

London Now Listens to Stories of Government's Inclination to a Referedum—No Coercion to Be Used

London, Sept. 22.—Political London is full of rumors concerning the Government's action over Home Rule. Ulster's ten days' demonstrations are producing a real impression here despite General Carson's gasconading and the inadequate nature of Ulster's solemn covenant.
